East Grand Forks will enter the playoffs as a Class A independent with a 5-4 record. The Green Wave beat Rugby 14-6, Langdon 33-0, Crookston 13-7 and Devils Lake 21-0 while adding a 2-0 forfeit win over Thief River Falls. They lost to Grand Forks Central 14-7 in double overtime, Grand Forks Red River 6-0, Breckenridge 20-0 and Fergus Falls 7-6.

Crookston played just six games this fall, beating West Fargo 26-14 and Hillsboro 36-8 while losing to Grand Forks Central 21-8, Park Rapids 14-7, Fergus Falls 15-9 and East Grand Forks 13-7. The Pirates also had to forfeit 2-0 games to Barnesville and Thief River Falls (a double-forfeit under MSHSL guidelines), and had an open date in there.

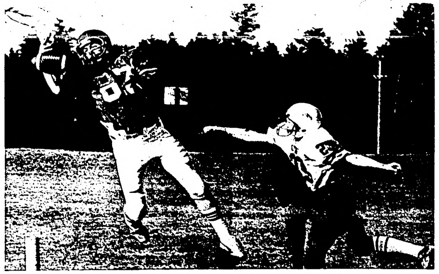
+Newly formed Bemidji baseball association announced plans to proceed with the construction of dugouts at the city arena diamond in that community after receiving written assurance from the city council that the diamond would not be surrendered for conversion to another softball field. Softball interests had been pressuring the city in recent months to remove the grass infield and allow the field to be used for softball. The council passes a resolution assuring the diamond's future use for baseball only and instructed the city manager to take steps to prohibit its unauthorized use for other sports. Posted signs prohibitting softball on the field have been ignored for years, reported Jim Carrington of the Bemidji Pioneer.

+Staples coach Doug Willett told Ralph Anderson of the Detroit Lakes Tribune prior to Thursday's title-deciding Mid-State Conference football game that he (Willett) wasn't totally honest at the beginning of the year. When called to comment on the 1981 Mid-State race in August, Willett picked Park Rapids to repeat as champion. When called last week and reminded of the prediction by Anderson, Willett said: "Really, I was lying. . . I knew we (Staples and Detroit Lakes) were going to be the powers, only I didn't want to give it away at the beginning." The Lakers beat the Cardinals 14-0 for the title and a post-season Class A playoff berth. They'll host Heart O' Lakes Conference champion Breckenridge Tuesday, with the winner facing either East Grand Forks or Hermantown in the Class A state quarterfinals Saturday. The Green Wave and Hawks meet Tuesday at Hermantown.



BRAINERD RECEIVER Scott Johnson got behind Northland defensive back Brad Rosten in the end zone, but couldn't hold on to this third quarter pass from quarterback Dave Webber during Saturday's community college football game played at Brainerd. It was a third-and-goal play from the Northland seven-yard line. The Red Raiders scored on a fake field goal earlier in the quarter and came away with a 14-7 Northern Division victory over the Northmen.

14-7 Loss At Brainerd Ruins Northland Bid For .500 Finish

Borrowing a play from Fergus Falls, Brainerd coach Al Kilgore called for a fake field goal midway through the third quarter and got a game-winning touchdown out on Saturday afternoon as the Red Raiders edged Northland 14-7 in a Northern Division community football game played in the warm Brainerd sunshine.

It was a disappointing season-ending loss for the Northmen, who finished 3-5. They had their sights set on a 4-4 record, which would have been the first non-losing season in six years of Northland football.

Disappointment of not reaching that goal showed on the face of Northland coach John Helley, whose first season as head coach at the school netted just a 1-8 finish in 1980. But he was quick to praise the effort of the Northmen. "I think it's been a helluva season," he said. "They played better football than any Northland team ever has."

Unforunately Kilgore's deft play selection took that .500 finish away from the Northmen.

Trailing 7-6 and facing a fourth-and-goal situation from the Northland 11, Brainerd lined up for an apparent 28-yard field goal attempt by Jay Ganz with 6:26 remaining in the third quarter. But instead of the kick, holder Don Weiss rolled to his right with the snap and tossed the ball to a wide-open Keith Salo in the end zone for the go-ahead points. Jim Leitch made it a seven-point spread on the conversion, stretching to reach the end zone on a pitchout of an unorthodox line-up which included two huddle-type groupings, spaced some ten yards apart.

It was the third time the Red Raiders have tried the fake field goal this fall and it has worked for a touchdown every time, reported Kilgore. "It was my call," he smiled afterwards, "but it's Fergus Falls' play. We saw it on their films, put it in our playbook and it's worked out well for us."

"Give Brainerd credit," acknowledged Helley. "They made a great call on that fake kick."

Even more frustrating for the Northmen was the fact that the touchdown almost never materialized. The 13-play, 49-yard drive looked like it would come up short when quarterback Dave Webber overthrew receiver Jon Giese on a fourth-and-eight call from the Northland 25. The pass sailed out of bounds, but Northland was tagged with a pass interference penalty on the play when defensive back Dave Odegaard inadvertently got his legs tangled with Geise. That gave the Red Raiders a first down at the 10. Then, three players later — the play prior to the winning touchdown — Webber and the Raiders lucked out when defensive end Mike Busse got his hands on a pass over the middle, but dropped the apparent interception at the eight-yard line.

"I don't think the penalty (on Odegaard) should have been called," mentioned Helley, "but you have to give Brainerd credit. They took advantage of the opportunity when they got down there and put the ball in the end zone. We were conscious of the fake, but we just got out of position."

Northland, after falling behind on a 23-yard touchdown run by Ganz eight minutes into the game, took the lead on a five-yard run by Mike Punton with just 39 seconds remaining in the first quarter.

Ganz, a 195-pound freshman from Isle had a great individual effort on his touchdown run, taking a pitch on the left side and somehow squeezing through the Northland defense when he looked to be trapped against the sidelines. But his attempt at the conversion kick failed miserable as he put the ball over the crossbar-on one bounce.

An interception by defensive back Coby Burslie set up a 45-yard, five-yard Northland touchdown drive featuring a 19-yard Dave Furbish pass to Ken Crouch that included a 10-yard penalty tacked onto the play for a late Brainerd hit, moving the ball to the 10. Then came a five-yard Brainerd offside penalty, setting up Punton's five-yard scoring play off the right side. Don Hudec, who missed last week's 16-14 win over Itasca, added the conversion kick for a 7-6 edge.

The fake kick produced the only other scoring, but Brainerd was definitely in control throughout the entire second half. Northland's offense, after collecting 11 first downs in the first down, managed just one after intermission — that coming with less than two minutes remaining in the game.

"Defense is our strong point," nodded Kilgore.

His offense wasn't bad, either. The usually stingy Northland defense was shredded for 18 first downs and 325 yards by the Red Raiders, with Jim Leitch, a 180-pound sophomore from Crosby-Ironton rushing for 141 yards on a busy 29-carry day.

Northwomen Compete In Invitational

Northland community college volleyball team suffered three close losses Saturday in dropping three of four matches in the North Hennepin invitational tournament in Brooklyn Park.

The Northwomen lost to host North Hennepin 15-13, 15-11; fell to Anoka-Ramsey 16-14, 15-7; and lost a tough three-set decision to Rochester, the No. 1 team in the Southern Division. The Yellowjackets came from behind to win 8-15, 15-1, 16-14.

Northland closed out its tournament performance with a 15-13, 10-15, 15-11 win over Worthington.

"We did play some pretty good volleyball along the way," reported Northland coach Deb Jacobson. "We played really well that first game against Rochester, then we kind of relaxed in the second game."

Northland may be seeing a number of the same teams at the Nov. 11-12 state volleyball tournament at Lakewood community college. "It was a good experience for us," said Jcobson. "We got to see some of the teams we'll probably see in the state tournament. We played pretty well, but what hurt us is that we didn't get any breaks."

A SCREEN PASS from Northland quarterback Dave Furbish to halfback Mike Punton (32) produced a five-yard gain in the third quarter of Saturday's MJCAA college football game at Brainerd. Furbish was 14-for-26 in the passing department for 117 yards and Punton was the leading ball carrier for the Northmen with 52 yards on 22 carries. Both are Lake of the Woods high school graduates. Brainerd won the Northern Division game 14-7.

Skippers Host Playoff Game

In the most simple terms, it'll be Middle River size and strength against Argyle speed and finesse Tuesday when the two unbeaten area teams meet in a Minnesota State High School League (MSHSL) nine-man football playoff game. The game will start at 3 p.m. at Middle River.

Both teams will bring perfect 9-0 records into the showdown. The Skippers went through the ten-team North Tri County Conference with a minimum amount of resistance, while the Eagles breezed through the six-team Top of the State Conference twice (home-and-home sets). Argyle began its post-season play Friday with a 42-0 romp over Northern Lights Conference champion Oslo.

"They're impressive," said Middle River coach Eldon Sparby after watching the Eagles. "They're extremely fast. We're going to have to play some aggressive defense, especially in the line. If they get through the line, or get outside on us, they're gone."

The key people on defense, said Sparby, will be linebackers Ryan Johnson, Mike Peterson and Doug Kilen, along with ends Dan Burda and Jon Neumann.

"Our ends will have to eliminate the option and our linebackers will have to come up and make the tackles," he explained.

Neumann was sidelined the last two weeks of the regular season with a deep thigh bruise. Sparby expects (and hopes) the injury will be cleared enough to let him play tomorrow.

Even with the ends and the linebackers doing their jobs, Sparby doesn't think Argyle can be completely stopped. Nobody has come close to holding the Eagles' explosive offense — headed by runningbacks Jay and Mike LaBine — all season.

"I don't think we'll be able to keep them off the board, but if we can hold them down early I think we can win. If we can keep them off the board early in the game it might frustrate them, and I think we'll be able to score two-three touchdowns."

Offensively Sparby will try to go with a steady diet of Steve Bengtson, the Skippers' big fullback. "If we can get Bengtson through the line and then them (Argyle) come up and tackle him all day, I think it'll come down to the fourth quarter and then maybe we can wear them out. We've got a little size on them."

While Bengtson plugs away in the middle, the Skippers can also call upon runningback Jeff Cwikla, who piled up yards and points near the end of the season, and Peterson, the quarterback who is a dangerous open-field runner.

The Middle River-Argyle winner will move into the MSHSL state nine-man quarterfinals where they'll play Agassiz Valley Conference champion Fergus Falls Hillcrest Academy Saturday. The Agassiz Valley South champion Comets defeated Agassiz Valley North winner Mount St. Benedict 38-8 Friday to start the playoffs. The quarterfinal game, scheduled to start at 3 p.m., will be played at the site of the most westly team.

Agassiz Refuge Is Open For Deer Hunting

Deer hunting season at the Agassiz national wildlife refuge will be held in accordance with 1981 Minnesota Department of Natural Resources regulations, refuge officials reported.

Agassiz, as well as the Elm Lake, Eckvoll and Mud Lac wildlife management areas are in Zone 3, in which a nine-day bucks only season will be from November 7-15. The same area is included in anterless permit area 11 in which anterless deer may be taken by permit only on November 21, 22 and 23. Hunters may only hunt during one of these two periods. Anterless permits have already been mailed to successful applicants, thus anyone unsuccessful in obtaining an antlerless permit must hunt bucks only during the late antlerless season.

During the late season only, Agassiz headquarters will be a check station for deer taken in permit area 11. All deer taken in permit area 11 must be registered at the check station. Check station hours will be 7:30 a.m. to 6 p.m. November 21-23.

Entire refuge will be open to deer hunting, except two closed areas which will be posted with closed area signs. These closed areas surround the refuge headquarters and a newly constructed maintenance center located approximately five miles east of headquarters. Both areas are also clearly marked on the refuge hunting leaflets available at headquarters.

Hunters may enter the refuge at 6 a.m. and must leave the refuge by dark each day. The main road system on the refuge will be open to vehicles but dikes and trails will be only open to foot traffic. Snowmobiles, trail bikes and all other off-road vehicles are prohibited. Nonmotorized boats may be used on ditches and pools.

Refuge auto tour route will be closed for hunting season.

Nordics 18-0 Entering District 32 . . .

Volleyball Team First Undefeated MCC Squad

First undefeated season ever for any Marshall County Central high school athletic team was completed Thursday when the Nordics' 18-0 volleyball team overwhelmed Hallock 18-1, 18-10 at Newfolden.

The Nordics were at the top of their game against the Bears, reported Marshall County Central coach Sarah Ackerman. "I've never seen them look so good," she said. "They were unreal."

The unbeaten finish wasn't totally unexpected, acknowledged Ackerman. "I knew we had a chance at it. We felt the Thief River Falls match would have been our toughest test, and when they had to forfeit (a teachers strike casualty Oct. 13, it made it easier for us. But I was confident going into that match we could beat them."

End of the regular season produces another challenge for the Nordics: post season play, beginning with District 32 tournament competition this week.

"It (unbeaten season) was one of the things I wanted to accomplish this year," mentioned Ackerman, who didn't have to say what the other goals were. Post-season success isn't guaranteed, but the Nordics have shown what they're capable of doing. "I hate to predict what's going to happen, but if we play our game. . ."

District 32 play starts Tuesday at two sites. At Roseau it'll be Greenbush vs. Warroad at 6:15 p.m.; Badger vs. Humboldt-St. Vincent at 7:15; and Hallock vs. Middle River at 8:15. At Greenbush, it'll be Grygla-Gatzke vs. Lancaster at 6:30 p.m. and Kennedy vs. Lake of the Woods at 7:45.

Quarterfinals will be played Thursday at Roseau, with Marshall County Central playing the Greenbush vs. Warroad winner at 6 p.m.; the Badger vs. Humboldt-St. Vincent winner playing the Hallock vs. Middle River winner at 7; Tri-County playing the Grygla-Gatzke vs. Lancaster winner at 8; and Roseau playing the Kennedy vs. Lake of the Woods winner at 9.

District 32 tournament will be completed Friday at Roseau. Semifinal matches are scheduled for 6 and 7 p.m., followed by a consolation match at 8 and the championship match at 9.

The 1981 Region 8A volleyball tournament, featuring champions from Districts 29, 30, 31 and 32, will be played in a single-day format Saturday, November 14, in the newly-completed University of Minnesota-Crookston athletic facility.

Ackerman admits there is added pressure as the Nordics enter tournament play with a perfect 18-0 record, but she isn't overly concerned about it. "There is a lot of pressure, but I think they can handle it. There was a lot of pressure in the Hallock match because they wanted that unbeaten season, and they came through."

Marshall County Central was the No. 1 District 32 tournament seed from the East Half (North Border Conference). Roseau and Badger shared second place in the final conference standings, with the Rams getting the No. 2 tournament seed. Rest of the field included No. 4 Grygla-Gatzke; No. 5 Warroad; No. 6 Lake of the Woods; and No. 7 Middle River.

There was a four-way deadlock in the West Half (Top of the State Conference) between Tri-County, Hallock, Kennedy and Greenbush. Tournament seeding, though, included No. 1 Tri-County; No. 2 Hallock; No. 3 Kennedy; No. 4 Greenbush; No. 5 Lancaster; and No. 6 Humboldt-St. Vincent.

LHS Volleyball Team To Miss Regional Meet

Lincoln high school volleyball team, having forfeited its final five matches of the 1981 season because of the Thief River Falls teachers strike, will also be forced to miss the North Half Region 8AA volleyball tournament, scheduled to be held Thursday, Friday and Saturday at Bemidji.

That was the only athletic event scheduled this week for Lincoln teams. Tennis, cross country and football seasons, also affected by the strike, ended earlier.

Lincoln swimming team two has two regularly scheduled meets remaining, although the Prowlers were to be idle this week. They're scheduled to swim Thursday, November 12, at Moorhead and Tuesday, November 17, at Bemidji.

RIVER FISHING is apparently having its fall upswing, if this walleye caught by Jerry Prickett of Thief River Falls on Sunday is any indication. Fishing with his son for about three hours on the sunny Sunday afternoon, Jerry caught this nine and one-half pounder on a jig and minnow. They also caught 14 or 15 smaller walleyes which they released along with a few small northerns.

Volleyball Team Headed For State Meet . . .

Northland Unbeaten In Northwest Division Play

Volleyball is a game of hard-hitting spikes, diving saves, finger-breaking blocks, well-placed serves, play-starting bumps and sets, tantalizing taps and well-coordinated teamwork.

Wednesday night the Northland community college volleyball team had all of the above while the University of Minnesota-Crookston (UMC) failed miserably in nearly every one of those categories and the net result was an easy three-game sweep for the Northwoman in the one-sided Northwest Division match played in Thief River Falls.

Northland breezed to a 15-4, 15-8, 15-7 victory in just 50 minutes.

"They (UMC) didn't play up to their potential," said Northland coach Deb Jacobson. "They're a much better team than what they showed tonight. They just never got going; we didn't give them a chance," she quickly added, saying she was very pleased with her team's overall performance.

The victory was the third in a row for the Northwomen, giving them an overall season record of 12-8. More importantly, it was their fifth straight win over a Northwest Division opponent. They've clinched the Northwest Division title and will compete in the 1981 state volleyball tournament November 11-12 at Lakewood community college in White Bear Lake.

Northland dominated Crookston from start to finish Wednesday, turning what was expected to be a close match into a rout.

It started with Thief River Falls freshman Marlys Hout serving Northland to a quick 5-0 first game start, thanks to point-producing spikes by Kathy Walker, a Thief River Falls sophomore, and Kelly Thompson, a McIntosh-Winger freshman. Walker is the only sophomore in the Northland starting line-up.

The Trojans managed to narrow the gap to 6-4, but the Northwomen rattled off nine straight points to win it 15-4. An ace serve into the corner by Thompson made it 11-4, and her tap at the net produced the final point.

Once again Huot's serves provided Northland with a lead to start the second game; and her rush to the net from the back row produced the third point and 3-0 edge as she tapped the ball over the net.

On her next rotation to the service line Huot had an ace in making it 9-2.

"I was really happy with our serves," explained Jacobson.

A dink by Walker and a spike by Greenbush freshman Shelly Taggart ran the difference to 12-4. Crookston saved face by pulling within 12-8, but a deep spike by Thompson and a tip by Taggart at the net helped Walker serve out the game.

Crookston, after falling behind 4-1 at the start, managed to tie the third game 4-4 before Plummer freshman Deb Koskela served four straight points to make it 8-4 and Diane Zimpel, another Plummer freshman, ran it to 11-4.

Northland sat at 12 points for nearly ten minutes as the Northwomen ran into their only dry spell of the night. Thompson finally ended it with an ace serve at 15-7.

The Northwomen close out their 1981 regular season schedule Wednesday when they host Fergus Falls in a 7 p.m. match in the Northland gym. Outcome of the match will determine the No. 2 Northwest Division berth in the eight-team state tournament which includes the top two finishers in each of the four divisions across the state. A Fergus Falls victory would give the Spartans the No. 2 Northwest Division berth, but a Northland win would drop Fergus Falls into third place and elevate Crookston into second and the state tournament.

DNR NEWS

Minnesota's fifth consecutive turkey hunt will begin on April 17, 1982, it was announced by Joseph Alexander, commissioner of the Department of Natural Resources.

Four zones, four time periods and a total of 2,000 licenses are available. Applicants who receive a turkey license are selected randomly by computer.

Turkey hunt information and applications for the general turkey hunt and the special landowner-tnenat hunt are available from most license dealers, all county auditors, DNR Regional Offices and Area Wildlife Offices during the last week of October.

Deadline for application is December 11. Applicants may select one zone and one of four time periods available.

Those hunters who received a 1980 or 1981 turkey license are ineligible for the 1982 hunt, but 1978 and 1979 license holders may apply. Minnesota residents who will be at least 16 prior to April 17, 1982 are eligible.

Applicants who are selected will be required to attend a three-hour turkey hunting clinic prior to hunting.

Those persons desiring to hunt together may submit a group application by enclosing all individual applications in a single envelope. Group applications will be treated as one, with all receiving a license or none receiving one. Group applications must be comprised either of all general or all landowner-tenant applications.

Turkey hunt zones were reduced from six in 1981 to four in 1982, although the area open to hunting is enlarged. Wildlife officials said the change was made to allow better distribution of hunters throughout the zones and to reduce the over-crowding on public lands — particularly in the Whitewater wildlife management area in Zone 3.

Potential license applicants were reminded that bagging a turkey is not an easy proposition.

"Scouting, good turkey calling skills and above average physical stamina are required of turkey hunters," said Alexander.

Department of Natural Resources reports that it recently received a donation of $1,200 from the Pope and Young club, a national organization which recognizes North American big game trophies taken with bow and arrow under rules of fair chase.

Officials said the funds will be used for research on southern Minnesota deer being conducted by John Ludwig, DNR wildlife biologist at Madelia.

Ludwig said the contribution will be a big help in view of current funding limitations. "The money will be used on several deer research projects involving radio-telemetry. The research is aimed at refining deer census techniques and getting better estimates of mortality and movements."

Minnesota trappers are reminded by the Department of Natural Resources of a regulation which prohibits placing traps within 20 feet of any open bait which can be seen by soaring birds.

Reason for the regulation is to protect hawks, owls, eagles and other nongame species which are attracted by the sight of carrion. Birds of prey can become caught and mortally injured in traps set near carrion baits.

"Bait" is defined as any animal or parts thereof. Small pieces of fur or feathers may be used for flagging purposes, however.

The regulation was developed by the DNR after discussions with the Minnesota Audubon council and the Minnesota trappers association and is designed to prevent the needless loss of birds of prey and other nongame species.

Wildlife officials said most experienced trappers actually avoid using open bait sets because they are non-selective.

Alvarado Top Seeded Squad In District 31

Alvarado, Red Lake Falls, Warren and Climax are the top four seeded teams in the 1981 District 32 high school volleyball tournament, scheduled to be played this week at Warren.

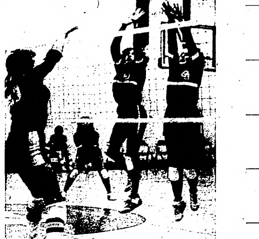
Volleyball In District 30 To Start Tonight

District 30 high school volleyball tournament starts tonight (Monday) and will continue throughout the week.

First round matches tonight will feature Twin Valley vs. Borup and Fertile-Beltrami vs. Halstad-Hendrum at Ada, with McIntosh-Winger vs. Mentor and Erskine vs. Mahnomen at Fosston. First match at each site starts at 7 p.m.

Quarterfinals will be played Thursday. At Mahnomen it'll be No. 1 seeded Fosston playing the Twin Valley vs. Borup winner at 7 p.m., followed by No. 4 seeded Waubun playing the Fertile-Beltrami vs. Halstad-Hendrum winner. At Fertile it'll be No. 2 seeded Oklee playing the McIntosh-Winger vs. Mentor winner at 7 p.m., followed by No. 3 seeded Ada playing the Erskine vs. Mahnomen winner.

Site hasn't been selected for Saturday's semifinals and finals. The semifinals will start at 1:30 p.m. Consolation match will be played at 7 that night, followed by the championship match.



EFFORTS BY Northland community college freshmen Shelly Taggart (9) and Kathy Skjerven (4) failed to block a shot by University of Minnesota-Crookston's Kindi Helling (43) during Wednesday's volleyball match here. The Northwomen, who are unbeaten in five Northwest Division matches and are headed to the November 11-12 state volleyball tournament, breezed by the Trojans 15-4, 15-8, 15-7.

Les Kouba

Internationally know as one of the world's foremost painters of wildlife, Les Kouba's deep understanding of the subject stems from his youth on a Minnesota farm. Impressed by the beauty of nature at an early age, he was afforded ample opportunity to observe and study wildlife in their natural habitat.

At 14 Kouba supplemented his natural artistic talent with a correspondence school art course. The guidance of professional art instruction was invaluable in helping develop his own unusual technique which immediately identifies his work. His exciting oils and dynamic water colors are known worldwide and reputed to be some of the most authentic portraits of wildlife in existence.

In addition, Kouba's works have appeared on the covers of many national magazines, as illustrations for outdoor books and he is nationally known as an award winning package designer. He has also gained fame as the designer of the federal duck stamp. An extremely active supporter of "Ducks Unlimited," an international organization of sportsmen, " who have been good to me . . . I want to be good to them," he says.

He is the founder and director of American Wildlife Art Galleries of Minneapolis, which houses one of the largest collections of original wildlife art in the nation. The gallery, housed at 822 Plymouth Building in Minneapolis, exhibits hundreds of vividly exciting water color and oil paintings by famous American wildlife artists.

Kouba painted the sunfish on the cover of the Minnesota Outdoors original vacation and guide annual in 1977.

You are invited to select one of the masterpieces from the gallery for your home or office or for your club. You'll get untold satisfaction of having made a sound monetary investment, and a fine original painting is one of the few gifts you can make that will be enjoyed for a lifetime.

Ball Club

Ball Club lake is up to 85 feet deep and filled with 3,936 acres of sky blue water — walleyes, crappies and tackle smashing northerns. Top this with sea gulls, loons and many varieties of ducks. Surround this with deer, grouse and many varieties of forest animals, and you have a beautiful true picture of this lake nestled within the Chippewa National Forest.

The lake is approximately six miles long, one mile wide and has 15 miles of shore line. There are several inlets and the outlet flows into the Mississippi river.

Hiawathaland

"Hiawathaland in southeastern Minnesota is open and the fishing on Lake Pepin and the Mississippi river are often overlooked by the fisherman. This area has some of the best fishing in Minnesota. The walleye, northern pike, largemouth bass, silver bass, muskie, sauger and great pan fish are available here.

If you're a bass hog hunter, the back waters of the Mississippi, south, near Weaver, is your place to be. Big northerns in the 10-15 pound class are also in these waters. The season is open all year round on Lake Pepin and the Mississippi river with many places to launch your boat or to rent a boat."

Snow Time

Winter time is for everyone. There are so many sports one may discover that can be easy to learn, cost very little and afford the entire family time to be together in a common interest, including ice fishing. If you loved summer fishing, try winter fishing. But if you drive upon the ice, remember to keep your car doors open, and the windows all the way down.

Snowmobile Trails

Now is the time to learn about the snowmobile trails in your area. Contact the Tourism Division, Minnesota Dept. of Economics Development, 480 Cedar St., St. Paul, MN 55101; or the Trails Section, Parks and Recreation Division, Minnesota Department of Natural Resources, Space Center Building, 444 Lafayette Road, St. Paul, MN 55101.

For The Birds

Grandma used to say it best . . . . "Don't forget our birds in winter and they won't forget you in the spring."

If you enjoy hearing the birds and watching them dine in your yards, then gather them together in joyful songs with winter offerings of love seeds, bread crumbs and balls of suet from the local meat dept. Once started, do not stop, for the gratful wee beggers soon learn to depend upon your generosity and will perish without it, once the habit of being dependent upon your goodwill, they certainly are confused when their pantry is empty.

Pronghorn

As with other prairie species, pronghorn populations drastically declined in the face of advancing western settlement. Homesteading, livestock competition and heavy market hunting and meat hunting by settlers quickly took a heavy toll on the abundant pronghorn herds. By the early 1920's, this species, which could once be counted in the millions, had been reduced to less than 13,000 animals.

Fortunately, funds from the hunter-funded Pittman-Robertson Act, which placed an excise tax on sporting arms and ammunition, enabled western state wildlife agencies to begin pronghorn research and restocking programs. Transplant efforts were made easier, since pronghorns, unlike deer, are reluctant to jump fences. With this fact in mind, wildlife personnel were able to herd animals into corral-like traps. Pronghorns were then trucked or flown to new areas of habitat. Many thousands of pronghorns have been relocated to different sites through such trapping and transplant programs.

Return of the pronghorn antelope is one of the most remarkable success stories of wildlife management. Once threatened to the point of extinction, there are now over 400,000 pronghorns in the western states.

Complete story of the success of wildlife management in America, including the pronghorn antelope, is available in national shooting sports foundation's new, fully illustrated, 48-page booklet, "Un-endangered Species," available for 50 cents each from NSSF, 1075 Post Road, Riverside, CT 06878. Clubs and organizations should write for quality prices.

GOING UP FOR a spike, Kathy Skjerven of Northland community college (4) had to contend with the blocking efforts of Kindi Helling of the University of Minnesota-Crookston (UMC) Wednesday during a Northwest Division volleyball match played in the Northland gym. Shelly Taggart was at the net with Skjerven and Diane Zimpel shown in the background. The Northwomen remained unbeaten in Northwest Division play with an easy 3-0 victory over the Trojans. Northland will close out its 1981 regular season schedule Wednesday when Fergus Falls visits Thief River Falls for a 7 p.m. match.

MANEUVERING PAST fallen Northland defenders Marty Semanko (51) and Mark Stock (37), Brainerd runningback Tim Sievek picked up a 10-yard gain through a big hole on the left side of the line before being brought down by Northland defensive back Dave Odegaard (22) in the third quarter of Saturday's community college football game played at Brainerd. The play carried to the Northland 27 and eight plays later the Red Raiders scored the game-winning touchdown in a come-from-behind 14-7 victory over the Northmen.

Northmen End Football Season

"I really don't know what to say," admitted Helley. "Teams have been running around our left end, but I don't want to make excuses. Give Brainerd credit they beat us. They just executed better than we did."

Brainerd could have had some more points. The Red Raiders reached the Northland eight, six and two yard lines at different stages of the game without getting any points. "Penalties and fumbles hurt us," acknowledged Kilgore.

Northland's offense was limited to the Furbish-to-Crouch pass combination as Furbish, starting his second straight game in place of injured regular Scott Wiebolt, hit 14 of 26 passes for 117 yards, and Crouch caught eight of them for 80 yards.

"Our offense played as well as we can play," said Helley. "We just have too many guys filling in at different positions."

Despite its failings on offense, Northland had one last shot at victory and a .500 season when Furbish passed 14 yards over the middle to Crouch to the Northland 40 with 1:50 remaining; break a long pass play and they're in position to win. But instead, Furbish, forced to pass out of the shotgun because an ankle injury suffered earlier in the game that kept him from being able to drop back, watched a high snap sail over his head. He ran the ball down, but was hit with a 28-yardloss.

Wildlife Group Backs Wetland Program Funds

Secretary of the Interior James Watt, acting in his role as chairman of the migratory bird conservation commission, has announced that he will ask the commission to focus attention at its next meeting on continued funding for preserving wetland habitat for ducks, geese and other migratory birds.

"Without continued funding, the nation's wetland acquisition program will virtually come to a halt," Watt said. "Ensuring that funds remain available for this purpose is a very high priority for this commission. The wetlands program makes good sense to me because it is funded by sportsmen and other conservationists who use and enjoy the waterfowl resource."

Primary sources of funding for wetlands acquisition are receipts from the sale of migratory bird hunting and conservation stamps (popularly known as duck stamps) and the wetlands loan act. Duck stamps must be purchased by all waterfowl hunters age 16 or older and presently provide about $15 million in revenue annually. The 1961 wetlands loan act authorized a $105 million, interest-free loan to the migratory bird conservation account to be used by the Interior Department's U.S. Fish and Wildlife Service, in combination with duck stamp revenues, to acquire wetlands. The loan, which has been extended twice and increased to $200 million, is scheduled to expire on September 30, 1983. Approximately $144 million has already been appropriated under the current authorization. If the authorization expires, the remaining $56 million will not be available. "This will leave insufficient funds to continue a national wetlands acquisition program," Watt said, "because, according to the law, the loan must begin to be repaid using 75 per cent of yearly duck stamp revenues."

Prairie potholes, marshes, and other wetlands are vital to waterfowl because they provide breeding, feeding, resting and wintering habitat. The Fish and Wildlife Service acquires wetlands through purchase in fee title and through easements that protect wetlands from being drained, filled, or burned, while the owner retains the right to continue normal agricultural use. The program is conducted on a willing seller basis.

In spite of efforts to protect them, however, wetlands continue to be lost at a rapid rate because of conversion to agriculture, housing, and other developments. The preservation of wetlands has also been slowed in recent years by rapidly escalating land prices.

Migratory bird conservation commission was established in 1929 to study areas proposed as migratory bird refuges by the Fish and Wildlife Service and to decide which areas should be acquired and added to the national wildlife refuge system. The commission is chaired by the Secretary of the Interior and includes the Secretaries of Agriculture and Transportation, two members each from the Senate and House of Representatives, and the chief conservation officer of each state where a land purchase is proposed.

At the October 7 meeting, the commission approved the acquisition of a new national wildlife refuge, Big Boggy, when funds become available. Big Boggy, located about 20 miles south of Bay City, Texas, would preserve about 4,500 acres of coastal marsh and prairie as wintering habitat for waterfowl and other migratory birds.

HARD PASS rush by Northland defensive end Mike Busse forced Brainerd quarterback Dave Webber to hurry his first quarter pass and as a result he threw an interception to Northland defensive back Coby Burslie during Saturday's community college football game in Brainerd. Four plays later Northland's Mike Punton scored on a five-yard run and Don Hudec added the conversion kick for a 7-6 lead. But Brainerd won the game 14-7.

Wildlife Group Promotes Use Of Yard Space For Animal Use

In recognition of the eight years of painstaking labor a Boulder, Colorado family spent in turning its two-thirds of an acre yard into a thriving wildlife habitat, the National Wildlife Federation has awarded the family its 2,000th backyard habitat certificate.

Ann and John Cooper and their children Kathy, 17, Mike, 15, and Bill, 12, designed and nurtured their property into a natural area frequented by such creatures as cedar waxwings, mountain chickadees, downy woodpeckers, lazuli buntings, mule deer, raccoons, marmots and skunks. According to NWF naturalist Craig Tufts, who recently flew to Boulder from federation headquarters in Washington to present the Coopers with the 2,000th backyard habitat certificate, their planning, caring and very little investing can turn a small piece of land into a mini wildlife reserve."

Cooper's property in Boulder encompasses two small pools, nine homemade bird feeders, and more than 30 species of trees and shrubs. It is the 2,000th backyard wildlife habitat to be certified by NWF in an international network of privately-owned sanctuaries for wild creatures. To be certified as a backyard habitat, an area must be smaller than three acres and must provide the four basic requirements for wildlife habitat — food, water, cover and a place for raising offspring.

By encouraging the growth of native vegetation, the Coopers have produced a habitat with excellent cover and food, Tufts said. Choke cherry and wild plum thickets are bordered by remnant prairie and grazing land. Immediately adjacent to the house is a more traditional landscape with more shrubs and trees and a lawn that shrinks in size each year.

Nesting cover is provided by three large brush piles, such fruit-producing shrubs as currant, honeysuckle and elderberry, and a 40-year-long privet hedge. Cavity nesters can choose from among nine homemade bird houses. For winter cover, the Coopers have provided large ponderosa pine, Austrian pine, blue spruce and juniper. A variety of deciduous trees — elm, ash, maple, cottonwood and black locust — provide nesting places and food for other birds and butterfly larvae.

Perhaps the biggest project in the Cooper's eight-year effort at developing a model wildlife habitat was the construction of a 35-foot wall, built from six tons of rock. Crevices in the wall provide superb cover for insects, lizards, snakes, and small mammals. Flowering plants rooted in rock crevices will provide color, and in time, lichens, mosses, and ferns will soften rock surfaces.

Coopers have greatly enjoyed the results of their hours of labor. "We seem to be constantly reaping the rewards," says Ann Cooper, who is a volunteer naturalist for Boulder county parks department. "Recently we have enjoyed the company of a mule deer doe and her two young fawns, and a noisy family of six raccoon babies." She emphasizes that her family plans to extend their backyard habitat.

Anyone interested in turning his yard into a mini wildlife reserve can obtain a backyard habitat kit by sending $1 to Backyard Wildlife Habitat Program, National Wildlife Federation, Dept. 114, 1412 16th Street, N.W., Washington, D.C. 20036. The kit includes a reprint of "Invite Wildlife to Your Backyard," an application form, a copy of the NWF newsletter, "The Backyard Wildlifer," and a list of sources for more information.

RESOLUTION

The Democratic-Farmer-Labor Party of Minnesota, by tradition, and by its actions, has demonstrated that it stands for progress in human and civil rights, as well as economic affairs. This Party has always been committed to the family farmer and to sound trade unionist principles. Collective bargaining has given us an improved standard of living and thus improved the general economic situation for everyone.

THEREFORE:

Pennington County Democratic-Farmer-Labor Party endorses the efforts of the Thief River Falls Education Association in its attempts to negotiate a satisfactory contract that will provide improved salaries, resulting in long range plans toward quality education. We urge the Thief River Falls School Board to settle the differences in an immediate and equitable manner.

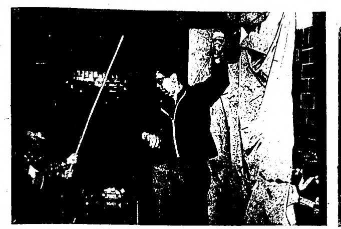
CHAIRPERSON
D.F.L.



BEHIND THE SCENES at the fish pond, Lions Club members worked to see that all of the children won prizes at the Halloween party held Saturday evening at the Armory. Bean bag throwing, ring tossing, and bingo were other games run by the Lions for the entertainment of the kids, who were given tickets when they entered the building.

FRIENDS and family members of residents and staff at Oakland Park nursing home in Thief River Falls gathered at the Home during annual Family night conducted last Thursday evening. Speaker following the potluck meal was Dr. Arnold Berg of Thief River Falls.

"HAPPY HALLOWEEN!" the youngsters exclaimed as they presented their treats to residents of Valley Home in Thief River Falls Friday morning. Youngsters visiting residents were from the Discovery Place child care center in Thief River Falls.

Telecommunication Draws Comment By Senator Boschwitz

The Senate recently passed a very complex and substantial piece of legislation which affects every aspect of the telecommunications industry, notes Sen. Rudy Boschwitz.

The telecommunications deregulation act (S.898) was the result of several years of hearings and Congressional review of the communications act of 1934, the primary law governing communications in our country.

A mayor part of this legislation ensured the continued regulation of basic telephone services (of which AT&T is the biggest provider), while allowing deregulation of other communication markets. Deregulation will provide for increased competition and thereby lower the costs of many communication services.

"Much of the controversy during consideration of the bill centered on the cable television provisions," he said. Three of these provisions were added in the commerce, science and transportation committee as last-minute amendments before the bill was reported to the senate floor. The fourth cable provision had been part of the bill all along, but I took a particular interest in this provision for reasons which I'll explain further."

The cable provisions did the following: (1) prohibited state and local government authority over rates; (2) allowed the Federal Communications Commission (FCC) authority to set ceilings on fees cable operators are charged by state and local governments for receiving the franchise for that area; (3) expanded the FCC rate jurisdiction to regulate cabel company attachments to cooperative municipal and private utility poles; and (4) codified the current FCC regulation banning telephone companies from providing cable services in their local service area (cross-ownership ban).

"I was contacted (as many other Senators were) by cities and communities concerned about the cable provisions, and particularly by the fact that they did not have a chance to express their opinion on these provisions at a Congressional hearing. Removing this local control over rates and other cable matters is a decision with too much magnitude not to have the benefit of Senate hearings," Sen. Boschwitz said.

"Cable telecommunications is a booming industry, and it's still uncertain how much of an impact it will have on citizens' everyday lives. Cable systems may someday provide burglar and fire prevention systems in homes, extensive information retrieval and even home banking services. If it's viewed that cable systems in fact operate as a monopoly franchise in certain markets, it may be necessary for local governments to have rate reviews and similar consumer protection alternatives," he added.

"Fortunately, my colleague from Arizona, Senator Barry Goldwater (who chairs the subcommittee on communications in the commerce committee) recognized the impropriety of acting on the three cable provisions before holding hearings on the issues. I'm pleased to say that most of the other Senators agreed, and the first three provisions were removed from the bill. This opens the way for some in-depth hearings and study on these matters, as well as some possible legislation in the future.

"I felt that the fourth cable provision also deserved some separate Congressional attention. My interest in the fourth cable provision stems from the fact that much of Minnesota is composed of rural communities which may need local telephone companies to provide cable services. Therefore, I offered an amendment on the Senate floor to have this provision removed for further consideration.

"Ownership of cable television franchises by telephone companies in their own service areas is banned by the FCC, but a waiver process is available for rural communities where cable service could not exist except through the local telephone company. That process, however, has become very lengthy, with some waivers pending up to two and a half years," the Senator said.

"The FCC has issued a proposed rule eliminating the ban on telephone companies from owning cable television in rural areas. The final report, which will include a definition of a rural area, is expected soon. If this cable provision was considered in Senate hearings, all would benefit from the opinions and reports of the FCC on the issue of crossownership and whether there should be a permanent rural exemption to the ban.

"While my amendment was not accepted, I'm pleased to say that many Senators expressed support for exempting rural areas from this ban. I'm hopeful that the FCC will be encouraged by this near unanimous support of the Senate floor to allow rural telephone companies to provide cable service in areas where it might not otherwise be possible," Sen. Boschwitz concluded.

Birthday

Peter Nygard observed his 15th birthday anniversary Monday, October 26. A sister, Theresa, who is a nurse in Fargo, N.D., was home for the weekend. Others who spent Sunday at the Alvin Nygard home for the occasion were Floyd Lunstrom, Gary Geske and Burt Wilkenson.

Mrs. Glenn Jensen and Kyle of Goodridge visited Tuesday forenoon at the Kendall Jensen home. Mrs. Laverne Filpula and Mrs. Vernon Erdmann, and Mrs. Duane Olson and Steve were afternoon visitors and Mr. and Mrs. Gary Nelson were evening callers.

FIELD DIKING has been done by Joe Carey to protect some of his fields from flooding in Section 33 of Espelie township. The dike is shown at left in the photo above, next to a field which produced a good sunflower crop this year. The area is subject to nearly annual spring flooding, Carey said, yet is being considered by the Minnesota Waste management board as a hazardous waste disposal site.

POROUS MATERIALS like sand and gravel are found throughout the three sections of Espelie township being considered by the Minnesota waste management board as a hazardous waste disposal site. This gravel deposit is in the bottom of a field ditch in Section 35. Joe Carey, who owns 480 acres of land in the proposed disposal site area, speculates that "there isn't 20 acres of one type of soil in one area in the whole three sections".

AVTI Stress Management Meet Nov. 23

Thief River Falls area vocational-technical institute (AVTI) is offering a six-hour workshop on "Stress Management" November 23 from 9 a.m. to 4 p.m. at the Best Western Inn, Thief River Falls. Cost of the workshop is $30, which includes coffee, rolls, lunch and materials.

Dr. Grace Guemple of Business Success Consultants, Moorhead, will be the speaker.

Everyone is forced to deal with stress in their personal and professional lives, but have they learned how to recognize their own body responses to stress and cope successfully in controlling stress? Too much stress for too long a period of time is disastrous and the effects on people and industry is reaching epidemic proportions.

This workshop will examine how stress is created by thinking and behaving in ways that lead to worry, tension, and physical diseases. Various effective coping strategies will be presented on how to successfully deal with stress.

Pre-registration is required by November 6 by contacting Adult Education, Thief River Falls AVTI, Highway One East, Thief River Falls, MN 56701; 681-5424.

Space Shuttle Discussed By Astronaut-MD

"Today's space program is very different than it was in the glory days of Gemini and Apollo," Skylab II astronaut Joseph Kerwin, MD, told a group of fellow physicians recently. "It's less of a circus stunt; it's more routine.

Dr. Kerwin, the first American MD to go into space, spoke about the shuttle program's economic viability, pointing out that before the shuttle the National Aeronautics and Space Administration (NASA) used its $400 million vehicles only once.

"It wasn't a very efficient way to do business," he told the Eastern Pennsylvania regional meeting of the American College of Physicians (ACP), a national medical specialty society. "It was as though Boeing built one 747 and filled it with passengers, flew it to New York and then pushed it off into the East River."

Dr. Kerwin, who provided television commentary for the space shuttle Columbia launch, said NASA estimates that reusable space vehicles cut the cost of launching men and equipment by a factor of 50.

The shuttle's ability to place communication satellites that affect the day-to-day lives of people all over the globe is probably its most important function, he said. By using the shuttle to place communications satellites, backward countries are "entering the space age, having bypassed the last 50 years of communications," Dr. Kerwin explained. "Space communication is very inportant," he continued, "because outer space is literally becoming the eyes and ears of this country and of the world."

Of the 45 flights-worth of payloads arranged now, about 40 per cent of those are commercial satellites. About 25 per cent of the remainder are American military satellites. Foreign governments also will be launching communication satellites on a pay-as-you-go basis.

Putting satellites into orbit for companies such as RCA, AT&T and others, is a major purpose of the civilian shuttle program, Dr. Kerwin stressed. With the shuttle, he explained, "space is becoming an attractive commercial venture."

When asked why he plans to go up in the third shuttle flight, Dr. Kerwin laughed. "Well, its my job," he said. "I went up once; I had a wonderful time. The view is incredibly great — being weightless and flying around like Peter Pan is a marvelous experience."

State Enters Agreement To Get U.S. Funds

State of Minnesota has entered into a unique cooperative agreement with the federal emergency management agency (FEMA) intended to simplify how the state receives emergency funding from the federal government.

The agreement was signed October 14, at the State Capitol by the governor, FEMA regional director John Anderson and division of emergency services director Ralph Olmos.

The agreement will provide an estimated $1,781,900 of federal money to be administered by the Department of Public Safety (DPS) division of emergency services, during fiscal year 1982. The exact amount will be determined by Congress in the near future. Additional matching funds will come from local and state governments for a combined total of approximately $3,272,800.

The financial support provided by the federal government in the past has been through separate contracts covering such areas as nuclear protection, disaster response and recovery, training and radiological maintenance.

*According to DPS Com*missioner John P. Sopsic, the new integrated aid program with a single funding amount will give the state more authority and responsibility in dealing with the federal government in disaster preparedness and response.

"The major benefit is a much greater flexibility of personnel and the sharing of expertise," said Sopsic. "More simply put, we will be in a position to provide better and more complete service to the people of Minnesota in an age of diminishing people and dollar resources."

FEMA indicated that Minnesota was chosen for the pilot program because the state has an excellent track record in emergency preparedness.

State task force, headed by Olmos, inspected a similar program in North Carolina in January of 1981. After months of planning and negotiating involving emergency services and FEMA personnel, the terms of the agreement were agreed upon which will allow more federal disaster money to come into the state. For fiscal year 1981, emergency services received $1.5 million from FEMA in five separate contracts.

"Minnesota will have greater response capability than ever before to handle the problems of its citizenry in preparing for and overcoming disasters," said Gov. Quie.

LAND FOR SALE
ON SEALED BIDS

The owner of the property described below offers for sale on sealed bids a 200 acre farm located in the Town of Como, Marshall County, Minnesota, described as follows.

Northwest Quarter (NW¼) and Southwest Quarter of the Northeast Quarter (SW¼NE¼) Section 36, Township 158 North of Range 42 West, excepting and reserving all mineral rights.

Approximately 129 acres are open. It is expected that it will be plowed in 1981, but seller will be liable for the acres plowed only on the day of bidding. There are some buildings on the property.

The terms that the seller will accept will be either cash or a contract for deed. If the bid is for a contract for deed, a down payment of 20 per cent of the total bid will be required and the balance to be paid over a term of ten years with interest on the unpaid balance at the rate of 10 per cent per annum. All bidders should deposit 5 per cent of the bid in the form of a cashier's check, certified check or a bank money order. The successful bidder will be required to provide an additional amount on the day of bidding to bring the bid up to 5 per cent.

Sealed bids should be brought to the Law Office of Jaroslav Krvta in Middle River, Minnesota, on or before 1 p.m. on Wednesday, November 11, 1981, at which time they will be opened at 2 p.m. If bids arrive at the Warren office, they must arrive by Tuesday, November 10, 1981. The highest three bidders together with the present tenant will have a right to raise the bids orally.

The seller reserves the right to reject any or all bids.

Yorktown Celebrates Citizen-Soldier

American citizen-soldiers, the forebearers of today's Army Reservists and National Guardsmen, battled the British at Yorktown in 1781. The muskets were fired and the cannons were shot again as a prelude to the 200th anniversary of the battle ending the Revolutionary War. Recreated units recently assembled at Yorktown, Virginia, to demonstrate the 18th century battle techniques which placed Yorktown beside the Battles of Hastings and Waterloo in history. History buffs will be interested to know that a more complete reenactment and celebration will be staged October 16-19. President Reagan and leaders from France, Germany and Great Britain are expected to attend.

It is the role of the citizen-soldier which is celebrated here as much as the victory. It was the citizen-soldier who laid down the tools of his trade to fight alongside the soldiers of General Washington. As demonstrated in the recreation, the Americans were not warriors of a pompous monarch. They were freedom-loving citizens who knew participating in the War for Independence was necessary to earn participation in government. Like today's Army Reservists, their motivation was a matter of conscience.

The citizen-soldiers at Yorktown didn't always have fancy uniforms, but they had patriotism. They didn't always fight like gentlemen, but they had perseverance. These battle-hardened Americans shouted and hacked their way through the stakes which protected the British trenches. Their weapon was the bayonet. The British were appalled by the indignity of it all. They were also unprepared and soundly defeated. The musicians of the British Army, the greatest in the world at the time, resorted to playing the dismal tune, The World Turned Upside Down, as the Redcoats surrendered.

Although the battle techniques of the modern Army Reserve are a far cry from those used at Yorktown, the spirit of victory remains the same. Army Reservists are modern citizen-soldiers who are prepared to leave their families and their jobs on a moment's notice to defend the freedom that was won at Yorktown.

The real victor at Yorktown was the citizen who won the right to form his own government and defend it from its enemies. According to an Army Reserve spokesperson, "The Army Reserve is proud to be part of such an important tradition."

COSTUME CONTEST winners at the Halloween party given at the Armory by the Lions Club Saturday evening were Scott Ness as Farmer Jones, Mike Nelson as a knight, Joel Fremstad as Dracula, Damien Boutiette as a puppy, and Traci Lindberg as an Indian. The prize winners received cash prizes, and all of the children attending won treats and prizes at the game booths run by the Lions.

HIGH VOLTAGE wires, downed when a pickup driven by Brian Hunt, route 1, Thief River Falls, left Dewey Avenue and sheared off a power pole, burned grass and presented a safety hazard until power and light department employees got the electricity turned off on Friday. After hitting the pole and two mailboxes, the pickup crossed back over the road and finally stopped where it is just visible in the background at the left. A passenger, Kevin Scott Johnson, 18, also route 1, was taken to the hospital by ambulance where he was treated for facial cuts. Law enforcement officers prevented traffic from entering the area until it was safe.

Settlement On Suit Against GTA Reached

A settlement was reached recently on a lawsuit filed against the Grain Terminal association (GTA) by individual GTA members and by the Committee for Members Input (CMI), a group of farmer-patrons of the eight state regional grain marketing cooperative.

Settlement will end a dispute begun June 2, 1981 when the suit was filed in Ramsey county district court to stop a special meeting and mail ballot. Special meeting was initiated by GTA board members to change the organization's bylaws concerning funds distributed to eight state Farmers Union organizations for cooperative education and promotion from a mandatory to a discretionary payment policy.

CMI charted the GTA board and management with violation of member participation and voting rights. Specifically the lawsuit charged inadequate notification of members; improper distribution of ballots; undue involvement for employees in the balloting; and an imporper directive by the board for block voting for the members of GTA-affiliated local cooperatives.

Cooperatives differ from other businesses in that their patrons are their owners. Governing policies are usually determined according to a majority vote, each member having one vote.

Members objected to the special meeting and unusual mail ballot being conducted in the spring, a normally busy time for farmers. GTA bylaws changes are traditionally considered at the regular annual meeting of the cooperative conducted each November.

Specifically, the sttlement calls for dismissal of the suit upon adoption of several bylaws changes in the forthcoming GTA annual meeting to be condcuted in Minneapolis November 17 through 18.

Bylaws changes to be submitted to the convention, in accordance with the settlement, include:

+That future article and bylaws changes can only be made by the delegates assembled at the annual convention, unless compelling business reasons require that they be considered at a special meeting;

+ Two official notices of proposed article and bylaws changes must be published prior to the vote in the GTA house organ, or alternatively via personal notice to each GTA member;

+Employees are prohibited from selecting delegates to future GTA annual meetings;

+Votes cast by local co-op boards for their members will be compiled proportionate to the affirmative and negative votes cast by board members.

Agreement also calls for a minimum 30 minute period to be set aside during the annual meeting for members to ask questions of GTA management and to express their concerns, a traditional practice discontinued in recent years.

In addition to proposing these bylaws changes, the GRA board will appoint a task force, with at least one member appointed by the plaintiffs (CMI) in this case, to review current GTA director districts and to consider changes in the apportionment and number of directors.

"For too long policy-making in cooperatives has been shifting from members — for whom the co-op exists — to hired staff and unresponsive boards of directors," said Leo Fogarty, a Belle Plaine farmer and one of the plaintiffs in the case.

"I believe this experience will be a reminder to co-op members everywhere that when they fail or neglect their policy-making responsibility, that job will logically be assumed by someone else," he continued.

"This is a real step forward for GTA's farmer members. We have great confidence that this cooperative will grow in its size and service, as long as it is directed by its members and serves their needs," Fogarty concluded.

Fogarty and Russ Miller, a farmer from Maynard, are co-chairman of the committee for Member Input.

Block Grants For Community Action Aired

A plan which proposes how a federal block grant will be allocated to state community action agencies and non-profit organizations is now available for review, Governor Al Quie announced recently.

Community Services block grant plan outlines allocation of funds from October 1 through Jan. 31, 1982, the first quarter of federal fiscal year 1982. Grants are intended to assist low income persons, including the elderly, in such areas as employment, education, housing and energy crisis assistance.

Interested citizens, agencies and organizations may review the plan at Minnesota regional development commission offices, community action agencies and county libraries. Single copies may be obtained from the Office of Economic Opportunity, Minnesota Department of Economic Security, 390 North Robert St., St. Paul, Minn. 55101.

Amount of money available to Minnesota will not be known until Congress completes its deliberation. Formerly federal funds were allocated directly to the participating agencies. A new federal law authorizes state governments to distribute the funds.

In Minnesota, funds will be distributed to community action agencies and programs. In many counties, community action agencies operate Head Start, weatherization projects, senior citizen congregate dining, and programs to assist low income households with high heating bills.

Minnesota legislature will conduct public hearings from January 15 to March 15, for uses and distribution of community services funds for the remainder of federal fiscal years 1982 and 1983.

Model Airplane Meet Changed To Nov. 10

Change in date and meeting place for the organizational meeting of a Thief River Falls model airplane club has been announced by Dave Odette, one of the organizers. The meeting had been set for Tuesday at the regional library meeting room, but had to be changed due to a meeting conflict.

New date for the meeting is Tuesday, November 10, from 7 to 9 p.m. at the law enforcement center training room. All persons interested in building and flying remote control model airplanes are encouraged to attend the session or to contact Odette or Roger Sackett, both of Thief River Falls.

PICKETING TEACHERS from the Thief River Falls Education association meet the Marshall county central school district bus from Newfolden at the Northwest vocational center entrance this morning. Vern Isaacson, strike co-chairman, is shown approaching the bus door. He informed the driver that the teachers here are conducting a legal strike and requested that he take the students back home. Students from Newfolden and Strandquist buses were permitted to enter the school where classes are being offered in model office, model manufacturing and electronics. Plummer and Goodridge schools sent students in the afternoon for an attendance of about 40 in the three classes today.

Murphy Wins Ward 2 City Election Tuesday

In the only contest in the Thief River Falls city election yesterday, Ken Murphy defeated Bill Hogan by 89 votes (166-77) for the Second Ward alderman seat being vacated by the retirement of Ole Engelstad. He will take office in January.

With a total of 501 votes cast in the city, Mayor Bob Carlson, running unopposed, received 442, assuring his reelection for the next two years. Two other persons received one write-in vote apiece for the mayor's seat.

Alderman At Large Dr. Donald Goodrich received 427 votes, with four write-ins cast, to be reelected for four years.

Fourth Ward Alderman Bill Penning received 49 votes, with one write in cast, to be reelected for four years.

By wards, the voting went as follows (seeming discrepancies in totals can be attributed to incomplete ballots):

In the first ward a total of 54 votes were cast. Mayor Carlson received 49, and one write in vote was cast for mayor. Goodrich received 47 votes.

In the second ward a total of 259 votes were coast. Carlson received 216. Murphy received 166 and Hogan 77. Goodrich received 221.

In the third ward a total of 52 votes were cast. Carlson got 51, and Goodrich got 50.

In the fourth ward a total of 53 votes were cast. Carlson received 49, Penning received 49, and Goodrich received 39. One write in vote was cast for each of the three offices.

In the fifth ward a total of 83 votes were cast. Carlson received 77, and Goodrich received 70. Three write-ins were cast for the alderman at large position.

Turnout for the election was described by Assistant City Clerk Roger Delap as "extremely poor." More than twice as many voters (1,055) turned out for the last election in 1979. Data from the County Auditor's office shows there are 1,107 registered voters in ward 1; 1,235 in ward 2; 1, 170 in ward 3; 1,079 in ward 4; and 1,184 in ward 5; for a total of 5,775 in the city. That means that less than 10 per cent of the voters turned out for the election.

City council meets at 5:15 this evening to canvass the ballots.

Electric Outage Most Extensive

Most extensive power outage to hit Thief River Falls in the memory of 25-year employees at the municipal power plant struck the city about 6:05 p.m. Tuesday. A third to half of the city was plunged into darkness when an underground cable from the substation outside to the power plant failed.

"It was an underground cable from the substation outside the power plant building that came into the switch gear inside the building and shorted the ground," explained Arlo Rude, distribution engineer for the city utilities department. Black smoke poured out of the conduit housing the cable, making it easy for power plant employees to identify the source of the problem.

John T. Anderson, superintendent of utilities, said last night that the cable was installed in 1957 and failure was probably due to deterioration from age. "I don't think there is anything that could have been done from a preventive maintenance standpoint to prevent something like this from happening," he said.

When the outage happened, power plant employees started the three local generators to assist in meeting load demands. Information was relayed over radio station KTRF for the public to turn out lights and turn off electric appliances to reduce the load when service was turned back on. Public response was good, Anderson said, with reduced loads apparent as circuits were restored to service.

Most of the city was back on service by 9 p.m. — an outage of three hours or less for most people whose electric service was interrupted. Anderson and Rude said that the work to isolate the feeder line and complete the switch-over was accomplished by 4:15 a.m. today. By 11 p.m. Tuesday the power plant had cut back to operating one generator, producing about 1,200 kilowatts, and the water turbines which generated about 530 kilowatts.

It is likely that the cable which shorted out may not be replaced. "With the load we serve from the power plant and the four conduits which are left we have sufficient capacity to serve the load that we have," Rude said.

With the appeal that was made on radio for cut back on electric power use, residents were also asked to restrict their use of water. Without normal electric power to operate the pumping system, water in the tower could have been reduced to a level which would have made fire fighting difficult.

Had the outage persisted, the water plant would have hooked up its portable generator and used that for pumping. But water use declined as the public cooperated with the request and service was restored in a short time, enabling pumps to operate normally. The city has been operating with only one water tower for about a week as the west tower is being cleaned and repaired. By this morning conditions were back to normal and the water supply had been restored.

In addition to the power outage in the city, part of the Red Lake Electric co-operative service south of

by Marvin Lundin
Times Editor

It was a standing room only crowd which gathered in the national guard armory in Thief River Falls Monday evening for a public forum organized by the Thief River Falls Education association to answer questions regarding the association's strike against School District 564.

Chairs for more than 500 people had been arranged on the armory floor and the number of people standing indicated approximately 700 in attendance. Mike Lehrer, president of the TRFEA, presided at the meeting and opening remarks were made by Mayor Bob Carlson.

Answering questions for the teachers' group were Dale Folger, John Egge and Edith Etter of the negotiating team and Vern Isaacson, co-chairman of the association's strike committee. Also introduced but not responding to questions were Lambert Brunkhorst of the negotiating team, and Bob Jury, chairman of the association's task force. James Cuppett, also a co-chairman of the strike committee, fielded and relayed questions from the audience.

A list of 20 questions most frequently asked of the striking teachers was distributed at the door to people attending. A number of these questions were asked and answered as well as other concerns of the public. In addition to questions, some people chose to make comments and state personal opinions.

Although the TRFEA stated that invitations had been extended to members of the board of education, none was in attendance, apparently choosing not to be confronted in what was expected to be a partisan atmosphere. Several questions which involved policy, administrative or financial matters apart from negotiations were referred by the teacher group to the board or superintendent.

One of these questions was in regard to the amount of money spent by the school district in fees for legal advice in regard to negotiations. Folger and Lehrer affirmed that the school board has the right to retain counsel in these matters but did not comment on cost. The questioneer commented that the money might be better spent on instruction.

Considerable concern was expressed regarding the area vocational-technical institute for post high school students. Closing of the AVTI as a result of the strike may have caused high student losses. John Egge responded to a question on how much revenue the school district is losing as a result of the AVTI being closed by saying loss of state and federal aids could total $5,000 to $6,000 per day.

Question was asked as to what teachers would want for a setlement two years from how. Isaacson responded that if teachers are able to settle for a salary which is comparable to other district this year, there would be a much easier time settling a contract two years from now.

Comparative salaries of Thief River Falls teachers with those in other districts in Region 8AA on a per pupil unit basis was explained in answer to a question about teacher dissatisfaction with the board's salary offer. Mrs. Etter used an overhead projector chart to show that the Thief River Falls district ranked 15th of 15 districts in instructional salaries per pupil unit.

One of the questions on the list distributed asked, "What can concerned citizens do to help resolve this strike?"

"I would recommend to you," Mrs. Etter said, "that you call your local elected officials, better known as the board of education, who are neglecting their responsibilities at this time, to get your child back to school so everybody's problem would be solved."

Another question from the list asked was, "Why do 'poor' teachers get a raise along with 'good' teachers?" Isaacson said that one student's poor teacher will probably be another student's good teacher, and vice versa. In addition, he said, the bargaining unit must bargain for all teachers that it represents.

"Your question probably is

ANSWERING QUESTIONS posed by the audience during the public forum on the Thief River Falls teachers' strike were these members of the School District 564 faculty. 'Is Your Head On Straight?' At NCC Friday

"Is Your Head on Straight?" a lecture by Jim Post, minister, educator, former police officer, army chaplain and currently chaplain at Kansas state prison, will be presented Friday at 10 a.m. in the Northland community college fine arts auditorium.

Post will speak on today's concerns, including the bewildering problems of today's youth, rise in juvenile delinquency, increase in drug abuse, need for prison reform, and break-up of today's family. His work in prisons has caused him to be mentioned in several books including: Truman Capote's novel and movie, "In Cold Blood."

Sponsored by the Northland community college student association, the lecture is open to all students and the general public, free of charge.

PARTICIPANTS in the public forum on the Thief River Falls Education association strike against School District 564 Monday evening in the national guard armory included Edith Etter, member of the TRFEA negotiating team, and Mike Lehrer, TRFEA president. Lehrer fielded questions and moderated the program and Mrs. Etter and other negotiating team and strike committee members responded.

Board Stands Firm As Teacher Strike Goes On

Thief River Falls Education association negotiators dropped their request to $5,352.84 average increase over a two-year contract but the Thief River Falls board of education stood firm on its offer of a $4,500 increase at a six-hour negotiating session Tuesday evening at the Pennington county law enforcement center.

It was the second reduction in request by the TRFEA since its strike against School District 564 began October 13. When the strike began, the teachers were requesting $5,600 average increase. The request was reduced to $5,494.57 on October 22, a reduction of $105.43. Last night's request represented a further reduction of $141.73 for a total of $247.16.

Agreement was reached on only two items at the meeting — language relating to part-time and long-term substitute teachers. The board and teacher negotiators have found themselves up against a further roadblock: The board wants all language items settled before working on the salary package while the TRFEA negotiators want the board to put a new salary package on the table before language items are considered according to Supt. Robert Block.

Negotiations began at 8 p.m. Tuesday and continued until 2 a.m. today. Chief negotiator Dale Folger of the TRFEA requested board chairman Ken Wiebolt to set another negotiating session for tonight but no further meeting date has been established at this time.

Three classes resumed today at the Northwest vocational center with about 40 students from Newfolden, Strandquist, Plummer and Goodridge arriving by bus to receive instruction in model office, model manufacturing and electronics.

Buses from Strandquist and Marshall county central high school at Newfolden were met by a large group of picketers at 10:30 a.m. Vern Isaacson, co-chairman of the TRFEA strike committee, informed the driver of the Marshall county central bus that the district teachers were conducting a legal strike, that if uncertified teachers were being used there could be a safety problem, and requested that he turn around and take the students home.

Students were permitted to leave the buses, however, and there were no incidents as they crossed the picket line to attend classes. It was noted by the center school administration that Thief River Falls students who may wish to attend center school classes would do so on an enrichment basis only, since they would not receive credit toward course completion.

Plummer and Goodridge busses this afternoon returned students to their schools after Lambert Brunkhorst of the TRFEA negotiating team pleaded with students to honor the picket line, told them he felt they were being used and in some cases would not be getting the classes they signed to take.

KEY AWARDS were presented to Sonia Wold, Satellite; Julie Peterson, Silverton, Perry Hamre, Smiley; and Rona Broten, Happy Acres during 4-H awards night conducted last week in the city auditorium. Voters Reject School Levy At Plummer

Rejection of an eight-mill tax levy for School District 628 at Plummer by a 139 to 134 vote Thursday evening leaves the board of education pondering how to get along without approximately $52,000 which the levy would have provided for the 1982-83 school year.

Supt. Norman Johnson said the closeness of the vote is also a problem for the board because it leaves no clear consensus as to what people of the district want. The board meets next on November 9 and at that time will begin consideration of budget cuts which may be necessary due to the referendum defeat.

School district personnel have already been asked for suggestions as to where savings might be made, the superintendent said, and residents of the district will be asked for similar input through a newsletter whch is expected to be sent out following the next board meeting. Currently the Plummer district levies about $273,000 in local taxes for school support.

SOCIETY and CLUBS

Kathryn Charlson And Larry Pederson Wed

Kathryn M. Charlson, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Curtis Charlson of Thief River Falls, became the bride of Larry K. Pederson, son of Mrs. Cora Pederson of Willmar, and the late Trygve Pederson, at a ceremony October 3 at St. Paul's Lutheran church in Springfield.

Rev. Maurice Hagen officiated at the double ring ceremony. Organist was Corliss Pearson and vocalist was Gary Pearson, friends of the groom. Selections sung during the ceremony were "Follow Me," "The Two Sahll be as One," and "The Lord's Prayer."

Altar flowers consited of yellow mums, carnations and roses accented by Red Rover Mums.

The bride, given in marriage by her parents, was attired in a gown of white organza. Lace trim stiched with seed pearls formed the bodice design. Lace motifs enhanced the sheer, full sleeves and scalloped lace graced the neckline and bordered her chapel-length train and bridal illusion veil. She carried a cascade bouquet of yellow roses and Red Rover Mums.

Assisting her as personal attendant was a friend, Mary Woehlre of Owatonna.

Matron of honor was Mrs. Kirsten Truesdell of Arlington, Tex., a sister of the bride. Bridal attendants were Miss Elaine Charlson, Washington, D.C., a sister of the bride, and Mrs. Kathy Wieser, Cokato, a friend of the bride. All were attired in floor-length, mint-green gowns and carried Red Rover mums with yellow mums and carnations.

Attending the groom were a friend, Dean Tilley of New Ulm, and his brothers: Dr. James Pederson, Oklahoma City, Okla., and Richard Pederson, St. Cloud. Serving as ushers were Eric Charlson, Thief River Falls, a brother of the bride, and Bruce Johnson, Willmar, a friend of the groom. All wore beige dinner jackets, corresponding with the beige tuxedo worn by the groom, dark brown trousers, white ruffled shirts and dark brown bow ties.

For her daughter's wedding, Mrs. Charlson was attired in a long-sleeved floral gown in rust and gold on a beige background. Her corsage was fashioned of yellow roses centered by a large Red Rover mum. An identical corsage complemented the long-sleeved apricot colored gown worn by the groom's mother.

Honored guest was Mrs. Alma Wilja, Moorhead, great-aunt of the groom.

Following the ceremony, a reception was held in the church parlors with Mr. and Mrs. Dennis Rieck of Springfield, friends of the couple, as host and hostess.

The buffet table featured a three-tiered wedding cake, decorated with yellow roses. It was baked by Barb Soupier of Redwood Falls and was cut and served by Mrs. Sharon Pascher of Springfield and Mrs. Jeannie Vik, Redwood Falls.

Others assisting at the reception were Mrs. Neil Erickson, Willmar, and Mrs. Elmo Sanders of Sunberg, who poured the coffee; and Mr. and Mrs. Tom Venard of Wabasso, who served the punch. Mrs. Karen Schmitz, Arlington, Tex., a sister of the bride, was at the guest book. Waitresses were Inna Rieck, Springfield; Mrs. Judy Charlson of Dallas, Tex., a sister-in-law of the bride, and Mrs. Jane Wieboldt of Bloomington.

Out-of-town guests at the wedding were from Chicago, Ill.; Oklahoma City, Okla., Black River Falls, Oconomowoc, LaCrosse, and Madison, Wis.; Arlington and Dallas, Tex.; Washington, D.C., and Benson, St. Paul, Willmar, Redwood Falls, Minneapolis, Duluth and Thief River Falls.

Following a wedding trip to the Black Hills of South Dakota, the bride returned to her position as state trooper with the Minnesota Highway Patrol. The groom is deputy sheriff from Brown county.

The bride is a graduate of Lincoln high school, Thief River Falls; the University of Minnesota, Duluth; and the Minnesota Highway patrol school. The groom is a graduate of Willmar high school, Willmar Junior college, and the University of Minnesota, Morris.

Gustafson and Zimpel Vows Said At Plummer

Cathy Gustafson of St. Hilaire and John Zimpel of Plummer exchanged marriage vows recently at an evening ceremony at the Immanuel Lutheran church at Plummer.

Parents of the couple are Mr. and Mrs. Russell Gustafson of St. Hilaire and Mr. and Mrs. Russell (Bud) Zimpel of Plummer.

Officiating at the double-ring candlelight ceremony were Rev. Clifford Randall and Rev. Timothy Miller. Organist was Linda Hesse, a friend of the couple. She played "Jesu, Joy of Man's Desiring," for the processional and also accompanied Diane Zimpel, sister of the groom, and Sandy Gustafson, a cousin of the groom, as they sang "God, A Woman and A Man," "For Baby, For Bobbie," "Treasure," and "The Rose."

Candles graced the altar and together with peach bows marked the pews along the center aisle.

The bride was escorted to the altar and given in marriage by her parents. She was attired in a gown of white Chantilly lace featuring silk Venice lace around the Queen Anne neckline. Matching lace formed the cuffs on her long, full sleeves; and Cluney lace edged her bouffant skirt. Her fingertip veil of bridal illusion was attached to a derby hat trimmed with lace. She carried a bouquet of peach and white roses, peach and white daisies and babies' breath.

Lynn Gallant, Plummer, attended her sister as matron of honor. Bridesmaid was Jodi Gustafson, St. Hilaire, another sister of the bride. Their peach colored dresses, tied at the waistline, were styled with pleated skirts and blouson bodices. They carried peach and white roses and daisies, accented with babies' breath, ivy and greenery.

Serving as flower girl was Ginger Hawk of Rock Island, Ill., a cousin of the bride. She wore a white dress with short gathered sleeves and a high neckline and carried a basket filled with flowers matching those carried by the bridesmaids.

The rings were carried by Eric Classen, St. Cloud, a cousin of the groom. Like the men of the wedding party, he wore a tan tuxedo with a peek-a-boo boutonniere featuring a white carnation centered with a peach rose bud.

The groom, who was attired in a white tuxedo with tails, was attended by his brither-in-law Roger Gallant of Plummer, as best man. Groomsman was Kyle Gustafson, St. Hilaire, a brother of the bride. Ushers were Rick Gustafson, Thief River Falls, a brother of the bride, and Randy Konickson, Plummer, a friend of the groom.

For her daughter's wedding, Mrs. Gustafson selected a peach floor-length gown with a blouson top. The mother of the groom was attired in a lavender gown. Their identical corsages were of peach rose buds and white daisies.

Honor guests were Mrs. Agnes Gustafson, Ole Ueland, grandparents of the bride, Mrs. Bessie Scholin and Russell Zimpel, grandparents of the groom.

Following the ceremony, the parents of the bride hosted a reception in the church parlors for approximately 275 relatives and friends. Hosts and hostesses were Mr. and Mrs. Jon Bohm and Mr. and Mrs. John Classen. Members of the Miriam circle were in charge of serving.

The wedding cake was a three-tiered creation decorated with peach roses and topped with a glass blown heart. The cake was cut and served by Gloria Froseth and Joanne Lommel. Carol Gustafson and Lee Halvorson poured coffee.

Susie Zimpel registered the guests, Blair Gustafson and Annette Bydlon served the punch; Sheila and Julie Gustafson arranged the gifts and Nancy Gustafson and Nancy Zimpel pinned the flowers.

Carolyn Carlson of Crookston was the bride's personal attendant. Waistresses were Erika Treitline, Brenda Konickson, Cindy Huotari and LaRae Franklund.

After a wedding trip to the Black Hills of South Dakota, the couple is now at home at Plummer. Both are graduates of Plummer high school. The bride is a student at Northland Community college, Thief River Falls, and the groom is employed by Zimpel Construction, Plummer. Photo, Alice Hofstad, Plummer

Roggenbuck-Christenson Engagement Announced

Joan Catherine Roggenbuck and Henry Christenson have announced their engagement.

The bride-elect is the daughter of Mrs. Virginia Roggenbuck of Goodridge and Donald Roggenbuck of Fort Ripley. She is a 1981 graduate of Goodridge high school.

Christenson, who lives at Oklee, is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Selmer Christenson of Oklee.

No wedding date has been set.

Myron Olbergs Honored On Their 25th Anniversary

Mr. and Mrs. Myron Olberg of Holt were honored recently on their 25th wedding anniversary at an open house at their farm home.

The event was hosted by their children: Mr. and Mrs. Jeff Olberg, Braden, Brandeis and Brittney of Thief River Falls, Mr. and Mrs. Don Foster and Aaron of Chisholm, Mr. and Mrs. Craig Dunrud of Viking and Valerie Olberg, at home.

Special guest was Benita Elseth of Crookston, who was maid of honor at the couple's wedding.

A program was given with Rachele Foster giving the welcome and a history of the couple. Poems were read by Roxanne Dunrud, Sharlott Olberg, Valerie Olberg and Braden Olberg. The program concluded with words of appreciation by Valerie Olberg.

For the reception, the serving table was centered with a three-tiered anniversary cake, baked and decorated with pink roses by Janice Olson. Topping the cake was a cluster of fresh daisies centered with a silver cross entwined with double wedding rings.

Following their marriage, the Olbergs lived in the Cities. For the past 10 years, they have lived near Holt, where Olberg farms and his wife operates Sharron's Style Salon in their home.

Ole Engelstad Retires From City Council

After serving as alderman on the Thief River Falls city council since 1968, Ole Engelstad is retiring. He will be replaced by Ken Murphy who was named by the voters of the second ward as his replacement in yesterday's election.

Engelstad, who will be 82 on December 1, said that his age was the primary reason he decided to retire. He said it was "getting difficult making all these meetings and sitting up until 11," noting that he usually went to bed about seven.

Born in Rocksbury township in 1899, Engelstad says he started working at 18 driving truck for a local creamery, with a route that covered the surrounding area. He said he used to drive out around the Mud Lake area before it was flooded, delivering milk and ice cream. He held a lot of other jobs, "anything I could get in those days", including 13 years with Montgomery Ward during the depression, setting up radios for Larson Music, and making cottage cheese.

He started at the Soo Line in 1925, traveling wherever the railroad sent him. "When you're younger, you've got to take the tougher jobs," he noted. Laid off during the depression, he finally went back to the railroad in 1942. He commented that when he got some seniority, the job got easier, and he made engineer on a run between Thief River Falls and the Canadian border. An accident on the job gave him a whiplash injury, and he had to retire in 1967. "I had to wear one of those collars for two years," he said.

What did he like best about being on the city council? "Just knowing what's coming up, and what's going on," he answered. "I like knowning where the money is going."

His favorite subject is his visits to patients in the hospital. Engelstad says he joined the Elks lodge in 1936, and was asked what he thought they should do. "I stood up and said, 'I think we should visit the sick', and the Grand Master said, 'You've got yourself a job!' " he related. He says he goes every day for three hours from 9 a.m. to noon and visits all the patients. On Tuesday, he had 85 on his list.

"One of the doctors asked me once what I said to the patients to make them smile," says Engelstad. "He (Dr. Johnson) said 'they won't even talk to me!" The hospital has issued him a parking tag so that he can park all day long if he wants. He says he will continue the visits as long as he is able to. "I wouldn't give it up for anything," he says. "That means more to me than anything I can think of."

Engelstad was hesitatnt to offer advice for his successor without giving it some thought. "No two people do things the same way," he said. "This money deal is getting tough. You only get so much money, and you can only spend so much money, and you have to spend it wisely. That was my whole idea of being on the council."

OLE ENGELSTAD'S name was not on the ballot that he cast this year, assisted by election judges Pauline Aubol and Mabel Sletten. The second ward alderman, soon 82, is retiring from city government, but not from public service. He will continue to visit the sick at the hospital every day, as he has since 1936. "I wouldn't give it up for anything. That means more to me than anything I can think of," he said.

Hvidsten, Kjos Enroll At MSU

Two Lincoln high school seniors, Steven Craig Hvidsten, son of Orville Hvidsten, and Kathleen Marie Kjos, daughter of Lucille Kjos, were recently notified that they have been accepted for enrollment as freshmen at Moorhead state university next fall.

HONOR GUEST at the Fall Federation tea co-sponsored by the DeCor and Zehlian groups of the Thief River Falls Federation of Women's clubs will be Mrs. Warren Saetre, department chairman of education of the State Federation of Women's clubs. The event, open to all women of the area, will be held Friday from 2:00 to 5:00 p.m., at the Northwest Regional library meeting room.

Wheat Council Meeting Set Nov. 10-11

Minnesota wheat research and promotion council will conduct its next regular meeting November 10-11 at the Howard Johnson Motor Inn in Bloomington. Meeting is being conducted in conjunction with the November 10 joint meeting of all nine of the commodity research and promotion councils in Minnesota called by the Minnesota department of agriculture. Wheat council meeting will begin at 1:30 p.m. November 10, immediately following the joint council meeting.

Following discussion and disposition of routine administrative matters, the wheat council will concentrate a portion of their meeting on reviewing progress reports on research projects already being funded. The council will also receive and discuss new wheat research projects being proposed.

Balance of the meeting will be spent discussing a number of promotional activities being considered by the council. Meeting will conclude the afternoon of November 11.

Large Crowd Attends Forum On Negotiating

more related to tenure," Isaacson said. "If there are poor teachers in our school system who are not doing the job, fire 'em. I want 'em out. But teachers can't do that. We have competent administrators and that is their job. They can do that. If we have poor teachers they should be released. Obviously, they would be defended by the MEA, but if they're not doing their job, they should not be teaching."

Concern was expressed about the amount of time it would take for young students to regain what they might have lost in retention of knowledge due to the strike. Mrs. Etter said she believed it would be no great problem, no different than the time loss during breaks for Easter, Christmas, Thanksgiving or summer.

Lehrer added that his music students would have some catching up to do and would have to push harder during their class sessions. He noted that the fall concert was to have been held last week — the start of the third week of the strike.

Commenting on the dilemma faced by AVTI students, one questioner urged rapid agreement and, in reference to the increase offered by the school board for the two-year contract, said, "If it was me, I'd take the $4,500 and run." The comment was followed by applause from part of the crowd.

A rebuttal comment from another person in the crowd suggested that the student speaker, when he completed school and took employment, "that he plans to take whatever they are offering him and run, too." The rebuttal brought applause from the rest of the crowd.

To the question of why teachers go into teaching when they consider the pay to be low was answered in two ways. Lehrer said that the contract he signed as a beginning teacher for a little over $4,000 a year represented the most money he had ever seen. Isaacson said that when he came to Thief River Falls the salary schedule here was among the top in the area and it has since declined in relation to other districts.

"Why don't I move?" he said. "I'm a fighter. I prefer to change what I think is wrong rather than walk away from it."

Last question on the distributed list was, "If teachers get what they are asking, will the quality of education improve." This question was asked along with the companion query, "If you don't get what you want, will you hold back your effort?"

Answer was that settlement would allow teachers to concentrate on teaching, and that a settlement close to the request would make teachers feel better about their jobs.

Mrs. Etter also indicated, along with Lehrer, that teachers are willing to devote extra time and effort toward students after the strike is settled.

One questioner asked why teachers waited until after the school year had begun before striking when negotiations began last March and the contract year began July 1. Answer was that the strike action had been delayed in hopes of contract settlement and that laws governing strike action also had to be observed, pushing back the effective strike date.

It was noted that a negotiating session had been scheduled for Tuesday evening. Question was asked if the meeting was open to the public, and the response was that all negotiating meetings are open. Mediation sessions with a state mediator may be closed at the discretion of the mediator.

Power Outage Most Extensive In Memory

the city was also interrupted for about half an hour. Anderson and Rude explained that the substation by the city power plant and the substation near Greenwood cemetery on Pennington avenue (the latter of which serves some Red Lake Electric customers) are both served from the large substation located a couple of miles east of the city along highway 1. When the breaker at the power plant substation tripped, it also cut out the Pennington avenue substation.

Mayor Bob Carlson joined Anderson and Rude in expressing appreciation to city residents for their cooperation in reducing electric and water use while service was being restored. The cooperation made service restoration easier and quicker and benefitted customers as well as the city. Anderson also expressed special thanks to KTRF for its public service efforts in informing the public and encouraging reduction efforts.

Stangeland Is Speaker Friday

In a Washington report session sponsored by the legislative affairs committee of the Thief River Falls chamber of commerce, Congressman Arlan Stangeland discussed a number of national concerns and answered questions during the well-attended meeting Friday noon in the Elks club rooms.

Stangeland noted that the economy was stagnated and that the gross national product — which measures all productive activity of the nation — showed a decline (Stangeland called it "negative growth") for the first time.

The national administration thus had two choices to get the economy moving again, the congressman said. One would be cut spending, increase taxes to balance the budget and cut inflation, and the other is to cut taxes, leave the money with the poeple and allow the free market to work.

"The administration has determined it is best to leave the money with the people," Rep. Stangeland said. "This will work, but it will take time. We can't expect solutions to take place overnight or even in a few months, but we can expect results."

He noted that the national debt has now passed the trillion dollar mark and that the nation has $100 billion in interest to be serviced. Paying interest on the national debt is the third largest budget item behind the health, education and welfare and defense budgets.

"We need a redirection of attitude by the government toward the people and the people toward the government," Stangeland said. "We can expect full employment, four per cent inflation or eight per cent interest rates, but the tax cuts authorized by the federal government have the potential to create 13 million new jobs, and that would be a tremendous benefit."

In regard to farm legislation, the congressman said the the farm bill doesn't ask American farmers to compete against foreign farmers, but against foreign governments which subsidize their farmers extensively.

Responding to questions about severance taxes imposed by the states, such as North Dakota and Montana taxes on coal, the congressman said he saw the states having a legitimate right to recover costs of land reclamation and damage to roadways. "But if severance taxes are used to reduce other taxes, then they are being wrongly used," Stangeland said.

But he added that Minnesotans benefit from lower real estate taxes in North Dakota through lower costs for electric power generated there and sold in this state.

He cited the major problem in the social security program of more money being paid out than was coming in. He said that changes being made in the system are not going to adversely affect recipients of benefits, but that they may involve different programs.

Comment was made by one person attending that congress should set an example for the nation by taking a 10 per cent pay cut. Stangeland replied that taking a 30 per cent loss through inflation over three years during which no congressional salaries were increased was enough of a salary cut.

Sam Bergland Services Held At Roseau

Funeral services for Selmer (Sam) Bergland, 87, of Roseau were held Tuesday at 10:00 a.m. at the Moe Lutheran church in Roseau. Bergland died October 31 at the Roseau Area hospital after being in failing health for the past seven years.

Rev. Erling Huglen officiated at the services. Interment was in the Hope cemetery.

Honorary pallbearers were Meredith Haslerud, Clarence Melby, Jack Jensen, Binky Erickson, Millard Jenson, Ed Baumgartner, Dalmar Hagen, Robert Mosher, Clifford Trangsrud, Clarence Lian and Robert Sundberg.

Serving as active pallbearers were Jeff and Roger Roadfeldt, Stevan and Allan Bergland, Stephen Dahl and Bill Bergland.

Selmer Bennett Bergland was born July 3, 1894 in Silverton, Ore., to Mr. and Mrs. Saave Bergland. He lived at Joyce, Iowa and Oregon until he was inducted into the U.S. Army in 1917. He served in France during World War I and received his discharge in 1919. He and his parents moved to Roseau in 1920. Since then, he had made his home in the Roseau area. He worked as a mechanic, farm machinery dealer and also farmed south of Roseau. Since retiring from farming in 1959, he had made his home in Roseau.

He served with the SCS board, the Jadis town board, was on the board of the Farmers Union oil company, the rationing board, the Co-op store board and was a member of the REA board for 25 years. He was a charter member of the American Legion.

He was married Aug. 22, 1925 at Thief River Falls to Mable Evans. She survives.

Also surviving are a daughter, Mrs. Morris (Betty) Roadfelt, Thief River Falls; three sons: former Secretary of Agriculture Robert Bergland, Annandale, Va.; Phillip Bergland, Thief River Falls; and Glen, Warroad; 15 grandchildren, seven great-grandchildren, a sister, Mrs. Manfred (Gena) Gustafson, Tallulah, La.; and a brother, George Bergland, Roseau.

He was preceded in death by two brothers, a sister and one grandson.

The Helgeson Funeral home was in charge of arrangements.

Gertie Lien Services Set At Newfolden

Funeral services for Mrs. Gertie Lien, 86, a resident of Oakland Park Nursing home for a number of years, will be held Thursday at 2:00 p.m., at the Bethlehem Lutheran church in Newfolden. Mrs. Lien died Sunday at the CNC unit at Northwestern hospital.

Rev. David Liefeld will officiate at the services. Music will be provided by Kathy Rokke, soloist and Mrs. Lowell Hogberg, organist. Interment will be in the Oak Grove cemetery.

Pallbearers will be Neil Souder, Richard Moen, John Lubitz, Gerald Johnson, Wayne Sourdif and Gorden Sourdif.

Mrs. Lien, the former Gertie Susanna Qualey, was born Aug. 13, 1895 at Sharon, N.D., to Henry and Christine Strukness Qualey. She grew to womanhood at Sharon.

On Feb. 4, 1915, she was united in marriage to Henry Lien. The couple lived in Roseau and Marshall counties until their retirement. Then they moved to a farm in New Solum township, Pennington county, where they lived until Lien's death on Aug. 14, 1967.

Surviving are two sons: Leroy Lien, Thief River Falls, and Gorden, Witchita, Kans.; four daughters: Mrs. Fred (Irene) Peterson, Argyle; Mrs. Jerry (Gertrude) Caturia, Seattle, Wash.; Mrs. Raymond (Loretta) Sourdif, Newfolden; and Mrs. Milo (MaryAnn) Brekke, Auburn, Wash.; 31 grandchildren, 64 great-grandchildren; three sisters: Mrs. Laurence (Gladys) Haugen, Warren; Mrs. Emily Ostby, Argyle; and Mrs. Carl (Clara) Bjorhus, Castle Rock, Wash.; and two brothers: Gust Qualey, Middle River, and Johnnie Qualey, Thief River Falls.

In addition to her husband and parents, she was preceded in death by one son, a daughter, three sisters and one brother.

Funeral services for Johnny Lillevold will be held Friday at 2:30 p.m., at the Grace Lutheran church in Grygla with Rev. Percy Smerek officiating. Interment will be in Our Savior's Lutheran cemetery, rural Grygla.

The body will repose at the Green Funeral home from Thursday noon until 9:00 p.m., and at the church for one hour prior to the time of services.

A complete obituary will be published in Monday's Times.

Services Held For Hannah Gustafson, 97

Funeral services for Miss Hannah Gustafson, 97, of this city were held Tuesday at 10:00 a.m., at the Evangelical Covenant church. Miss Gustafson died Friday evening at Northwestern hospital.

Officiating at the services were Rev. Leonard Lindholm of Warroad and Rev. David Finsaas. Vocal selections were by Mr. and Mrs. Charles Erickson. Mrs. Alvin Dahlstrom served as organist. Interment was in Greenwood cemetery with the Green Funeral home in charge of arrangements.

Pallbearers were Marvin Anderson, Rodney Brodin, Charles Erickson, Nels Holmberg, Don Thyren and Wendell Olson.

Hannah Marie Gustafson, a daughter of the late Charles and Louise Johanson Gustafson, was born March 17, 1884 at Crookston. At the age of five years, she moved with her parents to Rocksbury township, Pennington county. There she attended school and grew to womanhood. From 1911 until retirement in 1957, she was employed in this city as bookkeeper for the family firm, Gustafson Implement. Following her retirement, she continued to make her home here.

She was a member of the Evangelical Covenant church.

She was the last member of her immediate family. Nieces and nephews surviving are Mrs. Norman (Peg) Peterson, Thief River Falls, Mrs. A.C. (Jean) Tiedeman, Honolulu, Hawaii; Mrs. William (Hedi) Muldoon, Oceanside, Calif.; Ralph Gustafson, Morrison, Ill.; and Charles Gustafson, St. Petersburg, Fla. Also surviving are several grandnieces and nephews and great-grandnieces and nephews.

In addition to her parents, she was preceded in death by three brothers: John, Helon and David.

B. Thompson Services Held Here Tuesday

Funeral services for Berent Thompson, 65, of this city were held Tuesday at 2:00 p.m., at the Green Funeral chapel. Thompson died unexpectedly Friday evening at his home at 1106 North Dewey.

Rev. Berton Hushagen, pastor at Trinity Lutheran church, officiated at the services. Mrs. Wendell Jorgenson was the organist and Sharyl Thompson, the soloist. Interment was in Greenwood cemetery.

Pallbearers were Marvin Gustafson, Herman Hanson, Vernon Lappegard, Gerald Sanders, Roy Runnestrand and Harold Knutson.

Berent Thompson, a son of the late Torjus and Jorid Skreaa Thompson, was born Oct. 24, 1916 in Chester township, Polk county, near Oklee. As young boy, he moved with the family to Hickory township, north of Trail. There he attended school and grew to manhood. He farmed there with his father for a number of years before moving into Thief River Falls with his parents in the 1940's. After coming to this city, he was employed as a welder at Forsberg's until ill health forced his retirement.

He was united in marriage to Arlene Brinkman on Feb. 1, 1971 at Sisseton, S.D. She survives.

Also surviving are three brothers: Theodore Thompson, Babbitt; Gust, Seaside, Calif., and Arnold, New Port Richey, Fla.

Eldora Kezar Services Held Here Today

Funeral services for Mrs. E.R. (Eldora) Kezar, 47, of Phoenix, Ariz., were held today (Wednesday) at 11:30 a.m., at St. Bernard's Catholic church in this city. Mrs. Kezar died Sunday evening at Northwestern hospital in this city where she had been hospitalized since September of this year.

Rev. Dave Super was celebrant. Christie LaCoursiere served as organist and Sr. Mary Ann Welsch was the song leader. Interment was in St. Bernard's Catholic cemetery with the Belmont Funeral home in charge of arrangements.

Pallbearers were Dennis Kezar, Gerald Hoefer, Duane Green, Robert Reed, Daniel Schmitz, and Ronald Kees.

Mrs. Kezar, the former Eldora Hoefer, was born Jan. 25, 1934 in Pierre, S.D., to Andrew and Sarah Hoefer. In 1937, she moved with her family to the Thief River Falls area. She attended school here, graduating from Lincoln high school. She was employed as a bookkeeper for Union State bank until her marriage here on October 27, 1956 to E.R. (Tech) Kezar. Since then, they have made their home at Phoenix.

Surviving are her husband, a daughter, Teri, both at Phoenix; her parents: Andrew and Ann Hoefer, Thief River Falls; five brothers: LaVerne Hoefer, Maricopa, Ariz.; Lloyd, Blaine; Floyd, Raleigh, S.C. and Earl and Donald, both of Thief River Falls; three step-brothers: John Welsch, Great Falls, Mont.; Andrew Welsch, Glenwood City, Wis.; and Thomas Welsch, serving with the U.S. Navy in the Philippines; and three step-sisters: Sr. Mary Ann Welsch, Warren; Mrs. Arthur (Bertha) Bernier, Washington, and Mrs. Arthur (Joan) Schmitz, Red Lake Falls.

She was preceded in death by her mother, Sarah, and one brother, Alvin.

Babysitting Clinic Draws 36 Youngsters

Plummer Lioness club conducted its first babysitting clinic recently in the Plummer school, with 36 children attending.

Speakers included local fire chief, Dwight Howard; fireman Roger Gallant; Allan Morken of the Red Lake county sheriff's department; Linda Bergerson, from the inter-county nursing service, who gave a demonstration on changing diapers, and explained the use of syrup of ipecac for children who have swallowed a poisonous substance, and the Heimlich maneuver; and Marilee Ruck, social worker from Red Lake county who discussed child abuse and what babysitters can do if they suspect a child of being abused or neglected.

Children also saw movies on fire safety and babysitting. A panel consisting of two babysitters and two parents was also included in the clinic.

Youngsters attending were given a quiz and certificates.

Over 80 Artists Expected At BSU Art Fest

Over 80 artists and craftsmen from throughout Minnesota are expected to gather to exhibit and sell work at the 10th annual People's Art festival at Bemidji state university.

Pre-holiday celebration, scheduled for November 7 from 11 a.m. to 7 p.m. and November 8 from noon to five, will include glass blowing, pottery, toy making painting, weaving, leather work, wood carving, stained glass and jewelry making. All works are original productions.

Exhibitors and their work will be arranged throughout BSU's Hobson memorial union in the ballroom, Touche gallery, and the Terrace lounge.

Performers providing entertainment during the two-day event will include Paul C. Roemer, popular music; Michael Tangen, children's songs; a jazz quartet, with members of the BSU jazz band; Maggie Carlson, children's songs; Eric and Janet Heukeshoven, flute and piano; Joe Henry, pianist; Diane's dance studio; Oak Hills choir; brass quintet with members of BSU faculty and students presenting a classical performance; and Shirly Foss, authentic Swedish and Norwegian folksongs. Many of the performers will be performing both Saturday and Sunday.

Bob Baker, KBSB radio, will be broadcasting a big band show line Sunday afternoon from the Rendezvous room.

Authentic recipes such as pita (pocket) bread with a variety of fillings and fresh apple turnovers will be prepared by ARA food services. These foods, along with traditional foods and beverages, will be available in the ballroom and rendezvous room deli.

People's art festival is sponsored by the North Country Arts council. In acknowledgement of the year of the handicapped, it should be noted that Hobson memorial union can accommodate handicapped persons.

U.S. Career Guidance Week November 8-14

"Explore for the Future" is the theme of National career guidance week November 8-14, sponsored by the Minnesota vocational guidance association and the Minnesota school counselors' association.

"The purpose of the week-long event is to inform the public and to encourage use of the many guidance resources available to them," according to Linda Loing, director of the Region I career education center at the University of Minnesota — Crookston (UMC).

"This year's theme, 'Explore for the Future,' is intended to emphasize the fact that examination of a wide range of experiences is necessary as preparation for career decisions," said Loing. "This entails taking stock of the past, becoming increasingly aware of the present, and consciously planning for the future."

Need for career guidance is evident at all stages of life, according to Loing. The small child looks at the world of work through distant, but inquisitive, eyes. The adolescent is attempting to explore education and vocational options. The young adult is faced with the decision of selecting a training program or specific occupation. Finally, the adult is faced with career change and retirement options.

For the young person in school or the adult who is seeking a career change, reentry into the labor force, or looking for work, the career education center offers several resources.

For more information, call the career education center at 218-281-6510, ext. 366.

Farmland Loss Is Subject Of Conference

Governor Albert Quie and Speaker of the House Harry Sieben, Jr. will be main speakers at a two-day conference on agricultural land preservation and soil conservation November 18 and 19, at St. Francis Development Center, Little Falls.

Conference will feature small group workshops, speeches and panel discussions on problems of farmland loss, soil erosion and waste management issues and aimed at finding solutions to the problems.

Rep. Steve Wenzel, Little Falls, worked with the national conference of state legislatures to arrange the conference. As chairman of the Minnesota House agricultural committee, Wenzel has designated soil conservation as one of the most important issues in committee and is holding a series of public hearings on the subject and establishing a special task force to study the problem.

"The future of Minnesota's farm industry and our ability to adequately meet food needs of coming generations of Americans is clearly at stake if we refuse to recognize the scope of this problem now and take steps to correct it," Wenzel noted. Wenzel also said, "The current rate of soil erosion and the loss of topsoil is greater than that of the dust bowls of the 1930s. Action is needed now if we are to preserve this valuable topsoil."

Quie will give the keynote address at the conference Wednesday. Other public officials, including Minnesota Commissioner of Agriculture Mark Seetin, and farm leaders from Minnesota and other states will participate in panel discussions. Robert Gray, Executive Director of the national agricultural lands study, Washington, D.C. will give a special address Wednesday night. Cy Carpenter, president of the Minnesota Farmer's Union, and Merlin Lokensgard, president of the Minnesota Farm Bureau, are scheduled to speak on farmland preservation.

The conference is expected to attract about 200 legislators, county and city officials, township officers and farm representatives of farm organizations from Minnesota and nationwide.

People interested in attending should contact Loni Kemp or Mary Henrickson of the Minnesota project at 612/870-4700.

Pedestrian Bikeway Bridge Is Opened

A new pedestrian-bikeway bridge built in conjunction with the new Cedar Avenue (TH 77) bridge was opened October 20 by the Minnesota department of transportation (Mn-DOT).

Bridge connects hiking trails and bikeways on both the north and south sides of the Minnesota river, providing a crucial transportation link and enhancing recreational use of the scenic Minnesota River valley. With its opening, the bridge becomes part of the Metropolitan council's sub-regional bikeway and trail system.

Funds Cut For Promotion Of Wheat Exports

U.S. Department of Agriculture (USDA) matching fund appropriation for export market development programs has been targeted for cuts in the Reagan administration's latest attempt to balance the budget, reports Elner Satter, Norcross, chairman, Minnesota wheat research and promotion council.

Under USDA's foreign market development program, funds are provided on a matching basis to non-profit organizations such as U.S. Wheat Associates that agree to develop and supervise comprehensive marketing programs for a particular commodity.

Satter indicated that for the 1980-81 fiscal year, U.S. Wheat Associates, of which Minnesota Wheat Council is a member, pooled check-off money received from Minnesota and twelve other Great Plains and Pacific North West states and received $4.4 million in matching funds from USDA to assist in world market development for U.S. wheat. For 1981-82 U.S. Wheat Associates has been advised that their matching funds for the wheat export expansion program will not exceed $4.0 million, or a reduction of $400,000 from last year's level. "If the budget had remained the same, inflation alone would have reduced the size and effectiveness of the programs," Satter stated. "A budget cut is even more serious."

In addition, Satter reported that since last year, U.S. Wheat has opened an office in Hong Kong to better serve the People's Republic of China and had been considering expansion of its program in Africa. "With plentiful supplies of wheat and other commodities in the U.S. and very depressed prices, these cuts in the program to increase sale and utilization of U.S. wheats in the export market could not have been more ill-timed," Satter said.

According to Satter, U.S. Wheat Associates is currently reviewing its 1981-82 budget for both domestic operations and its export market development programs in an attempt to reallocate funds to achieve maximum returns. Hopefully, this reshuffling of financial resources, coupled with additional contributions from member states will allow the wheat program to continue at or near its present level, he said.

Senate Passes Fuel Shortage Standby Act

U.S. Senate has taken the first steps toward ensuring that the federal government is prepared to deal with future oil disruptions, according to Sen. Rudy Boschwitz.

"If this country would ever be subject to another oil shortage because of embargo, it is important to get supplies to our most vulnerable areas," Boschwitz said. "If we had a severe disruption during planting or harvest, we have to be prepared to get fuel to rural areas."

He said the senate began the process by passing the standby petroleum allocation act of 1981.

The act gives the President authority to allocate fuel oil supplies during a severe petroleum supply shortage. The administration is required to submit plans for dealing with a shortage for the review and approval of congress.

The President would have the authority to make necessary allocations and price limitations for up to 150 days, according to the act. Any additional time extension would then require the approval of Congress.

"An important feature of this legislation is that it provides a time limit on how long the regulations would be in effect," Boschwitz said. "Through this provision we can avoid what happened during the disruptions of the 1970s."

UND Medical School Earns Accreditation

University of North Dakota school of medicine has earned full four-year accreditation for its four-year curriculum from the Liaison committee on medical education of the American medical association and the Association fo American medical colleges (AAMC).

To earn four-year accreditaion from the committee is a "real tribute to the dedication and support of the faculty, both full-time and those practicing physicians who significantly contribute to the school, and of the clinics and hospitals" where training occurs, said Dean Tom M. Johnson, who has worked in the accreditation section of the AAMC.

The committee accredited the curriculum, which includes a plan to begin offering third-year training to a pilot group of 10 juniors next summer in Fargo. The group will expand to 30 in 1983-84, while 10 juniors begin training in Bismarck.

By 1984-85, junior class sizes will level off with 20 in Bismarck and 30 in Fargo, ending the decade-long transition from a two- to a four-year medical school. During the transition, the University of Minnesota and Mayo hospitals have trained junior medical students from UND.

Third-year, in-state education for UND medical students was approved by the 1981 Legislature. The fourth year of the program will continue to provide senior training in the four statewide campuses in Bismarck, Grand Forks, Fargo and Minot.

Liaison committee on medical education, which accredits medical school programs in this country and Canada, is expected to review progress of the UND medical school in 1983.

Accreditation is awarded on the basis of judgment that there is an appropriate balance between size of enrollment in each class and total resources of the institution including faculty, physical facilities and operation budget.

Craft Courses Are Offered At 'U'M Crookston

Three courses are being offered through the office of continuing education at the University of Minnesota — Crookston (UMC) which relate specifically to art of craft enthusiasts.

Strawcraft will be offered in two sections, from 9 a.m. to 4 p.m. Friday, November 20, or Saturday, November 21, in Owen Hall 203. Students will learn techniques of an old Scandinavian craft through this course. Participants are asked to bring scissors, pencil, ruler and fine wire.

Candlemaking will involve basic techniques of the art, including the use of waxes, scents, and molds. Section one is scheduled from 9 a.m. to noon Tuesday and Thursday, December 1 and 3. Section two will meet from 9 a.m. to 4 p.m. Friday, December 4, both in Owen Hall 203.

Calligraphy will be offered from 9 a.m. to 4 p.m. Saturday, November 28, in Dowell Hall 115. Calligraphy is the art of decorative handwiring, such as used on greeting cards, poster lettering, documents, and quotes for framing.

Fee for each of the three courses taught by art instructor Pat Knizk is $13.80, plus a material fee. To register, or for more information call UMC at 218-281-6510, extension 346.

Singles Group Sets Meeting

All single adults over 18 years of age are invited to the Fertile-Beltrami high school gym on Sunday afternoon at 3 p.m. when volleyball, basketball and other games will be available. Coffee and treats will be served.

An evening meal will be held at 6 p.m. at the Farmers' Table steak house in Fertile. This event is being sponsored by the Singles Christian fellowship assembly.

State Hospital Seeks Gifts For Christmas

Many groups or individuals prefer to send a financial contribution as their gift to Operation Merry Christmas thereby allowing the Fergus Falls state hospital volunteer council to buy gifts which would most please and best meet the needs of each hospital resident.

All checks should be made payable to Fergus Falls State Hospital Volunteer Council. All gifts should be sent by December 10 to Fergus Falls state hospital volunteer council, Box 157, Fergus Falls, MN 56537.

Fergus Falls state hospital provides care, treatment and educational services for handicapped citizens from the area who are disabled because of mental retardation, physical disabilities, emotional handicaps and chemical dependency problems. Hospital residents include children and adults, with about one half of the hospital resident population boys and men, and one half girls and women.

For those who prefer to send gifts rather than a monetary donation, the following gift suggestion list includes items that hospital residents need and enjoy receiving at Christmas. Please do not gift wrap gifts. All gifts are wrapped by volunteers at the hospital Santa Land after gift items have been selected which will best meet the wishes and needs of each hospital resident. Donors who will be in the Fergus Falls area may bring their Christmas gifts to the center administration area of the main building at the Fergus Falls state hospital.

Gifts include toothpaste and toothbrushes; roll-on deodorant; candy and gum; after-shave lotion; stockings for men; girls knee-high socks; hand and body lotion; shampoo; hand soap; hairbrushes; simple storybooks; simple educational games and toys; simple coloring books

'Wanderers' In Sky Are Only Planet Illusion

Four planets the ancient Greeks called "wanderers" trace irregular paths across the morning sky in November.

From Earth it looks as though the planets Jupiter, Saturn, Mercury and Mars are meeting in disarray. One planet moves east, another overtakes it, another shifts left and behind against a background of stars; but the chaos is an illusion.

This zigzagging effect occurs because each planet moves at its own speed in a concentric orbit around the sun. The planets' varying distances from the sun and the Earth's changing orbital perspective complete the illusion.

Look near the eastern horizon between 6 and 6:30 a.m. for Jupiter (the brightest), Saturn (the next brightest), and Mercury (very dim). Mars (slightly reddish) is also visible, but it appears high in the southern sky.

The small planet is perhaps easiest to find on November 6 when it will lie about two moon diameters closer than Jupiter to the sunrise point.

With so many planets and stars visible, it is hard to picture space as the almost empty place it is. Beginning only a few miles above the earth's thick atmospheric blanket is near-vacuum that is very important for the space shuttle.

The shuttle travels as high as 180 miles above the Earth where interference from air particles and gravity is scant. This lack of interference will come in handy for scientific and technical projects aboard the craft. Since the shuttle will be traveling in a near-vacuum, metals of very different densities will mix readily, delicate surfaces can be prepared for electronic components and precision ball bearings can be made, according to Lawrence Rudnick, an astronomy professor at the University of Minnesota.

Beyond the span of the shuttle's orbit are even fewer vestiges of the cloud that condensed to form our solar system beginning about five billion years ago. Collapsing under the force of its own gravity, this thin cloud of gas and dust gradually developed clusters that became the sun and planets, according to current theory.

The effects of gravity are not as simple as the image of Sir Isaac Newton's falling apple suggests. The original cloud's temperature, the speed of its spin, its magnetic fields and the influence of nearby objects all cooperated to create the diversity of our solar system, from the spoked rings of Saturn and the enormous size of Jupiter to the solidity of the Earth, Rudnik said.

"Gravity acts over distances much vaster than our solar system. It can invisibly lace together thousands of galaxies of loose superclusters, while binding together the hundreds of billions of stars in each galaxy. Gradually, gravity is slowing the expansion of the universe, its matter flung out in the beginning Big Bang," he added.

Home Ec Group Offers Eight Scholarships

Scholarships totaling $6,500 will be made available to home economics majors in Minnesota for the 1982-83 school year. Two scholarships of $1,000 will be awarded to graduate students and six scholarships of $750 will be given to next year's juniors and seniors.

Application blanks are available from any home economics degree granting institution in Minnesota. Application deadline is January 25. Recipients will be announced at the State Minnesota home economics association meeting in St. Paul on April 2-3, 1982.

The scholarships are provided by the Twin City home economists in homemaking, a division of the Minnesota home economics association. For further information contact HEIH scholarship chairman Rita Lambert, 5164 St. Moritz Drive, Fridley, Minnesota 55421.

200 Cattlemen At Institute In Crookston

Nearly 200 cattlemen attended the recent 19th annual cattlemen's institute held at the Red River valley winter shows arena at Crookston. After the traditional beef dinner at 5:30 p.m., the program developed on the theme of herd testing and preconditioning.

Kurt Wohlgemuth, extension specialist and veterinarian at NDSU, Fargo, entertained and instructed the cattlemen with his advice on preconditioned calves. He outlined a program of genetics, nutrition and management in a very memorable presentation. According to Wohlgemuth, no amount of shots and treatment can pull calves through if they are subject to poor principles of care. Without the breeding behind calves to produce fast gains, the veterinarian showed that the profit margin is nonexistent.

J. David Nichols, beef cow-calf producer of Anita, Iowa, spoke to the group on his 20 years of experience with beef herd testing. Nichols reviewed his early beginnings and choices necessary to cull low producers from his breeding line. Establishing an identity and reputation for breeding stock is a matter of starting with a principle and sticking with it, according to Nichols. He related to a strict culling practice which saw castration of bull calves which were too large at birth to keep and sell in breeding lines. "Culling open cows is a must," said Nichols. "We cull regardless of whose fault it is."

The feeder cattle demonstration by Central Livestock association, Fargo, with feedlot commentary by Bill Penning, area extension agent in farm management, Thief River Falls, drew comments and questions relative to profitable feeding of 400 to 800 pounds feeder calves. Computer runs made earlier in the afternoon by Penning were drawn on to show possible choices in purchasing and feeding these actual individual cattle. Both steers and heifers were shown.

Ray Thompson, Marshall county extension director, presided over the institute and Carl Spong, Central Livestock association, long a part of the annual affair, directed the livestock demonstration.

The institute is sponsored annually by the Minnesota agricultural extension service, the North Dakota agricultural extension service, the Northwest experiment station, Crookston, and Central Livestock association, Inc., Fargo, ND.

Ask Change In Leadership Of Reserve Board

Senator Rudy Boschwitz has signed a letter urging President Reagan to appoint someone with "significant small business experience" to replace federal reserve governor Frederick Schultz when his term expires at the end of January.

"Since its creation in 1913, the federal reserve board has been, with few exceptions, the private domain of past presidents of the nation's largest banks," the letter stated. "It is time for a change. We need more sensitivity to the needs of our grassroots enterprises. We need a more balanced view of what kind of monetary policy best serves all our economy."

Legislation has been introduced in Congress that would require the appointment to the board of at least one individual with significant small business experience. The letter encouraged the President not to wait for such a change in the law.

It concluded: "You have an opportunity to appoint such an individual and make a clear statement to the small business people across the nation that you care about their battle against high interest rates and believe they ought to have a voice in monetary policy."

Bergo Named State Heart Fund Chairman

Loren Bergo of Montevideo has been named the 1982 state Heart fund chairman.

The American Heart association, Minnesota affiliate, is the only state-wide health agency dedicated to the reduction of premature death and disability caused by heart and blood vessel disease.

As chairman, Bergo will direct the annual Heart fund campaign, highlighted in February with its house-to-house campaign when 60,000 Minnesota volunteers call on their neighbors to receive their contributions and distribute lifesaving information on heart disease.

Bergo has been an active Heart association volunteer for eight years. His past positions with the association include county chairman, district chairman, regional chairman and state vice chairman (1981) of the annual campaign.

Last year's state Heart fund campaign raised $2,201,615. Funds raised by the Minnesota affiliate enable the affiliate to increase its support for heart research, community programs and professional and public education programs.

ACHIEVEMENT awards for 4-H'ers 12 and under, provided by Mr. and Mrs. Vernon Wold, were presented by Stacy Ratliff, Satellite, and Todd Carlson, Happy Acres, during 4-H awards night conducted last week in the city auditorium.

DOT Provides Information On State Roads

To enable motorists statewide to plan trips under adverse winter driving conditions, the Minnesota department of transportation (Mn/DOT), in cooperation with the state patrol, furnishes road condition reports, according to Dennis Springer, Mn/DOT emergency operations chief.

Statewide road condition reports will be available beginning November 4 from the Mn/DOT St. Paul road information unit. Callers will hear a taped message updated hourly or immediately after a reported change in road conditions on an around-the-clock basis until about May 1.

For statewide road condition information, call (612) 296-3076. There is a toll charge outside the Twin Cities area.

Persons outside the Twin Cities area may receive area road condition reports through Mn/DOT maintenance offices. Locations and telephone numbers are: Bemidji (218) 755-3816, Brainerd (218) 828-2570, Crookston (218) 281-5641, Detroit Lakes (218) 847-2111, Duluth (218) 723-4866, Mankato (507) 388-2985, Marshall (507) 537-6133, Morris (612) 589-2001, Owatonna (507) 451-9000, Rochester (507) 285-7404, St. Cloud (612) 255-4265, Virginia (218) 749-8090, Willmar (612) 235-9230 and Windom (507) 831-2740.

Resources Can Help Children Select Career

The November issue of "PTA Today," explores many issues facing concerned parents regarding future career decisions of their children.

Dean L. Hummel, professor of counselor education, Virginia polytechnic institute and state university offers advice on how parents can begin now to help their children plan for a satisfying career. According to Hummel, "parents can become effective counselors and proficient consultants in using career information resources to help their children struggle to achieve identity through career development."

Forecasting future labor needs, Gene Bottoms, executive director of the American Vocational association, reports that "there will be an average of 5.5 million job openings annually through 1990. Nearly 20 million of these jobs will be new." Dr Bottoms lists the fastest growing jobs and the jobs with the most job openings and emphasizes the need for skilled and technically trained workers.

Articles written by Rep. Carl D. Perkins, chairman of the House committee on education and labor, and Robert Worthington, assistant secretary for vocational and adult education, U.S. department of education, stress the need for parental involvement in vocational education in this decade. According to Representative Perkins, "public vocational education today serves about 17.2 million Americans. The need and demand for vocational training has mushroomed and will continue to grow."

A program guide is also featured, complete with a list of references, resources and program suggestions for assisting parents in guiding children to their career choice.

For a copy of the November issue of "PTA Today," contact the national PTA public relations department (312) 787-0977.

BWCA Funding Included In Interior Bill

Senator Rudy Boschwitz reports that $13.6 million in funding for the boundary waters canoe area (BWCA) has been included as part of the interior appropriations bill passed Tuesday by the U.S. Senate. Approximately $5.6 million will be used for reforestation and resort purchases in the BWCA.

"A federal funding commitment was made for these programs part of the BWCA act passed in 1978," Boschwitz said. "Congress has lived up to this commitment by the passage of this legislation which includes funding for the BWCA."

The administration had originally proposed eliminating this money. Boschwitz testified before the appropriations subcommittee on the interior in May urging that this money be appropriated. In addition, Boschwitz contacted David Stockman, director of the office of management and budget, on the proposed funding for these provisions of the BWCA act. Stockman assured him that these purchases would qualify for funding.

"Although there is a possibility the bill may be vetoed by the President, Congress has given its final stamp of approval," Boschwitz added.

Senior Citizens News

October 29th was a lovely day and eighteen came out to enjoy the Senior Citizen's weekly meeting. It was our fun day and everyone enjoyed bingo and won some prizes. However, Polly did some work, she pressed out the pillow cases and some other rummage, and put it up for sale.

Gordon Lefrooth gave the center a $2 gift. Other gifts we have received lately are some clothing and quilt pieces from the Dale Brekke family of East Grand Forks and from Janice Nelson rural Warren. We thank you all for your donations and gifts to us.

Our visitors Thursday were, Leila Trowiski, Milwaukee and Gordon Lefrooth.

Four door prizes were given away, Mabel Borsvold gave two prizes that Ida Bruce and Hilda Stromberg received, Elmer Holmstrom received Elsie's and Gust received Sophie's.

Irene attended Region 1-7 annual fall aging conference at Crookston, Thursday, since none of our other officers could attend. It was up to me, the twelfth one on the totem pole, to go. It was an interesting meeting and they stressed over and over again, your must get involved in your centers to make a good center. Why don't you come and join us and help us carry on. We need you. Elsi Kimbrough was hostess Thurdsay.

By Donald R. Goodrich, D.D.S.
WHY REPLACE MISSING TEETH?
Why is it so essential that missing teeth be replaced, even if they are in a part of the mouth that doesn't show?
For starters, the teeth on either side of the space may drift into the space and close it. This is unhealthy, since the roots of our teeth are designed to absorb stress in a vertical direction. When a tooth tilts, it is no longer taking the stress the way nature intended. The result may be periodontal pockets (separation between gum and teeth) causing food traps, gum disease and decay. This will require further dental treatment and, possibly, premature loss of these additional teeth.
Also there is the problem of the tooth directly above or below the space. Without the bite pressure on it, it may move upward or downward into the open space, causing a problem of tripping the teeth as you move the jaw from side to side. This will tend to loosen the adjoining teeth and lead to further lost teeth. In a nutshell, if you have missing teeth, they should be replaced as soon as possible to prevent the "Domino Effect" of further tooth loss.

Gov. Quie's Column

As we analyze and prepare to correct Minnesota's projected shortfall and cash-flow problems, it is important to remember that this situation is not unique to our state.

The root of our difficulties is imbedded in the national economy, which, according to one national data research firm, is headed for a recession. The fault does not lie with President Reagan's economic recovery plan; the fault lies with the national economic policies established over the past two decades. Pulling back from 20 years of unrestrained government spending and heavy taxation is essential, but has proven to be painful as well.

During previous national recessions, Minnesota seemed immune to problems which faced other states. However, this recession is accompanied by unacceptably high interest rates that have brought construction, personal spending and business expansion almost to a standstill.

According to the National Governors' Association (NGA) Bulletin of Oct. 16, midwestern states heavily dependent on housing and construction have been particularly hard-hit. This includes Minnesota. Only energy-producing states, located mostly in the west and southwest, appear to be fiscally strong.

According to a spot survey conducted by the NGA, governors working on 1983 budgets reported their task to be complicated by the possibility of additional federal cuts in aids to state programs.

Among states reporting fiscal problems are:

Ohio — The Ohio Legislature is considering measures to raise an additional $1.8 billion in new taxes to carry the state through the rest of the biennium. To alleviate cash-flow problems, school aid payments will be delayed. Ohio's annual budget is $5.5 billion.

Wisconsin — Gov. Lee Dreyfus has enacted an 8 per cent across-the-board cut in state operations and revised Wisconsin's revenue forecast by $111 million. Cash-flow problems totaling $150 million are being handled by temporary borrowing from other state funds. Wisconsin's annual budget is $3.5 billion.

Michigan — Gov. William Milliken has issued an executive order to cut spending by $270 million to meet a projected deficit of that amount. The state is also experiencing a negative cash-flow balance of $600 million, and has used short-term borrowing to meet the problem. Michigan's annual budget is $4.9 billion.

California — Gov. Jerry Brown has issued an executive order reducing state agency budgets by 2 per cent and delaying construction payments. The order is designed to reduce spending by $460 million. California's annual budget is $25 billion.

Washington — A state revenue reforecast anticipates a projected shortfall of $655 million for the biennium. All state agencies have been required to cut spending by 10.1 per cent, and some tax increases are expected when the Legislature holds a special session beginning Nov. 9. Washington's annual state budget is $3.5 billion.

Indiana — A reforecast of revenues is currently being prepared. However, agencies were required to reduce prior year costs by 10 per cent, and it is probable that they will be requested to make further cuts in fiscal year 1982. A $120 million emergency fund is being used for cash-flow problems. Indiana's annual budget is $2.2 billion.

This is a sampling from the NGA survey. It is representative of the problems facing states, including Minnesota, during these times of economic distress. Statistics listed in this column can be compared to Minnesota bearing in mind that our annual state operating budget is $4.35 billion.

In Minnesota, we are dealing with our projected shortfall and cash-flow problems by conducting a reforecast of state revenues, based on national economic assumptions. I expect to announce our conclusions next week.

STANDING ROOM ONLY was available after the start of Monday evening's public forum on the Thief River Falls teachers' strike in the national guard armory. In the top photo, Mayor Bob Carlson makes opening remarks to the crowd, noting that he had agreed to moderate the forum only if both the school board and the teachers' assocation were represented. None of the school board members was present at the forum which had been organized by the Thief River Falls Education association. Total attendance was estimated at approximately 700 people. A number of additional people entered the armory after these photos were taken at the start of the meeting. More than 500 chairs had been set up for the session.

Winter Sports Schedules

Early December will mark the start of the 1981-82 winter sports season for Northland community college and Lincoln high school teams.

The Prowlers, who had their fall sports seasons curtailed by the teachers strike, are scheduled to start the winter sports schedule with a girls basketball game Tuesday, December 1, vs. Fisher in the Lincoln gym.

Boys basketball team has its opener set Friday, December 4, at Roseau and will play Tuesday, December 8 at Grafton before its home opener Thursday, December 17, vs. Moorhead.

Hockey season and home opener is scheduled Saturday, December 5, vs. Crookston.

Boys swimming team plans to open its season Saturday December 12, with the Thief River Falls relays.

Northland winter sports scene starts with a women's invitational basketball tournament here Friday and Saturday, December 4-5.

Men's basketball team will open Saturday, December 5, with its varsity-alumni game.

Hockey starts with a Friday-Saturday weekend series December 11-12 vs. Mesabi in the Thief River Falls sports arena.

Miscellaneous

+Four members of the 1980 Class A state runner-up Lake of the Woods high school basketball team will be playing college ball this winter — three of them in the Minnesota junior college athletic association (MJCAA) Northeast Division — reports John Oren of the Baudette Region. Guards Tom Omerza and Brad Troxel, after filling reserve roles last season, are expected to be starting at Vermilion and Rainy River community colleges, respectively. Another community college performer will be John Koller, the star of the 1980 state tournament as a junior before moving to Dassel-Cokato for his final year of high school in 1980-81. Koller, who is 6-5 and can play guard but was forced to play center at Dassel-Cokato, is apparently headed for Vermilion. John Oren, another junior on that state tournament team, will take his 6-8 frame to Hamline this season. Only member of that outstanding 1979-80 Lake of the Woods team not playing basketball this winter is 6-6 Todd Robinson, who was the Bears' headline-producer for three years. Robinson is at the University of North Dakota where he's carrying a perfect 4.0 grade average.

+ Ellis Halgrimson announced his resignation as girls high school tennis coach at Bemidji to spend more time with his family. He will remain coach of the Lumberjacks' boys team.

+ Mark Nelson of Alexandria has been named Region 8AA girls cross country coach of the year, while Bob Brink of Cold Spring-Rocori was named Region 8AA boys cross country coach of the year. Nelson's girls won the Region 8AA title and Brink's boys won the regional crown, too.

+ Thief River Falls' Scott Sabo, after seeing limited action as a freshman a year on the NCAA champion University of Wisconsin hockey team, is getting plenty of ice time this season, skating a regular shift and penalty skating as well. Starting the 1981-82 season as a right wing, Sabo was shifted to the left side Friday against the University of Minnesota-Duluth and promptly scored two goals in a 6-1 Wisconsin win, giving the sophomore six goals in six games. Wisconsin added another 6-1 decision Saturday. The Badgers and the University of Minnesota tangle in a WCHA weekend series Friday and Saturday in Madison, Wis.

+ Doug Willet, who completed his second season as head football coach at Staples, announced to his team that he was resigning the position following the Cardinals' 14-0 loss to Detroit Lakes Thursday in a game that decided the Mid-State Conference championship and sent the Lakers into post-season play. The Cardinals beat Thief River Falls 15-14 this fall.

+ University of North Dakota women's field hockey team goalie Marchell Cuppett, a senior from Thief River Falls, shut out the University of Manitoba 2-0 and 1-0 Saturday, giving her 15 shutouts in 23 games — an impressive 0.61 goals-against-average. The 19-4 Sioux will participate in the AIAW Region VI tournament at Cedar Falls, Iowa this week. No. 2 seeded UND draws Central Missouri State Thursday in an 11 a.m. opener. The regional winner moves on the AIAW national championships Nov. 19-21 at Ithaca, N.Y.

+ Crookston voters approved the sale of up to $600,000 in general obligation bonds Tuesday to finance the completion of the city arena by a 1,720 to 1,658 vote. The city will assume ownership of the financially-plagued facility from the Crookston Hockey Boosters.

ARGYLE RUNNINGBACK Mike LaBine was held to a one-yard gain as Middle River defender Doug Kilen (30) wrapped him up and teammate Jon Neumann (85) fought his way through two blockers to lend a helping hand in the fourth quarter of Tuesday's nine-man high school football playoff game at Middle River. The Skippers bottled up the Eagles' high-powered offense, but Argyle used three Middle River turnovers to win the game 21-0. Both teams entered the game with 9-0 records. The Eagles won the Top of the State Conference title and the Skippers were the North Tri County Conference champions this fall. Argyle faces Fergus Falls Hillcrest Academy in the state quarterfinals.

Nine-Man Football Playoff Game Tuesday . . .

Argyle Defense Scores Points In 21-0 Win Over Middle River

Strong Middle River defensive play shut out the explosive Argyle offense Tuesday, but it was the Eagles' defense that put points on the scoreboard as the Top of the State Conference champions eliminated the host Skippers 21-0 in a post-season Minnesota State High School League (MSHSL) nine-man football playoff game.

The Argyle defense rescued its struggling offense by blocking a punt and recovering it in the end zone; running a pass interception back for touchdown; and returning another interception 34 yards to set up the Eagles' third touchdown.

"Defensively we've been playing well all year," explained Argyle coach Connie Lubarski, a Northland community college graduate who gave the Middle River defense a great deal of post-game praise. "They took away our tailback plays. They were forcing us to do other things."

But the Skippers' outstanding defensive effort, which held the high-powered Argyle offense to just six first downs and 165 total yards, was not complemented offensively. Middle River, nearly unstoppable en route to a perfect 9-0 North Tri County Conference championship this fall, netted only 125 yards in yesterday's bright sunshine, and got just 17 of those yards after intermission.

"I was pleased with our game," said Middle River coach Eldon Sparby after the large crowd had left. "I don't think you can fault our defense. Their offense didn't score. Offensively it was a stand-off between our line and their line. The blocked punt was the difference. We didn't want to get behind. We knew we'd be in trouble if we had to play catch-up."

The third quarter blocked punt turned the dead-even defensive struggle into a definite Argyle edge as David Bergeron, a 155-pound senior who quarterbacks the Eagles' offense, charged in from the left side and batted down the punt by Middle River's Jeff Cwikla, who was kicking from his own five-yard line. The ball bounced into the end zone, and with several Eagles giving chase, Bergeron himself pounced on it for the touchdown. Sophomore Gary Gruhot's conversion kick made it 7-0 just two plays before the third quarter came to a close.

Two touchdowns in the final minutes of the fourth quarter cemented the Argyle victory, and the Eagles' defense had a hand in both of them.

Middle River quarterback Mike Peterson, who was hobbled by an ankle sprain suffered in practice Friday that limited the Skippers' option offense, tried throwing a swing pass to the left side with 2:05 remaining in the game when Argyle's Jay LaBine intercepted the ball at the Middle River 27 and returned it untouched for the second defensive touchdown of the game.

Then on the Skippers' next snap from scrimmage, Mike LaBine intercepted Peterson's long downfield pass at the Skippers' 35 and returned it to the nine. One play later Mike LaBine took a pitch around the left side and squeezed into the end zone with 1:44 remaining. Bergeron passed to Roger St. Germain for the conversion and the final points.

Argyle came up with four pass interceptions — two by Mike LaBine, one each by Jay LaBine Bergeron. Middle River had fumble recoveries by Cwikla and Dan Burda.

The game was relatively penalty-free, but both teams had a first half touchdown erased by a penalty. Argyle's Mike LaBine broke tackles off the left side and reached the Middle River end zone on a 27-yard first quarter run, but a clip brought the ball back to the 28. Middle River's only real offensive thrust came in the final moments of the first half when Peterson passed 30 yards over the middle to end Jon Neumann, who made a remarkable finger-tip reception between two defenders at the Argyle four-yard line with just two seconds remaining. Cwikla then hit the corner of the end zone on a sprint to the left on the final play of the first half, but the Skippers were called for illegal procedure on the play when their man-in-motion cut up-field before the ball was snapped.

Captains Are Named By NCC

Northland community college football team elected captains for the 1982 season prior to Saturday's season-ending Northern Division game at Brainerd.

Four players were selected to lead the Northmen next fall — two offesive captains and two defensive captains.

Named captains of the offensive unit were Dave Kays, a center from Thief River Falls, and Ken Demarais, a tackle from Fisher. Selected captains of the defensive squad were Steve Jorstad, a linebacker from Thief River Falls, and Thaddous Forman, a safety from Oak Park, Mich.

Captains of the 1981 team were John Dillon, a fullback from Thief River Falls; Mike Busse, a defensive end-fullback from Mahnomen; Mike Punton, a runningback from Baudette; and Mark Stock, a defensive tackle-nose guard from Mahnomen.

Northland players also voted on individual awards for the 1981 season. Named top offensive linemen were Kays and Demarais; top defensive linemen were Stock and Busse; top offensive backs were Punton and Dillon; top defensive backs were Forman and Coby Burslie, a sophomore from McIntosh; top linebackers were Jorstad, Don Hudec, a freshman from

AN OPTION RUN by Middle River quarterback Mike Peterson (17), with teammate Jeff Cwikla (46) trailing the play, netted just one yard in the third quarter of Tuesday's nine-man high school football playoff game against Argyle at Middle River. Three plays later a scoreless draw was broken when Argyle's David Bergeron blocked a punt by Cwikla and recovered the ball in the end zone to spark the Eagles to a 21-0 victory over the Skippers.

Area District Volleyball Tournaments Underway

High school volleyball tournaments reached the semifinal round in District 29 Tuesday, while District 30 and District 32 moved into the quarterfinal stages. District 31 will begin play Thursday.

Champions will be decided this week in all four districts. The 1981 Region 8A volleyball tournament will be played Saturday, November 14, at the University of Minnesota-Crookston. First round Region 8A pairings will find District 29 playing District 31 at 2 p.m., with District 30 playing District 32 at 3:30. Third place match will be played at 7 that night, followed by the championship match at 8.

District 29

In first round District 29 tournament play, Bagley defeated Kelliher 18-6, 18-2; Indus eliminated Clearbrook 18-15, 18-8; Laporte outlasted Gonvick-Trail 18-10, 14-18, 20-18; Littlefork-Big Falls handled Akeley 18-5, 18-6; Nevis ousted Northome 18-7, 18-16; and Walker sidelined Red Lake 18-1, 18-8.

Quarterfinals were completed Tuesday when Bagley beat Laporte 18-6, 18-9; Blackduck defeated Indus 18-2, 18-4; Cass Lake downed Nevis 18-5,18-3; and Walker dumped Littlefork-Big Falls 18-4, 18-2.

District 30

Quarterfinals will be played Thursday in District 30. At Mahnomen, Fosston plays Twin Valley at 7 p.m., followed by Waubun vs. Fertile-Beltrami. At Fertile, Oklee plays McIntosh-Winger at 7 p.m., followed by Ada vs. Erskine.

Semifinals and finals will be played Saturday. Sites haven't been selected, but the semifinals will start at 1:30 p.m., with the consolation and championship matches planned that night at 7.

Monday's opening round saw Twin Valley beat Borup 18-11, 18-7 and Fertile-Beltraim defeat Halstad-Hendrum 18-3, 18-15 at Ada, while McIntosh-Winger edged Mentor 2-1 and Erskine knocked off Mahnomen 2-0 at Fosston.

District 31

First round matches will be played Thursday in District 31, with Goodridge vs. Fisher at 4:30 p.m.; Plummer vs. Mount St. Benedict at 5:45; Argyle vs. East Grand Forks Sacred Heart at 7; and Stephen vs. Oslo at 8:15.

In Friday's quarterfinals, Alvarado will play the Goodridge vs. Fisher winner at 4:30 p.m.; Climax will play the Plummer vs. Mount St. Benedict winner at 5:45; Red Lake Falls will play the Argyle vs. Sacred Heart winner at 7; and Warren will play the Stephen vs. Oslo winner at 8:15.

The tournament, which is being played at Warren, will be completed Saturday. Semifinals will be played at 1:30 and 2:45 p.m. Third place match will take place at 7, followed by the championship match at 8:15.

Played at two sites, the District 32 tournament got underway Tuesday. At Roseau, Greenbush came from behind to beat Warroad 12-18, 18-12, 18-3; Badger defeated Humbolt-St. Vincent 18-2, 18-4; and Middle River, winless during the regular season, upset Hallock 18-15, 18-16. At Greenbush, Kennedy stopped Lake of the Woods 18-15, 18-9; and Grygla-Gatzke ousted Lancaster 18-8, 18-16.

Pebs Peterson came off the bench to spark Grygla-Gatzke to the second game triumph. The Eagles were down 8-2 before Peterson entered the game and served five straight points. It was 16-16 when she was brought back into the game by coach Curt Vandermeer and she served the final two points.

Rest of the tournament will be played at Roseau. In Thursday's quarterfinals, Greenbush plays Marshall County Central at 6 p.m.; Badger meets Middle River at 7; Grygla-Gatzke goes against Tri-County at 8; and Kennedy tackles Roseau at 9.

Semifinals will be played at 6 and 7 p.m. Friday, followed by the third place match at 8 and the championship match at 9.

Area Schools Play In State Playoffs

Area teams Moorhead, Fertile-Beltrami and Argyle won their way into the Minnesota State High School League (MSHSL) state football quarterfinals with qualifying game wins Tuesday.

An independent, Moorhead advanced into the Class AA quarterfinals with a 17-7 victory over St. Paul Suburban Conference champion Park Tuesday at Concordia. The Spuds play North Suburban Conference champion Irondale Saturday at the College of St. Thomas in St. Paul.

Valley Plains Conference champion Fertile-Beltrami defeated Prairie Conference champion Eagle Bend 41-18 Tuesday in a Class C qualifying game at Browerville, moving into the state quarterfinals Friday when the Falcons will host Park Region Conference champion Verndale at 7:30 p.m.

Nine-man playoff game at Middle River Tuesday saw Top of the State Conference champion Argyle blank North Tri County Conference champion Middle River 21-0 for a berth in the state quarterfinals. The Eagles will host Agassiz Valley Conference champion Fergus Falls Hillcrest Saturday at 3 p.m.

In other qualifying games, Northern Lakes Conference champion Grand Rapids saw its unbeaten status end with a 28-0 Saturday night Class AA playoff loss to Lake North Conference champion Wayzata at Grand Rapids.

In Class A, area independent East Grand Forks lost to Sea-Range Conference champion Hermantown 17-6 Tuesday at Hermantown, while Mid-State Conference champion Detroit Lakes fell to Heart O'Lakes Conference champion Breckenridge 20-7 at Detroit Lakes.

Pine-to-Prairie Conference champion Mahnomen is already seeded into the Class B state quarterfinals. The Indians will host either Blackduck or Chisholm Saturday at 7:30 p.m.

Tenth annual Minnesota State High School League State Football playoffs will begin on Friday with quarterfinal games and eventually end for the 40 schools participating in the five classes on Friday, November 20, reports MSHSL officials.

During that two-week span more than 60,000 spectators are expected to witness the 35 games that will find state champions named in Class AA, A, B, C and nine-man divisions.

There were a number of qualifying games in each of the five classes on Tuesday, that will decide the final field for this year's state playoffs. Those games pit champions of various conferences against one another with winners advancing to quarterfinal games on Saturday.

Seven games will be played this Friday with 13 scheduled for Saturday.

New state champions are certain in all but one of the classes. The lone champion returning to this year's state playdowns is Mahnomen, last season's Class B titlist who owns the state's longest winning streak — 22 games.

Among the 61 high schools still playing football at the start of the week from an original list of 489 that started seasons throughout the state last August, 25 still had undefeated status.

Sno-Drifters Meet Tuesday At Elks Club

Thief River Falls Sno-Drifters November membership meeting will be conducted Tuesday (November 10) at the Elks club in Thief River Falls beginning at 7:30 p.m.

Agenda will include election of officers for the 1981-82 years and discussion of upcoming winter activities.

Thief River Falls Sno-Drifters club is dedicated to promoting the sport of snowmobiling through projects, special events and family outings. Anyone interested in snowmobiling is invited to become a member of the Sno-Drifters. Current and new members are encouraged to attend Tuesday's meeting.

Minnesota led all states last year in the number of adult waterfowl hunters: 158,425.

MIDDLE RIVER defensive end Dan Burda (24) gave chase to Argyle runningback Mike LaBine, but LaBine broke tackles and sprinted 27 yards for an apparent first quarter touchdown that was erased by a clipping penalty in Tuesday's nine-man high school football playoff game at Middle River. The Eagles couldn't score offensively, so they called on their defense to produce three touchdowns in a 21-0 victory over the Skippers in a match-up of unbeaten conference champions.

Superskate Marathon At The Place

Superskate, a 10-hour overnight roller skating marathon to benefit mentally retarded persons, will be conducted from 9 p.m. November 20 to 7 a.m. November 21 at 'The Place' in Thief River Falls.

Melvin Joppru, rink manager, is coordinating the event, which will benefit the Association for Retarded Citizens (ARC) Minnesota. Skaters will seek pledges for the number of miles they plan to skate during Superskate. Those who continue for the full 10 hours will skate approximately 100 miles, Joppru said.

Skaters are eligible for prizes based on the money they raise through pledges. Prizes are as follows:

Stereo system, first prize; three-way television, second prize; roller skates, third prize; Superskate T-shirt, fourth prize; two free passes to roller skating rink, fifth prize; and Superskate arm or jacket patch, sixth prize.

Skaters can win more than one prize, depending on how much pledge money they raise. Persons in seventh grade or older are welcome to participate in the Superskate, providing they have received at least $25 worth of pledges before the event. A $3 registration fee will be charged, payable on the day of the event.

The ARC Minnesota is an association for parents of retarded persons, professionals, and others interested in improving the lives of mentally retarded persons.

For pledge forms and further details, stop in at 'The Place' in Thief River Falls or call 681-2854. Pledge forms will also be available at several other locations throughout the area.

Beaver, Otter May Be Taken On WMA Land

Beaver and otter may be taken within state wildlife management areas in the respective open areas and seasons by licensed trappers only if they obtain a permit from the wildlife manager.

These permits are issued free of charge. There will be no limit on the number of permits issued this year on the Elm Lake, Eckvoll and Mulac wildlife management areas in Marshall county.

Beaver trappers will be required to report to the area wildlife manager at the close of the season. Permits may be obtained from Jon Parker, phone: 681-7789 or home 681-5217.

North Border Team Picked In Volleyball

Four members of the North Border Conference champion Marshall County Central high school volleyball team were named all-conference choices by league coaches, it was announced today.

Nordics picked for post-season recognition were Tamie Anderson, Shelly Hodne, Dorene Larson and Sue Olson.

Rest of the honor squad include Lisa Temple, Jill Lofton and Kelly Wagner of Roseau; Diane Bagstad and Mary Larson of Badger; Tammy Sistad, Grygla-Gatzke; Janet Marvin, Warroad; and CeCe Hildebrandt, Lake of the Woods.

Honorable mention status went to Robin Marvin and Polly Haggan, Warroad; Shari Anderson, Grygla-Gatzke; Kim Richert, Lake of the Woods; and Jill Johnson, Marshall County Central.

SURROUNDED BY Argyle defenders, Middle River end Jon Neumann made a spectacular finger-tip catch of a Mike Peterson pass and reached the Eagles' four-yard line before being hauled down after the 30-yard catch in the final seconds of the first half of Tuesday's nine-man high school football playoff game at Middle River. The next play — the final play of a scoreless first half — saw Middle River runningback Jeff Cwikla reach the end zone, but an illegal procedure penalty on the Skippers wiped out the touchdown and they wound up losing 21-0.

Red Lake WMA Muzzleloaders Area Changed

Deer hunters planning to hunt with muzzleloaders in the Red Lake wildlife management area this season were advised by the Department of Natural Resources that there has been a change in area boundaries. The area affected lies just north of Upper Red Lake near the town of Waskish.

Muzzleloader season runs from Nov. 28 through Dec. 13.

Officials said those who intend to hunt the Red Lake WMA should contact a DNR wildlife manager of conservation officer in the vicinity to check on the boundary lines.

Department wildlife offices are located in Baudette, Bemidji and at Norris Camp.

Many species of birds prefer to bathe in dirt rather than water, according to National Wildlife magazine. Ruffed grouse, ring-necked pheasants, wild turkeys, larks, wrens and quail regularly get dirty in order to come clean by tossing dirt at themselves with their wings or beaks. Dirt removes excess oils, stops the spread of parasites, and improves the insulating quality of their plumage.

Kelliher, and Jeff Canivez, a sophomore from Baudette; and top special team players were Dave Gorski, a sophomore from Lancaster, and Burslie.

Northland closed out its 1981 season with a 3-5 record following a 14-7 defeat at the hands of Brainerd. A victory would have given the Northmen their first .500 finish in the six-year history of the football program at the school and would have assured them of a third place tie in the Minnesota junior college athletic association (MJCAA) Northern Division standings behind Fergus Falls and Golden Valley Lutheran.

Fergus Falls clinched at least a Northern Division title tie Saturday with a come-from-behind 27-23 victory over defending champion Golden Valley Lutheran in a match-up of unbeaten, nationally ranked teams.

Elsewhere, Hibbing shut out University of Minnesota-Crookston 12-0 and Vermilion handled Mesabi 22-6.

Northland draws the open date in the nine-team Northern Division this week and school officials elected not to pick up nonconference game to fill out a nine-team schedule figuring a nonconference game at the end of the season would be "anticlimatic." The Northern Division schedule will be completed when Brainerd visits Vermilion, Golden Valley Lutheran goes to Itasca and Hibbing travels to Mesabi Thursday, and Fergus Falls plays at Crookston Saturday.

Viking History Program At Best Western

A program of Viking history, culture, humanities and the arts will be presented at four different locations during November and December, the first being in Thief River Falls November 8 at 2 p.m. at the Best Western motel.

"Historical and Cultural Aspects of the Viking Era" will be the topic presented by Dr. Kenneth Smemo, chairman of the history department and professor of history and Scandinavian studies at Moorhead state university. Smemo will present an overview and background information on the Vikings, including their travels and exploits throughout the world. He will also examine the impact on history as a consequence of these voyages, cultural changes, and heritage as it evolved from this period of time.

Smemo will also discuss the geographical and sociological implications created by the discoveries and settlements established by the explorers, and explain previous misconceptions of the Scandinavian people in general.

Dr. Virginia Barsch, professor of art history at Moorhead state university, will present the segment on "Significant Viking Contributions in the Humanities and Arts." Barsch will focus her presentation on specific writings and works of art created by the Scandinavians during the early years, including various art forms and writing styles as well as sagas and folktales. She will also examine some of the music and ligerature following the Viking era.

"The Hjemkomst — A Return to the Past," and a "Viking Toure to Oslo and Scandinavia," will be presented by Charles Peterson, board member of Hjemkomst Viking, Inc. and president of Hawley area Viking heritage. Peterson will give a slide presentation featuring the "Hjemkomst" the Gogstad type ship built in an abandoned potato warehouse at Hawley, MN, by the late Robert Asp.

In addition to this, Peterson will tell of the "dream" which Asp had — that of building and sailing a ship to Norway. Slides will be shown of the construction of the "Hjemkomst," its removal from the warehouse on its "birthday," scenes of the ship on Lake Superior and pictures of the crew who will sail the ship to Norway in 1982.

An informational session will be presented particularly for those interested in flying to Norway to be in Oslo when the "Hjemkomst" docks next summer. An outline of an optional tour of Denmark, Sweden and Norway will also be discussed by Peterson, who is serving as flight and tour coordinator.

These programs are made possible through a grant by the Minnesota humanities commission and through funds provided by the national endowment for the humanities. All programs will begin at 2 p.m. There is no charge for these programs and free coffee will be served.

For further information contact Charles Peterson at Hawley; or Val Holmes, Thief River Falls, 681-7561 days. Other locations of the programs are November 15 at Moorhead state university (King biology auditorium), December 6 at the Ottertail company community room, Fergus Falls; and December 13 at the Hawley high school.

Film Series Begins Sat. At NW Library

Northwest regional library will be starting a weekly series, Saturday Film beginning Saturday (November 7) from 2 to 3 p.m. and school-age children are especially invited to attend.

This week's feature will be "SPFX: The Making of "The Empire Strikes Back," a behind-the-scenes look at the sequel to Star Wars focusing on the movie magic of special effects ("SPFX").

Library is located at 101 E. First St., Thief River Falls.

DOT Revises Highway 52 Route Segment

Minnesota department of transportation (Mn/DOT has revised the routing of US 52 to follow Interstate 94 between the US 52/US 169/I-94 interchange in Brooklyn Park and TH 23 near St. Cloud. The I-94 segment between St. Cloud and Moorhead has carried the US 52 route designation for some time.

US 52 also follows US 169 between the Brooklyn Park interchange and TH 100 at Robbinsdale. At TH 100, US 52 branches off and still runs southeasterly through the Twin Cities and continues through southeastern Minnesota to the Iowa state line.

Signs are in the process of being changed to conform to US 52 route redesignation.

Bridge, Road Okayed For Red Lake Co.

Contracts totaling $1,963,345 for federal-aid road and bridge improvements have been awarded in Fillmore, McLeod, Red Lake and Watonwan counties, the Minnesota department of transportation (Mn-DOT) announced, acting for the counties.

In Red Lake county, Lakeview construction company, Glenwood, was awarded a $1,201,253 contract for a bridge to be built on CSAH 3 over the Red Lake river, 7.3 miles southwest of Red Lake Falls.

Work is scheduled to begin within eight calendar days after date of notice of contract approval and to be completed within 160 working days.

Donald Conroy Construction company, Wheaton, was awarded a $379,877 contract for grading and aggregate surfacing on two miles of CSAH 3 between CSAH 18 and CSAH 11, 6.5 miles southwest of Red Lake Falls, and on 1.3 miles of CSAH 17 between the south county line and CSAH 3, 6.7 miles southwest of Red Lake Falls.

To begin within eight calendar days after date of notice of contract approval, work is to be completed within 75 working days.

Board Stands Firm On Offer; Strike Goes On

Dale Folger told the Times that the TRFEA negotiating team is anxious to meet on a daily basis if possible with the school board in an effort to reach settlement. He said he informed the board Tuesday evening that the community is now losing money and the city's economy is being hurt as the strike continues.

The strike is different from strikes in the private sector, he said, in that strikes against business result in losses for the business. "In this strike," Folger said, "the only ones being hurt are the teachers and the kids." He added that the strike situation dictates more frequent meetings to negotiate.

Isaacson said that the teachers were extremely disappointed and upset that there was no movement from the board in regard to salary offer. He said that the situation has not weakened the stand of the striking teachers and that they remain very determined in meeting their goals.

Two Arrested Monday On Drug Charges

Two Thief River Falls residents have been arrested and a quantity of marijuana and suspected other controlled substances confiscated as the result of the search of a local residence early Monday morning.

As a result of information received in another case, a search warrant was obtained for a residence at 537 Kneale av. S. and served on the occupants at 5:30 a.m. Monday. Arrested at the residence were Michael Haller, 22, and Kim Jo Jones, 23, both residents of that address.

Haller was charged with possession of a Class II controlled substance and Jones was charged with sale of a controlled substance. Both appeared in county court and bond was set at $2,500 for Haller and $5,000 for Jones. District court appearance for both is scheduled for Monday morning.

A third person also apprehended at the residence was later released and not charged.

RIVER VALLEY . . .

We are sorry to hear Hannah Arveson is a patient at the Northwestern hospital in Thief River Falls. Hurry and get well there.

Good Harvest Progress Made During Week

Farmers made good progress harvesting crops last week under very favorable weather, according to the Minnesota agricultural statistics service.

Harvest remained somewhat hampered by wet fields from the heavy rain two weeks ago and cold temperatures the end of last week. However, warm, sunny weather prevailed throughout the week and dried fields, enabling harvest to gain momentum as the week progressed.

Harvest caught up some last week and is now less than two weeks behind normal. One more week of good weather should alleviate most of the surplus moisture and permit access to most fields. Topsoil moisture is rated three per cent short, 53 per cent adequate and 44 per cent surplus.

Field corn harvest managed to reach the halfway point when it is normally at three-fourths. Harvest stands at 52 per cent complete compared to last year's 81 per cent and the five-year average of 73 per cent. Moisture content decreased another two points for the second straight week. It is now at 24 per cent, still three points above the five-year average and four points above last year.

Combining of soybeans is now approaching its final stages. Progress has reached 82 per cent, behind last year's 97 per cent and the five-year average of 95 per cent. The moisture content of soybeans stands at 13 per cent which is above both the five-year average of 12 per cent and last year's 11 per cent.

Sunflower combining continues to lag while sugarbeet lifting advanced rapidly last week. Moisture remains high in sunflowers with 71 per cent now combined compared to 91 per cent for both the five-year average and last year. Lifting of sugarbeets is 89 per cent complete when it is normally complete by now. Getting the beets out of the ground this year has been a problem with the very muddy conditions.

Rocksbury . . .

Mrs. Cal Offerdahl, Cari and Cory were supper guests on Wednesday evening at the Richard Jorde home.

Guests on Wednesday afternoon at the Thorman Dahle home were Mrs. Mike Frerichs and Kia of Holt, and Mrs. Wayne Halbasch and Brian.

AUCTION
In order to complete the liquidation of our East Polk and Red Lake County investment properties, we will sell the following listed real estate at public auction at the Best Western Motor Inn, Highways U.S. 2 and U.S. 75 North, Crookston, Minnesota:
Tuesday, November 10, 7:00 P.M.
TRACT #1
These two 40 acre adjoining tracts have to be in the best location for a hobby farm or hunting camp that you'll see for sale in Minnesota this year. It joins the DNR game preserve for a full half mile. Moose, deer and bear can be found on the property.

4½ miles to U.S. 89
Bldgs.
Poplar River
Legal Description: NE¼SE¼, Sec. 19
Legal Description: NW¼SW¼, Sec. 20

Besides the nice five-bedroom home pictured at left, there are several usable out-buildings including a large barn and a machine shed. It is located about seven miles NE of Erskine and the same distance NW of McIntosh. It is only 1½ miles north of county road 35.
The picturesque bridge pictured at left is on the edge of the property where the Poplar River leaves it. It was built by the CCC boys in the '30s and there is a mate for it on the property crossing a permanent drain ditch they also constructed. About 65 of the 80 acres are tilled.

This quarter lays on the south side of the good gravel road that runs from Plummer to the Trail-Oklee area. It has some timber and a good amount of brush cover. It lays fairly level and could be mostly tilled. It would make an ideal hunting camp as it is.

In Memoriam

In loving memory of our dear father, father-in-law, grandfather and great-grandfather Ernest Cork, who passed away November 9, 1980.

God saw you getting tired,
When a cure was not to be;
So He closed His arms around you,
And whispered "Come to Me."
You didn't deserve what you went through,
So He gave you rest;
God's garden must be beautiful,
For He only takes the best.

—Lovingly remembered and very sadly missed by your son Albert, daughter-in-law Marion, daughters Della, Lillian and Alice, grandchildren and great-grandchildren. 1t86p

In Memoriam

In loving memory of our dear mother, mother-in-law, grandmother and great-grandmother Lillian Cork, who passed away November 5, 1980.

God looked around his garden
And found an empty place;
He then looked down upon the earth
And saw your tired face.
He put His arms around you
And took you home to rest.
God's garden must be beautiful,
For He only takes the best.
Lord, if there's roses in Heaven,
Pick a bunch with care.
Place them in both her arms
And tell her we still care.

PUBLIC NOTICE

The Thief River Falls water utility announced today that the State maximum allowable limit for turbidity in drinking water is being exceeded.

Turbidity is caused by the presence of finely suspended particles such as clay, sand or organic matter in the water. Turbidity can be a problem if it interferes with chlorine disinfection. However, the high turbidity levels, do not create any health hazard because the water utility is able to maintain effective levels of chlorine for disinfection.

The Thief River Falls water utility staff is working closely with State Health Department officials to reduce the turbidity to acceptable levels.

Any citizen seeking addition information, should contact Allen Lamm at the Water Plant, phone number 681-3809.

Card of Thanks

We wish to thank everyone that helped us in celebrating our 25th anniversary. Special thanks to our children and their families for sponsoring the joyous celebration. Special thanks to Mary Ann and Kristi for music, Saave, Elmer and Palmer for cooking, Lawrence and Cheryl for the skit, and Lynn Verbout and Rolland Verbout families for help in preparation and everyone else that helped us and joined in our 25th anniversary celebration. LEGAL NOTICE

November 4, 1981
NOTICE

The City Council of the City of Goodridge, Minnesota, does ordain as follows:

"User" is hereby defined as any person, firm, partnership, corporation, or other legal entity having any connection with the municipal water system.

Section One: APPLICATION FOR SERVICE: Any person or persons desiring a connection with the municipal water shall apply in writing to the Clerk-Treasurer of the City on a form furnished by said Clerk-Treasurer for that purpose, for a permit to make such a connection. Such application shall contain an exact description of the property to be served and the uses to which the water shall be put, both general and special. Such application shall be accompanied by a deposit of One Hundred Twenty-five and no-100ths Dollars ($125.00) for all new connections.

Section Two: Permits issued by the Clerk-Treasurer cost thereof: The Clerk-Treasurer shall upon receiving an application as provided in Section One hereof, if the same is in proper form, issue to the person or persons applying for the same, a permit to connect with municipal water system and the applicant shall pay a fee of Five and no-100ths Dollars ($5.00) to the Clerk-Treasurer, therefor, which fee shall be deposited to the credit of the water fund. A fee of Five and no-100ths Dollars ($5.00) shall also be charged for all other connections or disconnections.

Section Three: The water is unmetered. Each user will be charged according to a fee schedule as follows:

Water Ordinance, Sec. 3, Water Fees: Residents: $3.50 per month; senior citizens: $2.00 per month; school: $122.00 for 4 months or $30.50 per month; Trapper & Trader: $122.00 for 4 months or $30.50 per month; Post Office: $3.50 per month; gas station: $3.50 per month; store: $3.50 per month; barbershop: $3.50 per month; liquor store; $24.00 for 4 months or $6.00 per month; cafe: $24.00 for 4 months or $6.00 per month; rental homes: $2.00 per unit, $16.00 total per month, $64.00 total for 4 months.

Section Four: No one except a regular employee of the water department of the City of Goodridge or a plumber skilled in the trade shall make any connection with the water systems of the City of Goodridge.

Section Five: All connections shall be made in a good and workmanlike manner and according to the rules and specifications provided in the plumbing code of the State of Minnesota as amended.

Section Six: No service line or water pipe connected therewith shall be covered or enclosed until after it has been inspected by a duly appointed officer of the City properly designated for the purpose. When any portion of the water pipe is laid, ready to cover or enclose, the plumber shall notify the City and the inspector shall determine whether or not all material is of good quality and propoerly installed in accordance with the provisions of this ordinance. When such water pipe or connection is approved, it may be covered or enclosed. No excavations made in public grounds or streets shall be kept open longer than necessary to make the connections required, and while open shall be protected by suitable barriers, guards and lights as provided by law. Back-filling shall be thoroughly compacted and left in a condition satisfactory to the inspector appointed to the City. Where excavations are unsatisfactorily filled, the Street Commissioner shall place them in a satisfactory condition and the cost thereof shall be charged against the deposit made at the time of the application for the permit.

Section Seven. Character of Pipe for Service Connections: All connections to the water system shall be made with material and as to specifications approved by the plumbing code of the State of Minnesota. Connections shall be made as low in the street as the main in said street. All water connections shall have a curb cock in each connection service line which said curb shall be placed as near as possible to the curb of the street. Curb cocks shall be of a style and type to be approved by the City Council, and shall be enclosed in a substantial iron case covered with a tight-fitting iron lid. There shall be one or more stop and waste cocks attached to every supply pipe at some point between the main and the house so that the water can be shut off and the house or building plumbing entirely drained.

Section Eight. Cost of Installation: The cost of the original installation of any water connection between the mains and service devices maintained by the owner or user and all extensions hereafter made to such service pipes as well as all repairs and replacements to the same shall be borne entirely by the owner of the property supplied, provided, however, that all such water of service pipes shall be subject to the inspection of the duly appointed official of the water department at all reasonable times. All repairs found to be necessary by such official shall be made immediately upon order of such official and failure to make such repairs shall be immediate grounds for discontinuance of service. All repairs and installations must meet State of Minnesota plumbing code specifications.

Section Nine. Any existing services shall be brought up to the specifications of this ordinance at such time as is necessary to repair said service at the owner's expense. The property owner shall be responsible for all repairs and maintenance for the premises served including all facilities up to and including the curb stop.

Section Ten. Check valves are hereby required on all connections to steam boilers or on any other connection or any other connection deemed necessary to require one. Safety and relief valves shall be placed on boilers, water heaters, or other steam apparatus connected with the water system.

Section Eleven. It is hereby declared unlawful for any person, firm or corporation to take any water from the municipal water plant except for uses and fees as designated by the council.

Section Twelve. It is hereby declared to be unlawful for any person in this municipality or any person owning or occupying premises connected to the municipal water system to use or allow to be used during a fire, any water from said water system except for the purpose of extinguishing said fire, and upon the sounding of the fire alarm it shall be the duty of every person to see that all water services are tightly closed and that no water is used except in extraordinary cases of emergency during said fire, provided, however, that use of water for human consumption shall be permitted during said fire. The regulations set forth in this section shall apply only to fires within City limits.

Section Thirteen. It shall be unlawful for any person or persons to turn any curb cock on or off except a duly authorized employee of the City or other designee of the City Council.

Section Fourteen. Any delinquent charges may become a lien against the property served by certifying to the County auditor the amount of said delinquent amount in accordance with Section 422.075 of the Statutes of the State of Minnesota.

Section Fifteen. Any person violating the provisions of this ordinance shall upon conviction thereof, be deemed guilty of misdemeanor and fined not less than Twenty-five and no-100ths Dollars ($25.00) nor more than Three Hundred and no-100ths Dollars ($300.00) and costs, and in default of such fine and costs shall be committed to the County jail until such fine is paid, but in no event to exceed ninety (90) days.

Section Sixteen. All ordinances or parts of ordinances inconsistent with the provisions of this ordinance are hereby repealed.

Section Seventeen. All parts and portions of this ordinance are declared separable and if any part thereof is declared invalid such action shall not invalidate any other part or portion thereof.

Section Eighteen. This ordinance shall take effect and be in force from and after its passage and publication according to the law.

Passed by the City Council of the City of Goodridge this 7th day of October, 1981.

Voting Aye: Roach, Easthouse, Paulson and Brown.
Voting No: None.

Goodridge School Board

November 4, 1981
Regular Board Meeting
Ind. School Dist. 561
Goodridge, Minnesota
October 26, 1981

Members Present: Norma Hanson, Larry Vigen, Lee Nelson, Don Langan, Supt., Loren Race, Richard Parnow, Paul Troska and Gordon Henrickson, Adm. Asst.

Members Absent: None.

The meeting was called to order by Chairperson, Norma Hanson at 8:00p.m. in the High School Home Economics Room.

Minutes of the regular meeting of September 14, 1981 and special meeting of September 28 were read and approved.

Motion was made by Loren Race, seconded by Lee Nelson to accept the auditors' report. Carried. Checks 1950-2037 were approved for payment.

Motion was made by Richard Parnow, seconded by Larry Vigen, to approve the handpayables and extra payroll. Carried. Checks 23927-23951 were approved for payment.

Motion by Paul Troska, second by Larry Vigen, to accept the district investment report as presented by Dr. Langan. Carried. (Report No. 3.4 attached to the official board minutes.)

Revenue and expenditure reports for all funds were given by Dr. Langan.

Mr. Marold presented the Board with a review of the District's juniors and seniors post-secondary plans.

Motion by Lee Nelson, seconded by Larry Vigen, to direct the administration to develop a building use agreement. Charges for building use to be set at $20 for the kitchen, with cook and janitor time as per classified wage schedules. Carried. (Report No. 7.1 attached to official board minutes.)

Dr. Langan presented a report on the status of negotiations. Both GEA and Board offers were discussed completely. (Report No. 8.1 attached to the official board minutes.)

Richard Parnow introduced the following resolution and moved its adoption: RESOLUTION DIRECTING THE ADMINISTRATION TO MAKE RECOMMENDATIONS FOR REDUCTIONS IN PROGRAMS AND POSITIONS AND REASONS THEREFOR.

WHEREAS, the financial condition of the school district dictates that the School Board must reduce expenditures immediately, and,

WHEREAS, there has been a reduction in student enrollment, and,

WHEREAS, this reduction in expenditures and decrease in enrollment must include discontinuance of positions and discontinuance or curtailment of programs, and,

WHEREAS, a determination must be made as to which teachers' contracts must be terminated and not renewed and which teachers may be placed on unrequested leave of absence without pay or fringe benefits in effecting discontinuance of positions,

BE IT RESOLVED, by the School Board of Independent School District No. 561, as follows:

That the School Board hereby directs the Superintendent of Schools and administration to consider the discontinuance of programs or positions to effectuate economics in the school district and to reduce expenditures and, as a result of a reduction in enrollment, make recommendations to the School Board for the discontinuance of programs, curtailment of programs, discontinuance of positions or curtailment of positions.

The motions for the adoption of the foregoing resolution was duly seconded by Lee Nelson, and upon the vote being taken thereon, the following voted in favor thereof: Lee Nelson, Richard Parnow, Loren Race, Paul Troska, Larry Vigen, and Norma Hanson. Whereupon said resolution was declared duly passed and adopted.

Lee Nelson moved, Paul Troska seconded, to designate the Roseau School District as the recipient and flow through agent for District No. 561 P.L. 94-142 funds for the 1981-1982 school year. Carried.

Loren Race moved, Paul Troska seconded to adopt the 1981-1982 Revenue and Expenditure Budget as revised (listed in order above): General, $721,486, $764,556; Food Service, $46,150, $52,282; Transportation, $141,555, $131,223; Community Service, $30,631, $31,825; Capitol Outlay, $57,332, $77,540; Debt Redemption, $18,846, $17,485 and Totals, $1,016,000 and $1,074,911. Motion carried.

Richard Parnow moved, Lee Nelson seconded, to include in 1981-1982 general fund expenditure budget $47,460 for transfer to the food service fund, and $19,390 for transfer to the transportation fund. Carried.

Motion by Loren Race, seconded by Lee Nelson, to set 1981 payable 1982 levies as follows: Maintenance, $435,307.58; Transportation, $12,270.13; Community Service, $7,021.67; Capitol Outlay, $36,497.82; Debt Redemption, $18,385.64 and TOTAL, $509,482.84. Motion carried.

Population Of State Grows To 4,077,148

Population of Minnesota increased from 3,806,103 in 1970 to 4,077,148 in 1980, a change fo 271,045 persons or 7.1 per cent over the 1970 population. Population change results from the combined effects of births, deaths and migration. Preliminary decade totals of vital statistics (April 1, 1970 to April 1, 1980) show 594,892 births and 332,493 deaths for a total natural increase of 262,399.

Net migration, the number of inmigrants minus the number of outmigrants, accounts for population change not due to natural increase. Although Minnesota historically has experienced a net outmigration of population, between 1970 and 1980 a small net inmigration of approximately 8,600 people occurred. This relatively small number is significant as it represents a turnaround from past decades of outmigration, notes R. Thomas Gillaspy, State demographer.

During the 1970's, Minnesota also underwent considerable change in the age distribution of the population. The "baby-boom" generation, born primarily during the 1950's, aged into their twenties and early thirties. This aging results in a sizeable increase in the population between 20 and 35 years of age.

The elderly population, especially those over 85 years, also increased rapidly during the decade. At the same time, the population under age 15 declined substantially due to the fewer number of births during the late 1960's and 1970's, Gillaspy said.

Dependency ratio is the ratio of the dependent age population (the young and the old) to the working age population. A significant result of the growth rate differences in various age groups is an essentially unchanged aged dependency ratio and considerably reduced youth dependency ratio. The combined effect is the substantial reduction of the total dependency ratio from 69.3 for every 100 persons aged 15 to 64 in 1970 to 53.2 in 1980.

"Certainly, some persons aged 15 to 64 years may be dependent on society for a variety of reasons, while other persons younger than 15 years or older than 64 may be economically productive. However, the dependency ratio does provide an approximate measure of the number of additional persons that the population in the most economically active years must support with current production," Gillaspy added.

Employing information on the age distribution of the population in both 1970 and 1980, the total net migration for the state discussed above, and an appropriate life table, it is possible to develop preliminary migration estimates by age group over the decade. Though the results should be used with caution and are subject to change as final vital statistics become available, they should provide a reasonable approximation of the true migration by age group," the demographer added.

The group with the most rapid rate of outmigration continues to be those who reach college or young adult status during the decade, though the rate at which this age group is leaving Minnesota diminished sharply. Conversely, those who were age 20 to 24 in 1970 and 30 to 34 in 1980, (generally the age of household and family formation) are migrating into the state at a relatively rapid rate. As this age group comprises the leading edge of the "baby-boom" generation, Minnesota should continue to receive substantial numbers of similar migrants during the 1980's. One reflection of the immigration of this age group is the cooresponding inmigration of young children.

Inmigration of older persons represents another interesting change from previous decades. Minnesota is normally viewed as a state which sends older persons to the "sunbelt" states. Certainly, Minnesota is not often thought of as a mecca for retirement, primarily because of the climate. Yet, the results of the 1980 census indicate a turnaround in the migration of the elderly to Minnesota, with the rates of inmigration increasing with age.

People migrate for a variety of reasons; climate is only one of these. Minnesota has a number of positive characteristics which should be attractive to potential migrants, including such things as the natural beauty, access to considerable recreational resources, high quality of life, good medical facilities and other similar items. This finding is also supported by other recent analyses from independent sources.

BSU Plans For Possible Staff, Service Cuts

Bemidji state university (BSU) president Rebecca Stafford presented state university board members a contingency budget plan that included impacts of service reductions and possible layoff of staff.

The plan was developed in response to Governor Al Quie's call for major budget reductions within state agencies.

Stafford, who conferred with members of the BSU budget committee, faculty, staff and students prior to formulating the plan, also placed an immediate freeze on hiring and purchases at BSU.

The contingency plan is based on an eight per cent reduction of funding for both the current (ending June 30) and 1983 fiscal years.

She indicated that the university's financial officers initially attempted every possible means of cutting costs without affecting the quality of education or staff positions. The size of the mandated reduction, if enforced, would cut deeper into the university's mission.

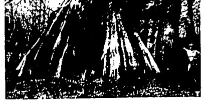
"If we freeze every penny of expenditures — for materials, supplies, books and everything else — we still cannot produce the savings that the governor's budget cut demands," Stafford commented. "There is no other way left to us. We will have to dismiss some staff this year and again next year.

"We are dealing with a worst-case scenario. Much depends on the final amount of deallocation and the availablility of alternative revenues. We do not want to implement this plan and trust the governor and legislature will develop a solution to the shortfall that does not jeopardize the quality of the university.

"In any event, our plans for winter quarter are proceeding on schedule. We will preserve our instructional core, the interests of graduating students and the academic integrity of Bemidji university.

"In the meantime, we will consult with one another to develop the most comprehensive mechanism to service our educational goals and regional commitment, not only for the present but also for the future."

Wonders Of Nature



No small wonder is the gargantuan dimensions of the new national champion baldcypress tree which was discovered on Georgia-Pacific timberlands deep in the Mississippi River bottomlands north of Baton Rouge, Louisiana. Dwarfing the two Georgia-Pacific foresters (at either side) who found it, its trunk has a girth measuring 53 feet. This bottomlands monster stands 83 feet tall and its crown spread covers 85 feet. The new champion earned its official title from the American Forestry Association, which administers the National Register of Big Trees. Taxodium distichum may be the scientific name of this tree-mendous baldcypress, but being No. 1 is its true claim to fame.

Fall Produces Extra Hazards When Driving

"Behind-the-wheel squinting" is becoming more prevalent with each passing month. During autumn months, lighting conditions change and reduced visibility increases potential for traffic accidents, according to Tom Goulette, AAA director of public relations.

"The sun at this time of year has the uncanny ability to shine in the driver's eyes. Turning down the visor may prove futile, because a glare-filled car can handicap forward and side visibility," Goulette explained. Wearing sun glasses and adjusting driving habits will help to compensate for glare.

While brilliance of fall leaves heightens, daylight hours dwindle. "The law states that motorists must have their headlights on until sunrise and after sunset. But, increased usage of headlights is essential during hazy fall twilight hours," Goulette added. It is also important to indicate turns and lane changes well in advance.

Other characteristics of the seasonal change include: more rain, heavier than usual fog conditions, and early morning frost on road surfaces. To compensate for these perilous traffic situations, Goulette suggested reduced driving speeds, making sure all lights are cleaned off for optimum projection, being prepared to recognize hazardous conditions before encountering them, and turning on headlights if visibility under 500 feet is impaired. "Many motorists are not aware that driving in adverse weather conditions with parking lights as the sole source of illumination is illegal and extremely hazardous," Goulette warned.

Autumn visibility problems can make emergency stops, especially at night, highly dangerous. "Aside from the normal precautions of getting off the road, turn on the emergency flashers and inside lights, and if necessary, activiate back up lights," he said.

"The dangers of fall and winter driving can be reduced considerably if motorists use all of the visibility advantages available to them," concluded Goulette.

55 Mph Speed Limit Gains Compliance

Compliance with the 55 mph speed limit continues to increase on Minnesota roadways, according to the Minnesota department of transportation speed monitoring survey for April through June. Minnesota safety council points to a cooresponding 10.5 per cent decrease in automotive crash fatalities at the halfway point of 1981.

"The 55 mph speed limit has clearly demonstrated that reduced speeds result in fewer fatalities", said Robert L. Anderson, safety council president. 'And increased compliance can save even more lives."

The DOT speed monitoring survey indicated that slightly more than half of Minnesota drivers observe the speed limit. Of those exceeding the limit, 12.1 per cent drove between 61 and 65 mph and only 2.2 per cent exceeded 65 mph.

Rural roadway surveys reflected greater numbers of drivers exceeding the speed limit with 16.8 per cent exceeding 60 mph and 3.8 per cent travelling faster than 65 mph. In 1980, 83 per cent of all traffic fatalities occurred on trunk highways and rural roadways not including the rural interstate.

Minnesota safety council reaffirms its speed campaign slogan "Save Yourself for Someone Special . . . Drive 55!"

Weathervane

Even with a weathervane and with the help of the latest report from the weather bureau, it's certainly presumptuous to make predictions about the weather. The forces which govern nature are so complex and changeable that we can never be sure.

The forces which govern our life are even more complicated and variable.

How can we know what the next day may bring — happiness . . . sorrow . . . good luck . . . love . . . fear? No one knows — until the time comes.

Despite uncertainty, we must prepare for whatever we may have to face. We must learn to take in good stride the uncertainties that life will bring. In other words, we must have FAITH.

Where do we get this faith? We can't buy it, nor can we have it simply for the wanting. We have to earn it — by study, by perserverance, by understanding. Your church stands ready and anxious to help you. Here toward the House of God we must turn for those truths which will lend stability to lives that are as uncertain as the changing wind.

BUILD FOR RETIREMENT WITH 13¾%*
TAX-DEFERRED INTEREST EARNINGS!
Here's a solution for the concern all of us have about inflation diluting a financially secure retirement.
It's Lutheran Brotherhood's new Single Premium Deferred Annuity, and it offers a big advantage over many other investments. The advantage is that you pay no taxes on the healthy 13¾%* earnings until much later . . . until retirement, when your tax obligation will probably be much lower than it is now. The income can also be spread out over all your retirement years, further reducing the tax.
Lutheran Brotherhood's Single Premium Deferred Annuity. With guaranteed, safe income for all your retirement years, it's a plan no Lutheran can afford to overlook.
* Effective Oct. 13, 1981. The interest rate you will earn will be determined as of the effective date of your annuity, and will be guaranteed for a full year. Future interest rates may change. Minimum purchase $5,000.

Lawyers And Legislation

Following comments were written by Bob Shaw, manager of the Minnesota Newspaper association, in the current issue of the association's Minnesota Press:

I used to gripe — everybody used to gripe — about the large number of lawyers in the state legislature.

It used to be the fasionable thing to do among lobbyists to bewail our "lawyer legislature" and derogate the work of lawyers as legislators.

I gripe no more.

I would much rather go back to the days of "citizen legislators" than ahead to what I see happening now: the replacement of older men who generally have been successful in some line of work — successful farmers, successful businessmen, successful in the various professions — by younger men who really haven't been out in life at all.

Since I know some of these younger legislators, but do not know all of them, I have to watch out for generalizations. I am tempted to generalize and say that legislators used to be more educated than they are now. If I said this, somebody surely would come up with a study to show that the completed years of college by legislators today is more than it was, say, 20 years ago. Then, pushed into a corner, I'd say that bachelor's degrees, in my opinion, aren't what they were 20 years ago, and the argument would go quickly downhill from there.

I find lawyers a very interesting group of people. I deal with them almost every day in one way or another. Sure, they're nitpickers. They're supposed to be nitpickers. They're supposed to be detail-people in the extreme, knowing the legal meaning of every word in a statuate, regulation, opinion or decision and, if they don't know, finding out. Sure, when they get together they tend to pick, pick, pick away at details and ignore the total situation; very often, they don't see the forest for the trees. But we have now the infiltration of the legislature by people who can see neither the forest nor the trees.

House Judiciary is an example. There are 18 on that committee, and of this 18 six are lawyers. Of the other 12 all but two have college degrees.

Now, it is in this committee, more than any other, that legal nitpickers are called for. These committee members are expected to make all kinds of complex decisions relating to our judicial system, and the way it works out in practice. I have sat in the back spectators' row many times, waiting for a bill to come up, and I have concluded the lawyers interpret certain key words to mean one sort of thing, while non-lawyers give the same key words entirely different meanings.

The word "privacy" is an example. The meaning I, or any non-lawyer, might give to that word is entirely different from the meaning a lawyer would give to it. There are many other key words that bear a heavy load of legal interpretation. It is precisely here, on judiciary committees, in my opinion, where we need 18, not six legal "nitpickers." That's an unfortunate way of putting it: It is precision not nitpicking that we need, and we won't get it if people are speaking two languages.

Now, heaven knows that lawyers-legislators can drive people crazy as they sit behind those committee tables, showing off to the audience as they toss their "in" words and phrases back and forth. Sen. Jack Davies runs his Senate Judiciary much as a professor runs a seminar, taking time out to make ex parte sermonettes from time to time for the benefit of his committee and his captive audience.

But, by and large, I would much rather have such people making laws for us than people without education, people without experience in life at all, people who don't know what the words mean.

Goethe said that nothing is more frightening than ignorance in action. I have seen ignorance in action in our legislature. This institution is the most basic one of all: It's the source of power. It deserves the best people we have. It does not deserve the kind of people who have never held a full job or have never completed their education, and who suddenly blossom forth into full-time "professional" legislators.

I am aware that the same criticism could well be aimed at newspapers. In the press, as in the legislature — and anywhere else in life, for that matter — effective action of any sort has to depend upon effective thinking. You can't write the news, you can't express a clear opinion, you can't make laws, you can't do much of anything unless you can think straight. And you can't think at all unless you know what the words mean, and use those words in a context in which others know what they mean, too.

Two Costly Losses

Following editorial is from the New Ulm Journal:

It is difficult to take in this summer of discontent by state employees, baseball players and air traffic controllers: the additional unhappiness that two Minnesota industries are reducing operations in Minnesota.

Jeno Paulucci, the business hero of Duluth, is the biggest surprise. He made his mark with Chinese cuisine then sold it for a bundle. Back he came with pizza and became the No. 1 producer of frozen types in the nation until recently falling to second.

He tarnished his image with Minnesotans by demonstrating that in big business, home-state loyalty is only dollar deep. Paulucci will transfer most of his production lines south and east to areas that have a greater density of pizza patrons, thus lower delivery costs. The Duluth area will lose about 1,000 jobs. He emphasized savings in trucking costs was the big reason. The corporate office will remain in Duluth.

Munsingwear, which has been manufacturing clothing in Minnesota 90 years, will discontinue an aging production plant in Minneapolis and spread this work out to 15 other factories it operates in other states. The loss includes 425 jobs. The firm will keep its corporate headquarters in Minneapolis continuing 390 jobs.

We can't do anything about Minnesota's climate. If they want the Sunbelt, manufacturers will have to go there. If the tax bite is too high, the emigration of industry, warehouses and banking procedures to other states can be corrected with pressure on state government.

Manufacturing facilities to become inefficient with age, but it would be nice to have them replaced.

The National Anthem

The Detroit Lakes Newspapers recently published a poem from a paper published at White Earth and dated Thursday, January 17, 1918. Entitled "What Happens When We Try It?", the poem can be sung to the music of the "Star Spangled Banner". How many Americans would the poem apply to today? Probably a greater percentage than in 1918. The poem follows:

What Happens When We Try It

Oh, say, can you sing from the start to the end,
What so proudly you stand for when orchestras play it;
When the whole congregation, in voices that blend,
Strike up the great hymn, and then torture and slay it.
How they bellow and shout when they're first starting out,
But "the dawn's early light" finds them floundering about,
'Tis "The Star Spangled Banner" they're trying to sing;
But they don't know the words of the precious old thing.

Hark! The "twilight's last gleaming" has some of them stopped.
But the valiant survivors press forward serenely
To "the ramparts we watched" where some others are dropped
And the loss of the leaders is manifest keenly.
Then "the rocket's red glare" gives the bravest a scare,
And there's a few left to face the "bombs bursting in air."
'Tis a thin line of heroes that manage to save
The last of the verse and "the home of the brave."

Borrowed Nonsense:

Ingnorance is like a gold tooth — it is impossible to display if the mouth is shut.

Discovery of the wrist watch is credited to Alexander the Great. One of Alexander's alchemists developed a liquid that changed color during prolonged exposure to daylight. Alexander simply dipped a piece of cloth into the liquid and tied it around his wrist. By observing the rate of color change, he could judge the time.

Of course, nobody called the item a wrist watch at that time. It was referred to as Alexander's rag time band. (Gotcha!)

Protesting a bill which would permit installation of pay toilets, one person testified at a hearing that, "When nature calls, it shouldn't be collect!"

GOOD CITIZENSHIP

The Army Reserve — A 207 Year Success Story

Today the Army Reserve draws much of its manpower from former active duty soldiers who join when their enlistment is up.

The Reserve traces its heritage back to the days of the Revolutionary War when concerned citizens left their homes, communities and jobs to take up arms in the cause of liberty. America owes much of its 207 years of success on the battlefield to soldiers who were concerned citizens first. From that day to this, Reservists have served admirably in times of National emergencies. It's a success story that never would have been written without the support of those in the community, especially employers.

During the last nine years, more than 360,000 employers—representing 60 percent of the Nation's work force—have signed statements in support of the Army Reserve and National Guard programs. They make it possible for many Reservists to train without being docked vacation time or pay.

The National Committee for the Employer Support of the Guard and Reserve (NCESGR) helps this good relationship between the Reserve and their employers endure. Should any problems occur, NCESGR plays the role of ombudsman to arbitrate any matters pertaining to military obligations.

The cooperation between employers and Reservists is reflected in the positive attitudes of Reservists toward their jobs in both military and civilian life.

Brooks

Olivine Juneau, Brooks

A covered wagon with three riders and two horses with riders came thru Brooks on Wednesday. They came from LaPlaine, Quebec, about 20 miles north of Montreal. It was quite a sight to see. The community quickly got a pot luck supper going for them, and was enjoyed by about 40 people, some from Terrebonne, Oklee, Red Lake Falls, and Brooks. They were Marcel Robert, his wife Huguette and their son Fabien and two friends, Daniel Slythe and Gaeten Venne. The people enjoyed visiting with them, talking about their experience. They are on their way to California by way of Louisiana. They left La Plaine on May 17th and hope to be in Louisiana in about three months, where they will visit some Arcadians. Marcel and Huguette were guests for the night at the Vern Cote home in Terrebonne, while Fabien, Daniel and Gaetan were guests at the Loren McCullough farm home in Brooks, who also took care of the four horses. They were hosted to a breakfast on Thursday at the Cozy Bar by the Brooks Commercial club. They expect to make about 8,000 miles on their trip.

Mrs. Leonard Boucher, Mrs. Marie Pigeon, Mrs. Anna Lussier, Mrs. Lilly Bourgeois, and Mrs. Dave Perreault went to Hillcrest Nursing home in Red Lake Falls on Saturday where they celebrated Mrs. Albert Piegeon's birthday. A Fitting Follow-Up To The Bird

When the Thanksgiving turkey is gobbled up and the stuffing's spent. . .what next? A "breather," then pumpkin pie, of course. Here's a rich but easy recipe that is enhanced by vanilla flavor pudding and pie filling and prepared whipped topping mix. Fashion your pie with pecan halves (as shown) and/or a garnish of whipped topping. However you present it, it is destined to become one of your "star" desserts!

Celestial Pumpkin Pie

- 1 package (4-serving size) Jell-O vanilla flavor pudding and pie filling
- 1/4 cup firmly packed brown sugar
- 3/4 teaspoon ground cinnamon*
- 1/2 teaspoon ground nutmeg*
- 1/4 teaspoon ground ginger*
- 1/4 teaspoon salt
- 1 cup milk
- 1 tablespoon butter or margarine
- 1 can (16 oz.) mashed pumpkin
- 1 cup prepared whipped topping
- 1 baked 9-inch pie shell, cooled

*Or use 1-1/2 teaspoons pumpkin pie spice.

Combine pie filling mix, sugar, spices and salt in saucepan. Stir in milk; add butter. Cook as directed on package for pie. Remove from heat and blend in pumpkin. Then return to heat and cook until mixture is bubbly, stirring constantly. Remove from heat and chill at least 2 hours. Fold in whipped topping and spoon into pie shell. Chill at least 2 hours. Garnish with additional prepared whipped topping and pecan halves, if desired.

VIGOR TESTING MEANS...
Money in your pocket!
Germination and purity standards tell us the percentage of pure, live seed in any lot tested and nothing more!
Therefore, our research lab developed a scientific approach to testing and evaluating our seed for seedling vigor, stress endurance, yield potential and yield effect with our precision graded seed.
The results from test plots in northwestern Minnesota and northeastern North Dakota prove the accuracy of our research lab. You can harvest 3 to 8 bushels more per acre with Vigor Tested, Certified, Sized Seed from Stephen Seedhouse! Order your seed today!

'U' Awarded $900,000 For Faculty Leaves

University of Minnesota has been awarded $900,000 from the Bush foundation for faculty development.

For each of the next four years, the grant will be used to support sabbatical leaves for 25 to 30 midcareer tenured faculty members. Those who teach undergraduate students and those sabbitical work plans show a definite contribution to undergraduate education at the university will receive up to 40 per cent of their annual salary in addition to the normal sabbatical half salary. Bush program will also provide up to $1,000 for the faculty member's travel expenses.

Proposal for the grant was made by President C. Peter Magrath and Kenneth Keller, vice president for academic affairs. Magrath said he was "delighted" with the award. "Nothing is more important to the vigor and excellence of our university than the intellectual vitality of the faculty," he said. "I am very pleased with the opportunity this presents to contribute in a meaningful way to our immensely important undergraduate teaching mission."

Keller said the grant award will enhance the link between faculty members' scholarly work and undergraduate teaching. Bush-supported sabbatical leaves could result in new undergraduate honors seminars, research projects, special senior-student projects and new or revamped undergraduate courses, he said.

Award winners will be selected by a faculty committee, and the first awards will be made for the 1982 academic year. University will eventually take over financing the project through internal budget reallocation.

Bush Foundation has also announced a $542,972 four-year grant to the Center for health services research in the school of public health. The four-year old center, directed by Dr. John E. Kralewski, conducts research and gives technical assistance to state agencies, legislative bodies, hospitals and health care planning groups. Center plans to use the money to complete its research staff and to set up a formal program of health policy analysis for state agencies.

Changes Made In License Plate Laws

Driver and vehicle services, a division of the Minnesota department of public safety, reminds residents of a number of changes in laws affecting vehicle license plates.

Public safety commissioner John P. Sopsic said that among the changes made by the 1981 Legislature is one that designates lifetime license plates for motor vehicles. All vehicles currently registered will keep their present license plates unless there is a change in the registration class.

Annual registration fee for motorcycles has been raised to $10 and $6 for mopeds, effective with 1982 renewals.

Pickup trucks will be taxed on base value, just as passenger automobiles. Passenger automobile license plates will be issued to pickup trucks and the vehicles will be phased into the monthly registration system. Pickup trucks with slip-in campers will no longer qualify as recreational vehicles. Owners of station wagons are required to register vehicles in the passenger class.

Fees for all truck licenses have been increased for the 1982 registration year and the 10 per cent reduction for hauling livestock or raw farm products has been eliminated. However, truck owners registering in the farm class have the option of paying their tax quarterly for those quarters the vehicle is actually used on the roads. An additional five dollars charge will be assessed each time the option is used. Quarters end May 31, August 31, November 30 and February 28 (29).

Urban class of vehicles is being phased out over the next four years. A new commercial zone class was created by the Legislature. These vehicles will be issued plates with "CZ" followed by five numbers. All commercial vehicles must display two plates.

Tax for 1,500 pounds gross weight trailers (Class A) has been increased to five dollars annually. Rate for 3,000-pound trailer (Class B) is now six dollars. Semi-trailer tax remains the same at $11 per year or $53 for five years.

Refund of registration tax for vehicles removed from or sold out of state has been eliminated as of July 1, 1981. Tax will continue to be refunded to owners of vehicles that are permanently destroyed by accident, fire or registered in error.

Newfolden And Viking Menus

Monday, Nov. 9: Green beans, peach sauce, milk, pizza.

Tuesday, Nov. 10: Steamed potatoes, meatballs, buttered beets, cranberries, bread, milk.

Wednesday, Nov. 11: Tacos with hot sauce, lettuce, cheese, buttered carrots, oatmeal muffins, milk.

Thursday, Nov. 12: Vegetable beef soup, carrot sticks, peanut butter sandwiches, pineapple sauce, crackers, milk.

Friday, Nov. 13: Hot dog on bun, escalloped corn, jello, milk.

Planning Will Add To Cheer At Christmas

Each year, more and more Americans trade away a happy new year for a merry Christmas. Many go so far in debt for one day that it takes most of the next year to recover.

Ask about Christmas giving and you hear a great sigh of apprehension. "I can't afford it but I don't know how to beat it," is the common lament.

"I feel the only way to show I care is to give, give, give." This equation — that giving equals love — can turn a white Christmas into the holiday blues.

"Christmas doesn't have to bring depression," says Mary Quinn of the National Foundation for Consumer Credit (NFCC). "If a family feels it has to go all out for Christmas, it should start saving early in the year. The key is planning and common sense."

She offers the following tips:

+ Well before Christmas, decide how much the family can afford to spend.

+ Set a budget and stick to it.

+ Tell the kids how much can be spent on toys and how much on clothing.

+ Consider handmade gifts. Grandparents love them.

+ For Christmas dinner, gifts and parties, put a few dollars into the piggy bank each week.

But even with a full pig you can have an empty feeling inside.

If the piggy bank is stolen, you lose what's in it. That's the way it is with cash. If a U.S. savings bond is stolen, you get a new one.

The piggy bank may look kind and generous, but it won't give you any interest. It just sits there.

Safe, guaranteed and easy to buy, bonds are the sensible way to save — for you, for your country and for Christmas, too.

What May Be Best Source Of Vitamin C?

(Following nutrition quiz was prepared by Laurence M. Hursh, M.D., consultant, national dairy council.)

Here's a chance to test your nutrition knowledge.

How many of these can you answer correctly?

(1) Which of the following is the best source of vitamin C? (A) broccoli; (B) liver; (C) fish; (D) whole grain bread.

(2) (True or False) A vegetarian can get all the protein he needs from the right combination of nuts and seeds.

(3) Fiber is important in the diet because it aids in: (A) blood clotting; (B) normal elimination; (C) the production of hemoglobin.

(4) (True or False) The only way to be assured of getting the minerals you need is by taking mineral supplements.

(5) A carbohydrate could take the form of: (A) sugar; (B) starch; (C) neither; (D) both.

Answers:

(1) (A) Other sources of vitamin C, or ascorbic acid, include tomatoes, cabbage and all citrus fruits.

(2) False. Nuts and seeds alone don't contain all the amino acids you need from food. You'd have to carefully combine them with other foods to meet your protein requirements.

On the other hand, meat, poultry and fish — as well as milk, cheese and eggs — contain all the so-called "essential" amino acids.

(3) (B) Good sources of fiber are fresh fruits and vegetables as well as whole grain breads and cereals.

(4) False. You can usually get all the minerals you need simply by eating well-balanced meals from the four food groups.

(5) (D) A sugar is a simple carbohydrate. A starch is a complex carbohydrate. They both provide you with calories — and energy.

"The Best Tax Shelter and Retirement Plan Going"

A highly significant opportunity to help yourself! Becomes available on January 1, 1982. The Tax Act of 1981 makes Individual Retirement Accounts (IRA's) available to all employees and self employed persons including everyone covered under an existing and qualifed pension or profit sharing plan. Thus, you are eligible to make deductible contributions to an IRA.

Here's an example of just how significant. Now any worker can invest up to $2,000 ($2,250 with a non-working spouse) in an IRA. Assume you want to contribute $2,000 a year pre-tax (equivalent to $1,400 after tax) for 30 years and the investments earn 10%* a year, and the rate is considerably higher at the present time. Here's what you will accumulate in an IRA versus taxable investments.

IRA Investments	TAXABLE INVESTMENTS
30 Years $390,394.32	$132,245.10

*Substantial Penalty for Early Withdrawal

The huge difference is a result of two IRA tax advantages. First, investing with pre-tax, rather than after tax dollars ($2,000 versus $1,400 in our example). Second, investment income accumulates tax free in the IRA. Of course, you will have to pay ordinary income taxes on your IRA investments when you take it out. But you should be way ahead regardless of the future tax bracket (which will probably be lower at retirement).

There's another IRA advantage . . . The incentive to save regularly and leave the funds for retirement. This is important in the view of present concerns about future Social Security programs. You can take advantage of this IRA program by contacting Elody Olson, your personal banker who has the Answers.

"Everybody is Somebody in Thief River Falls"

Published Twice A Week

THIEF RIVER FALLS TIMES 20¢

Volume 70 (USPS 627-360) Thief River Falls, Pennington County, Minnesota Monday, November 9, 1981 Number 87

City clerk-treasurer Gerald Wigness says he thinks it is too early to tell what effect cuts in local government aids by the state would have on Thief River Falls.

In a telephone interview recently, Wigness said that his office had recently received a questionnaire from the League of Minnesota Cities asking what the city's plans were if November and December local government aids were not issued until January or February. The questionnaire also listed some suggested alternatives to consider.

Those alternatives included using reserve funds, not paying bills, putting off purchases, laying off employees and reducing employees' hours.

Wigness stated that if the cuts stick, it would amount to nearly 240,000 that the city had expected but would not be getting in 1981. That's $119,000-plus each month. State aids are usually received during the last six months of the year, he noted.

Wigness commented "If it's a deferred payment it shouldn't have any significant impact. If it's a stop payment situation, then I'm sure the council is going to want to take a look at the whole budget for 1982."

Commenting that he wished he had a crystal ball, Wigness noted, "there's a pretty serious side to some of this stuff we're faced with right now," adding, "we've really got to speculate."

Noting that a decision on the matter would ultimately lie with the city council, Wigness concluded, "Obviously they'll listen to what Roger (DeLap, assistant city clerk) and I have to say and what we would recommend, but will pretty much make up their own mind in the final analysis."

Governor Al Quie has announced at the State Capitol that he would call a special session of the Minnesota state legislature to begin December 1 to deal with economic problems of the state.

Quie said the state is facing a revenue shortfall of $768 million. Unlike the federal government, state law says the budget must balance every two years. The next deadline for balancing the budget is June of 1983.

To make this deadline, Quie is considering several options. One is to change the law so school districts would get aid payments only when they needed the money rather than under the current system that makes payments on a regular schedule whether the districts have funds on hand or not. Quie also said he is looking into cutting aid to local communities.

He said he will make his recommendations for meeting the shortfall to the legislature "within the next two weeks." Quie also said it is possible the special session will run into the regular session which starts January 12.

Sisler To Get National Award At FFA Meeting

Future Farmers of America (FFA) chapters from across the nation will meet in Kansas City, Mo. for the 54th national FFA convention November 12-14. An expected crowd of nearly 23,000 members, sponsors and friends will show how FFA and vocational agriculture is "Growing For America."

Minnesota association future farmers of America will be represented by more than 1,000 FFA members from approximately 150 chapters across the state.

Honorary American Farmer degree, the national organization's highest recognition for adults who have given outstanding service to the FFA, will be presented to 10 individuals from Minnesota. Among the degree recipients is Ed Sisler, area agriculture coordinator from Thief River Falls.

American Farmer degree, given for outstanding achievement and leadership in farming or agribusiness, will be received by 25 Minnesota FFA members. Degree is limited to one member in 700. Each member will receive a degree charm and certificate from the FFA organization, as well as a $35 cash award for travel expenses to Kansas City. A breakfast will be conducted in honor of degree recipients.

Minnesota candidates, who have been approved by the national FFA board of directors and national officers, will be elected during the second general session by the national delegates.

National contests will be conducted November 12-14. Contest is a measure of the FFA member's technical skill and ability acquired through the years as a vocational agriculture student, to select quality livestock and animal products.

National FFA band and chorus will provide entertainment during the delegate sessions.

National FFA convention public speaking contests will be sponsored by the American Farm Bureau federation and the FMC Foundation. Ten Minnesota chapters will receive national awards in the FFA "Building our American Communities" program, designed to encourage a community development project by the local FFA chapter. These chapters will receive recognition at the BOAC awards presentation during the fourth delegate session.

Nine Minnesota chapters will be honored November 12 in the national FFA safety

Nursery School To Expand Its Program

Thief River Falls nursery school is expanding to a three-year-old program contingent upon enrollment. Your child is eligible if his or her birth date is between March 1 and September 1, 1978.

Sessions are conducted Tuesday and Thursday mornings beginning January 1982 through the end of May, 1982.

For more information of the program, or to receive applications, call Jean Shaffer, 681-6445 by November 20.

It should be noted that this program does not conflict with the existing program where a child has to be three and one-half to five years-old by September 1 to attend.

Immediate openings presently exist in the three and one-half year old program, which meets Mondays, Wednesdays, and Fridays.

NWRDC Names Sandstrom To Committee

Northwest regional development commission recently broadened it's geographic and expert representation of it's technical advisory committee on economic development (TACED) from 13 to 18 members.

Jerry Sandstrom, executive vice president of the Thief River Falls Chamber of Commerce, was appointed to represent business on the committee.

The TACED is responsible for the development of the overall economic development program and strategy guidelines for the region.

ACE Club At NCC Sponsors Class "Sit-In"

Adults Continuing Education (ACE) club will sponsor a "Sit-In" on classes at Northland community college Tuesday, November 17, during the regular classroom hours from 8 a.m. to 3 p.m. and evening classes from 6:30 to 10 p.m.

ACE members are inviting adults to sample a college course, or courses, of their choice, tour the facilities, gather information on procedures of enrollment, and visit with non-traditional students who have re-entered college for personal satisfaction or a change of careers.

With the increasing number of non-traditional students returning to college, Northland and the ACE club are providing the opportunity to get acquainted with those who may be considering college, and to make the experience of returning to college more enjoyable.

Classes which are offered on Tuesday include, among others, "Freshman English," "Understanding Fiction," "Marriage and Family Life," "Print Making," "Data Processing," "International Relations," "Physical Geography," "Narcotics and Alcohol," "General Psychology," "Minesota History," "Western Civilization," chorus and physical education.

For more information call Arlyne Forsberg at Northland community college, 681-2181, extension 43.

Veteran's Day Program For Seniors Thurs.

This week's senior citizen program at the Northwest regional library will begin at a special time: November 12 at 10:30 a.m.

Program will be an observance of Veteran's day and will include a flag ceremony with Oreal Halland and Legionnaires, along with reading by Abigail Nabben. There will also be a special observance at 11 a.m., the time at which the first world war officially ended.

All senior citizens are invited to attend the program. Library is located at 101 E. First St., Thief River Falls.

ICCC Board Meets Nov. 18

Inter-County Community council, Inc. board of directors will meet in regular session at 6:30 p.m. Wednesday, November 18, at Sportsman Lodge on Pine Lake, south of Gonvick.

Mediation Session Set Today On TRFEA Strike

TELEPHONE SURVEY was one of the activities planned by the student senate at the Thief River Falls AVTI last week in an effort to determine community attitude toward the strike which has closed local schools since October 13. Chris Lawrenz, vice president of the student senate (above), said that the student group will now coordinate its efforts with the newly-formed Interested Parents organization. Lawrenz has been actively involved with the AVTI student senate's program to publicize student interest in the strike settlement.

Third mediation session between the Thief River Falls Education association and the School District 564 board of education is scheduled for 2 p.m. today at the Pennington county law enforcement center. Richard Springer from the state bureau of mediation services will attempt to bring the school board and the striking TRFEA closer to a settlement on a two-year contract.

The mediation session was called at the request of Dale Folger, negotiations co-chairman for the TRFEA, following a three-hour informal talk session between Folger and board chairman Ken Wiebolt Thursday. The talks gave no indication that further negotiations would result in a substantial change in present stands, according to Wiebolt.

At 11:15 a.m. Friday, Wiebolt called Folger and informed him that no negotiations session would be scheduled until called by the state mediator, according to Mike Lehrer, president of the TRFEA. Folger then made contact with the mediator to arrange for the mediation session. Wiebolt had said the board would be willing to meet when the TRFEA has a different proposal to be considered.

The strike against School District 564 by the TRFEA began October 13 and is in its 18th day today. Only class to be meeting regularly throughout the strike is a first year carpentry class at the area vocational technical institute where students voted to continue and the instructor has agreed to teach them.

Three courses are being offered at the Northwest vocational center for high school students from outside the Thief River Falls district. Buses from Strandquist and Newfolden discharged students last Wednesday morning but buses from Goodridge and Plummer returned home Wednesday afternoon after a member of the faculty negotiating team talked to the students and urged them to return home.

Goodridge and Plummer students returned on Thursday, however, and have been attending classes in model office, electronics or model manufacturing.

Goodridge school superintendent Don Langan said nine students have been taking model office and electronics and will continue to do so. But he has arranged classes in "Human Psychology" and "American Films" for 23 other students who had been enrolled in other center school classes, and they will begin a nine-week semester in those classes. There are also eight students from the Goodridge high school who are enrolled in Northland community college classes and they are transported to Thief River Falls each day.

Marshall county central school at Newfolden has returned its six model office and four electronics students to classes here but still has 28 other center school students without classes. Principal Dave Kragness said they showed career education films and other instructional films for the first week of the strike, then picked up some model office and electronics packets and industrial mathematics materials from the center school for use at Newfolden.

"For the next week or so it was a combination of the two," noted Dave Kragness, principal at Newfolden. "This past Tuesday I had them take the armed services test. We had a speaker in on Wednesday. On Thursday I gave them two hours of study hall and an hour in the gym and I'm not sure yet what I'm going to do with them on Monday."

Teachers at several of the schools which send students to the vocational center school have not yet settled their contracts for 1981-83 but none are on strike. Instructors at Newfolden have filed their second notice of intent to strike - a procedure required by law if a strike doesn't take place during a 20-day period following maturation of the original strike notice.

During the strike the TRFEA has reduced its request twice from $5,600 increase for the two-year contract to $5,494.57 and to $5,352.84. The board has held at its offer of $4,500 at the time the strike

Seek End To Teacher Strike . . .

Groups Organize To Form Support

Student and parental involvement in an effort to settle the strike by Thief River Falls teachers against School District 564 has surfaced during the past week. Students at the AVTI made and carried signs urging support for ending the strike last week and again today, and a group known as Interested Parents formed at a meeting held Friday evening in the national guard armory.

Spearheading the AVTI student group are officers of the student senate. They emphasize that they are neutral in the effort and are merely showing their concern about closing of the school which has interrupted post high school education for more than 500 students here. One common slogan among the signs carried is, "We Have Already Paid the Price — Tuition".

The parent group was formed from more than 200 persons hastily assembled at the armory Friday evening by persons concerned about the effect of the strike and anxious to assist in a settlement. Those attending the meeting were divided into 13 study groups and each was to name a representative to form a steering committee.

A nine-member steering committee evolved from the procedure with four nominees declining to serve. Ken Froschheiser serves as chairman of the steering committee with Rev. Richard Larson, Dr. Scott Bentson and Grant Oppegaard named to a facilitating team with Rev. Keith Prekker as an alternate. Other steering committee members are Harlan Hallstrom, Dr. Ed Nelson, Erling Thompson and Dan Shafland.

Stated objective of the group is to achieve a swift and peaceful settlement to the teacher strike against the school district, Froschheiser said.

Assumptions made by the group Friday evening were (1) that it is in the best interests of children to be enrolled in a regular education program; (2) that tension and division in the community are not healthy; (3) that continuation of the deadlock will not provide any solutions; and (4) that the best way to resolve the problem is through mutual give and take.

Froshheiser said parents were asked to sign an objective sheet supporting the stated objective of Interested Parents and the efforts of the steering committee in attempting to encourage a

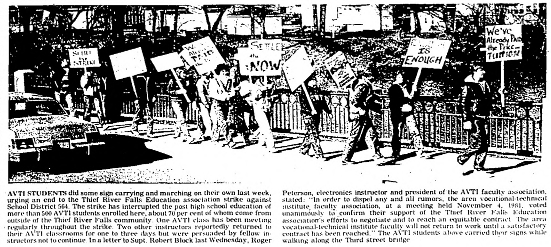
College Here Accredited By North Central

Northland community college of Thief River Falls has received official notice of renewal of accreditation by the North Central association of colleges and schools. Thurston Manning, director of the commission on institutions of higher education, recently informed Northland president Alex Easton of the renewal.

Accreditation renewal occurred as a result of a self-study process by Northland, a report and recommendation by a visiting team of educators last spring, and the recommendation of a North Central reader's committee. Final action was taken by the executive board of the commission at a meeting on October 26 and 27. Northland's accreditation is continued at the associate-degree granting level, with the next comprehensive evaluation by the association scheduled in five years.

Dr. Easton noted that "this achievement is another in the significant milestones in Northland's progress and history. The positive action on the part of North Central is an affirmation of the strength of the college and its ability to meet its goals and objectives.

"Northland's constituents, its faculty and staff, and all connected with the college can take pride and confidence in this action," he added.



SETTLE the STRIKE
We've Already Paid the Price
SETTLE the NOW
IS ENOUGH
We've Already Paid the Price - TUITION

AVTI STUDENTS did some sign carrying and marching on their own last week, urging an end to the Thief River Falls Education association strike against School District 564. The strike has interrupted the post high school education of more than 500 AVTI students enrolled here, about 70 per cent of whom come from outside of the Thief River Falls community. One AVTI class has been meeting regularly throughout the strike. Two other instructors reportedly returned to their AVTI classrooms for one to three days but were persuaded by fellow instructors not to continue. In a letter to Supt. Robert Block last Wednesday, Roger Peterson, electronics instructor and president of the AVTI faculty association, stated: "In order to dispel any and all rumors, the area vocational-technical institute faculty association, at a meeting held November 4, 1981, voted unanimously to confirm their support of the Thief River Falls Education association's efforts to negotiate and to reach an equitable contract. The area vocational-technical institute faculty will not return to work until a satisfactory contract has been reached." The AVTI students above carried their signs while walking along the Third street bridge.

SOCIETY and CLUBS

Diane Hanson - J. Ryberg Vows Said At Thief Lake

Diane Hanson and John Ryberg exchanged marriage vows recently at the Sunday afternoon ceremony at Our Savior's Lutheran church, Thief Lake.

Parents of the couple are Mr. and Mrs. Hjalmer Hanson, Middle River, and Mr. and Mrs. Vernon Ryberg of Kenyon.

Rev. Robert Amundson officiated at the double ring ceremony which included vows composed by the bride and groom. Barb Geer was the organist. She played "Nadia" for the processional and during the ceremony sang, "Charity." Audrey Beito, accompanied by Joni Thompson as organist, and Barb Geer as flutist, sang "Theme from Ice Castles," "The Lord's Prayer," and "We've Only Just Begun," as the recessional.

Candelabra with ivory tapers, lavender bows and greenery graced the chancel.

The bride was escorted to the altar and given in marriage by her father. She was attired in an ivory satin gown with embroidered lace accenting the Queen Anne neckline. Matching lace formed the ruffled cuff on her long, fitted sleeves. Her pleated skirt, attached at a raised waistline, flowed into a chapel-length train. A derby hat trimmed with lace embroidered with seed pearls held her veil of bridal illusion. She carried a bouquet of red roses, white daises and babies' breath. The bride's attire included the traditional old, new, borrowed and blue theme and featured her great-grandmother's pearl brooch.

Dawn Scramstad, a cousin of the bride, was maid of honor. Bridesmaids were Kim Blazek, Middle River, friend of the bride; Gayle Cady, Rochester, and Susan Lance, Pine Island, friends of the couple. They wore lavender street-length dresses topped by white long-sleeved over-blouses. Each carried a long-stemmed white rose, matching the white rose worn in their hair.

Flower girl was Stephanie Berg, a niece of the bride. She wore a white floor-length gown and carried a basket of assorted miniature flowers.

Steve Pederson of West Concord, a friend of the groom, was best man. Groomsmen were Dale Hanson, Williston, N.D., Harlyn Hanson, Shreveport, La., brothers of the bride, and Steve Ryberg, Kenyon, a brother of the groom. The ushers were Rory Hanson, brother of the bride, and Roger Hamson, Keister, a friend of the couple. Like the groom, they wore grey tuxedos with white shirts and black and white striped ascots. The groom's boutonniere was a red silk rose. His attendants had white silk roses pinned on their lapels.

The mother of the bride was attired in a turquoise street-length dress; and the groom's mother wore a rose colored dress. Their corsages were of red roses and white daisies. All the silk flowers at the wedding were made by Mrs. Douglas Berg, an aunt of the bride.

Honor guests were Mr. and Mrs. Ernest Berg, grandparents of the bride, and Clarice, Andrew and Sanford Anderson, long-time friends of the bride and her family.

Following the ceremony, a reception was held in the church fellowship hall with Mr. and Mrs. Harry Scramstad, uncle and aunt of the bride, and Mr. and Mrs. Barry Peitz of Revere, friends of the bride, receiving the guests. Mr. and Mrs. Jerome Berg, uncle and aunt of the bride, served the punch as Tarayn Hanson and Sarah Ryberg, sisters of the bride and groom, respectively, presided at the guest book.

The pillared, three-tiered wedding cake, decorated with lavender roses, was topped with a wedding bell ornament. It was baked and decorated by Joyce Beito and was cut and served by Mrs. Ronnie Peterson, friend of the bride, and Mrs. Steve Peterson, a friend of the groom. They also served the kransekake, the traditional Scandinavian wedding cake.

At the silver coffee service were Mrs Gordon Bring, aunt of the bride, and Mrs. Carroll Curtiss, a friend. Waitresses were Monika Berg, Karyl Bring, Paula Hodne, Vonda Peterson and Frederic Jon Quar. Heidi Scramstad and Nanette Berg were in charge of the gifts.

The bride is a graduate of Middle River high school and a 1980 graduate of the Rochester AVTI. She is employed at the Psychiatric Pavilion in Amarillo, Tex. The groom is a graduate of Kenyon high school and the Rochester AVTI, with the class of 1981. He is employed as a mechanic at Exxon in Amarillo.

The couple is at home at 6240 Woodward, Apartment 207, Amarillo, Tex.

Deer Park Craft Project Based On Club Theme

Craft project expressing the Deer Park garden club theme "Nature's Friends," highlighted the November meeting of the club held at the home of Lavonne Radniecki.

The craft was a wall hanging featuring an owl on a branch, made of carpeting and braid on a burlap background. The kits given to the members were assembled by Norma Hanson and Ethel Wiseth.

At the meeting with president Marion Marquis presiding, names were submitted to the Awards committee for the approval by the State Horticultural society. Names submitted were Dorothy Svanjord and Ethel Wiseth for the Award of Merit, and Inga Coan, for honorary life membership.

Mrs. Wanda Bates was welcomed into the club as a new member as was Mrs. Gladys Mae Hamilton, who rejoined after a few years of non-membership.

During the business meeting, it was noted that each club is being assessed $10 for the spring workshop and $10 for the fall annual meeting. The availability of trees and shrubs for windbreak was discussed and members were informed that if they desired trees or shrubs for spring planting, the orders are to be placed now by contacting Mrs. Marquis.

The program booklets were assembled and distributed. It was noted that the art work on the booklet covers were in calligraphy by Elva Fiedler and Ethel Wiseth.

Mrs. Marquis was in charge of the general garden quiz provided by the State Horticultural society.

Seventeen members attended the meeting and answered roll call by giving their favorite recipe which they will be making for Thanksgiving. Guest at the meeting was Evelyn Lundeen.

The club's Christmas party will be held December 5 at the Eugene and Willia Prestegaard home, 314 Sherwood avenue north, Thief River Falls. The party will consist of games with wine and cheese for refreshments.

Oscar Qualeys, Gully, Note 50th Anniversary

Mr. and Mrs. Oscar Qualey of Gully were honored on their 50th wedding anniversary on Sunday, September 6, at Bethany Lutheran church.

The event was hosted by their children: Mr. and Mrs. Bernell (Evelyn) Myrum of Pengilly, Mrs. Gus Stone and Steven Qualey of McFarland, Wis.; Mrs. Opal Eck, Hibbing; Mr. and Mrs. Lill (Geraldine) Stayl, Minneapolis; Mr. and Mrs. Loren (Helen) Klopp, Thief River Falls; Mr. and Mrs. Gary (Sandra) Buermann, Bloomington; Joanne Qualey, Minneapolis; Mr. and Mrs. Gene (Patricia) Barge, Wilton; Mrs. Parker (Elaine) Anderson, Mr. and Mrs. Darwin (Carol) Eidelbes, and Mr. and Mrs. David Qualey, all of Goodridge.

Teri Klopp presided at the guest book, a gift from Amber Qualey.

For the program Evelyn Myrum served as mistress of ceremonies and read a short history of the family. Vocal selections were by Carol Eidelbes, Sandi Buermann and Stacey Myrum, who also served as accompanist. The readings, "Mother" and "Father," were given by Gerri Staye and Opal Eck; and original compositions on grandparents were given by Teri Klopp and Jason Buermann. The grandchildren: Robert and Jason Buermann, Arlin Eidelbes, Travis and Joshua Anderson, and Nicole Qualey, together with great-grandchildren, Stephanie Austin and Bruce Turnbull, sang, "Jesus Loves Me."

A reception, catered and served by the Bethany Ladies aid, followed. Centering the serving table was a three-tiered, flowing water fountain anniversary cake baked and decorated by Mrs. Elva Fiedler of Goodridge. Topping the cake was a 50th anniversary golden cross, a gift from grandsons: Arlen and Jared Eidelbes. The couple's granddaughters: Mrs. Don Turnbull and Mrs. Thomas Grabanski, cut and served the cake.

Creating special interest at the anniversary celebration was a quilt, featuring a square contributed by each family member; a book of photographs presented to the couple by grandsons Jason and Robert Buermann, and a sketch of the couple 50 years ago.

Oscar and Inga Qualey were married September 12, 1931.

Marie Seeger Gives Rosemaling Tips to Zehlians

Zehlian group affiliated with the General Federation of Women's clubs, met Wednesday with Marie Seeger of Red Lake Falls presenting a program on Rosemaling and folk painting. Mrs. Seeger, who gives folk painting classes each week in her Hytta on her farm, was introduced by program chairman Mary Evans.

The meeting was held at the home of Ann Duckworth with 17 members in attendance. President Dee Forney presided and reminded the group of the Federation tea.

Dolly Hallstrom was welcome as a potential member.

The next meeting of the Zehlians will be held November 18 at 9:30 a.m., at the Kathy Winjum home. The book, "A Woman of Substance," by Barbara Bradford, will be discussed.

BPO Does Meeting Is Set For Tuesday

Regular meeting of the BPO Does will be conducted Thursday at 7 p.m. at the Elks club in Thief River Falls.

A light lunch will be served to members at 6 p.m. Entertainment will follow the regular meeting.

Esther Gausen Visits Daughter In Colorado

Mrs. Esther Gausen returned home recently after spending 10 days visiting in Grand Junction, Colo., at the home of her eldest daughter, Glenda Gail Zimmerman. Mrs. Zimmerman, her husband, Robert, who is employed with Paraho in connection with the oil shale industry, and their two youngest children, Mike, 16, and Leslie Gail, 14, moved to Grand Junction from Northglenn, Colo., in August of this year.

While in Grand Junction, Mrs. Gausen also visited with former Thief River Falls residents, Frank Clinton and his daughter, Patricia Collister. Mrs. Zimmerman and Mrs. Collister are Lincoln high school gradustes with the class of 1956.

Shortly after Mrs. Gausen left for Minnesota, the Zimmerman's received word that their oldest son, Robbie, a senior at Northglenn high school in Northglenn had received a letter of commendation from the National Merit scholarship awards indicating that he had placed in the top 51,000 students in the United States. He is currently living with an uncle while finishing his senior year at Northglenn, where he is co-captain of the Northglenn Varsity Soccer team.

Mrs. Gausen's oldest granddaughter Andrea Lynn Zimmerman is a junior at Colorado State university at Fort Collins, where she is majoring in chemical engineering.

Oakland Park Events Include Babysitting 24

An unusual service provided by residents of Oakland Park Nursing home was a baby sitting accommodation for the Sarah circle of Zion Lutheran church. As the circle members met for their monthly meeting in the Home's meeting room, the residents were in charge of entertaining 24 children. In addition to providing play dough, toys and coloring materials, the residents served refreshments to the children.

Another highlight during the month of October was the Home's fourth annual family night for the residents and staff and their families. The event began with a potluck supper. Guest speaker was Dr. Arnold Berg.

The monthly birthday party was hosted by the women of the Evangelical Covenant church. In addition to providing the lunch, they brought gifts for the residents who had birthdays during the month. Residents noting birthdays and the dates of their birth were Estella McClintock, Oct. 11, 1981; Clarence Peterson, October 11, 1901; Mary Halder, October 23, 1904; Tom Mertz, October 25, 1901; Effie Johnson, October 27, 1891; and Gunhild Sollom, October 28, 1893. Mrs. McClintock's family provided cake and ice cream on her 90th birthday.

Residents continued hosting private Sunday dinners on a rotation basis. Those hosting the dinners and their guests were Anne Oftelie on October 4 with Sigrid Gribstein, Tillie and Oscar Amundson and Minnie Krause as guests; Percy Nabben on Oct. 18, with Mrs. Manvel Moe and two others as guests; and Ellert Lian on October 25 with Mr. and Mrs. George Gilbert as guests.

During October, the residents gathered on three separate occasions for memorial services for fellow residents. Rev. Roger Hanson of Zion was in charge of the joint service held for Gladys Olson, Andrew Hendrickson and Anna Ness. Rev. Carl Anderson of Trinity Lutheran church officiated at the services for Elmer Tollefsrud, and Rev. Lloyd Heroff of St. Hilaire was in charge of the memorial service for Olaf Snetting.

Devotional services and programs during October were provided by Rev. J. Hagemeister of the Assemblies of God church; Rev. Earl Eveland of Newfolden, Rev. Curtis Anderson of the Evangelical Free church, Rev. Gene Broughton of Goodridge, Rev. Roger Hanson of Zion Lutheran church, the Trochmann family, and the Eunice circle of Trinity Lutheran church, who led in a hymn sing.

Halloween was observed at the Home with a Happy Hour featuring hot apple cider and doughnut puffs. Music for dancing and listening pleasure was provided by the K. B. Knutson band from Oklee.

Saturday entertainment at the Home are movies with popcorn. During the week games are played with members of the American Legion auxiliary and the VFW auxiliary assisting the residents. Several residents also attended the open house for senior citizens held at the Northwest regional library.

Whole Wheat Buns

Combine and let cool
- 3½ cups scalded milk
- 1 cup sugar
- 2 teaspoons salt
- 6 tablespoons solid shortening

In separate bowl soften
- 4 pkgs. dry yeast
- 1 cup warm water

Put aside and let set until double in bulk. To the cooled milk mixture add
- 4 cups whole wheat flour
- 2 cups white flour

Beat well. Add yeast mixture and
- 4 beaten eggs

Stir well and add
- 4 more cups white flour

Let dough rest on lightly floured board for 10 minutes with the inverted bowl over it. Knead on lightly floured board (using as little flour as possible) until elastic. Place into an oiled bowl and roll around until all sides are covered with oil. Cover and let rise until double in size. Punch down and let rise again. Form into buns, place on greased cookie sheets about 4 inches apart and let rise until double in bulk. Bake in a 350 degree oven for 15 minutes or until done. Makes about six dozen buns. Dough may also be formed into dinner rolls or cloverleaf rolls.

Mrs. DeLap stated that she had received the grand championship prize at the Pennington county fair for these buns which she had made into cloverleaf rolls.

The DeLaps live about four miles northeast of Thief River Falls. They have three children, Kari Jo, a second grader; Lisa, in first grade, and Lori in kindergarten, all at Washington school. In addition to baking and cooking Mrs. DeLap enjoys sewing and gardening. Her husband is employed at the City clerk office. They are members of Trinity Lutheran church.

Handling Stress Workshop Topic Here Nov. 23

Thief River Falls area vocational-technical institute (AVTI) is offering a six-hour workshop on "Stress Management" November 23 from 9 a.m. - 4 p.m. at the Best Western Inn in Thief River Falls. Cost of the workshop is $30, which includes coffee, rolls, lunch and materials.

This workshop meets the requirements of the Minnesota board of nursing for continuing education for six contact hours. Dr. Grace Guemple, Moorhead, will be the speaker for the day.

Everyone is forced to deal with stress in their personal and professional lives, but have they learned to recognize their own body responses to stress and cope successfully in controlling stress? Too much stress for too long a period of time is disastrous and the effects on people and industry is reaching epidemic proportions.

This workshop will examine how stress is created by thinking and behaving is ways that lead to worry, tension, and physcial diseases. Various effective coping strategies will be presented on how successfully deal with stress.

Pre-registration is required by contacting Adult Education, Thief River Falls AVTI, Highway One East, Thief River Falls, MN; 681-5424.

Plans Made For Winnipeg Tour Dec. 29

Northwest Regional library and the Roseau county museum have announced plans for a sponsored tour to Winnipeg for a performance of the "Nutcracker Ballet" December 29.

One-day tour includes a tour of the mint, an afternoon in downtown Winnipeg at the passenger's leisure, an optional dinner at the Countess of Dafferin restaurant, and the ballet.

Buses will pick up passengers at both Thief River Falls and Roseau at approximately 8 a.m., arriving in Winnipeg for the tour of the mint between 10:30 and noon. Tour will then proceed to downtown Winnipeg where passengers may eat lunch, and visit the many antique shops and art galleries. Those wishing to dine at the Countess of Dafferin will enjoy a buffet of ham, turkey or roast beef. All passengers will meet at the convention center at 7.15 p.m. for transportation to the ballet. Buses will leave Winnipeg immediately after the ballet — approximately 10 p.m.

Price of the tour is $30 which includes transportation and the ballet. Cost of the optional buffet dinner is $12.50, including tips. Senior citizens (65 and older), students, and children under 12 may deduct three dollars for the ballet tickets.

Reservations and check must be in by November 23, sponsors may make final arrangements. Please send to either of the following addresses:

Northwest Regional Library, 101 E. First, P.O. Box 593, Thief River Falls, MN 56701; Roseau County Museum, Roseau, MN 56751.

If it appears that two buses will not be filled, tour will leave earlier than 8 a.m. in order to accommodate a stop in Roseau.

Answers from the Bible by Pastor Don Peros

Q. Pastor Don, I am a 26 year old young woman. I believe that God is calling me to go to the mission field, and I want to enter Bible school in the fall. However, my parents were very grieved when I told them of my plans, they do not want me to go to the mission field. I do not want to hurt my parents, nor do I want to displease the Lord. How can I handle this difficult situation?

A. I am a great believer in children honoring their parents. However, a young women of your age has no choice but to follow the leading of the Lord.

I remember when I was 20 years old and God was calling me into the ministry. My parents protested my even considering it. I was greatly disturbed and felt I needed an answer from the Lord. As I was reading my Bible I discovered Act 5:29: "We ought to obey God rather than man". I discovered a real peace in going to Bible College and into the ministry.

Your parents will miss you, since evidently you have been close to them all these years. Sit down with them and carefully explain how God is calling you and ask for their blessings and prayers. Some sorrow is natural in these kind of circumstances. If your parents are children of God, they should soon find peace in their hearts about your decision and rejoice with you in the work God is leading you to do.

Romans 11:29 says "For Gods gifts and His call can never be withdrawn; He will never go back on His promises.

II Peter 1:10 says to make your calling and election sure for if ye do these things ye shall never fall.

Romans 8:28 teaches, "We know that all things work together for good to them that love God, to them who are the called according to His purpose.

If you have any questions that you would like to have answered from the Bible, please write Pastor Don Peros, Box 129, Thief River Falls, MN 56701.

Groups Form To Urge End To Teacher Strike

settlement. About 220 signatures have been received so far, he said. Emphasis of the group at present is to keep negotiations underway but to remain neutral.

Members of the facilitating team were scheduled to meet this morning with board chairman Ken Wiebolt and a representative from the TRFEA to inform them of the group's objectives and purposes. They also planned to ask to be permitted to attend the mediation session scheduled for 2 p.m. today in the law enforcement center. Previous mediation sessions had been closed by the state mediator, Richard Springer.

Froschheiser said that Interested Parents accept that citizens and parents "are as much to blame as anybody" in that the strike occurred and has not been settled. He encouraged the public to bring suggestions for action to members of the steering committee, and added that the organization has a two-year commitment. It is not expected to dissolve upon settlement of the strike.

If settlement of the strike does not take place before Thursday, an open meeting of Interested Parents will be held at 9 p.m. Thursday. The meeting will be held at Lincoln high school auditorium. It is planned to have a meeting every week until the strike is settled to report to the public what efforts have been made and what problems appear to remain.

While the organization emphasizes parental involvement, Froschheiser added, it is the feeling of the steering committee that all interested residents of the community may feel free to participate in the weekly meetings.

Mediation On 81-83 Teacher Contract Today

began, leaving the two sides $852.84 apart going into today's mediation session.

There are also contract language items unresolved and another major hurdle to clear before settlement can be reached: What arrangement will be made, if any, for make-up of days lost to classes during the strike. The TRFEA has taken the position that all days should be made up. The board has stated that strike days will not be made up.

Crisis headquarters of the TRFEA late last week released information that projected financial losses to the community of $24,000 to $27,000 daily for each strike day not made up. The release from the TRFEA said the amounts were "minimum potential dollar loss to Thief River Falls businesses and residents from outside sources."

Listed were approximately $5,700 state revenues lost to the AVTI, $16,575 state revenues lost in kindergarten through grade 12, $1,500 in state revenues lost to the center school and $1,531 lost to students in the form of CETA, GI bill and work study aids.

In addition, the TRFEA points out, a poll conducted by AVTI students a year ago indicated the average AVTI students spends $4,100 per year for school and living expenses. Of the 550 AVTI students enrolled at the start of the strike, 385 are from outside of the Thief River Falls community.

Supt. Robert Block said from the school district's viewpoint the AVTI loss is closer to $1,800 per day. Loss of $1,200 in tuition and $4,500 in state aids is offset by $3,914 not spent on salaries. In K-12 a revenue loss of $14,000 per day is offset by $16,500 not paid in salaries.

"Dollars lost to the community due to loss of salary income are real," Supt. Block said, "but they have a different impact on the school district's budget. The board and administration are responsible for that budget and must base their evaluations and decisions accordingly."

awards program. Sixteen Minnesota FFA chapters have entries in the national chapter award program and will send a representative to Kansas City to receive the awards.

Of the 22 proficiency awards, Minnesota had four finalists who will compete against three regional winners for first place honors at the national FFA convention. Selection of the national proficiency award winners will be made by a panel of judges from business, education and government who will meet during the convention.

Convention highlights will begin November 11 with registration at 8 a.m., followed by educational tours at 12:30 p.m. National agricultural career show, featuring H. Roe Bartle, will be presented at 1:30 p.m., followed by a business session at 2 p.m. and the Vespers program at 7:30 that evening.

November 12 schedule includes a livestock contest at 7 a.m.; national agricultural career show, registration, meats contest, and farm business management contests at 8 a.m.; milk quality and dairy foods contest and floriculture contest at 8:30 a.m. followed by the opening session at 9 a.m.

Afternoon activites, following the dairy cattle contest at noon, will include an agricultural mechanics contest and educational tours at 12:30 p.m.; leadership workshop conducted by FFA alumni at 1 p.m.; American Farmer degree session at 2 p.m.; national FFA talent show at 6:30 p.m.; and a third session at 8 p.m. which will include the Stars over America pageant.

National agricultrual career show will begin activites at 8 a.m. November 13, followed at 8:30 a.m. by the poultry contest and nursery-landscape contest. At 9 a.m. will be a fourth session including presentation of agricultural proficiency awards, BOAC awards, and a national chapter awards.

Other afternoon activities, beginning at 2 p.m. with honorary American farmer degrees, distinguished service citations and the national extemporaneous public speaking contest, will include a national band and chorus concert at 6:30 p.m. followed by the national prepared public speaking contest and VIP citations at 7:30 p.m.

National contest breakfasts will begin at 7 a.m. November 14. Others activities that day will include the seventh session with international activites, announcement of judging contest winners, and election of 1981-82 national officers at 9 a.m.; FFA day at the American Royal at 1 p.m.; Firestone show at 6:30 p.m. and the closing session including the installation of 1981-82 national officers at 8 p.m.

MONEY DONATION was made recently to Inga Geving, president of the Pennington county historical society (right) by Lena Molstad, president of the Vaarblomsten lodge — a group formed in the 1900s that dissolved two years ago and joined the Sons of Norway. Monies, which include those remaining in the lodge's fund after bills have been paid, will be used for additions to the log house at the Pennington Pioneer village used by the lodge for meetings and displays. Display in the house will include memorials to the Vaarblomsten lodge, as well are various Norwegian articles. Group also donated their dishes, silverware and tablecloths to the soceity.

Hydraulics Workshop Nov. 17 and 18

A two day workshop on "Introduction to Hydraulics" will be offered at the Thief River Falls area vocational-technical institute (AVTI) November 17 and 18 from 8 a.m. to 5 p.m. Workshop leader is Fred Ranney, Granite Falls, a certified engineering technician, formerly a fluid power instructor at Granite Falls AVTI. A fee of $70 includes tuition, materials, coffee breaks, and noon lunch for both days.

Workshop is designed to introduce persons to hydraulic technology, components and systems. Emphasis will be placed on basic principles of hydraulics, the function of components, how they work and how they work together in a system. This workshop is for farmers, machinery dealer personnel, construction equipment operators, industrial maintenance personnel, and administrative personnel who wish to broaden their technical knowledge.

Pre-registration is required by contacting Adult Education, Thief River Falls AVTI, Highway One East, 681-5424.

Clinton Man Chairman Of Heart Ass'n.

Dave Torgerson, co-editor of the Northern Star weekly newspaper in Clinton, MN, is the 1982 state heart fund vice-chairman and Northwest regional chairman for the American heart association, Minnesota Affiliate, Inc.

American heart association, Minnesota affiliate, is the only state-wide health agency dedicated to the reduction of premature death and disability caused by heart and blood vessel disease.

Torgerson will assist with the annual heart fund campaign statewide as well as coordinate volunteer efforts in the 16-county Northwest region. Conducted year round, the state heart fund campaign is highlighted in February with its house-to-house campaign. In February, heart month, 60,000 Minnesotan volunteers call on their neighbors to receive their contributions and distribute lifesaving information on heart disease.

Torgerson's association with the Minnesota affiliate dates back to 1971. He has served as a county chairman, district No. 7 chairman and twice as Northwest regional chairman of the annual heart fund campaign. His interest in the American heart association grew from family members, as well as friends, being afflicted with heart disease.

Last year's state heart fund campaign raised $2,201,615. Funds raised by the Minnesota affiliate enables the affiliate to increase its support for heart research, community programs and professional and public education programs. Torgerson will serve as state heart fund chairman for the 1983 campaign.

Although efforts by the American heart association have resulted in a 20 per cent decline in heart disease deaths over the last 10 years, heart disease still claimed the lives of 975,550 Americans, including 17,000 Minnesotans, last year. Continued efforts of research, community programs and professional and public education, will help America's number one health problem be controlled.

Wheat, Barley Stocks Up; All Others Down

Inventories of corn, soybeans, oats, flax, and rye in Minnesota were below year-earlier levels on October 1, according to the Minnesota Agricultural Statistics Service. By crop, there was 38 per cent less old crop corn, 10 per cent less oats, 52 per cent less rye, and 71 per cent less flax. All wheat and barley were the only stocks showing an increase from the previous year.

The total holdings of these seven crops at 524 million bushels was 9 per cent below the 574 million bushels on hand October 1, 1980. Farm inventories accounted for 70 per cent of the total compared with 67 per cent a year earlier.

The 151.3 million bushels of old crop corn stored in all positions in Minnesota on October 1 were down 38 per cent from last year. Off-farm storage was down 19 per cent while on-farm storage, which accounted for 60 per cent of the total, decreased 46 per cent.

September 1 carryover of old crop soybeans totaled 37.6 million bushels, about the same as a year earlier. On-farm stocks (accounting for 65 per cent of the total) came to 24.4 million bushels, up 15 per cent from a year earlier. Off-farm stocks of 13.2 million were down 20 per cent.

Wheat stocks totaled 176.6 million bushels, 37 per cent more than a year earlier. Off-farm storage was down 1 per cent while farm holdings, which claimed 71 per cent of the total, were up 62 per cent.

Oat stocks of 83.3 million bushels fell 10 per cent from a year earlier for the lowest October 1 level since both on- and off-farm stocks estimates began in 1945. The 9.3 million bushels stored in off-farm positions was the lowest since 1948 and 50 per cent below last year. The 74.0 million bushels stored on farms is about the same as last year. Farm stocks accounted for 89 per cent of the total compared with last year's 80 per cent.

Barley stocks of 72.0 million bushels increased 15 per cent from a year earlier. Farm storage rose 32 per cent but inventories in off-farm positions fell 8 per cent. Farm holdings accounted for 66 per cent of the total compared with 58 per cent a year earlier.

The 1.1 million bushels of flaxseed stored in Minnesota on October 1 were down 71 per cent from a year earlier. On-farm stocks, accounting for 40 per cent of the total, were down 65 per cent and off-farm stocks dropped 74 per cent from last year's level.

Rye stocks in all locations dropped 52 per cent to 2.1 million bushels. Farm stocks, down 59 per cent, claimed only 29 per cent of the total while off-farm stocks were down 49 per cent.

The Revised Economic Forecast

Last Thursday, I addressed the people of Minnesota to tell them of our state's revised economic forecast. The news I was bringing was not good — we face a $768 million shortfall in the current biennium — but my real message was that we will respond to our situation calmly and confidently and for the long-term good of this state.

My announcement was in the form of three parts: a discussion of our pressing cash-flow problem; an announcement of the anticipated deficit and how we got in this situation; and a call to the Legislature for a special session on Dec. 1 to join with me in putting Minnesota back on track.

Solving Our Cash-Flow Problems

The most urgent problem we have is an imbalanced cash-flow problem. Because of the recession, less tax revenues are coming than had been anticipated. Unless corrections are made, the state will not have enough cash to meet all our obligations during the next few months.

The procedure I am proposing to solve this short-term problem will require action by the Legislature during the special session. Under present law, school districts receive payments from the state whether they need those funds at that time or not. I will recommend that legislation be passed that enables the state to make those payments only when school districts need them.

Concurrently, I will also propose that the districts receive a reasonable rate of interest to compensate for decreased investment opportunities. While this will ease our cash-flow problems, I want to stress that this policy will not affect the total amount of state aid received by any school district over the current biennium.

What Happened To Cause These Problems?

The other, larger problem that we must solve is how to balance our books by June, 1983 when our biennium ends. Before I discuss this in detail, I would like to briefly explain how we arrived at this situation.

In simple terms, the American economy is sick and there is nothing the individual states can do to escape the consequences of the national recession. As I mentioned in an earlier column, other states are hurting too. Washington and Oregon have cut state programs by 10 per cent; Wisconsin has cut eight per cent; Michigan faces a $600 million cash-flow shortage; and California is ending its fiscal year as much as $1 billion in the red.

The connection between Minnesota and the national economy is direct. When your income is down, you're paying less in income taxes. When you're making fewer purchases, you're paying less in sales taxes. When the automobile and home construction industries are suffering through their worst times in many years, then our important taconite and timber industries plummet. These individual shortfalls are a large part of our downward state economic conditions.

Secondly, the relationship between state and local governments in Minnesota is such that three out of every four dollars that the state collects in taxes are transferred to counties, cities, townships, schools and individuals. This ratio, one of the highest in the nation, is mandated by state law.

This prevents any flexibility during tough times, since we have discretion over a relatively small part of the budget, and it leaves local governments vulnerable during difficult economic periods. For these reasons, this relationship must be studied closely during the coming months.

Tackling The Projected Shortfall

With these things in mind, I will announce my recommendations for meeting the $768 million projected shortfall to the Legislature within the next two weeks. In the meantime, I am developing a comprehensive plan that will be wise and fair, based upon meetings with bipartisan groups throughout the state. This is a leadership role which I recognize and accept without reservation.

To solve the problems discussed here will require the cooperative statesmanship of both parties, myself and the understanding of the people. We are faced with compensating for a tremendous amount of money, and it will be painful for all.

However, I must conclude with a word of optimism. My confidence in our future remains as complete as it has ever been. As I travel around the state it's impossible to ignore our bounty of natural beauty, creativity, spirit and hard work.

On the basis of our plentiful natural resources, our technological developments, our agricultural industry and the fine character of the people who live here, Minnesota remains fundamentally strong.

Red Lake Block Grant To Help Repair Housing

Report that Red Lake county will receive $400,000 in community development block grant funds from the federal department of housing and urban development (HUD) was published recently in the "Inter-Comm", a newsletter of the Inter-County community council at Oklee. Summary of the program as reported in the publication is as follows:

In November of 1980, Inter-County in cooperation with N.W. Multi-County Housing and Redevelopment authority, Mentor and on behalf of Red Lake county, submitted a pre-application to HUD for funds to undertake a housing rehabilitation project in Red Lake county.

In February of 1981, word was received that Red Lake county's proposed program rated 14 out of 75 among those proposals submitted throughout the state and that rating qualified the county to submit a full complete application to HUD on a "back-up" basis. Just recently, Sept. 30th, funds became available and Red Lake county was informed that they would receive $400,000 in HUD community development block grant funds for housing rehabilitation.

Many factors were considered in HUD's decision to award the block grant funds to Red Lake county . . . . including the county's need. HUD determined that some 20-30 per cent of the housing units in Red Lake county were sub-standard and, in addition, some 22-23 per cent of the population had incomes that were at or below standard poverty level. Another level which probably was considered was the extremely high unemployment rate of Red Lake county, at one point greater than 20 per cent.

The purpose of the proposed program is to improve housing conditions for low-to-moderate income families. An emphasis will be put on making homes safe and more energy efficient for the families who live in our county and who would not be able to make improvements on their own because of low incomes.

Although an advisory committee will help make decisions on who will be eligible to receive grants under this program, those who are the most in need will receive priority in the selection. These people will include elderly, handicapped and single parent families with very low-incomes who are living in homes which are unsafe, below acceptable standards and very energy inefficient.

Qualified recipients will be required to meet HUD's Section 8 income guidelines. The amount of funds which will go into repairing homes will vary depending on the kind of work which needs to be done. One of the advantages of HUD community development funds is the wider range of repairs which can be done and the relatively larger amount of money which can be spent per home.

In comparison to weatherization program guidelines, which limits the amount of money per home to some $693, grants for HUD funds can average $5,000. Some housing programs, such as Minnesota housing and finance, will allow for a greater dollar amount per house, but often the eligibility restrictions and complicated application forms make approval for such grants very difficult to receive.

Although selection of recipients for HUD grants will be screened carefully for eligibility, the process will be simple and straight-forward. Extent to which housing units will be improved will be greater than could be accomplished under any one housing program. Inter-county will combine as many funds as possible in order to do a complete job of rehabilitation on those homes which are selected.

Many people who are involved in housing rehabilitation programs often express frustration at not being able to rehabilitate a home as thoroughly as possible because of funds or activity restrictions. For example, some housing units could not (and should not) be weatherized because of a worn, leaky roof. Adding insulation to an attic in which water would leak would be an extreme waste of time, effort and money, and yet roofing cannot be done under the weatherization program. The HUD funds, combined with other housing funds, such as weatherization, will allow for a more complete rehabilitation of homes including roofing.

The HUD CDBG funds, targeted for four townships and the cities of Oklee, Plummer and Brooks, are intended to rehabilitate 40 privatly owned housing units (not including mobile homes) and 20 rental units. The money will also be used to remove five vacant housing units which are beyond repair. These houses will be torn down and the lots will be cleared and prepared for building new homes for people with low-to-moderate incomes. The HUD funds will also be used to make one unit convenient for someone with a handicap which will require making the unit handicap assessible according to Minnesota building codes.

All housing units rehabilitated will meet and exceed HUD Section 8 housing quality standards and all recipients will be required to meet HUD Section 8 income guidelines, which will be published at a later date.

The priority use of the HUD CDBG funds will be to correct defects or deficiencies directly affecting health, safety and energy. The funds will not be used for the purpose of refinancing or paying off existing debts and all units must be permanent structures with clear title, used for residential purposes only. Repayment of grant funds will be required if the property rehabilitated is disposed of within a certain period of time. All energy conservation improvements will comply with HUD cost effective energy conservation standards and smoke detectors will be installed in all dwellings improved unless they are already in place.

Applications for housing rehabilitation projects will be taken in December of 1981, and program construction will begin in the spring of 1982. Although the proposed program was originally designed to run 18 months, the program was estended to a 24 month period to accomodate for the coming winter season, during which time construction will not be possible.

We expect that the HUD rehabilitation program, with community development block grant funding, will be of great benefit to Red Lake county and its residents. The improvement of homes for people with low incomes is especially important during these times of high interest and fuel costs.

Ella Sylskar Services Held At Karlstad

Mrs. Ella Sylskar, 93, of Karlstad, died Monday evening, November 2, at the Karlstad Memorial hospital. For the past year, Mrs. Sylskar had been a redisent of the Karlstad Memorial Nursing center.

Funeral services for Mrs. Ella Sylskar were held Friday at 2:00 p.m., at the First Lutheran church in Karlstad with Rev. Donald Peterson and Rev. John A. Riveness officiating. Mrs. Loren Germundson and Gilbert Oistad were the soloists and Kirstin Olson was organist. Interment was in the Karlstad cemetery with the Collins Funeral home, Karlstad, in charge of arrangements.

Pallbearers were grandsons: Robert, Jeff, Milton and Kenneth Sylskar, Don Becchetti and Desmond Englund.

Mrs. Sylskar, the former Ella Louise Severson, was born July 6, 1888 at Mekinock, N.D., to Erick and Sophie Severson, now deceased. As a child, she moved with her family to the Stephen community. Later they moved to Fir, south of Karlstad. There she attended school and grew to womanhood.

On July 14, 1910, she was united in marriage to Torkel (Tom) Sylskar at Hallock. The couple farmed west of Karlstad until 1916, when they moved to a farm south of Karlstad, in Deerwood township of Kittson county. There they lived and farmed until Sylskar's death in March of 1961. Since then, Mrs. Sylskar had made her home in Karlstad.

She was a member of the First Lutheran church of Karlstad, and was the last living charter member of that church.

Surviving are three sons: Torjus and Willard Sylskar, both of Karlstad; and Melvin, Elk River; three daughters: Mrs. Vernon (Alice) Gustafson and Mrs. Etalo (Nora) Becchetti, both of Minneapolis, and Mrs. Ole (Mae) Koland, Karlstad; 18 grandchildren and 15 great-grandchildren.

Also surviving are two brothers: Elmer Severson, Roseau, and Ed of Wannaska and two sisters: Mrs. Vance (Manda) Allen, Drayton, N.D., and Mrs. Cora Robillard, British Columbia, Canada.

She was preceded in death by one son, a brother and four sisters.

Services Held At Grygla For J. Lillevold

Funeral services for Johnny Lillevold, 59, of Grygla were held Friday at 2:30 p.m., at Grace Lutheran church, Grygla. Lillevold died Monday, November 2, at his home in Lee township, Beltrami county.

Rev. Percy Smerek officiated at the services. Music was provided by Mrs. Walter Jelle, organist, and Mrs. Lance Zellman, the soloist. Interment was in Our Savior's cemetery, rural Grygla, with the Green Funeral home in charge of arrangements.

Honorary pallbearers were Sam Bratteli, Harlan Cleven, Oliver Johnson, Ingvall Lillevold, Basil Stavenes and Hans Hanson.

Serving as active pallbearers were Saave Johnson, Albert Cleven, Allard Morken, Manley Anderson, Paul Olstad and Roland Graham.

Johnny Clifford Lillevold, a son of the late Torval J. and Thone Bratteli Lillevold, was born April 14, 1922 in Lee township, Beltrami county. He received his elementary education in District school 107 in Lee township and was a graduate of Lincoln high school and the Normal Teachers Training in Thief River Falls. He taught school for two years before entering the service during World War II. Following his discharge he returned to Lee township and began operating the home farm.

On Jan. 1, 1950, he was united in marriage to Adelaide Olstad at Bemidji.

He was a member of Our Savior's Lutheran church at Grygla and served for a time on the ASC committee for Beltrami county.

He is survived by his wife, four sons: John Lillevold, Minneapolis; Grant and Paul, both of St. James, and Dale, Grygla; and three sisters: Mrs. Allard (Margaret) Morken, Mrs. Manley (Thea) Anderson, both of Grygla, and Mrs. Herald (Caroline) Ritch of Hawthorne, Calif.

He was preceded in death by two brothers: Torrance and Arne, and one sister, Clara Boyum.

Jesse Merth Rites Held At Middle River

Funeral services for Jesse Lee Merth, five-year-old son of Mr. and Mrs. Jon Merth of Middle River, were held Thursday at 2:00 p.m., at the First Lutheran church in Middle River. Jesse Lee died Sunday evening, November 1, at St. Luke's hospital in Fargo, N.D., of injuries received in an automobile accident on October 23 near Middle River.

Rev. Ernest Dobkins, pastor of the Seventh Day Adventist church, officiated at the services. Mrs. Floyd Peterson was the organist and Mr. and Mrs. Tim Rittenour and a group of Jesse's friends sang. Interment was in the First Lutheran cemetery, Middle River, with the Collins Funeral home in charge of arrangements.

Jesse Lee Merth was born Sept. 6, 1976 at Greenbush to Jon and LeAnn Merth. He attended the Seventh Day Adventist church in Middle River, its Sabbath school and Vacation Bible school.

Surviving are his parents, a brother, Joel, at home; his maternal grandparents, Mr. and Mrs. Ted Dunston, Middle River; his paternal grandparents, Mr. and Mrs. Vic Merth, Grass Valley, Calif., and Mr. and Mrs. Harry Mason, Marble Falls, Tex.; his maternal great-grandmother, Mrs. Ruth McWilliams, Chico, Calif.; and his paternal great-grandmothers: Mrs. Lena Merth, Puget Sound, Wash., and Mrs. Ester Leslie, Marble Falls, Tex.

Dear Readers,
In providing death education in a community, all professionals must work together. In turn, professionals need death education to enhance their caregiving abilities with the dying and bereaved. Good death education will resolve the fears and anxieties about death. A healthy outlook on death, and life, will result.
Respectfully,
Belmont Funeral Home

He was preceded in death by a son, John, who was killed in the Korean Conflict, his parents and by one brother, Harry.

Glen Johnson Rites To Be Held In TRF

Glen Johsnon, 56, of Seattle, Wash., and formerly of Thief River Falls, died Sunday at Washoe Medical center at Reno, Nev., where he was vacationing.

Funeral services for Glen Johnson will be held Thursday at 10:30 a.m., at the Evangelical Free church in Thief River Falls with Rev. Curtis Anderson officiating. Interment will be in the Quale cemetery at Fordville, N.D.

The body will repose at the Belmont Funeral home, beginning Wednesday noon, and at the church for one hour prior to the time of services.

A complete obituary will be published in Wednesday's edition of the Times.

Dr. P. Erickson, Once Of Black River, Dies

Dr. Paul T. Erickson, 75, of Decatur, Ga., a pioneer in leprosy drugs, died October 15. He was a former resident of Black River township, Pennington county, where he was born and raised.

Funeral services for Dr. Erickson were held October 17 with burial in Arlington Memorial Park.

Dr. Erickson devoted much of his life to the field of public health. He received his medical degree from the University of Minnesota and his degree in public health from Johns Hopkins university. He was a pioneer in the use of Sulfone drugs in the treatment of leprosy. At the time of his retirement he was with the U.S. public health service and the state of Georgia health service.

He was a member of the Decatur Presbyterian church, the American Public Health association, the U.S. Public Health service Commissioned Officers association, the Medical association of Atlanta, the American Medical association, the Men's garden club of Atlanta, the Lexington, Ky., Masonic lodge and the Shrine Temple.

He is survived by his wife, Mrs. Doris Buyer Erickson; three daughters: Mrs. Marjorie Charles, Albuquerque, New Mex.; Mrs. Nancy Vernon, St. Simons Island, Brunswick; and Mrs. Paulette Murphy, Stone Mountain, Ga.; and two sisters: Miss Hannah Erickson and Miss Ember Erickson, both of Minneapolis.

H. M. Lindseth, Rural Bemidji, Dies Tuesday

Harold M. Lindseth, 85, of rural Bemidji, father of a former Thief River Falls resident, Mrs. Larry Golden, died Tuesday in the Bemidji Community hospital.

Funeral services for Harold Lindseth were held Friday at 1:30 p.m., at the Salem Lutheran church, Turtle River, with Rev. Vernon Nelson officiating. Interment was in the Turtle Lake township cemetery.

Harold Lindseth was born Dec. 15, 1895 at Ellsworth, Iowa. In 1901, he moved with his parents to the Lake Movil area where he had since resided. He attended school in the rural Beltrami schools and worked as a logger before serving in the U.S. Army during World War I. Following his discharge, he returned to the Bemidji area, worked at the Bemidji Town and Country club, farmed, and drove school bus. He became a steam boiler engineer and was employed by the school district until his retirment in 1964.

He was married May 24, 1923 to Marjorie Main at Bemidji.

Surviving are four sons: Delbert, James, Clarence and Neal, all of Bemidji; three daughters: Mrs. Raymond (Margaret) Carlson, Mrs. Larry (Pauline) Golden, and Mrs. Howard (Darlene) Schultz; 22 grandchildren, and 26 great-grandchildren.

He was preceded in death by his wife, who died April 6, 1979, and two brothers.

Hanson Farm Herd Tops In County DHIA

Jerry Hamre, supervisor of the Pennington county dairy herd improvement association (DHIA), lists the following herds as top in the association for September.

In first place is Hanson Heritage Farm, whose herd produced an average of 50 pounds of milk and 1.84 pounds of butterfat; followed by Gene Nelson, 49.4 and 1.84; Duane Krohn, 48.5 and 1.81; Warren & Lowell Hamrick, 47.2 and 1.80; Walter Brothers Farm, 47 and 1.84; Duane Vatsaas, 46.2 and 1.72; Nylo Carlson, 44.6 and 1.68; Gordon Wetterlund & Son, 40.9 and 1.60; Leland Nelson, 40.2 and 1.41; and Pearson Brothers Farm, 40 and 1.59.

Herd averages are affected by the number of dry cows in the herd. Amount of milk or butterfat produced is averaged out over all the cows. This gives the farmer a record of the earning power of the herd for the month. If many dry cows are included in the herd, the average for the month may be low, even though the cows which are milking are high producers.

There were 29 DHIA herds and six owner-sampler herds on September test for a total of 35 herds on test. There were 52 cows that completed records with over 625 pounds of fat in 305 days or less.

GF AFB To Launch ICBM In California

Twenty-seven persons from Grand Forks air force base left Thursday for Vandenberg Air Force Base, CA. to launch a Minuteman III intercontinental ballistic missile (ICBM).

Early December launch will test rocket boosters and guidance system of the missile chosen at random by Strategic Air Command officials. This will be the 42nd test firing of a Grand Forks AFB-based Minuteman missile.

Missile was on alert at a launch facility near Petersburg, N.D. and was removed August 10 after being identified by random selection. Rocket system was packed in a specially designed container and shipped to California by aircraft. Guidance system was removed and carried by motor vehicle, scheduled for arrival at Vandenberg AFB today. Missile operations and maintenance crews will prepare the missile for alert status. The same maintenance crews that pulled it from its silo will reassemble it in California.

Once on alert, it will be monitored by three missile combat crews on rotating 24-hour tours in the launch control center.

321st Strategic Missile Wing operations missile combat crews will monitor various electronic systems involved and accomplish weapon system tests prior to scheduled launch. Maintenance teams will be performing similar functions at the launch facility.

"Data received from this launch, designated Glory Trip 85GB, will be added to information gathered from more than 500 previous leaders with more comprehensive information regarding readiness and reliability of the strategic missile system," said Lt. Cop. Van Chappell, commander of the 448 Strategic Missile Squadron. Chappell is task force commander for the missile launch.

According to him, the launch will test not only lift-off capability, guidance system, and accuracy of this missile, but also performance of operations and maintenance people involved.

"This is a total operations and maintenance-coordinated effort. The entire task force and support people in Vandenberg will be diligently performing related tasks with one goal in mind. . . a successful launch," Chappell said.

Stangeland Host Of Vet Workshop

Congressman Arlan Stangeland will be the host of a workshop for all veterans and their families November 21 at the Fergus Falls community college from 2 to 4:30 p.m.

Personnel from the Veterans administration and the Minnesota department of veterans' affairs will be available to answer questions about compensation and pensions, hospitalization, and educational benefits. Group sessions and individual booths for particular veterans' program will be available at the workshop.

"There is a lot of concern among veterans I have met throughout the district," Stangeland said. "This workshop will give them a chance to find out the facts about how these budget cuts will affect them.

"I am also encouraging veterans' dependents and survivors to attend," he added. "Since many of these programs serve veterans' families, they owe it to themselves to get the facts."

Admission to the workshop will be free and open to the public.

One goal of the workshop is to inform veterans of changes being made by Congress. "The President has already signed a bill which will increase disability compensation and survivors' benefits next month," Stangeland said. "Other bills to create small business and education loan programs are on his desk. I'll bring everyone up to date on pending legislation at the workshop."

Another goal is to provide help to veterans and dependents with bureaucratic problems.

"Anyone who has run into snags with the VA or the MDVA should bring along copies of their records and any other pertinent information," Stangeland said. "That will help us to cut through the red tape."

For more information on the veterans' workshop, please call Congressman Stangeland's toll-free number, 1-800-432-3770.

Mandt Among Poultrymen At Conference

Al Riches, Lyle Mandt and Ken Money of Midwest Hatchery, Dassel, recently returned from a 1981 hatchery converence held at Fairfield Bay, Ark.

Nearly 100 hatchery personnel sales and management people from throughout the United States and Canada attended the meeting.

The purpose of the conference was to provide key hatchery managers with the latest scientific techniques for brooding, vaccination, feeding and growing healthy egg-laying chickens.

That's Our Opinion

"You haven't had much to write about this teacher strike," an acquaintance observed to the editor one day last week. From an editorial standpoint, he was right. From a news coverage standpoint, we have been doing our best to keep up with what is happening, report the facts as they are, give all entities concerned an opportunity for expression and now allow any personal opinions we may have to creep into news stories.

We want to once again thank the letter writers who have set forth their opinions and ideas for the public to read and consider and weigh. Opinion of the individual in the office, in the home, on the farm, at the counter is every bit as important to the community as the opinion of the editor.

If the newspaper editor has an advantage, it is the opportunity to be in contact with people in position to make decisions. This opportunity should provide the editor with accumulated information on which to form opinion, as the result of asking questions because of access to people.

This access to information doesn't make the editor's opinion any more than that — an individual's opinion. That opinion doesn't necessarily reflect the opinion of other staff members of the newspaper; in fact, it may often contradict the opinion of co-workers. The editorial "we" seldom has collective or consensus usage.

The editor expressed his personal opinion around the time the strike began. We don't like strikes — anytime or anywhere. The strike presently in effect against the local school district is, however, entirely legal. We think that point should not be overlooked. Our legislature has seen fit to grant the strike right to teachers and they have chosen to exercise that right.

We feel that the sooner the strike ends the better for everyone. That doesn't mean we feel the board of education should accede to the strikers' demands, meet them halfway as a compromise or even move upward from the last stated offer. We don't like to see strikes encouraged or rewarded. That, to us, is akin to paying ransom. It encourages that type of activity.

Realistically, settlement probably can't be expected under present circumstances without an increase in the school district's offer. But for the board to move now, under the coercive atmosphere of the strike, is to give the appearance of yielding to the strike action and therefore inviting a recurrence. Striking has placed the board in that awkward position, and therefore may well have been counter-productive from the strikers' point of view.

On the other hand, teacher negotiators can't be expected to accept what the board offered prior to the strike. The commitment to strike was made on the theory that it would force an increase in the settlement and pressure the board into concessions. Failure to achieve that is to admit failure of the strike action — and that wouldn't sit too well with the rank and file of the TRFEA who voted to strike, or the MEA leadership which advocated and encouraged it.

There is more involved to settlement, therefore, than dollars and students — whether that circumstance is right or wrong. And there is more involved than a two-year contract when precedents are being established.

Where, then, is the hope for solution? Perhaps it lies in resorting to allowing a third party to settle the question through binding arbitration. Teachers' organization officials claim they have been burned twice by binding arbitration. Perhaps so. . . or perhaps they were really expecting more than they should have expected as an equitable settlement.

At any rate, arbitration would be almost sure to provide more than the board is presently willing to offer. It would take the matter out of the hands of local people, to be sure, but it would also absolve them of the necessity to "lose face" with their supporters.

We don't know if either side would submit to arbitration, if it is indeed an alternative, or if it would be the best for the community. But classes could resume while arbitration is underway and that certainly has to be a plus for everyone. It could also defuse what is likely to become an increasingly volatile situation as pressures build, tempers shorten and animosities grow. And it could prevent deepening wounds which would leave long-lasting scars in a community which depends for survival on unity and cooperation.

There are those who can't understand why it should be difficult to reach an agreement among local people. Those are the people who have never been involved in the effort. There are times — and we believe this is one of them — when two philosophies of what is right do not share common ground. That is nobody's shame.

But it would be a shame to ignore any course which could lead out of that condition. More than a shame, it would be self-serving and irresponsible. People should be able to reach an agreement locally. Obviously, they have not. That being the case, they should be willing to let someone else make the decision for them. It may not be the best solution, but it may well be the only one.

And for what it's worth, that's our opinion.

Write and tell us your opinion — and don't forget to sign the letter and give an address or phone number where we can verify the signature.

Peace Officer Down

Following editorial is from the Grand Rapids Herald-Review:

"A peace officer is down."

Those words could blast across police frequencies at any time.

It's something law enforcement officers have to live with every day. It's something their families try to deal with. It's never easy.

It happened in Itasca County last Thursday. Deputy Robert (Beefy) Lawson was shot and believed dead.

Immediately officers from across the Iron Range and as far away as northern Wisconsin began to roll toward Pengilly, the scene of the shooting and the ensuing hostage situation. A brother at arms had been shot, maybe killed.

The scene surrounding the home in which suspect Audie Fox was holding his two young children hostage was described as tense — an understatement.

Deputy Lawson had a lot of friends who were now well armed and surrounding the house. It could have been so easy to resort to what many would refer to as "frontier justice". The wish for swift justice (retribution) must have been great for some of those officers.

But they waited. For 18 hours they waited. Waited until the moment was right and then subdued the suspect without a shot being fired.

Concern for the two children, age 2 and 5, was, of course, a great part of it. But it wasn't the whole story.

Discipline and a deep concern for the law was definitely evidenced by the actions taken that day. The officers and agencies involved are to be commended for the care and restraint they demonstrated during a very trying situation.

But what will happen now?

Following the inevitable psychiatric testing, a trial will be held if the suspect is found competent to stand trial. Perhaps he will be found guilty of first or second degree murder. If that is the court's decision, he faces long term incarceration. It it enough?

Enforcement agencies for years have asked that murder of any officer during the performance of duty be considered murder in the first degree. Further, many would like to see the death penalty reimposed in such cases.

There are also many proponents of stiffer penalties for crimes committed with a firearm.

While both actions may be viewed as seeking "an eye for an eye", there is also the deterrent factor to be considered. Perhaps somewhere at some time, a similar situation might be prevented by the nagging fear in the back of someone's warped mind that the penalty was just too high. It's too late to save Deputy Lawson, but it just might save some other officer.

Is the murder of a sheriff's deputy any different than the murder of a doctor, lawyer, laborer or anyone else? In one way, yes. When an enforcement officer pins on a badge he takes a vow to protect the public — all of us. When that officer comes under attack, it is an attack upon the public safety and all of us.

Perhaps it is time to give serious thought to stiffening the existing criminal code in such cases. It is certainly time for all of us to vow to respect and assist peace officers in any way possible in the performance of their dangerous duties.

Borrowed Nonsense:

A Sunday school teacher was showing her young class a picture of the Christian martyrs in a den of lions. On little girl studied the picture and began to cry. Seizing on the opportunity to emphasize the emotional aspect to the class, she asked the youngster to describe what she saw. "That lion in the corner," she sobbed. "He ain't got no Christian."

Letters to the Editor

To The Editor:

To Whom It May Concern: Did you know all school board meetings are open to the public?

As you all know, last Monday night there was a public meeting which the school board didn't attend. Weren't they elected by the public, to serve the public? Wasn't the meeting a public meeting?

On last Tuesday night, there was a special school board meeting; the board came ill prepared to make an offer to the teachers. Both parties played games with the wording of the contract.

Did you know that there are three paid attorneys used by the school board? The school board has paid in the last few years over $60,000 in outside legal fees to John Roszak legal firm. This is taxpayer's money that could of been used for teacher's wages. Isn't it better to keep the money in our town?

I was told by one of the school board members that this strike is only between the board and the teachers and is not a public matter. Isn't our children's education a public concern?

Isn't it about time both parties sit down and work out a settlement for our children's sake?

A concerned taxpayer,
A concerned parent

To The Editor:

Dear Citizens of Thief River Falls and School District 564:

What is a school? It is a place where we as teachers are striving to help prepare students to meet their future. That is a large order. What approach do we use to accomplish this task?

Today we can no longer train students for a specific position, as that job may no longer exist even 10 years from now. Rather we must provide your children with knowledge and skills which will enable them to learn how to meet the requirements of the jobs they will be filling.

What kind of people are we who are undertaking to accomplish the responsibility of teaching? We probably have come from Minnesota, North Dakota or a surrounding state. We have attended four, five or six years of college. We've come from families such as your own.

How do we go about the business of teaching; yes education uses a business approach, although obviously not a commercial one. Everyday when we go into our classroom we must "sell" our product — education.

You who are in business have an advantage over us in that your prospective customers have some interest in your product, otherwise they would not have come to you. We, as teachers begin by creating that interest and then go on to try to sell them on an idea. The rewarding part, the reason we choose to remain in education, is that your children are aware and eager to "buy".

For example, one day this last September I came home with a warm wonderful feeling of accomplishment. My sixth grade students had done a beautiful job of writing descriptive paragraphs. No million dollar deal could have compared with the feeling I had that day.

Teaching students, your children, is an important profession just as any other for which a person spends a number of years in preparation, both in college and elsewhere, learning the expertise they will use to carry out their choosen field of endeavor.

Right now I am not enjoying what I am doing. I am on strike as a teacher in the district, and am walking a picket line in front of Franklin middle school. I will continue to do so until teachers are recognized as fulfilling the professional role they are performing.

I ask that you consider these words and make an effort to help bring this crisis to an end, so that the present teachers along with the future educators — some of them your children along with my daughter — will not need to continually struggle to be recognized as the teaching professionals they are.

Sincerely,
-s-Ardis Botner
6th grade teacher

To The Editor:

As parents, how long are we going to allow this strike to go on? It's up to us to call and-or write our school board members urging them to do everything in their power to end the strike. Our children's educations are at stake here.

The teachers do not enjoy being out on strike. They would rather be back in the classrooms teaching the children. I feel support for our teachers is long over due. So next time you drive or walk by the teachers who are picketing give them a smile and wave. It would mean a lot to them.

You know, some teachers are parents too and they want their kids back in school just as much as the next person.

To The Editor:

To the people of this school district — teachers, school board members, parents and students:

I'm getting into this conflict pretty late in the game, but anyone who knows me knows I can keep quiet only so long. I'm not taking anyone's side, mainly because I don't really know either the board's or the teachers' financial side.

The school board is elected by the people for the people, which should give the people the right to have the actual financial condition made available to them. If this had been done, we the people would know if meeting the teachers' demands was impossible.

Teachers have our children nine months of the year. They play an important part in molding their lives. If we trust them with this responsibility maybe we should trust them when they say they need a raise. I'm afraid all the dissension and bad feeling arising out of this is going to rub off on our children. So is it worth the few dollars separating the settlement?

On the other hand, if we cannot financially meet their demands let's say so. After all, "you can't get blood out of a turnip." We have all had to tighten our belts and we do if we know it's for a common cause and the betterment of most.

True, the teachers put a lot of time and money into their education, and they have to continue going to school if they're going to keep up with the changing times and new methods. This is to the benefit of our children. I'm sure the teachers do make more than our average working family (many of whom are at a poverty level) and it's hard to feel sorry for someone you know is better off than you.

If we're going to compare salaries I guess we should compare teachers with doctors, dentists, lawyers, optometrists, etc. They're all professional people. Here I'm afraid, salary wise, they can't compete, so let's stick to the problem at hand.

It's our kids who really pay, either by poor teachers (and yes, we do have some) or by no school at all. They have had enough vacation — they're getting really anxious to get back to school. They're fully aware of not having any vacation for some time to come or going to school half of next summer. Will graduation for seniors be changed?

How about the AVTI? Many of them are from out of town — their grants and financial aids have been cut off. Who's going to pay the rent on their apartments? Will tuition have to be refunded, and by whom? Will many of our students transfer. All of these are questions having to be answered. Is it costing us more than the settlement would? I believe if it is settled soon these things would take care of themselves.

I had a son in college when the colleges went on strike a few years ago. We had the same hassle, speculation and panic. I told him, "Hang in there, don't give up, think positive, learn what you can from the experience." He learned patience, tolerance and understanding; also to "accept the things we cannot change." In the end it hurt him very little — he kept up what he could and caught up what he couldn't.

If the teachers strike has hurt our businesses enough to cut working hours in half, as stated in a letter to the editor, I guess we have to look at this angle. Our teachers must be spending a good deal of their salaries in the town when they're working — maybe, just maybe, it would be a good idea to take a good look at what they're saying.

I understand only two members on our school board have children in school. Is this true? If so, how did we allow this to happen, and does this have anything to do with the delay in settling?

I told you I wasn't going to take sides, I tried not to, but I'm afraid I have. I'm really only interested in seeing this settled fairly and squarely for our students, teachers, parents and the board of education.

Thank you for reading.

Food For Thought

A strong farm economy is important to everyone who is reading this column.

Whether you're a farmer or a small businessman, a student or a retired person, a housewife or a fieldhand, if you live in the Seventh District, your standards of living are affected directly by the strength of our farm sector.

Over 50,000 homes in our area depend on farming for their incomes. Thousands of other families get their paychecks from food processors or small businesses that depend on farm income.

That's why the 1981 Farm Bill should be one of the handful of Federal bills that you should be aware of this year. This piece of legislation will outline the shape of basic farm programs for the next four years.

Since the days of the Dust Bowl and the Great Depression, Washington has maintained basic farm programs to make sure that a steady supply of food has been provided at stable prices.

But as the nation's population moved off the farm and into the cities and suburbs, support for those programs has dwindled. In the last decade, Federal farm programs have been reduced by nearly 48 per cent.

In the past two years, farmers have been hit hard by double-digit inflation and interest rates. The negative effects of the Soviet grain embargo are still being felt. Over the past two years, farm income has dropped by a third.

Because of those ominous statistics, it is necessary to work for the strongest Farm Bill possible.

But there are other forces at work in the economy. High interest rates and inflation are being kept up by the Federal deficit. And since Congress passed the badly-needed tax cuts this summer, the need to restrain Federal spending is greater than ever.

Both the House and the Senate have completed work on their versions of the Farm Bill, trying to do their best for the farmers while staying within the constraints of budget. Most farm observers believe that the House version would do more for the farm economy.

There are some major differences between the two versions of the Farm Bill. Those differences will be ironed out by House and Senate leaders in a conference committee.

I will be a member of that conference, working to include a sugar program in the next four-year Farm Bill. Such a program would be important to our area because the Seventh District is the largest sugar-beet producer in America. Over 1500 families in the Red River Valley depend on sugar as their major cash crop, while another 1200 people work in the area's processing plants. And a strong sugar support program has been linked to stable prices for forty years.

Critics of the sugar program and other basic farm programs charge that these Federal supports contribute to the market costs of consumers. Those critics don't understand these programs.

Most farm programs only help growers to market their crops in an orderly fashion, covering their expenses and helping them to prepare for the next growing season while waiting to move their harvest to market.

The other farm programs guarantee that we will have a steady supply of nutritious food at a steady price. These programs also insure that we will have sufficient surpluses to sell to other countries.

Even critics must admit that these programs are a part of an incredible success — American agriculture.

Only four per cent of our population raises enough food to feed 240 million Americans and to export another $40 billion of foodstuffs every year. And the average American consumers pay only 17 per cent of their disposable income on food, less than consumers in any other country in the world.

We depend on the American farmers. And they depend on strong Federal farm programs.

Whether you're a consumer or a producer, you ought to whatch what Congress does with the four-year Farm Bill in the next few weeks. That action ought to give you some food for thought.

Workshop On Protein Slated By Northland

"More With Less", a complementary protein workshop designed to be of value to food providers of families, day care homes and others in a time of rising food prices and diminishing energy resources, will be offered Thursday, November 19, from 7 to 10 p.m. in the Pennington county courthouse meeting room.

The workshop will be conducted by Yvonne Anderson, a registered dietition with a masters degree in nutrition from the University of Minnesota who currently serves as coordinator of the Southeast Minnesota nutrition education and training programs (NET) in Rochester.

Workshop participants will examine the protein dollar, often the most expensive portion of a food budget. Nonmeat protein possibilities and practical aspects of planning and preparing meals with little or no meat will be discussed. Also included will be a meatless meal, guaranteed to meet most people's protein needs.

Co-sponsored by the Northwest Minnesota nutrition education and training program and Northland community college community services, the workshop is free of charge. To reserve a place at the workshop register by Friday, November 13, by calling 681-2181, ext. 44.

U.S. Senator
Rudy Boschwitz reports to Minnesota

Lock and Dam 26: Keeping a Cap on Agricultural Costs

The Upper Mississippi River Basin Commission, a joint state and federal advisory panel, recently recommended that Congress authorize the U.S. Corps of Engineers to build a second chamber at Lock and Dam 26 on the Mississippi River near Alton, Illinois. Lock and Dam 26 is a vital link to all river traffic — and especially for Minnesota farmers transporting their agricultural products by river barge to gulf ports. Unfortunately, it is also the major inland waterway bottleneck which stalls river traffic and increases transportation costs for all who use the river, and particularly the farmer.

I have urged the Upper Mississippi River Basin Commission on several occasions to complete its three-year study (mandated in 1978) as quickly as possible. This would allow Congress to consider authorization for the second lock while there was still time to build this chamber simultaneously with the replacement structure for Lock and Dam 26, now under construction. I'm pleased that the Commission, in its preliminary study, has recommended a second lock at this location.

The need for this second lock was recognized almost immediately after Congress authorized the Corps of Engineers in 1978 to build a new, $600 million chamber to replace the old Lock and Dam 26. The old lock had an annual capacity of only 73 million tons, as compared to the 105 million ton average of the other 28 locks on the Upper Mississippi. The new structure will have a capacity of 89 million tons per year. That, however, is only expected to meet transportation needs through the 1980's.

Lock and Dam 26 is located strategically just north of St. Louis where the Illinois River meets the Mississippi. A second lock of 600 feet in length is vital to handle river traffic through the 1990's and well into the next century and prevent the continuation of bottlenecks. If Congress acts soon, the building of the second lock in conjunction with the first will save time and money. Under the present schedule, the first lock will be completed in 1989. If the second lock is begun soon, its completion date will be 1992. The same construction piles can be used to build the second lock as are presently being used on the first. To me, this just makes for plain good sense.

A second lock is important to Minnesota farmers exporting their products. Grain constitutes a large percentage of the barge freight on the river. Minnesota farmers are bearing millions of dollars in excess costs when traffic is held up at this point in the river, as transportation costs are determined by the hour. Time means money, and it's not unusual for barges to be held up for days at a time.

Senator Danforth (who visited Lock and Dam 26 with me this summer) and I will be sponsoring legislation early next year to authorize the construction of the second lock and therby remove barriers to exports. Lock and Dam 26 is and will continue to be a barrier to foreign trade unless a second lock is built. Promotion of agricultural exports is good not only for the farm economy, but for our trade deficit as well. Without this second lock, grain exporting costs will become prohibitive.

Minnesota lies at the end of transportation lines in the country, and all industries in the state bear the burden of increasing transportation costs. The Minnesota economy, and especially the farmers, will bear many additional costs unless this second lock is built. Therefore, I will support and work for Congressional authorization of the second chamber at Lock and Dam 26.

2 Honored For Outstanding Achievement

A pioneer in the field of heart pacemakers and the head of a major resource company received the University of Minnesota's outstanding achievement award Friday, November 6.

Earl Bakken, chairman of the board of Medtronics Inc., and Richard Mollison, chairman and chief executive officer of Texasgulf Inc., were honored at the annual science and technology day banquet of the institute of technology alumni society at the Radisson South hotel.

Award is the highest honor the university gives to alumni who have achieved distinction in their fields.

Bakken, a 1948 graduate of the university's department of electrical engineering, developed the first portable, battery-powered pacemaker and founded Medtronics, the largest manufacturer of heart pacemakers in the world. He has published many articles on bioengineering and, in 1976, he founded the Bakken Library of Electricity in Life. Library includes 900 antique medical devices such as an "electric bath" used in 18th century medicine, an early X-ray machine and a display on Benjamin Franklin's experiments.

After receiving a degree in mineral engineering in 1941, Mollison began working as an exploratory geologist and discovered the Kidd Creek orebody, the largest new mineral discovery in Canada in 50 years.

As an executive, Mollison established a system to allow employees of his mine to become stockholders after the first year of employment. His mines have received many awards for safety.

Northland Hockey Rocords

One of the goals for the 1981-82 Northland community college hockey team to shoot for will be a winning record. Obviously that's a goal every team would like to meet. However, it's something that has happened just twice in the 11-year history of Northland hockey.

The Northmen have had some good hockey players and some pretty fair teams over the years, but they've never been able to play that consistently good hockey that will produce a winning record. Consistency is one of the main objectives Northland coach Tom Goddard has his team working for this year. A year ago, for example, the Northmen played some great hockey at times, but at other times — sometimes the next game, sometimes the next period — they played mistake-filled hockey.

Northland started playing hockey under Swede Lund in the 1970-71 season when the Northmen finished 4-19. They climbed to 13-11 in 1971-72 and were 14-9-1 in 1972-73. They were still very much in the thick of the Minnesota junior college athletic association (MJCAA) race in 1973-74 with a 12-14 finish, but they never again managed to hit that .500 figure.

Lund's final year as Northland coach in 1974-75 ended with a 9-15 record.

Curt Geatz coached the Northmen in 1975-76 when they were 6-12. Bob Lundbohm then took over and coached for four years, going 7-16 in 1976-77; 3-17 in 1977-78; 10-12 in 1978-79; and 0-18 in 1979-80.

Goddard succeeded Lundbohm last winter as the Northmen finished 8-13-1.

The MJCAA remains intact from a year ago, and as usual no word has been spread where the power is this year, either at Northland here in Thief River Falls; Rainy River in International Falls; Mesabi in Virginia; Hibbing; Rochester; or at the University of Minnesota-Crookston. However, close races have been the rule of thumb the last few years, and until something else develops, look for another six-team scramble for playoff spots.

Four of the six teams earn berths in the 1982 MJCAA state tournament, scheduled to be played Saturday and Sunday, February 20-21, in the Thief River Falls sports arena. Northland, as the host team, is guaranteed a state tournament berth.

While Goddard looks for more consistency and stresses improved team play, Gary Usitalo, who has been named captain of the 1981-82 Northmen, has an opportunity to move up in the Northland career scoring charts after a strong 1980-81 freshman season that produced 21 goals, 21 assists and 42 goals.

Another season like that would put him near the top of the Northland scoring list currently headed by Mark Hughes, an East Grand Forks high school graduate who had 33 goals, 52 assists and 85 points with the Northmen during the 1971-72 and 1972-73 seasons. Leo Marshall of Warroad stands second in the scoring parade with 79 points, followed by Lundbohm, a Roseau product, with 76; Scott Bergland of Thief River Falls 75; Gordy Markstrom of Thief River Falls 66; Mark Koehn of Devils Lake, N.D. 60; and Doug Dallmann of Thief River Falls 59.

Lundbohm and Marshall share the single season school scoring record with 65 points, a figure they both hit during the 1971-72 season. Lundbohm had 27 goals and a school record 38 assists that winter, while Marshall had a school-record 33 goals and 32 assists. Dallmann later tied that goal mark with 33 in 1978-79.

Miscellaneous

+Detroit Lakes high school football team won the battle but lost the war in its 20-7 playoff game loss to Breckenridge, reported Ralph Anderson of the Detroit Lakes Tribune. The Lakers out-gained the Cowboys 336-222 in offensive yardage and had a 17-10 edge in first downs. It was quite a passing display as Detroit Lakes quarterback Dan Douglas was 15-for-30 passing for 191 yards, while Breckenridge quarterback Rollie Lipp was 8-for-17 for 196 yards. The Cowboys opened the game with a 90-yard kickoff return for a touchdown by Doug Roob.

+Region 8AA girls tennis champion Detroit Lakes had five seniors in its line-up, but coach Gary Kludt of the Lakers indicated the well isn't running dry, and says that many promising tennis players are featured in the lower grades, who should enable the Lakers to maintain their status as a power in the sport.

+Ticket prices have been raised for the 1982 Region 8AA basketball tournaments, reported Dave Harris, executive secretary-treasurer of Region 8AA. Adult general admission has been raised from $2 to $2.50, which is expected to bring an additional $6,000 into the regional account from the boy's tournament alone.

FERGUS FALLS' Mona Evavold (11) spiked the ball past a block attempt by Northland's Kathy Skjerven (4), while Shelly Taggart (9) of the Northwomen looked on during Wednesday's community college volleyball match played in Thief River Falls. The Northwomen beat the Spartans 15-7, 6-15, 15-12, 15-1 to finish with a perfect 6-0 record against Northwest Division teams. Northland will enter state tournament play later this week.

Volleyball Team Beats Fergus Falls . . .

Northwomen Unbeaten Divisional Champions

In a game that demands so much in the way of teamwork, the individual play of Marlys Huot still stood out Wednesday as the Thief River Falls freshman led the Northland community college volleyball team to a spirited 3-1 victory over Fergus Falls in the Northland gym, capping an unbeaten Northwest Division championship season for the Northwomen.

The Northwomen, who will enter state tournament play Wednesday at Lakewood community college in White Bear Lake, went through the Northwest Division twice without a loss, sweeping rivals Fergus Falls, Brainerd and the University of Minnesota-Crookston (UMC).

Northland's success caught coach Deb Jacobson by surprise. "It's a hundred times better than I thought we'd do," she smiled. "I didn't think anybody could go through the division unbeaten."

Fergus Falls, involved in a second place Northwest Division battle and a state tournament berth bid with UMC, challenged Northland's unbeaten status Wednesday.

Northland led from start-to-finish in taking a 15-7 decision in the first of the three-out-of-five-game series.

The Northwomen started with a 3-0 second game lead, but then fell apart. Fergus Falls' Lori Moore, a freshman from Underwood, had two aces and eight straight service points to put the Spartans in command. The Northwomen continued to have a great deal of difficulty handling serves and were out-classed 15-6 to tie the match 1-1.

"That's always been our problem," admitted Jacobson. "When we know we don't have to win, we don't always put a full 100 per cent into it."

Fergus Falls' momentum was muzzled in a hurry, though, in the third game when Huot opened with ten consecutive service points — six of them aces that really got the good-size parent's night crowd going.

Fergus Falls battled back gamely, but it was too big of a deficit to overcome. The Spartans did get within 13-12, but a block at the net by Thief River Falls sophomore Kathy Walker broke Fergus Falls' serve and Deb Koskela, a freshman from Plummer, served the final two points — thanks to back-to-back spikes by Shelly Taggart, a Greenbush freshman.

But it was Huot's serving that produced the win. She's the team's best server, and she proved it. "She hits a little floater," explained Jacobson. "It might not look like it, but it floats a little and it's difficult to pick up."

With the wind taken out of the Spartans' sails, the Northwomen breezed to a 15-1 fourth game triumph for a 3-1 match victory. Huot opened the third game with pair of service points, then Koskela served it to 8-0 and a rout was in progress.

In addition to her serving, Huot was also the team leader Wednesday in saves, bumps and sets.

"Marlys was picking up things in the middle," acknowledged Jacobson. "There were a lot of times when I thought the ball was going to hit the floor, and all of a sudden it was in play."

Huot wasn't alone in that category, though, with Koskela and Thompson also coming up with key saves. In fact, it's the team's agility that was one of the big reasons the Northwomen won the Northwest Division title.

"Agility and our aggressiveness did it," explained Jacobson. "And they never gave up."

Northland is 14-11 overall this fall.

GOING AFTER A Fergus Falls serve, Northland's Kelly Thompson kept the ball in play with a bump during Wednesday's community college volleyball match in the Northland gym. The Northwomen completed an unbeaten Northwest Division championship season with a 3-1 victory over the Spartans.

Experience Is Key For Northland Hockey Team

Nine sophomores, including four of the top five scorers from a year ago, are expected to provide Northland community college with the nucleus to be a competive factor in the 1981-82 Minnesota junior college athletic association (MJCAA) hockey race.

The 1980-81 Northmen finished below .500 at 8-13-1 and missed a state tournament berth, but still showed a dramatic improvement over a winless 1979-80 campaign. Second-year Northland coach Tom Goddard is hoping the experience the Northmen possess this winter will allow for continued improvement.

One thing is certain this year: Northland, as the host team, will definitely be in the field when the 1982 MJCAA state hockey tournament is played Feb. 20-21 in the Thief River Falls sports arena.

"Having nine returning players, we should have some experience," acknowledged Goddard. "There shouldn't be any surprises when we go on the road this year. I'm expecting more out of the guys who were here last year. Hopefully we can use their experience to our advantage."

List of returning sophomores is headed by Gary Usitalo, a speedy forward from Laurium, Mich., who led the Northmen in scoring a year ago with 21 goals, 21 assists and 42 points in 19 games.

Major loss in the front lines was Bruce Salmela of Warroad, the slick puck-handler who moved on to Northern Arizona. He was second in the 1980-81 Northland scoring charts with 11 goals, a team-leading 28 assists and 39 points.

But joining Usitalo will be last year's No. 3-4-5 scorers: Roger Olimb of Warroad, who had 15 goals, 22 assists and 37 points as a freshman; Wade Hoppe of Thief River Falls, 14-12 for 26; and Jim Thompson of Thief River Falls, 7-10 for 17.

Other returning forwards are Darin Olimb, Warroad (5-9-14); Mike Schmitt, Minot, N.D. (8-4-12); and Dave Lansing, Park River, N.D. (5-6-11).

Back on defense are Jeff Hockin, Hoyt Lakes; and Brian Ranum, Thief River Falls.

Usitalo has been named captain of the 1981-82 Northmen, with Lansing and Hoppe serving as assistant captains.

All three of last year's goalies — Jeff Reese, Charlie Sehler and Mark Tangen — are gone, but Goddard says his goaltending "should be improved" with freshmen Jeff Mongoven, Thief River Falls; Ken Milender, Warroad; and Greg Harder, Thief River Falls.

One of the top freshman skaters is Scott Wiebolt, an All-Section 8 high school defenseman with the Prowlers.

"Defensively we have excellent size, and they're mobile," noted Goddard.

Rest of the freshmen include Pat Boline, Wadena; Dean Dokkin, Murray Jorde, Tony Loeffler, Paul Storhaug and Jeff Sund, Thief River Falls; Mark Dudenas, Calumet, Mich.; Keith Huerd and Esklo Salmela, Warroad; Trent Peabody and Todd Gregiore, East Grand Forks; and Nate Kiel, Kenai, Alaska.

With experience, size and scoring potential, the Northmen could be an MJCAA factor. But on paper they appeared to be title-contenders a year ago and didn't make the top four state tournament field. They played outstanding hockey at times, but at other times they played poorly.

"We have to be much more consistent this year," admitted Goddard. "We've got the ability and the talent, but it'll take much more mental concentration. We're working on more team-orientated types of things this year."

With 27 players on the ice since Oct. 26, there's a lot of competition for jobs, mentioned Goddard, whose team will open its 1980-81 MJCAA schedule with a weekend series Dec. 11-12 vs. defending state champion Mesabi in the Thief River Falls sports arena.

LEADING THE NORTHLAND community college hockey team during the 1981-82 season will be, left to right, captain Gary Usitalo, assistant captain Wade Hoppe, assistant captain Dave Lansing and coach Tom Goddard. The Northmen began work-outs late last month in preparation for the upcoming season, which will begin with a Friday-Saturday weekend series Dec. 11-12, vs. Mesabi in the Thief River Falls sports arena.

Nordics Win District 32 Volleyball Tournament

Marshall County Central, Fosston and Alvarado emerged as district champions over the weekend and earned berths in the 1981 Region 8A high school volleyball tournament, scheduled to be played Saturday at the University of Minnesota-Crookston (UMC).

The Nordics won the District 32 tournament title, the Indians claimed the District 31 crown and the Greyhounds took the District 30 championship.

Results were not made availbale in District 29 where Blackduck, Walker, Bagley and Cass Lake reached the semifinals.

Region 8A matches Saturday will find Alvarado playing the District 29 winner at 2 p.m. and Marshall County Central going against Fosston at 3:30. Matches that night will start with the consolation championship at 7 o'clock, followed by the title match at 8.

District 30

No. 1 seeded Fosston defeated No. 2 seeded Oklee 18-5, 18-5 Saturday in the District 30 championship match at Fertile.

In quarterfinal play Thursday, Fosston beat Twin Valley 18-7, 18-7; Waubun stopped Fertile-Beltrami 18-13, 18-13; Oklee outlasted McIntosh-Winger 18-6, 9-18, 18-4; and Erskine upset No. 3 seeded Ada 18-15, 12-18, 18-16.

Saturday afternoon semifinals saw Fosston handle Waubun 18-6, 18-0 and Oklee get by Erskine 18-6, 11-18, 18-16.

Waubun beat Erskine 18-6, 18-13 in the consolation match preceding the Greyhounds' championship match victory over the Bobcats.

District 31

Unbeaten Alvarado outscored Red Lake Falls 18-10, 13-18, 18-5 Saturday in the District 31 championship match at Warren.

Quarterfinals were played Friday when Alvarado eliminated Fisher 18-14, 18-10; Climax ousted Plummer 21-19, 18-13; Red Lake Falls sidelined Argyle 18-13, 18-8; and Warren edged Stephen 15-18, 18-8, 18-16.

Saturday afternoon semifinals featured Alvarado beating Climax 18-7, 18-12 and Red Lake Falls outlasting Warren 13-18, 18-10, 18-15.

Climax defeated Warren 18-12, 18-15 in the consolation match before the Indians took the title from the Eagles.

District 32

Undefeated Marshall County Central survived a pair of close three-game matches Friday to win the District 32 tournament title at Roseau, beating Tri-County 18-16, 15-18, 18-13 in the finals.

Thursday's quarter finals found Marshall County Central beating Greenbush 18-5, 18-16; Badger handled Middle River 18-1, 18-5; Tri-County edged Grygla-Gatzke 18-16, 7-18, 18-14; and Kennedy upset Roseau 18-16, 18-20, 18-12.

Friday's semifinals saw Marshall County Central get by upset-minded Badger 14-18, 18-15, 19-17 and Tri-County rally to beat Kennedy 4-18, 18-9, 18-13.

Kennedy defeated Badger 18-12, 18-13 in the consolation match.

Marshall County Central coach Sarah Ackerman admitted it was not an impressive tournament showing by the Nordics.

North Half 8AA Volleyball Is Won By Spuds

Moorhead won the trimmed-down North Half Region 8AA high school volleyball tournament completed Saturday at Park Rapids.

Opening round matches were played Thursday when Crookston outlasted Detroit Lakes 9-18, 19-17, 18-11 and Fergus Falls eliminated East Grand Forks 18-14, 18-15.

In Saturday's semifinals, Moorhead ousted Crookston 18-8, 18-7; while Fergus Falls upset No. 2-seeded Park Rapids 18-14, 18- 12.

The No. 1-seeded Spuds defeated the Otters 18-2, 18-14 in the finals to earn a spot in the Region 8AA championship match, scheduled to be played Saturday at the site of the South Half Region 8AA champion.

North Half Region 8AA tournament field was reduced from eight to six teams because of teachers strikes at Thief River Falls and Bemidji.

NWF Magazine Shows Change In Fall Colors

Question comes up every year about this time: Why do leaves change color in the fall? According to Ranger Rick's Nature Magazine, autumn's cooler temperatures and shorter days cause chlorophyll — which gives leaves their green color in spring and summer — to break down and other pigments to form in the leaves.

National Wildlife Federation's monthly publication for children notes that "a spectacular show of fall colors depends on the right amount of sunshine, rain and cool temperatures." New England falls are often so beautiful, because the region's weather is usually dry, bright and cool.

Like everything else in nature, no two leaves are alike, and none of them will have the same splendid color combination each season. However, Ranger Rick explains that all the color variations are based on the following pigments:

+ Yellow and orange pigments are in the leaves all year long, but can't be seen in the spring and summer because they are covered by the green chlorophyll. These are the same pigments that make egg yolks yellow and carrots orange.

+ Red and purple colors of fall only show up on leaves of trees that produce a lot of sugar. Because trees need very cool and dry temperatures to produce sugar, these colors are mostly found in New England's trees. Red maples, which normally produce a lot of sugar, usually have red and purple leaves in autumn. But if fall temperatures are too warm, or there isn't enough sugar in the tree, a red maple's leaves will turn orange or yellow.

+ Brown leaves, like those on oak trees, do not change to bright colors in the fall, but become brown and drab. This is due to the presence of the chemical tannin, which mixes with the yellow and orange pigments, and turns the leaves brown.

And why do leaves fall?

Fall's cooler weather also causes the food products stored in the leaves to flow to safer quarters — the trees branches and trunk. A thin layer of cells, called the "abciss layer," then forms across the stem which connects leaf to twig. With this link weakened, the leaf is broken off by an autumn breeze or eventually falls to the ground of its own weight.

A SET AT the net by Northland's Maryls Huot put a teamate in position for a spike as Fergus Falls' Mona Evavold (11) and Donna Johnson (12) tried to defend against the shot in Wednesday's Northwest Division community college volleyball match played at Northland. The state tournament-bound Northwomen beat the Spartans 3-1 to close out their 1981 regular season schedule.

National Wildlife Federation Has Earthquake Information

It could have been a major killer. But when a monster earthquake struck Haicheng, China, in February, 1975 and destroyed 90 per cent of the city's buildings, the death toll was minimal.

Lives were spared because Chinese seismologists had predicted the destructive quake and the city had been evacuated, says the current issue of National Wildlife magazine in a special report on earthquakes. However, their successful forecast of the Haicheng quake led some seismologists to believe that long-term geological strains in the region had been relieved — meaning that no more quakes were expected in the locality for many years.

And so, a little more than a year later the Chinese learned the hard way how little they understood the phenomenon of earthquakes, according to the magazine. On July 28, 1976 the center of Tangshan, China, collapsed. Estimates put the death toll at more than 250,000, and the injured at 780,000. "In terms of human affliction, the Tangshan earthquake was second only to the one that had struck China's Shensi Province 420 years earlier, claiming 830,000," according to the National Wildlife Federation's bimonthly publication.

China's 1976 quake measured 8.0 in magnitude on the Richter scale, a mathematical rating of destructive force named after American seismologist Charles Richter. The smallest quake that can be felt is about 1.5 on the scale. One of 4.5 magnitude causes slight damage, while the 8.6 magnitude quake that wreaked havoc on southern Alaska in 1964 had the equivalent force of 10,000 atomic bombs.

About 500,000 detectable earthquakes shake some part of the globe each year, and the number of major quakes striking densely populated areas has increased steadily. Recent deadly quakes include one which struck the Iranian trading town of Tabas, in 1978, measuring 7.7 in magnitude and killing 25,000 people. Another powerful quake struck Italy in 1980, killing hundreds and leaving 200,000 homeless.

As the earth's population grows and as people continue to build in earthquake-prone areas, scientists strive to better understand the exact cause of quakes. Most scientists now believe that the underlying cause of earthquakes is heat from the earth's interior, which causes rocks of the earth's outer crust to expand until they rupture.

Twenty years ago geologists believed that earthquakes could not be scientifically predicted. But a new area of earth science called plate tectonics has enabled scientists to better understand the nature of earthquakes and related phenomena such as volcanoes. According to the plate tectonics concept, the earth is divided into about a dozen large slabs of rock, called plates. The plates act as underlying bases for continents and ocean floors. Moving at a speed of one inch per year, adjacent plates separate in some regions and collide in others.

Unfortunately, plate tectonics does not explain all earthquakes. Two of the strongest earthquakes ever to hit the U.S. actually happened far from any plate boundary — near Charleston, S.C., in 1886, and in New Madrid, Mo., in 1811.

Scientists use a variety of other methods to predict quakes, including tiltmeters, which monitor subtle changes in the angle of the ground, sensors in deep wells which keep track of water levels, and chemical detectors which sniff out quantities of the radioactive gas radon. "The strategy of prediction," Robert Hamilton of the U.S. geological survey's office of earthquake studies told National Wildlife, "is to deploy large numbers of instruments and to conduct extensive geodetic surveys in order to trap indications of an impending earthquake."

Some scientists even observe the behavior of animals in earthquake zones. It has been claimed that snakes suddenly emerge from the ground and other animals show signs of agitation before a major temblor. Scientists in the U.S. are monitoring the behavior of caged rats, mice and cockroaches prior to earthquakes.

Recently, U.S. researchers have been able to predict minor quakes in New York, South Carolina and northern California. While predictions may save thousands of lives, false alarms may cause a skeptical public to disregard warnings.

This worries scientists who believe a major quake is inevitable for California. Bruce Bolt, director of the seismographic station at the University of California at Berkeley, told National Wildlife: "The chances that such a huge quake will attack California within the next decade are 50-50. With every passing year, these odds steadily increase."

Donald Trunkey of San Francisco General Hospital adds, "Assuming an 8.3 magnitude earthquake on the San Andreas fault at 4 o'clock in the afternoon, you're looking at perhaps 10,000 dead and 40,000 injured. Out of 8,000 hospital beds in San Francisco, 7,000 would be destroyed or inoperative." Such an earthquake would cause buildings to topple, highway entrances and bridges to collapse, and electricity, telephone, water and sewage service would be cut off over large areas.

A series of incidents within the past two years in southern California suggests that another monster just might be imminent. The city of Pasadena drifted about nine inches to the west within six months. Radon gas levels increased. The nature of the strains in local plate boundaries altered.

"All this could — but does not necessarily — add up to an earthquake above 7.0 magnitude," seismologist Kate Hutton of the California Institute of Technology told National Wildlife. While neither Hutton nor any other scientist is prepared to issue a precise prediction when a California quake will occur, nobody doubts that a big one will hit within a matter of years.

The National Wildlife report asks: "Will the population be ready to cope with the disaster?"

'82 Waterfowl Stamp Contest Opened By DNR

Wildlife artists interested in entering Minnesota's 1982 migratory waterfowl stamp contest may submit their artwork to the Department of Natural Resources.

DNR conducts the contest each year to select a design for the following year's stamp. The stamp is required of all migratory bird hunters between the ages of 18 and 64 inclusive.

Artists receive no payment from the state for their design.

Only Minnesota residents are eligible to enter and only one design per contestant is allowed.

Designs must be in arcylic, oil, watercolor, tempera, scratchboard, pen and ink, pencil, charcoal, batik or a combination of these mediums.

Designs may be either mailed to the DNR Bureau of Information and Education, Centennial Building, 658 Cedar Street, St. Paul.

Names of the artists will not be known to the six member panel that judges the entries.

All entries must be delivered to the DNR by noon, December 1.

Artists must obtain a copy of the contest rules and a contest entry form before submitting their work. Write: Duck Stamp Contest, Minnesota DNR, Box 46, Centennial Building, 658 Cedar Street, St Paul, MN 55155-1679 or call (612) 296-3336

Area Teams Reach MSHSL Semifinals

Moorhead, Mahnomen, Fertile-Beltrami and Argyle all reached the semifinal stage of the 1981 Minnesota State High School League state football playoffs with quarterfinal wins during the weekend.

Class AA

Quarterfinal results in the Class AA saw Moorhead beat Irondale 21-16, Wayzata stopped Alexandria 24-7, St. Paul Johnson edged Edina 18-13 and Rosemount downed Minneapolis Washburn 37-9.

Semifinals will be played at Parade Stadium in Minneapolis. Johnson will play Rosemount Thursday, with Moorhead meeting Wayzata Friday.

Class A

Class A quarterfinals saw Hermantown out-score Breckenridge 31-30, Albany shut out Shakopee 14-0, Totino Grace got by St. Francis 14-10 and St. Peter downed Stewartville 22-16.

Friday semifinals will find Hermantown at Albany and Totino Grace vs. St. Peter at Fridley.

Class B

Defending Class B state champion Mahnomen crushed Chisholm 63-14 in Saturday's quarterfinals, while Holdingford drilled Pierz 41-0, Granite Falls beat Montgomery-Lonsdale 25-20 and Pine Island shaded Lewistown 14-12.

Semifinals Friday will have Holdingford playing at Mahnomen and Granite Falls at Pine Island.

Class C

Fertile-Beltrami doubled Verndale 16-8 in Class C quarterfinals, with Clarkfield blanking Breck 12-0, Medford stopping Henderson 10-0 and Chatfield beating Mabel-Canton 25-0.

The semifinals will match Fertile-Beltrami vs. Clarkfield at Hawley Friday and Chatfield at Medford.

Nine-Man

Argyle breezed by Fergus Falls Hillcrest Academy 32-14 in the nine-man quarterfinals Saturday, while Nevis handled Tower-Soudan 30-8, Starbuck ripped Winsted Holy Trinity 56-14 and Westbrook eliminated Bricelyn 36-14.

Semifinals Friday will find Nevis at Argyle and Westbrook at Starbuck.

Acid Rain Is Problem For Many States

A study by the National Wildlife Federation (NWF) has determined that 15 of the 26 states east of the Mississippi River are "extremely vulnerable" to the harmful effects of acid rain. Another ten states are "moderately vulnerable," according to the conservation group and one — Florida — is only "slightly vulnerable."

Ratings are contained in a report by NWF researchers who studied each state's rainfall acidity, geology, soils and water chemistry to estimate the potential for acid rain damage to fisheries, soils, crop foliage and marble and limestone structures within the states.

Acid rain forms when sulfur and nitrogen oxide emissions, mainly generated by coal-burning power plants, combine with rain or snow. The acid is often blown hundreds of miles from its actual source before it falls to earth. More than 90 lakes in the Adirondack Mountains are now fishless because acidic conditions have inhibited reproduction.

NWF study listed Connecticut, Kentucky, Maine, Massachusetts, Michigan, New Hampshire, New Jersey, New York, North Carolina, Pennsylyania, Rhode Island, South Carolina, Vermont, West Virginia and Wisconsin as the states that are extremely vulnerable to damage from acid precipitation. Those states found to be moderately vulnerable are Alabama, Delaware, Georgia, Illinois, Indiana, Maryland, Mississippi, Ohio, Tennessee and Virginia. Louisiana could not be fully evaluated due to a lack of data.

Massachusetts has the strongest acid rain and Florida the least acid of the 26 states studied.

In addition to analyzing vulnerability, the state evaluated each state's visibility impairment — as indicated by sulfate and nitrogen oxide concentrations found in the air.

Twenty states were found to have a high degree of visibility impairment, while five — Florida, Georgia, North Carolina, South Carolina and Vermont — had a moderate degree of impairment. Only Maine and New Hampshire got low visibility impairment evaluations.

Both the fisheries resources and soil of 11 states — Connecticut, Maine, Massachusetts, Michigan, New Hampshire, New York, North Carolina, Pennsylvania, Rhode Island, Vermont and Wisconsin — were found to be extremely vulnerable to acid rain's effects. Foliage of such crops as alfalfa, tobacco, lettuce, potatoes and soybeans was evaluated as being either vulnerable or non-vulnerable.

NWF researchers also compiled data on reports of auto paint damage due to acid rain in each of the states. They found that Florida, New Jersey, New York, and Pennsylvania had the highest incidents of reported damage by acid rain corrosion last year.

"Our study should lay to rest once and for all the claim that acid rain damage is confined to a few hundred lakes in upstate New York," said NWF executive vice president Dr. Jay D. Hair. "President Reagan's recommendation to Congress that acid rain merely be studied further represents a disastrous waste of time and research money. The studies have been done."

Hair noted that the NWF study confirms the conclusions of a recently released National Academy of Sciences report. The NAS found evidence of acid rain's "serious hazard to human health and the biosphere" to be so "clear" as to make continued emmissions of sulfur and nitrogen oxides at present levels "extremely risky from a long-term economic standpoint as well as from the standpoint of biosphere protection."

"When Congress considers reauthorization of the clean air act," Hair emphasized, "it is vital that our legislators take action to curb the causes of acid rain, with strict controls on sulfur dioxide emissions from coal-burning power plants in the eastern U.S. With states as far south as Florida showing signs of vulnerability to acid rain, it can't be long before every state in the Union is affected."

463 Million Walleye Eggs Are Harvested

Minnesota Department of Natural Resources reports that more than 463 million walleye eggs were taken by fisheries crews at 18 sites during the spring spawning run this year.

Eggs are hatched out in DNR fish hatcheries and are either placed in state lakes as fry or raised in ponds until they are fingerling size before being stocked.

Officials said lakes chosen for stocking are those that will support walleyes but lack natural spawning ares, or are lakes where spawning has been a failure due to the weather or other factors.

Lakes that are producing good natural hatches of walleyes nearly every year are seldom stocked. Officials said that the number of young walleyes produced during an average spring in just one of Minnesota's better walleye lakes, such as Mille Lacs, far exceeds the total number of walleyes produced in all of the department's hatcheries during the year.

Tell Me About Nature Naturally

by Gary C. Bennyhoff

"Minnesota has its soul-inspiring lakes and streams, its description-defying forests, its peaks and lowlands, islands and shores, all making the most gifted grope for the right combination of words that can bring these natural wonders to those unable to seen them first-hand," writes Gary C. Bennyhoff, Minnesota outdoors guest columnist.

Unfortunately, most writers do their work in sterile vaults, at home or in offices, far removed from the scenes that first inspired them. It is in the "sanctum sanctorum" that the words begin to flow and the prose and poetry blossoms, and it is here that the feeling of Minnesota's outdoors is lost.

Not too long ago, in a national publication, an oldtimer living in the backwoods of a western state was quoted as saying that Thoreau didn't stay in Walden long enough. If he had, his works may have died with him. For the true embrace of man and nature is a private matter, and, when described, it is best said in the vocabulary of the speaker.

I recall that as a student of literature I was moved to the use of all those phrases poetic, the colorful cliches and the false prose that impressed the reader. Unfortunately, the flowery stuff completely camouflages the picture. What I really felt about the subject matter was clouded by the technical process of creative writing.

Beauty is in the eyes of the beholder, and this is true when the beholder is looking out over a typical Minnesota lake scene and when he is reading the wellturned prose of a talented writer. Some feel they can capture the beauty of a scene with a camera. Others feel the camera misses true beauty. Some feel an artist's brush is better suited to portray natural beauty. Others feel offended by the artist's interpretation. Even two people standing on the same site will see different things in the view before them. In all cases, the beholder sifts the elements of the scene and finds appreciation of his own kind of beauty.

A writer, like an artist, is reaching for his own interpretation of beauty. Whether or not the beholder, or the reader, reaches the same interpretation cannot be known in advance. Like the impressionist painting, the words of the writer are not necessarily true to nature.

A gifted speaker, like the writer or the artist, can have his audience hanging on his every word. His phrasing, his choice of words, his eloquence in short, can demonstrate a mastery of oratory. Yet he may be using a vocabulary as alien to his own personality as it would be to the subject matter.

How much nearer the truth is the colloquial report of one fisherman to another, or one woodsman to another, told in the words he knows best, with the feelings he alone can know, such a story leaves all flowery prose to the lexicographers.

I cannot recall ever being moved to poetry by an experience in the outdoors. Yet I admit to waxing poetic when writing about it.

The overwhelming aura of nature should be a force toward the natural. Expressing appreciation for nature's wonders, therefore, should be in nature's terms and without the affected vocabulary of a lyricist. Tell me you saw a beautiful sunset, but don't bother me with the strained words of "Irridescence and diaphanous atmospheric phenomena". I'll take nature straight."

MCC Girls Win In District 32

"We didn't play very well at all," she noted. "They were so timid. They were not aggressive at all."

The Nordics almost bowed out in the semifinals against Badger. The Rockets had a 17-16 lead and the serve three times in the decisive third game, but couldn't come up with that match-winning 18th point.

"It was a little tense," confessed Ackerman, who praised the play of Shelley Anderson, who came off the bench "and helped us a lot."

Things eased up a little against Tri-County in the finals, but not much.

"We just pretty much lucked out," acknowledged Ackerman. "I wouldn't want to go through that again. We just didn't play our game. But they were determined."

LEGAL NOTICE

November 9, 1981
NOTICE

Agassiz health systems agency, in accordance with P.L. 96-79 and the department of health and human services guidelines, has developed an application for continued funding as the fully designated bi-state health systems agency for governor's planning regions I and II in northwest Minnesota and governor's planning regions III and IV in northeast North Dakota. Consistent with the application a formal public meeting will be held as noted: November 19, 1981, 1:00 p.m. at the Regency Inn, East Grand Forks, MN.

Public meeting is both an educational activity and an opportunity for citizen input relative to the application. First, a review of Agassiz activities in its sixth year of operation will be presented. Secondly, the meeting will provide an opportunity for all interested organizations and individuals to comment on and affect the formal application. Citizens are requested to assess the four overall areas of:

(1) Legal and organizational structure,

(2) selection process of the governing body,

(3) staff and their job descriptions, and

(4) the proposed seventh year work program.

Please submit written comments at the formal public meeting, or prior to the meeting, mail such comments to the Agassiz health systems agency, Box 129, Grand Forks, ND 58201. Additionally, verbal comments any individual may desire to make will be welcome at the public meeting. Registration will be held prior to the public meeting to assure an orderly process in receiving verbal comments.

Copies of the grant application and agency work program will be available at the public meeting. Additionally, copies of such will be available prior to the meeting at: county auditor's offices, regional planning commissions and libraries, or from the Agassiz health systems agency offices.

COUNTY BOARD PROCEEDINGS

November 9, 1981
Official Proceedings
Board of County Commissioners
Pennington County, Minnesota
October 27, 1981

Pursuant to adjournment, the Pennington County Board met in the Commissioner's Room in the Courthouse in Thief River Falls at 10:00 a.m., October 27, 1981.

Members Present: Hoffman, Grabanski, Koop, Stenberg and Tasa. All present.

The Board reviewed the remaining budgets which included the Auditor's, Assessor's and Commissioners' budgets.

Moved by Commissioner Hoffman, seconded by Commissioner Tasa that the County support the Pennington County Soil Conservation District in the amount of $15,500.00 for their 1982 budget which was requested on September 29, 1981, and said $15,500.00 be appropriated and paid from tax receipts for the year 1982. Motion declared unanimously adopted.

Duane Olson appeared before the Board in regard to draining of a piece of land in Section 16 Sanders Twp. After discussion of the problem the Board referred him to the Pennington County Soil and Water Conservation Service.

Commissioner Hoffman introduced the following resolution and moved its adoption:

WHEREAS, the County of Pennington, Minnesota has sustained catastrophic losses as a result of an unprecedented rainfall on May 22, 1981 to September 30, 1981; and

WHEREAS, the Pennington County USDA Emergency Board has filed their report and recommendation that the County of Pennington, Minnesota, shall be designated as a Disaster Area to assure the availability of emergency loans to the farmers for seed, feed, fertilizer and other operating expenses;

NOW, THEREFORE, BE IT RESOLVED, that the Board of County Commissioners for and on behalf of the citizens of Pennington County, request that Governor Albert Quie petition the Secretary of Agriculture for Federal Agricultural Disaster designation.

The foregoing resolution was duly seconded by Commissioner Tasa and upon vote was declared unanimously adopted.

A detailed examination of all of the salary requests was then undertaken with reference to the possible available funds, the various schedules in effect and the needs of the various offices. After discussion, Commissioner Hoffman introduced the following resolution and moved its adoption:

BE IT RESOLVED that all regular County Employees not covered by a Union Contract be allowed an 8.5 per cent wage adjustment over the 1981 salary except for reclassification of the Deputy Auditor and Deputy Clerk of County Court. Be it further resolved that a ceiling of $125.00 be set for County participation in the Health Insurance for 1982.

The foregoing resolution was duly seconded by Commissioner Stenberg and upon call for vote, declared carried with Commissioner Koop voting No and Chairman Grabanski abstaining.

Chairman Grabanski then relinquished the gavel to Vice Chairman Koop and introduced the following resolution and moved its adoption:

BE IT RESOLVED, that Per Diem for Commissioners be set at $45.00 effective January 1, 1982.

The foregoing resolution was duly seconded by Commissioner Tasa and upon call for Role Call Vote, the following vote was recorded: 1st District - Hoffman - yes; 2nd District - Grabanski - yes; 3rd District - Koop - yes; 4th District - Stenberg - yes and 5th District - Tasa - yes. The motion was declared unanimously carried.

The scheduling of the Tri-Valley Bus supported by the Counties was discussed. No action taken.

A "Thank you" letter from the Soil and Water Conservation Service for the County Engineer's help in digging holes for the FFA Soil Judging Contest was read.

Commissioner Stenberg introduced the following resolution and moved its adoption:

WHEREAS, Chapter 324 of the Laws of 1979, cited as the "Community Social Services Act", provides for planning, budgeting and administration of all social services to be administered by County Boards under the supervision of the Commissioner of Welfare, and

WHEREAS, the Pennington County Board of Commissioners has reviewed the budget for social services in Pennington County for the year 1981 and the budget for social services for 1982, according to budget before the Board for consideration:

NOW, THEREFORE, BE IT RESOLVED, that the budget for social services under the "Community Social Services Act" (CSSA) for the year 1982 providing for payment by the State of Minnesota of $175,553.00 for the year 1982, be approved, and

BE IT FURTHER RESOLVED, that the authority to provide social services under the Community Social Services Act be delegated to the Pennington County Welfare Department.

The foregoing resolution was duly seconded by Commissioner Koop and upon call for vote was declared unanimously adopted.

Moved by Commissioner Koop and seconded by Commissioner Tasa, the meeting adjourned to convene at 10:00 a.m. November 13, 1981.

The convention program included Sunday 8 a.m. church services conducted by Frank Petty, NAPUS chaplain from Utah. The reception honoring NAPUS national president James Syers and wife Sue of Ky. was well attended in the Skjervin Plaza Hotel. Monday's opening session was highlighted by the Lord's Prayer in Indian sign language by four Indian maidens in native dress. Dr. George Boley, the newly appointed minister of Post and Telecommunications of Liberia addressed the NAPUS delegates. Liberia has no mail service to each village and is an underdeveloped nation. Travel is by foot and modern conveniences are unheard of. Dr. Boley's job is to develop a viable communication system and was seeking information from NAPUS.

Seminars were conducted on career development, labor management, stress and philatelics (stamps), etc. Election of officers included the election of Joe Gondola of N.J. as president, Elroy Bartels of Tobias, Neb. as secretary-treasurer and Basil Walker of Moorhead as a regional vice president. The convention concluded with a grand banquet honoring Postmaster General William Bolger of Washington, D.C. who gave the main address. New officers were installed by outgoing president James Syers. The Oklahoma Indians presented a colorful pow-wow Wednesday evening. The following tribes in colorful tribal costume danced in competition. The Kiowa-Ononcloga, the Seminole, the Choctaw, the Creek and the Cherokee.

Following morning business sessions the evenings were free to tour major points of interest.

Swansons toured and visited the ninth grand national Morgan horse and observed competition in the English pleasure class, the National Cowboy Hall of Fame containing displays of western memorables, paintings by Russell and Remington and others, the 45th Infantry Division museum displaying old and modern artillery, original cartoon sketches drawn by Bill Mauldin in World War II, displays telling the story of the Oklahoma military and the Oklahoma National Guard and the 45th's participation in World War I and II and the Korean War, also a tour of Oklahoma's Fire Fighters museum containing beautifully restored fire fighting equipment, some dating back to territorial days in the 1800's. One three hour tour was the "Tinker Air Force Base tour" which is located on 4,200 acres with 21,500 civilian and military personnel. Eight per cent of all U.S. air force planes and motors are renovated and subjected to stress tests here. B-52s were being modified to meet agreement standards arrived at in a Russia-U.S. strategic planes agreement. Numerous AWACs planes were observed and their use and function explained by a tour guide, a young lieutenant of the U.S. Army.

A tour of the General Motors assembly plant took three hours and lots of walking. G.M. was working two 8 hours shifts producing Phoenix and Citation cars at the rate of 1200 per day. On Nov. 7 they will revert to one shift and 600 cars.

Mrs. Swanson toured the city and also the Oklahoma Heritage Center located in the family mansion home of Judge R.A. Hefner. The first two floors of this elegant early day mansion have been completely restored with original furnishings and are maintained as the Hefner family lived in them from 1927 to 1970.

The Hefners were world travelers and collected elegant European art and China and furnishings.

Another house toured was an early 1900 house with beautiful grounds and gardens which housed the Oklahoma Museum of Art collection.

Enroute home following the convention Swansons visited the National Historic Site Barracks, courthouse and jail in Ft. Smith, Ark. The barracks of the second fort was rebuilt in 1851. It became the courthouse for Judge Isaac Parker in 1875 and in 1888 the jail addition was added to replace the 13 year old underground damp, unsanitary cell block that held up to 100 inmates. Judge Parker was known as the "Hanging Judge". The courtroom was completely restored, including kerosene lamps on the tables used by lawyers.

The Judge had jurisdiction over Indian Territory and employed up to 200 deputy U.S. Marshalls to patrol the vast region. His term of office was 1875 to 1896.

Enroute to the NAPUS convention Swansons were overnight guests at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Harold South of Hull, Iowa on Tuesday, Oct. 13.

On Wednesday evening (aunt) Laura Lind was visited in Lincoln, Neb. Wednesday evening (cousin) John Lind's birthday and wedding anniversary was observed. Other guests were (cousin) Betty McBride and husband Bruce of Beatrice, Neb., (cousin) Jewel Hardt and John's daughters Carolyn and Lois. Swansons were overnight guests of the Linds in Lincoln, Neb. Thurs., the 15th, the Swansons visited (uncle) Arch Thompson and his wife Lillian who live on Mrs. Swansons grandfather Jones' homestead near Agenda, Kans. They were overnight guests of the Thompsons and evening guests at (Cousin) Gerald and Grace Thompsons who were combining melo. a feed grain.

Friday noon Swansons were dinner guests of (uncle) Earl Teagarden and wife Edna in Manhattan, Kans. Friday evening overnight and supper guests of (sister) Doris and Dale Fields of Arlington, Kans.

Winter wheat was growing well due to the many fall rains, all through southern Neb. and Kans. and northern Okla.

Enroute home from the NAPUS convention Ernest Swanson observed his birthday at the home of (brother) Harland Jones and wife Lou of Ft. Smith, Ark. on Oct. 23.

Sunday, Oct. 24, the Swansons visited with (niece) Donna Nelson and husband Roger and children, Mark and Mary Ann and Mr. and Mrs. Randy Nelson of Kansas City. Sunday evening they were overnight guests of (brother) Clark Jones and wife Adeline of Dunkerton, Iowa.

Monday, the Swansons continued their 2,700 mile trip northward and were dinner guests at (sister) Wanda and Reed Weinbergs of Clarksville, Iowa, who were combining corn and had supper with (nephew) Dick Naer in St. Paul. They arrived home Tuesday, Nov. 27 where it was warmer with no snow as Iowa had.

The drive through and over the Ozark mountains was most spectacular after leaving Ft. Smith enroute to Kansas City.

Mrs. Clarence Johnson and Mrs. Marlin Johnson and Jessica were Tuesday visitors and lunch guests at the Merle Naeseth home.

Local Co-op Get Share Of CENEX Stock

Farmers Union Oil company, Thief River Falls, was recently presented a check for $9,917 at a special meeting in this area for co-op directors and managers sponsored by CENEX, wholesale agricultural supplier for the co-op.

Co-op'd check represents its share of $3.3 million in cash CENEX is returning to local co-ops this fall to retire stock held by local co-ops in Cenex. Total amount of stock CENEX has retired this year is $5,436,000.

Cash payment was announced by George Panek, board member of the co-op in Thief River Falls.

"This check is a reminder that in cooperatives the savings are returned to the people who use it — its member-owners," Panek said. "This cash will go to work in our community to be invested in cooperative services, to pay taxes and to supplement members' incomes."

Co-op members save on their agricultural supplies when they buy at their co-op and save through stock retirements when money is returned to local co-ops.

CENEX is one of the nation's leading farm supply cooperatives serving 1,500 local co-ops in a 13-state area.

Union Ballots Mailed To 'U' Faculty

Over the next month, faculty on the University of Minnesota Twin Cities campus will decide whether they will unionize. Ballots to 2,165 faculty members were mailed Friday. Faculty will have until December 28 to mail their votes to the state's bureau of mediation services (BMS).

Ballots provide the option of electing the University of Minnesota Education Association (UMEA) or the American Association of University Professors (AAUP) as bargaining agent, or the option of "no agent," which would rule out collective bargaining on the Twin Cities campuses.

The BMS requires campaigning to stop after November 5. This order includes the two porposed bargaining agents and a third organization, the faculty governance caucus, which opposes collective bargaining. The BMS has ruled that the university administration remain neutral during the election.

In earlier elections on the university's other campuses, the University of Minnesota Duluth education association (UMDEA) was elected bargaining representative at Duluth and Waseca. Crookston campus faculty voted against collective bargaining. There has been no election at the Morris campus.

Faculty of the law school and Twin Cities medical school voted earlier to opt out of the upcoming collective bargaining election, and will not receive ballots.

Twin Cities election results are expected to be announced by the BMS December 29.

The first state legislation requiring factory inspections was in Massachusetts in 1879, according to "Labor Firsts in America," a publication of the U.S. Department of Labor.

PRIOR TO MARCHING in support of an end to the Thief River Falls teachers' strike, these students at the Thief River Falls area vocational-technical institute received last-minute comments from Dr. Orley Gunderson, AVTI director and advisor to the student senate at the school. The student senate coordinated the effort in which a number of other students joined. The group is urging settlement of the strike but is taking no position in support or opposition of either side in the issue.

Deadline Near For Exceptions To Milk Order

Dairy farmers, cooperatives, milk handlers and consumers may file written exceptions until Nov. 17 on a recommended decision of the U.S. Department of Agriculture (USDA) that would change provisions of the upper midwest federal milk marketing order.

Herbert L. Forest, dairy official with USDA's agricultural marketing service in Washington, D.C., said the recommended decision is based on a public hearing held April 14 in Minneapolis, on proposals submitted by cooperatives and handlers under the order.

Recommended decision would change the manner in which the market administrator may issue a "call" directing that milk from supply plants be shipped to distributing plants for fluid use, Forest said. It also would consider a cooperative association as a handler on bulk tank milk received at producers' farms associated with its own pool plant, and would change date of partial payment to individual producers from the 25th day of the month to the fourth day of the following month.

Recommended decision will be published in November 2 Federal Register. Copies of it may also be obtained from: Market Administrator Aaron L. Reeves, 4570 W. 77th St., Suite 210, Minneapolis, MN 55435; or Dairy Division, AMS, USDA, Washington, D.C. 20250.

Exceptions to the decision should be sent to: Hearing Clerk, Rm. 1077-S, USDA, Washington, D.C. 20250, where they will be available for public inspection.

Quie Meetings Examine MN's Fiscal Problems

Gov. Al Quie recently renewed his pledge of cooperation in working to solve the state's fiscal problems.

"I am pleased to see Democrats and Republicans stepping forward, offering to work together to solve the enormous financial problem facing our state. This attitude is essential if we are to successfully resolve the situation," he said.

"Throughout the budget difficulties we have faced in the last year I have continually stressed my desire to talk to the people affected and listen to their ideas and recommendations. For this reason I cleared my schedule last week to meet with as many of these groups as possible. My staff and commissioners met with others. And before we propose a solution I will meet with others," he added.

Some of the representatives of groups the governor met with last week were representatives of the Minnesota education association, the Minnesota school boards association, the Minnesota federation of teachers, the University of Minnesota president and regents, the Minnesota association of counties, the League of Cities, the Association of township officers, the state board of education, the state's three largest departments affected by the shortfall: education, revenue (dealing with aids to local units of government) and welfare, and the legislative leadership of both parties and both houses.

Governor stressed that he will not impose a solution upon the affected groups.

"I cannot solve a problem of such enormity with cuts made unilaterally by myself. We are going to have to work on a solution through legislative action. Therefore, I call upon affected groups to not only get in touch with me, my staff and commissioners, but also to their legislators so their recommendations can be brought to the forefront," the governor said.

"Only with everyone working together toward a solution will we resolve this situation," he added. "It is with this spirit that I have been and will continue to address the problem before us."

Wednesday Is Anniversary Of Day WWI Ended

Veterans Day 1981 marks the fourth anniversary of its return to November 11 and the tradition of honoring the unknown soldier at Arlington on the 11th hour of the 11th day of the 11th month.

From 1971 to 1975, Veterans Day was observed on the fourth Monday in October in compliance with a 1968 law that changed most national holidays to Mondays.

In 1975, Congress responded to public feeling that the November 11 date was too significant to abandon. Effective 1978, on the 60th anniversary of the World War I armistice, a law was passed returning the holiday to November 11.

Veterans Administration (VA) representatives said that with return of the observance to the armistice date of that "war to end all wars," this year's observance is an occasion to pay tribute to 1,081,000 American who have died in defense of their country in all American wars since 1776 and to more than 30 million former servicemen who served during both war and peace.

More than half of men and women who have worn their country's uniform in wartime are still alive. Of a total 38,924,000 war participants — going back to the earliest days of the nation — 25,789,000 are still living.

Another 4.2 million living veterans saw only peacetime service.

VA representatives said that by far the most costly of America's wars was its Civil War. Which saw 364,000 deaths in the Union army and an estimated 133,821 Confederate deaths. Authoritative statistics are not available for the Southern casualties.

In contrast, 290,000 Americans fought in the revolution, and 4,000 died. Out of 287,000 American participants in the War of 1812, 2,000 died.

During the Mexican War 79,000 Americans were in uniform, 13,000 died.

In the Spanish-American War, 11,000 of the 392,000 U.S. participants died.

A total of 4,744,000 answered the country's call to arms in World War I, and 116,000 died.

World War II saw the greatest number of Americans ever in uniform — 16,535,000 men and women. There were 406,000 deaths in service during that conflict.

During Korean fighting, 6,807,000 saw service, and when it was over in 1955, 55,000 had died.

9,834,000 Americans were in service during Vietnam-era fighting. Of that number, 47,000 deaths were due to action of hostile forces, according to VA.

EMT Refresher Course Offered At NW Hospital

A refresher course for emergency medical technicians (EMTs), will be held at Northwestern Hospital, Thief River Falls, from 6:30 to 10:30 p.m. Monday and Tuesday evenings, for three weeks, beginning November 30.

The course, offered by the East Grand Forks area vocational technical institute, is designed to update skills learned in the 81-hour EMT course with new and revised methods. Included will be a review of skills each EMT should possess.

Police Ass'n. To Sponsor Essay Contest

Robert D. Burch, conservation officer and President of the Minnesota Police and Peace Officers association has announced that the statewide organization will again sponsor its essay contest for high school students in Minnesota. Subject will be, "The Prevention of Juvenile Delinquency."

Contest is conducted as part of the association's public service juvenile delinquency prevention program.

"It is our belief," Burch said, "that participation in this contest provides the student with an opportunity to examine in depth the delinquency problem as it relates to youth and to suggest methods of prevention."

A total of $1,000 in cash will be awarded to students for the best essays. First place winner will receive $400.

Rules of the contest have been mailed to all high schools in the state. Essays are limited to not more than 1,800 words and must be submitted for judging not later than March 15, 1982. Winners will be announced on May 1, 1982.

Further information on the contest may be obtained from Minnesota Police Journal, 7031 Oxford Street, Minneapolis, Minnesota 55426.

Volume 70 (USPS 627-360) Thief River Falls, Pennington County, Minnesota Wednesday, November 11, 1981 Number 88

ANTIQUE toys and tools, made by Dick Brown, Viking, were shown to Scouts attending Junior Badge day yesterday in the basement of the Thief River Falls city auditorium. Day's activities included a flag ceremony, and demonstrations on the art of storytelling, folk singing, and the explanation of natural foods and their uses. All girls attending received their folk arts badge.

Teacher Strike Near Settlement

Thief River Falls teachers' strike is teetering on the brink of settlement as the Times prepares to go to press this afternoon. Unofficial bargaining among school administration, school board and negotiators for the Thief River Falls Education association has been going on throughout the morning with agreement reportedly within sight.

The striking TRFEA has scheduled a meeting of all local teachers for 8 p.m. tonight at Redeemer Lutheran church, according to chairman Mike Lehrer. At the meeting the teachers will either vote on a contract offer for 1981-83 or receive an explanation from the organization's leadership and hold discussion on why there is no proposal for a vote.

The school board had scheduled a 1:30 p.m. meeting to review a proposal from the TRFEA which included a salary schedule and several other items of suggested agreement.

Main contention at the present time seems to be the number of days which would be made up following the strike which is in its 20th day today. Both the board and teachers' association have been using the figure of an average loss per teacher of $100 per day for each strike day not made up following settlement. The $100 figure is an all-inclusive one using the total salary and benefit package and dividing by the number of faculty members.

Movement toward settlement became significant during a 13-hour mediation session which began at 2 p.m. Monday and concluded at 3 a.m. Tuesday in the Pennington county law enforcement center. At the end of that session with state mediator Richard Springer, the board had increased its two-year contract offer from an average increase of $4,500 to $5,150. The teacher organization, which had earlier requested an average of $5,352.84 as a "settlement offer", had revised its request to $5,400.

President Mike Lehrer of the TRFEA said that the request had gone to $5,400 due to the question of make-up days. The $5,352 offer had been made on the basis that all strike days would be made up, Lehrer said. At the end of the mediaton session, the board had proposed that 12 days would not be made up while the teachers agreed to not making up nine of the days. Since that time, two more strike days have occurred.

The teachers association negotiating team has prepared a salary schedule proposal using the board's last offer of $5,150 total average increase but arranging the money in the schedule. That schedule is being considered by the board and indications are that it may be acceptable since the cost total is the same. Although the schedule

Parents Group Takes Support Signatures

Persons interested in signing the support statement for the newly-formed Interested Parents group in Thief River Falls may do so at the Times office or at Zion Lutheran, Redeemer Lutheran or United Methodist churches, according to chairman Ken Froschheiser.

Interested Parents is a group formed to encourage and work for settlement of the Thief River Falls teacher strike and to continue in operation for the next two years as a support group for local education.

Council Acts To Oppose Hazardous Waste Site

Hazardous waste site, status of Lind Motor Supply building, and traffic flow plans were among topics discussed at the regular meeting of Thief River Falls City Council, Tuesday evening in Council Chambers at City Auditorium.

Earl Marquis and Walter Quam, Goodridge, presented information regarding a proposed hazardous waste site under consideration south of Grygla by Minnesota Pollution Control Agency. Quam noted that the considered area was frequently flooded, and overflow ran into ditch 20 which enters the river about six miles upstream from where Thief River Falls takes out its water supply.

He urged that PCA proceedings be watched closely, commenting "what they say and what they do are two different things." Notice was taken that the agency had originally been talking about a transfer station, and now was planning for a dumping site. Mayor Carlson said that the first he had heard about the site was when he read about it in the paper. Don Grabanski, chairman of the Pennington County Board noted that they had not been informed of the last meeting in Crookston.

Marquis said he had been informed waste material would be coming from five states. Quam described it as "worse than nuclear waste. It's really deadly stuff."

Alderman Bill Penning commented that he was "ready to be against a poorly designed hazardous waste site," but noted it would have to be approached in a proper manner. "They can run all the tests they want," he said, noting that with the soil types and drainage in the area, PCA was "going against their own regulations," regarding site selection.

The matter was turned over the Health and Sanitation committee to come up with a "strongly worded resolution in opposition to a poorly designed hazardous waste site." The resolution is to be forwarded to proper government officials.

Status of the Lind Motor Supply building was discussed. The building was condemned by City Building

Momsen Talks At Legion For Veterans Day

Frank Momsen, immediate past national adjutant of the American Legion, will be guest speaker tonight at the Veterans day program sponsored by Ecklund-Holmstrom Post 117 of the American Legion and auxiliary in Thief River Falls.

Momsen, Cottage Grove, has been active in various offices of the American Legion in Minnesota. His talk will deal with American Legion affairs and the strengths and involvement of the organization. Momsen was also scheduled to speak at noon today to the regular meeting of the noon Lions club.

Ellsworth Jorgenson will serve as master of ceremonies for tonight's program which follows a banquet scheduled for 7 p.m. Social hour begins at 6 p.m. Pledge of allegiance will open the banquet program, followed by an invocation by Vernon Lee. Welcome addresses will be given by Lova Kraemer, president of the auxiliary unit, and Orville Botner, commander of Post 117.

Introductions will be made by the master of ceremonies, Momsen will speak and Lee will give the benediction. Entertainment is also planned during the program and a dance will follow the program. The Veterans day event is offered free to all paid up 1982 members of the post and auxiliary.

Annual Meeting Of County Fair Ass'n. Monday

Report of 1981 operations and election of directors for three-year terms will take place at the annual meeting of the Pennington county fair association Monday at 8 p.m. in the Pennington county courthouse meeting room.

President Vernon Lee will preside at the business meeting and the 1981 county fair report will be reviewed by treasurer Richard Anderson. Other officers of the association include Oliver (Skip) Swanson, secretary and Duane Olson, vice president.

Directors whose terms expire this year include Mariann Stark, Dan Helle, Richard Anderson, Wilbur Hallstrom, Terry Nelson and Donna Harder. Elected at the meeting in addition to the directors will be delegates and alternates to the annual convention of the Minnesota association of county fairs to be held January 17, 18 and 19 in the Twin Cities.

Discussion at the meeting will include ideas for improvement of the 1982 county fair, including the entertainment programs. All members of the association are encouraged to attend.

Stop Smoking By Joining In Five-Day Plan

Beginning of a five-day plan to stop smoking will take place Monday at 7:30 to 9 p.m. at Northwestern hospital in Thief River Falls, sponsored by the Pennington county chapter of the American Cancer society.

Classes will continue nightly from Monday through Friday at the same time. A small fee will be charged to cover cost of materials and pre-registration is encouraged by calling 681-2685.

The five-day plan offering is being coordinated with Minnesota D-Day Thursday, November 19.

Reorganization Plan Approved . . .

Arctic Era Here To End With Coming Of Spring

Operation of Arctic Enterprises as a snowmobile manufacturer in Thief River Falls will finally come to an end by spring of 1982. Bankruptcy Judge Jacob Dim will issue his official order this Friday, but last Friday he confirmed the company's reorganization plan after unsecured creditors voted nine to one in favor of the reorganization.

Arctic Enterprises president Ken Severinson said that the order would become effective November 16. Secured creditors of the company, including the banks holding the major interest in the company's assets, were all in favor of the reorganization, Severinson said.

The company will continue as a marine company, much smaller in size and handling only the manufacture and sale of boats and related items. The assets of the snowmobile company will be sold. Operations of the marine company would likely be headquartered in Little Falls and the corporate offices here would be phased out.

Severinson said that there have been "several lookers" as far as sale of the snowmobile company assets are concerned, but he emphasized that none of these is interested in operating the plant or acquiring the buildings. The company continues to seek a buyer which would acquire all of the assets, but it is entirely possible that sale could take place on a piecemeal basis.

At present there are less than 50 people employed by the snowmobile company in Thief River Falls, primarily in the areas of service and parts, accounting, manufacturing support on service parts and five administrative positions. These jobs will continue to be phased out over the next few months to zero out about the end of May. No transfers within the company are expected since the marine operation is presently self-sustaining.

Severinson said that the company has sold out its inventory of last year's snowmobile models and that dealers have been doing a good job of selling them to the public. Last report showed a total of 23 unsold snowmobiles in Arctic's U.S. and Canadian inventory. Surprisingly, however, reports also indicated that Arctic Cat had 28 per cent of the retail snowmobile market.

Since last July the company has basically been operating under the reorganization plan, Severinson said, conducting the sale of its snowmobile inventory and handling parts and accessories sales. Cost recovery to creditors has been therefore reduced during that time by the amount of sales made.

The company will continue to supply parts this year, recognizing that there may be half a million Arctic Cat snowmobiles "out there somewhere," the company president added. He expected that Arctic Cat owners and buyers of the models being sold by dealers now will have parts availability in the future. There is little doubt that someone will assume that part of the operation since it provides good profit potential.

A new product line for 1982 had been developed but never

GRANT FROM the Northwest Regional Development Commission (NWRDC) in Crookston for $15,576, including a grant from the McKnight Foundation for $1,245 through the NWRDC, have helped the idea of a new senior citizen center in Goodridge become a reality. Although most of the building is scheduled for completion by the end of November, $7,000 is still needed to fully complete necessary work. Building has been constructed at the site of the former liquor store in Goodridge, with land obtained from the village. The Goodridge seniors are accepting donations toward completion of the project.

Telelecture On Houseplants Is Set Wednesday

A telelecture program on "Care of Houseplants" will be presented on Wednesday, November 18, beginning at 7:30 p.m. in the courthouse meeting room.

The program being provided by the Pennington county extension service will feature University of Minnesota horticulturist Deborah Brown with a colorful series of slides that can provide the houseplant enthusiast or beginner with valuable assistance in selecting and caring for houseplants.

Along with the slide presentation there will be a display of several of the common houseplants recommended for this area.

Board To Meet At Goodridge

Board of education at School District 561 in Goodridge will conduct its regular November meeting Monday at 2 p.m. in the superintendent's office in the Goodridge school.

Senior Center In Goodridge Nearly Finished

Through the help of friends (Elmer Johnson and Martin "Bill" Rehm) and their wives, Goodridge Jaycees, Lion's club, other volunteers and a grant through the Northwest Regional Development Commission of Crookston (NWRDC), the senior citizen center in Goodridge is nearing completion.

"It was the people of Goodridge that took a hold of it (idea)," according to Oldrich Hoffman, carpenter working on the project. The seniors presently use a Quonset building in Goodridge for their activities — a building often as cold inside as out, Hoffman said.

When the liquor store in Goodridge was torn down, and a new one built, the idea of the senior citizen center at the site of the former liquor store originated. Construction began last May once land was obtained from Goodridge for the project.

"We should be done at the end of this month with what we can do," Hoffman said. "Then I suppose we can apply for additional grants or take donations (to complete the project)."

Although major portions of the building are scheduled for completion by the end of November so seniors may begin using the building, additional improvements will have to be made, such as more insulation, a permanent floor

Deborah Penning Weds James Nelson At Trinity

Music and scripture readings highlighted the wedding of Miss Deborah Penning and James Nelson held September 26 at 4:00 p.m., at Trinity Lutheran church in this city.

Parents of the couple are Mr. and Mrs. William S. Penning of this city and Mr. and Mrs. Roy Nelson of Goodridge.

Rev. Mark Knutson, Lutheran student pastor at Bemidji State university, and Rev. L. M. Hovland officiated at the double ring ceremony. Rev. Knutson gave the pastoral meditation, read the legend of "The Wedding Ring," and together with Rev. J. M. Hovland offered Holy Communion. Reading scripture were Ken Stalboerger, Deb Matero, Sandi Nietfeld and Richard Penning, Owatonna, brother of the bride.

Mrs. Carl Nordvall, a friend of the bride's family, presided at the organ. As the guests were seated, she accompanied the soloists: Solveig Swenson, Arlyce Huntington and Terri Cuppett as they sang, "The Father Loves You," "Can't You See," "Free to be You and Me," "The Twelfth of Never," "Danny Boy," and "First Corinthians 13." Arlyce Huntington and Doug Paulson joined in singing "Spirit Song," "Sunrise Sunset," and "Sabbath Prayer."

As the chapel bells were rung, the candles were lit by Grant Penning and Kurt Nelson, brothers of the bride and groom. Before the processional, the bride sang, "Unchained Melody" and "The Wedding Prayer."

Doug Paulson, guitarist, accompanied Mrs. Nordvall in playing "Edelweiss," as the bridesmaids assembled at the altar. For the bride's processional Mrs. Nordvall played "Wedding Processional," from "Sound of Music."

During the ceremony, the guests sang, "Beautiful Saviour," Arlyce Huntington sang, "Bless This House," and the bride sang, "The Lord's Prayer." Following the recessional, "My Tribute," a quartet composed of Doug Paulson, Ron Hanson, Arlyce Huntington and Solveig Swenson sang, "Praise to the Lord," "Come Thou Almighty King," "God of Our Fathers," "Love Divine All Love Excelling," "His Sheep Am I," and "Tis the Gift to be Simple."

The bride, given in marriage by her parents, was attired in a white, floor-length gown designed with a fitted bodice featuring long, fitted lace sleeves and a sweetheart neckline outlined with narrow lace. Complementing her chapel-length train was a walking-length veil held by a Juliet headpiece. She carried a nosegay of gardenias, stephanotis and babies' breath accented with lemon leaves and lace backing.

Mrs. Pat Kjensmo was the bride's personal attendant.

Attending the bride as matron of honor was Mrs. Cathy Hagen, a friend. Bridesmatrons were Mrs. Carol Melander and Mrs. Paula Newton, sisters of the bride. All wore spaghetti strap gowns of a dusty rose crepe topped by capes of a coordinating sheer print. Their nosegay bouquets were of wine tipped carnations and babies' breath.

Kelly Newton, a niece of the bride, was flower girl. She wore a short-sleeved, floor-length gown of light mauve trimmed with lace.

Attending the groom as best man was a friend, John Desotel of Bird Island. Groomsmen were the groom's brothers: Steve Nelson of Red Wing and Jeff Nelson of Thief River Falls. Ushers were David Penning, Cory Nelson, brothers of the couple, Randy Peterson, St. Cloud, and Bob Fleegel, Bird Island, friends of the couple. All wore silver gray tuxedos with white boutonnieres.

The mother of the bride was attired in a light taupe qiana street-length dress complemented by a gardenia corsage. A similar corsage accented the gray suit worn by the groom's mother.

Honor guests were Mrs. H. A. Penning, grandmother of the bride; Mrs. Amanda Nelson, grandmother of the groom; and Mrs. Elizabeth Netteland, neighbor and family friend of the bride's.

A reception in the church parlors followed with Mr. and Mrs. Gene Beito and Mr. and Mrs. Orin Green as hosts and hostesses. Marilyn Nelson, a sister of the groom, presided at the guest book. Punch was served by Mr. and Mrs. Doug Harbott and Mr. and Mrs. Rory Anderson.

Centering the serving table was an all-white, three-tiered wedding cake topped by a cluster of gardenias, stephanotis and babies' breath. Surrounding the base were lemon leaves, accented with gardenias. Cake servers were Mrs. Glenna Wefald and Mrs. Donald Barron, friends of the bride.

Kransekaka, the traditional Scandinavian wedding cake decorated with miniature Swedish flags, was also served at the bridal table.

Serving coffee were Mrs. Louis Fausher, aunt of the bride, and Larae Kaushagen, a cousin of the groom. Waitresses were Debbie and Sonya Smith, Laura Beito, Mary Courneya, Lonna Kaushagen, Julie Melander and Janelle Storhaug.

During the reception the soloists: Doug Paulson, Solveig Swenson, and Arlyce Huntington sang, "It's a Big Wide Wonderful World," "Oh What a Beautiful Morning," "Candle on the Water," "Some Enchanted Evening," "If We Only Had Love," and "Climb Every Mountain."

After a wedding trip to Wyoming, the couple is now at home in St. Cloud. The bride is a graduate of Lincoln high school, Northland Community college and Bemidji State University. Prior to her marriage, she taught elementary music at Winthrop and Worland, Wyo. She is currently working towards her master's degree at St. Cloud University. The groom is a graduate of Lincoln high school and Bemidji State university. He is employed in St. Cloud as a feed specialist for Land O'Lakes. Photo, Rick Adams, Thief River Falls.

Jodi Lynn Ranum And Tommy Bendickson Wed

Marriage vows were exchanged on September 5 at 3:00 p.m., at Zion Lutheran church in this city by Jodi Lynn Ranum, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Dale Ranum of Thief River Falls, and Tommy Steven Bendickson, son of Mr. and Mrs. Henry Bendickson of Thief River Falls. The date selected by the couple was the wedding anniversary of the bride's parents.

Rev. Richard Larson officiated at the double ring ceremony. Organist was Tony Ricci, a friend of the couple. He played "Trumpet Voluntary," for the processional and accompanied his wife, Nancy, and Diane Mosbeck as they sang "Sunrise, Sunset," "You Are My Miracle," "Sometimes," and "The Lord's Prayer."

Forming the chancel setting were two 15-branch candelabra decorated by the bride with greenery and cream-colored bows.

The bride was given in marriage by her parents. She was attired in a lustre knit gown with a pleated floor-length skirt complemented by a pleated, chapel-length, watteau train. Venice lace accented the Queen Anne neckline and outlined the sheer inset on her long, fitted sleeves. Her chapel length veil with blusher, borrowed from a friend, was held by a Venice lace headpiece with seed pearl trim. She carried a bouquet of cream-colored roses, ivory carnations tipped in rust, and assorted poppies in browns, yellow and orange.

The bride's personal attendants were Ginny Pream, Polly Olson and Nancy Zimpel.

Candy Joppru, a friend of the couple was maid of honor. Bridesmaids were Janet Kvasager, Fargo, N.D., and Pam Dallmann, also friends of the couple. Their rust colored gowns of lustre knit were styled with pleated skirts and peasant tops with ruffled lace trim. In their hair, they wore a cluster of dried flowers and babies breath accented by a rust mum. Their bouquets, similar to the bride's were backed by wicker fans.

Chrissy Jacobson, Brooklyn Center, a cousin of the bride, served as flower girl. She wore a white dress, styled like the bridemaids. Ringbearer was Benji Berg, Bagley, a nephew of the groom. Like the groom, he wore a white tuxedo with a rust-tipped carnation surrounded by dried flowers.

Don Grobowska, Goodridge, a friend of the couple, was best man. Groomsmen were Arden Hyland, Moorhead, and Howard Vigen, Duluth, also friends of the couple. The ushers were Kevin Anderson, Joel Ranum and Brian Ranum, brothers of the bride. All wore spice-colored tuxedos, trimmed in brown, white shirts and rust tipped carnation boutonnieres.

For her daughter's wedding, Mrs. Ranum wore a cream colored dress featuring a pleated skirt and a peasant top trimmed with lustre lace. The groom's mother was attired in an empire fashioned mint green knit dress with a high neckline and long sleeves. Their corsages were of bright orange daisies cream-colored buds, brown mums and dried flowers.

Honor guests were Mr. and Mrs. A.G. Anderson, grandparents of the bride; Mrs. Frances Panek and Mrs. Helen Bendickson, grandmothers of the groom; Mr. and Mrs. Ken Ranum and Mr. and Mrs. Mike McMahon, godparents of the bride; Mr. and Mrs. Ray Aandal, godparents of the groom, and Clara Jaenette and Mr. and Mrs. Adam Lendobeja, special friends.

A reception for 350 guests was given in the church parlors by the bride's parents. Hosts and hostesses were Mr. and Mrs. Rory Anderson, brother and sister-in-law of the bride, and Mr. and Mrs. Bob Bendickson, brother and sister-in-law of the groom. Becky Bergland, registered the guests as Mary Kay Winjum, Nancy Hendrickson, Shelly Hyland and Julie Grabowsak served the punch. All are friends of the couple.

The three-tiered wedding cake with flowing water fountain, was iced in cream color and decorated with cascading flowers. Topping the cake was a gold Christogram, a gift from the bride's mother. The cake was cut and served by Mrs. Curtis Swanson and Mrs. George Panek, aunts of the bride and groom, respectively. Pouring coffee were Mrs. Bill Jacobson, cousin of the bride, and Mrs. Juel Stadum, aunt of the bride.

Tami Jorde, a cousin of the bride, and LeAnn Paetznick, a friend of the couple, served as waitresses. Gift bearers were Richie and Mike Bendickson, nephews of the groom. Jenny Jacobson, a cousin of the bride, distributed the rice packets.

Following a wedding trip to Minneapolis, the couple is at home in Thief River at Riverview trailer court, lot 6. The bride is a graduate of Lincoln high school, Northland Community college and Moorhead State. She is student teaching in Thief River Falls. The groom is a graduate of Goodridge high school and is employed by L.B. Hartz Wholesale. Photo, Lund Photography, Roseau.

Durlyn Robinsons Honored On Their 40th Anniversary

Mr. and Mrs. Durlyn J. Robinson of 502 South Crocker Avenue, were honored on their 40th wedding anniversary on Sunday, November 1, at an open house at Redeemer Lutheran church fellowship hall.

A short program was given with the couple's two daughters, Ila Hanson of Arvado, Colo., and Linda Sutch of International Falls, in charge. Mrs. Hanson welcomed the guests and gave the opening prayer and Mrs. Sutch led her children in singing a medley of Sunday school songs. Also participating in the program were the grandchildren, Deanna Hanson, who played a piano solo, and Adam Sutch, who read I Corinthians 13. The pastoral greeting was given by Rev. Keith Prekker. The assembled guests joined in singing, "Make Me a Captive Lord," Robinson's favorite hymn, and "How Great Thou Art," Mrs. Robinson's favorite song.

At the reception that followed, Arleen Folger and Ruth Gilbert, friends of the couple, presided at the coffee service. Ladling punch were Malvin and Helen Robinson of Silver Bay, Robinson's cousins. The grandchildren were in charge of the guest book.

Centering the serving table was an anniversary cake decorated with ruby colored flowers and topped with a double bell ornament. The cake was baked and decorated by Sharon Forsberg.

Special guests at the anniversary celebration were the couple's bridesmaid, Evelyn Swanson, and her husband, Lester, and Mrs. Robinson's father Ed Vande Streek. The best man, Burdell Merritt of St. Louis, Mo., was unable to attend but sent greetings.

Also unable to attend, but calling his parents was Jim Robinson and his family of Sturgeon, Mo. Highlighting the call was grandson Darnen James, singing "Happy Anniversary to you."

3 From TRF Attend Legion Auxiliary Meet

Recently returning from the fall conference of the American Legion auxiliary, department of Minnesota, at the Holiday Inn North Mankato were Mrs. Edward (Lovanell) Kraemer, president; Mrs. James (Annabelle) Cuppett, treasurer, and Mrs. Robert (JoAnn) Reeve, of Thief River Falls unit 117 of the American Legion auxiliary.

Conference was a "school of instruction," where each department chairman outlined her program for the year.

Presiding officer was Mrs. Forest Vanlandingham, Mankato, department president. Keynote speaker was Mrs. John J. Roethel (Romaine), Novi, MI, national president of the American Legion auxiliary. A reception was conducted after the conference banquet to honor Mrs. Roethel, department officers, and the 10 district presidents.

A miniature gift shop was set up and open during the conference to display items the auxiliary makes available to hospitalized veterans in the VA hospitals, Minnesota veterans home and state hospitals. Early in December, a hospitalized veteran may choose an appropriate gift item for members of his family for Christmas without charge. Gifts are wrapped and mailed if the veteran desires. All gifts are made available each year through donations of items and money from the auxiliary units throughout Minnesota.

Membership pay-offs between the 10 districts of the auxiliary conducted by Mrs. Lee Hathaway, department membership chairman, concluded the conference.

Federated Tea Hosted By DeCor And Zehlians

Thief River Falls Federated club tea and open house was held Friday from 2:00 to 5:00 p.m., at the Northwest Regional library.

Hosting the event were the Zehlian group headed by president Mrs. Walter Forney, and the DeCor group led by president Mrs. Owen Scramstad. Both groups are affiliated with the General Federation of Women's clubs.

For the event the serving table was centered with a fruit filled cornucopia. Fancy sandwiches and cookies were furnished by the Women's Council, composed of representatives of both groups.

Officers of the Council are Mrs. Walter Forney, chairman; Ethel Aase, secretary; and Eula Kvikstad, treasurer. Other members of the council are Madeleine Scramstad, Signe Miller, Mildred Wick, Lillian Aasland, Nancy Tofte, Mary Evans, Margaret Saetre, Bunny Dondelinger and Marge Green.

Guests attending the tea included Mrs. Vargie Myher of the Warren Women's club.

PIONEER DAYS were illustrated by Junior Girl Scouts attending Junior Badge day yesterday at the city auditorium in Thief River Falls. Afternoon event focused on the theme "What were people doing 200 years ago?" Demonstrations pertaining to the theme included an illustration of antique toys and tools by Dick Brown, the art of storytelling by Nan Lutenske, an explanation of natural foods by Deb Matero; and folk singing by Bonnie Swantek.

Odd Fellows-Rebekah Lodges to Meet Thurs.

Odd Fellows and Rebekah lodges will meet Thursday at 8:00 p.m., at the Odd Fellows hall. The possibility of a special session of the Odd Fellows Grand Lodge will be discussed.

All members are urged to attend. Members are asked to note that due to the Thanksgiving holiday, this will be the only meeting in November.

A joint lunch and social hour will follow the separate meetings of the two lodges.

Martha Circle of Holt To Meet at Swan Home

Martha circle of the Nazareth Lutheran church, Holt, will meet Tuesday at 2:00 p.m., at the Jim Swan home with Mrs. Swan as hostess.

Tiffany Brenna Is Baptized At Oak Ridge Church

Tiffany Jo Brenna, infant daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Warren Brenna, was baptized during the regular morning worship service Sunday, November 8, at Oak Ridge Lutheran Church. Rev. Robert Moberg officiated. Sponsors were Todd and Tina Brenna, and Mr. and Mrs. Ron (Tammy) Chinchanowski of West Lake, Louisiana, in absentia.

Tiffany Jo was attired in a white dress, trimmed with lace and ribbons, that had been made for the occasion by her grandmother, Mrs. Sigrid Brenna.

Following the service, Mr. and Mrs. Brenna hosted a dinner at their home for the sponsors, Rev. and Mrs. Moberg, Amy and Brynne; Sigrid Brenna, Mr. and Mrs. Laverne Lindahl, Mrs. Bob Loeffler, Jeri and Natalie, Angie Thune, and David Heaton of Thief River Falls and Mr. and Mrs. Donald Srnsky, Kathy and Kristy.

DeCor Club Participates In Federation Poll

At the meeting of the DeCor club held recently at the Geneva Overum home, members participated in the Foreign Policy poll sponsored by the General Federation of Women's clubs (GFWC).

Following a discussion, pro and con, on the three suggested policies, draft, foreign aid and immigration, the group selected the draft. The national result of the poll will be published in the February issue of the "Clubwoman" magazine.

President Madeleine Scramstad presided at the meeting and led the group in reading the "Club Collect." Roll call was answered with members telling how they will be spending the Thanksgiving holiday.

Reports included an account of the last meeting given by secreatry-treasurer, Mildred Wick, and a resume of the Women's Council meeting held at the home of council president Dee Forney. The Fall Federation tea was discussed.

Also discussed was the club's Christmas party. The event was scheduled for December 12. It will begin with a dinner at the Best Western and will conclude with a $3.00 gift exchange, followed by dessert and coffee at the Madeleine Scramstad home.

The craft period led by Lillian Aasland, featured a demonstration on making gift boxes, using greeting cards.

Lunch was served by the hostess.

Commercial Travelers And Auxiliary to Meet

The new UCT insurance plan offered by the order will be presented.

A joint lunch will follow the meetings.

Junior Legion Aux. Will Meet Saturday

Regular meeting of the Junior American Legion auxiliary will be held Saturday at 1:30 p.m., at the Legion meeting room.

All junior members are encouraged to attend.

Wildwood Whirlers To Dance at Gonvick

Al Nolden of St. Cloud will call the tips at the Wildwood Whirlers square dance set for Saturday at the Gonvick school gymnasium. Dancing will be from 8:30 to 11:00 p.m. Lunch will be served.

All area square dancers and visitors are welcome to attend.

LITTLE OAK . . .

Sunday visitors at the Ernest Mostrom were Mr. and Mrs. Dave Mugaas, Sarah and Emily of rural Thief River Falls, John Flaagan and Phyllis Gervais of Stillwater, Cora Oftelie, Gladys Hanson and Mr. and Mrs. William Good.

Recent callers at the Richard Bjerklie home were Henry Burrack, Mr. and Mrs. Jergen Bjerklie of Gonvick, Bruce Bjerklie and Cora Oftelie.

"I'M A LITTLE Teapot" was sung and demonstrated by Scouts during Junior Badge day yesterday in the basement of the Thief River Falls city auditorium as an exercise before a storytelling demonstration by Nan Lutenske, originally from Saginaw, MI, who now resides in Thief River Falls. All junior Girls Scouts received their folk arts badge for participating in the afternoon event.

Joan McCann Services Set For Thursday

Funeral services for Mrs. Joan McCann, 89, of this city are scheduled for Thursday at 11:30 a.m., at St. Bernard's Catholic church. Mrs. McCann died Sunday at Northwestern hospital.

Rev. Stanley Bourassa will officiate at the services. Christie LaCoursiere will be the organist and Jane Mackenroth, the song leader. Interment will be in the church cemetery.

Pallbearers will be James Fisher, Edward Fisher, Ole Engelstad, Pat Conely, Rodger Borgen and Floyd Borgen, Jr.

The body is reposing at the Green Funeral home and will repose at the church for 30 minutes prior to the time of services.

Mrs. McCann, the former Joan Thomson, was born Nov. 28, 1891 in Aberdeen, Scotland to Alexander and Margaret Peterson Thomson, now deceased. She came to America as a child and lived in Liethbridge, Alberta, Canada where she grew to womanhood.

On Nov. 23, 1910, she was married in British Columbia to Mike McCann, a railroader. The couple came to Thief River Falls in 1911 and since then she had made her home here. Mrs. McCann was a nurse and worked in her profession for many years. For the past 4½ years she had been a resident at Valley Home.

She was a member of St. Bernard's Catholic church and an honorary member of the VFW and American Legion auxiliaries.

She is survived by one daughter: Mrs. Floyd (June) Borgen, Thief River Falls; three sons: Mike McCann, Libby, Mont.; Martin, Troy, Mont.; and Robert Charles of Lebanan, Ore.; 11 grandchildren, 26 great-grandchildren; one sister, Mrs. Elizabeth Gibson, Goodland, Kans., and a brother, George Thomson of Liethbridge, Alberta, Canada.

She was preceded in death by her husband, who died in November of 1930; a daughter, Mary Margaret; one son, Leo; two granddaughters, two sisters: Jessie and Marge, and several brothers.

Glen Johnson Services To Be Held Here Thur.

Funeral services for Glenn Johnson, 56, of Mercer Island, near Seattle, Wash., will be held in Thief River Falls on Thursday at 10:30 a.m., at the Evangelical Free church. Johnson died Sunday morning at Washoe Medical center in Reno, Nev., where he had been vacationing.

Rev. Curtis Anderson will officiate at the services. Mrs. Floyd Dalzell will be the organist and Orville Trontvet and Everett Kompelien will sing. Interment will be in the Quale cemetery at Fordville, N.D.

Pallbearers will be Gerald Johnson, Ivan Johnson, Omer Johnson, Elvin Johnson, Wayne Swendseid and Dennis Carlson.

The body is reposing at the Belmont Funeral home and will repose at the church for one hour prior to the time of services.

Glenn Johnson was born Aug. 16, 1925 near Fordville, N.D., to Andrew and Tena Johnson. In 1937, he moved with his family to the Thief River Falls area where he attended school and grew to manhood.

He served in the U.S. Navy from 1943 until 1946. Following his discharge, he worked as a driver for a trucking company. On April 19, 1950, he was married to Merne Schantzen at Crookston.

Later, he was a bus driver for Greyhound Lines out of Seattle, Wash., and Missoula, Mont. Since 1976, he has been employed as manager of a condominium on Mercer Island.

He was a member of the VFW post 201 at Red Lake Falls.

He was married April 8, 1958 to Betty Johnson. She survives, together with a daughter, Sheila at Seattle; a son, Paul of Fergus Falls, and two grandchildren.

Also surviving are his mother, Mrs. Lucille Johnson, Thief River Falls; four brothers: Sherman, Gary and Richard Johnson, Thief River Falls; and Dudley, St. Hilaire; and one sister, Mrs. Duane (Linda) Brown, Thief River Falls.

He was preceded in death by his parents, Andrew and Tena.

Services Here Tonight For L. Holmstrom

Funeral services for Leonard Holmstrom, 60, of South St. Paul and formerly of Strandquist, will be held in Thief River Falls tonight (Wednesday) at seven o'clock at the Green Funeral home where the body is reposing. Holmstrom died while deer hunting in West Valley township, Marshall county.

Rev. Albert Stromlund of Galena, Mo.; a brother-in-law, will officiate at the services.

Pallbearers will be Arnie and Leslie Maurstad, Kenneth Peterson, Andreas, Gerald and Orville Mortenson.

A second service will be held Friday at 10:30 a.m., at the Bethesda Lutheran church in South St. Paul with Rev. Louis Ulrich officiating. Interment will be in the Green Lutheran cemetery in that city.

Leonard LeRoy Holmstrom was born July 4, 1921 at Strandquist to Victor and Pearl Swedberg Holmstrom. He grew to manhood at Strandquist.

On Nov. 26, 1942, he was united in marriage to Myrtle Mortenson at Halma. Following their marriage, the couple lived and farmed at Strandquist for 11 years. In 1953, they moved to South St. Paul where Holmstrom was employed by Armour and company. He retired June 1, 1980 and since then had continued to make his home in South St. Paul.

He was a member of the Bethesda Lutheran church.

Surviving are his wife, two daughters: Mrs. Robert (Virgean) Bond, Burnsville, and Mrs. Marilyn Fitzgerald, Inver Grove Heights; and six grandchildren.

Also surviving are his parents, Mr. and Mrs. Victor Holmstrom of Strandquist; two brothers: Dean and Donald Holmstrom, both of Strandquist; and five sisters: Mrs. Kenneth (Lorraine) Seterholm, Stephen; Mrs. Albert (Eileen) Stromlund, Galena, Mo.; Mrs. Marshall (Verna) Myhrer of Newfolden, and Mrs. Leslie (Jean) Mauerstad and Mrs. Arnie (Iris) Maurstad, both of Argyle.

He was preceded in death by one sister.

Wendy Nelson Takes Part In Fashion Show

Wendy Nelson, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Ray Nelson of Thief River Falls, participated recently at a fall fashion show entitled "Orchestrating Fall" and conducted by the "Skyway/Freeway News" in the Carlton celebrity room in Bloomington.

The show included a lavish production of lighting, music and local guest designers along with professional models and dancers wearing current designer fall fashions.

A professional make-up artist with a cosmetic salon new to the United States, assisted models and dancers in make-up application. She also wrote and arranged a slide presentation set to music and narrated by the show's commentators which was used as a vignette between scenes of the fashion show.

About 1,000 people attended the show and were served wine, fresh fruit and cheese prior to the presentation. Wendy is a graduate of Lincoln high school in 1979, Lowthian fashion school in Minneapolis, and a Visage graduate in skin therapy, make-up artistry and beauty care.

Donors Needed For 'Adopt-A-Book' Program

Northwest regional library is looking for people who are willing to help give a children's book a good home.

Library is initiating an "adopt-a-book" program as one means of strengthening the children's literature collections in the system. Persons wishing to "adopt" a book are asked to stop by their local library or the bookmobile and look over the list of "adopt-a-book" titles. At that time, a donation can be made to the library for the price of the book. When the book is received, it will be placed in the library's collection with a book plate thanking the donor for their help.

If the donor likes, the title could also be placed in the collection as a memorial book.

Titles awaiting adoption include fiction, story collections and picture books to cover a range of reading levels and interests. Books have been selected from lists of recommended titles so the donor can be assured of adding quality as well as quantity to the library's holdings. Prices of the books range from $4.95 to $11 and any donations are tax deductable.

Program is being initiated as part of the library's observance of National Children's Book Week (November 16-22) which was established in 1919 to encourage children to read and enjoy books.

Northwest regional library is headquartered at 101 E. First, Thief River Falls, and has branches in Greenbush, Hallock, Red Lake Falls, Roseau, Warren and Warroad, as well as bookmobile service to other parts of the region.

thief river falls chamber of commerce

REPORT

Thief River Falls chamber of commerce was originally known as the Thief River Falls civic and commerce association. It was formed under the presidency of Matt Barzen in 1914. On July 15th, 1946 the civic and commerce association was officially incorporated under the Minnesota statutes and adopted articles of incorporation. The first board of directors under this incorporation included A.F. Berge, M.C. Gulbranson, L.B. Hartz, A.W. Hensrud, K.E. Lindbergh, R.A. Luhman, P.A. Lundgren, A.M. Magnuson, S.A. McLeod, Ray J. Oen, L.W. Rulien and F.E. Tunberg.

The Thief River Falls civic and commerce association was organized for the purpose of advancing the commercial, industrial, civic, social, educational, scientific, and general interests of the city of Thief River Falls and its surrounding area.

On September 12, 1961 the directors met and changed our name to Thief River Falls chamber of commerce which we are known as today.

Although the name has been changed, the objectives of the chamber of commerce today are consistent with our goals and policies and purposes of the past. The purpose is to engage in any activity which will promote the general business and cultural welfare of Thief River Falls, and its trade territory; to represent the business and professional interests of the city on matters of general interest in all relationships with other communities or with government or political subdivisions and departments; to advertise the community and its assets in all practical ways in order to increase the general welfare of the community; to assist in cementing the interrelation of various interests within our borders for the promotion of harmony and unity of action; and to engage in all activities of common interest usual to chambers of commerce, commercial clubs or civic associations. The underlying principle behind the formation of the Thief River Falls chamber of commerce is to provide for unified representative action on matters of common interest.

Business firms and individuals currently investing dollars and time in the Thief River Falls chamber of commerce number 253. These are dedicated people who won't let Thief River Falls die — who are making things happen.

Advice and opinions from all chamber members are always welcome and needed. If you are not now a member call the chamber for more information at 681-3720. Let your voice be heard.

Accident Totals At Thanksgiving High, Says DPS

Thanksgiving weekend, which lasts 102 hours, starting at 6 p.m., November 25, and concluding at midnight, November 29, is the longest holiday period of the year and the most dangerous in terms of motor vehicle accidents, warns Minnesota public safety commissioner John P. Sopsic.

In 1980 that particular weekend was a deadly one in terms of accidents, injuries and fatalities. There were 2,121 accidents, resulting in 751 injuries and 10 fatalities. These are the highest totals for a Minnesota Thanksgiving weekend in the past several years.

In view of Minnesota's lower than usual traffic death toll this year, it is hoped that motorists will use the same kind of obvious good judgment they have used thus far this year to make it a happier Thanksgiving holiday, Sopsic said.

Col. Roger Ledding, state patrol chief, said the patrol will have extra troopers on duty during the holiday weekend. "We urge motorists to practice defensive driving, refrain from drinking if they intend to drive, and obey the 55 mph speed limit," Ledding said.

Books In Vietnamese At Library Here

Northwest regional library has recently acquired a small collection of books in Vietnamese as a beginning effort to serve the Vietnamese residents of the community.

Initial collection of nine titles includes novels, short stories and non-fiction and is available for checking out at the headquarters library in Thief River Falls or on interlibrary loan through the branches and bookmobile.

Titles were translated through the assistance of Ms. Nancy Johnson and two of her students, Frank Du and Tuong Du. They include: "Hai Au Phi Xu" ("The Way of the Sea Gull") a romance; "Diep Vu Thiet Huyen" ("Stories About Secret Agent 007"); and "Leu Chong" ("The Bamboo Bed"), a book about literature in Vietnam before the French occupation.

In the past, such items would have been available only through interlibrary loan. But libraries owning such collections are finding local demand too great to continue lending these items to other libraries, thus a collection has been started locally.

In addition to these books, the library also has information about other resources that are available through other agencies. For more information about the collection or these resources, call the library at 681-4325. Northwest regional library headquarters is at 101 E. first St. Thief River Falls.

Make Up Days Are An Issue Of Vital Importance To Your Children
FACT: Any days not made up will mean a loss of educational time for your children. As of today there have been 20 days lost from this school year.
What Does This Mean To Your Child's Education?
20 days are equal to . . .
—34% of the time the 2nd grade spends learning to read
—44% of the 11th and 12th grade unit on basic grammar
—an entire unit on addition and subtraction of fractions in grade 6
—twice the amount of time spent studying spelling in 2nd grade
—the entire 9th grade unit on the U.S. court system
—over 40% of the days spent studying speech in high school
—ending the study of American History at the beginning of World War II
—50% of all laboratory studies in biology
—68% of math studies in the 2nd grade
—over twice the time devoted to science and health in the first grade
—a severe loss of continuity in supplemental help for Special Education —significant loss of time on the drivers' education simulator
Can Your Children Afford These Losses? The Days Continue To Pass; The Losses Continue To Grow.

Saturday Film Schedule At Library Listed

Saturday film schedule at the Northwest regional library through December has been announced by Paul Lutenske, assistant librarian. Films are being shown in the library meeting room beginning at 2 p.m. each Saturday through December 19.

List and summary of the films to be shown includes the following:

November 14: "Clown Princes" — Differing styles and personalities of famous screen comedians of the silent era are examined; "Zoo" — A zoo is the scene of this colorful, authentic documentary that answers some of the most commonly asked questions about how a big city zoo operates.

November 21: "Lafcadio, the Lion Who Shot Back" — The story of the young lion who fails to make friends with hunters, then becomes the world's greatest marksman only to discover he has lost his own identity. "Gale Sayers" — Relates some of the great moments in his career. Known by many people as the other person in the "Brian Piccolo Story."

November 28: "Famous Movie Monsters" — Excerpts from feature films, such as "Creature from the Black Lagoon."

December 5: "Frederick" — The famous children's story about a mouse who demonstrates the importance of appreciating beautiful things. Excellent colorful animation; "Fiddle De Dee and Le Merle" — The first interprets the fiddler playing "Listen to the Mockingbird" in color and movement; the second, three folk-singers singing "Le Merle (Blackbird)" with emphasis on rhythm; "Madeline and the Bad Hat" — Pepito is named "Bad Hat" by Madeline because of his distressing habit of caging up frogs, birds, bugs, bats, and cats; "Lickety-Split Licorice" — A boy and a girl making licorice stretch it outside in a tangled web which leads to utter chaos as people get snarled up in it. This non-narrative visual fantasy helps children become expressive.

December 12: "Beauty and the Beast" — An animated firm using puppets to tell the traditional story of the beauty and the beast she loves and tames; "Movie Stuntmen" — Shows actual sequences of movie stuntmen performing their various feats and talks with them to discover their reasons for working in such a dangerous field.

December 19: "Deadly African Snakes" — The strange and startling predatory behavior of snakes; "Snowmobiling: Trail and Safari" — Some very good safety suggestions for snowmobilers and some exciting footage of the sport; "Bighorn" — Handsomely photographed essay on the Bighorn sheep of the Rocky Mountains. Filmed in Banff and Jasper National Parks with a musical score but no narration.

Farmers Union Convention Is Nov. 22-24

International food and agricultural trade issues will come into focus November 22-24 when more then 800 Minnesota farmers will convene at Radisson South Hotel, Bloomington, for the 40th annual Minnesota Farmers Union (MFU) convention.

"Foreign trade issues are becoming increasingly of critical importance for Minnesota farmers," said MFU President Cy Carpenter. "For years farmers have come to rely more and more on exports for a market. Now, crops produced from one out of every three acres planted go overseas. But at each step taken in the development of exports, farmers have become more dependent and more vulnerable to forces outside of agriculture and the political and economic whims of change. Recent embargoes on grain and butter export sales are clear examples.

"Officials in Washington are now hoping exports will raise farm prices and pull the farm economy out of a deep recession. But predictions now put exports below earlier projections. Here in the Upper Midwest, proposed hikes on inland waterways user fees threaten to skyrocket export shipping costs. Our country has taken a new posture in international relations. Farmers and the entire agricultural industry must come to understand how these and other issues affect their incomes and the health of Minnesota's economy," Carpenter said.

Carpenter and national Farmers Union president George Stone, Denver, CO., will address the convention Sunday, during annual "President's Night" activities.

Policy development will be taken up by delegates on Monday morning, and Tuesday afternoon. Elected to represent farmers in their respective counties throughout the state, delegates bring forth and decide policies for their organization to pursue.

John B. McKernan, head of organizing committee for U.S. Agribusiness Exposition '82 will speak November 23 about the first ever nationwide trade show geared toward international trade set for Minneapolis next September.

Trade agreements will be the focus of an address that afternoon by Milt Hakel, NFU assistant to the president for public affairs. Hakel has served as delegate to important conferences of International Federation of Agricultural Producers in Finland, Canada, Argentina, Austria and Washington, as well as United Nations Food conferences. He has written extensively on agriculture in countries he has traveled, including Russia, Japan, Israel, and Europe.

Archbishop John Roach, Archdiocese of St. Paul and Minneapolis, will deliver the featured banquet address that evening.

Panel of speakers from foreign countries will talk on foreign trade issues Tuesday morning. Representatives from Europe, Mexico, and Canada are scheduled and others from Japan and Peoples Republic of China have been invited. They will be questioned by noted farm writers Bob Rupp, editor of "The Farmer" magazine and Lauren Soth, Des Moine Register and Tribune Syndicate, plus wheat farmer and state senator Marv Hanson and Mahnomen Co-op grain elevator manager Wayne Longtin.

Congressman James Oberstar, Commissioner of Agriculture Mark Seetin, Attorney General Warren Spannaus and AFL-CIO President Dave Roe will also address the convention.

HONORED recently for their careers with the Soo Line railroad were these railroad employees who have completed 35 or more years of service. Left to right are Erland Johnson, Fordville, ND, who began his railroading career as an engineer in 1938; George Munt, Thief River Falls, conductor, who began his career in 1941; and Glenn Arhart, Thief River Falls, who began his railroad career in 1946 as a conductor. Party for the three retirees was conducted at the Soo Line railroad depot in Thief River Falls Friday.

Film On Cults Scheduled For Area Churches

"Cult Explosion" is the title of a film to be shown 8 p.m. Saturday, November 14, at Westaker Free Lutheran church, Newfolden; and 8 p.m. Sunday, November 15 at Hegland Free Lutheran Church, rural Strandquist.

The public is invited. A free-will offering will be taken.

3rd Sunflower Seminar Set At Crookston

"There Will Be Flowers in Your Future" is the theme for the third anual sunflower breakfast seminar to be held 7 a.m. Thursday, November 19, at Crookston's Best Western motor inn.

Growers, seed distributors and others associated with the Red river valley sunflower industry are welcome to attend the free buffet-style breakfast. Event is coordinated by local sunflower representatives and University of Minnesota-Crookston (UMC).

Program will include talks by three sunflower experts. Dr. John Basacca and Dr. Christian Oseto, professors of entomology at North Dakota state university, will discuss sunflower seed weevil and sunflower midge, and Dr. Larry Kleingartner, executive director, Sunflower Council of North Dakota, will discuss perspective of sunflower industry's future.

Program will conclude with a tribute to the "Pioneer of the Valley," who contributed greatly to early production and development of sunflowers in the Red river valley. Honors will also go to leading sunflower farmers as selected by dealers in each region.

Seminar is cosponsored by industry representatives and companies. Those interested may make reservations by calling UMC at 218-281-6510, ext. 443.

9 From Area Attend State MCCL Meeting

Nine from this area were among the 700 pro-lifers attending the 10th annual state convention of Minnesota Citizens Concerned for Life (MCCL) at the St. Cloud Holiday Inn recently.

Attending from Thief River Falls were Mr. and Mrs. Ron Schwietz; and Mr. and Mrs. Mike Kruse. From Red Lake Falls were Bonnie Knott, Mary Schmitz and Mr. and Mrs. Wayne Raymond. Attending from Warren was Francis Crummy.

"Abortion was sold to the American public by labeling it a Catholic issue, denigrating the scientific evidence about when life begins, and capturing the media," was the analysis given by former abortion rights crusader Dr. Bernard Nathanson, to those attending.

Nathanson, who headed on abortion clinic during the early 1970s, used excerpts from official documents of the country's leading pro-abortion organization 'the National Abortion Rights Action League (NARAL)' to describe the anti-Catholic bias and deliberate distortion of facts used by abortion crusaders to press their arguments.

"Time and time again, emphasis was placed on opposition to abortion as a Catholic issue," Nathanson said, who added that abortion proponents insisted that the "Catholic hierarchy were bent on turning the issue into a religious war."

"They insisted also that the question of when life begins is a theological, philosophical, legal or ethical question — anything but a scientific one," Nathanson siaid.

Nathanson said he changed his mind on the abortion issue when he began to study and work with babies in the womb and to realize they are human beings.

When he was a medical student in 1947, Nathanson said, the leading textbook on obstetrics contained 22 pages on the fetus. In contrast, the 1980 edition devotes 270 pages, almost a third of the book, to the child before birth. "There's a whole new ball game out there with these new facts about the fetus," Nathanson said.

Also speaking at the convention was Ernest Ohlhoff executive director of the national committee for a human life amendment who stated that "The pro-life movement stands on the brink of a legislative process that will end the scandal of abortion."

Ohlhoff said a constitutional human life amendment proposed by Sen. Orrin Hatch (co-sponsored by Minnesota Sen. Rudy Boschwitz) has the potential of being passed by Congress in the near future and ratified by the states.

Luncheon speaker, Jean Doyle, vice president of the national right to life committee and executive director of Florida right to life stated,

"The unborn child has a P.R. problem. He can't be seen and he can't be heard. We have to be his press agent and bring the reality of life in utero in focus."

Men and women are invited to learn more about (1) skin care, (2) a design for your face, (3) your makeup color key and (4) a fashion forecast. Local contacts are Jan Aubol at 681-4260 and Sue Mattson at 681-6585.

RE'GENERATION, a singing group based in Nashville, TN, will be presented at the Lincoln high school auditorium Thursday, November 19, at 8 p.m. as the second in the sold-out series sponsored by the Thief River Falls concert association. Since founded by Rev. Derric Johnson in 1970, Re'Generation has made more than 5,000 live appearances before more than nine million people, traveled over 935,000 miles and recorded over 40 albums. The group has a reputation for highly energetic presentation blending close harmony patterns, using familiar music backed with bright costumes and intricate choreography. The singers use a mixture of Broadway, traditional, popular and patriotic music, bringing a "message of hope and self worth" through their presentation.

44th Annual GTA Meet Set Nov. 17, 18

Grain Terminal Association's (GTA)) 44th annual meeting will be called to order at 10 a.m. Tuesday (November 17) in the Minneapolis auditorium. Gordon H. Matheson, a wheat farmer from Conrad, MT., will chair the meeting of the regional grain marketing, processing and supply cooperative. About 2,500 farmers representing nearly 800 cooperative grain elevators in eight states are expected to attend.

Those attending from Farmers Co-op Grain and Seed from Thief River Falls include Al Bareksten, manager and his wife, Eulalia; and directors, Raymond Olson, Wallace Anderson, Lowell Swanson, Lowell Hanson, Roger Rupprecht and Roy Anderson.

Meeting continues through November 18, closing with a banquet beginning at 5:45 p.m. B.J. Malusky, retiring president of GTA, will be master of ceremonies for the banquet which features North Dakota representative Bryon L. Dorgan as speaker.

Program features for November 17 include presentation of the financial report by President Malusky; an address by Lawrence Williams, senior vice president of the St. Paul Bank for cooperatives and a talk by Nita Gibson, president of the women involved in farm economics (WIFE). Tuesday activites will close with the traditional open house of GTA corporate headquarters at 1667 North Snelling Ave. in St. Paul.

Meeting will be called back to order at 9:30 a.m. November 18. Wednesday highlights include presentations by Dale F. Mosser, grain terminal foundation scholarship representative from Velva, ND and John Schlagel, Minnesota 4-H federation president from Ortonville, MN. Delegates will also vote in the election of five GTA board members Wednesday. Directors whose terms expire are Lester G. Larson and John P. Horner from the North Dakota district; Ed Ellison, Minnesota district; Philip Testerman, South Dakota district and Gordon H. Matheson from the Montana district.

GTA has plants and facilities in 16 states and serves more than 150,000 farm and ranch families throughout the Upper Midwest and Pacific Northwest.

Mark Larson Elected Head Of ODC Board

Mark Larson, Thief River Falls, was elected to the position of board chariman for the Occupational Development Center-North Country Industries at it's organizational meeting.

Larson has been a member of the board for the past two years, serving on it's finance committee and most recently as vice chairman. He succeeds Dr. Don W. Crompton of Bemidji as chairman of the board.

Occupational Development Center-North Country Industries is a private non-profit corporation which provides vocational training, sheltered employment and placement services to handicapped citizens from throughout northwest Minnesota. Besides its Thief River Falls facility, ODC-NCI operates a facility in Crookston and Bemidji.

Over 150 handicapped individuals are involved in the center's work program on a daily basis. ODC-NCI board of directors is made up of individuals from throughout the 13 Northwest Minnesota counties which are primarily served by the three centers.

In order to provide training for the handicapped individuals which the center's employ, ODC-NCI acts as a subcontractor with a number of area businesses such as Digi Key, Magnetic Perferials and Rowell Laboratories. In order to secure enough work to employ all of the handicapped individuals, ODC-NCI also produces a number of products which are sold throughout the upper Midwest.

Chairman Larson indicated that while he did expect recent federal and state government budget cuts to somewhat hamper the center's operation, they would not be devistating since only a portion of its income is derived through fees from various state or federal agencies for the training which the center provides. According to Larson it appears that the real challenge to the board of directors and the management of the ODC-NCI will be to increase the amount of subcontract and prime manufactured work which the three facilities have available for the handicapped people to do.

"By increasing our markets for the products we produce and obtaining more contracts with local industries we will provide better training for our handicapped employees as well as lessen our dependancy on fees provided by the public sector," Larson said.

Sheep Day At NW Experiment Station Tuesday

Northwest Sheep day will be held Tuesday at the Northwest experiment station in Crookston with Sam Bigger, Polk county extension director, as moderator for the program.

Registration will be open from 9:30 to 10 a.m. with the speaking program to begin at 10. Program participants include Robert Jordan, animal scientist from the University of Minnesota in St. Paul, speaking on "Hey — Ewe Cost Too Much!"; Harvey Windels, Northwest experiment station, speaking on low cost sheep housing project conclusions; and Earl Miller, Thief River Falls lamb feeder, speaking on finishing lambs on sprouted grains.

Also taking part will be Bigger on keeping production records for sheep. Windels will also discuss things to consider when culling a ewe flock.

After a noon lunch at Bede hall, program will resume at 1:30 p.m. with Roger Haugen, livestock specialist from NDSU in Fargo, speaking on progress, problems and economics with confinement operations in North Dakota. A tour will be held of the experiment station—sheep facilities at 2 p.m.

Jayceettes To Sponsor Family Week Contest

In observance of Family Week, November 22-28, the Newfolden Jayceettes are sponsoring a contest to recognize an outstanding family in the Newfolden area. Nominations may be submitted by anyone who knows the family well.

Nominations should include a written essay explaining why this family should be chosen the outstanding family in the Newfolden area. All nominations must be submitted by November 21 to Debra Waterworth, Route 2, Box 130, Newfolden, Minnesota 56738.

Chosen family will be announced at the December 4 basketball game in Newfolden.

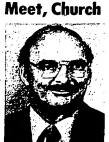
OLDRICH HOFFMAN (left) and co-worker, Martin "Bill" Rehm, among other friends, their wives and volunteers, have worked together since last May to complete the new senior citizen center in Goodridge. Idea for the center originated from the people in Goodridge, according to Hoffman, when the liquor store in the village was torn down and a new one was built. Majority of the center is scheduled for completion the end of this month. Pictured is what will be the recreation and meeting room in the center. Also included will be a kitchen, bathrooms and a craft center.

Aaseby Will Speak At Local Meet, Church



Speaker Monday at the Full Gospel Business Men's Fellowship International meeting at 7:30 p.m. in the Best Western inn of Thief River Falls will be Iver Aaseby of Thief River Falls.

Aaseby will also present a program of special music and share his testimony at the Thief River Falls Assemblies of God church at 10:45 a.m. Sunday. Rev. J.L. Hagemeister and the congregation invite the public to attend.

Aaseby was born in Thief River Falls, one of 17 children of early pioneers of the community. He was involved in a number of business ventures and after five heart attacks and open heart surgery, he attended Rama Bible college in Tulsa, OK, and has been ministering to others.

The Full Gospel chapter will also hold its annual meeting Saturday at 7:45 p.m. at the Best Western. Present officers include Ralph Berg, president; Gordon Rand, vice president; Clark Hendrickson, secretary; and Harold Mickelson, treasurer.

Rev. Hendricks Will Speak At Newfolden

Rev. Dwight W. Hendricks of Edina will be guest speaker at a program to be held Wednesday evening, November 18, at the Newfolden community center. Program will follow a supper served by the Newfolden Free Lutheran parish and other interested people.

Rev. Hendricks holds a Master of Divinity degree and is an active youth worker in the Twin Cities area. He attended a world council on evangelism in Esrael and has traveled in Europe. He projects his ministry as a bridge between youth and adults.

Everyone is welcome to attend the event. Proceeds from the dinner will go to the Marshall county temperence organization.

Urges Federal Drunk Driving Legislation

Pledging his commitment to seek a federal solution to the problem of drunk driving, Sen. Rudy Boschwitz told a Senate commitee that pending legislation "does not go far enough" in punishing the drunk driver.

"I have become very impatient with judges and prosecutors who do not ask for or impose stringent sentences on drunk drivers. It's my conviction that the federal government should become involved with this matter as it has with the 55 m.p.h. speed limit," Boschwitz said.

Boschwitz told the Senate judiciary subcommittee on courts that he personally has had employees and friends die or receive severe injury because of drunk drivers.

"Frankly, I'm mystified that other countries can deal with this problem so much more effectively than we can," Boschwitz said.

He suggested that the United States follow the successful example of other countries that have helped solve the problem by severely and uniformly punishing drunk drivers.

"The Best Tax Shelter and Retirement Plan Going"

A highly significant opportunity to help yourself! Becomes available on January 1, 1982. The Tax Act of 1981 makes Individual Retirement Accounts (IRA's) available to all employees and self employed persons including everyone covered under an existing and qualifed pension or profit sharing plan. Thus, you are eligible to make deductible contributions to an IRA.

Here's an example of just how significant. Now any worker can invest up to $2,000 ($2,250 with a non-working spouse) in an IRA. Assume you want to contribute $2,000 a year pre-tax (equivalent to $1,400 after tax) for 30 years and the investments earn 10%* a year, and the rate is considerably higher at the present time. Here's what you will accumulate in an IRA versus taxable investments.

30 Years $390,394.32	$132,245.10

The huge difference is a result of two IRA tax advantages. First, investing with pre-tax, rather than after tax dollars ($2,000 versus $1,400 in our example). Second, investment income accumulates tax free in the IRA. Of course, you will have to pay ordinary income taxes on your IRA investments when you take it out. But you should be way ahead regardless of the future tax bracket (which will probably be lower at retirement).

There's another IRA advantage . . . The incentive to save regularly and leave the funds for retirement. This is important in the view of present concerns about future Social Security programs. You can take advantage of this IRA program by contacting Elody Olson, your personal banker who has the Answers.

Support Group Holds Meeting At Crookston

Crookston branch of Compassionate Friends will hold their monthly meeting Monday at 8 p.m. in the United Presbyterian church library.

Compassionate Friends is a support group of parents who have lost a child, or children, to death and who extend understanding and share insights into the grief process.

"Attending Compassionate Friends is confirmation that even though part of my life is gone, there is a reason to go on. We learn how to cope with our grief at the same time we realize that what may be helpful for one parent might not be for another," states Mrs. Stanley (Doris) Davis, contact person.

Other Contact persons in the Crookston area are Dr. and Mrs. Cliff Stadem and Mr. and Mrs. Jack Eickhof.

Scout Leaders Pow Wow Sun. At Zion Church

A training session for all Cub Scout leaders (dean leaders, cubmasters, den chiefs, webelos leaders, pack committee and parents) will be held on Sunday at Zion Lutheran church from 1 to 5 p.m.

Registration will take place from 1 to 1:20 with the opening ceremony scheduled to begin at 1:20 p.m. This is an opportunity for all leaders to get the necessary help to make their program for the Cub Scouts run more smoothly. Louise McLean of Thief River Falls is the general chairman for the pow wow. For more information contact her at 681-1937.

Sexual Assault Volunteers To Take Training

For persons interested in becoming volunteers with the sexual assault program in Thief River Falls, training sessions will be held at 7 p.m. Monday, Tuesday and Thursday, November 16, 17 and 19 at Redeemer Lutheran church.

Persons desiring information about the program and work of volunteers may contact Dana Jenkins at 681-5723.

Bowling For Cystic Fibrosis Support Set

Area bowlers are invited to join Denae Blawat and the MCC Jaycee Women in the Cystic Fibrosis Bowl-For-Breath at Family Bowl, in Thief River Falls on Sunday, November 22 from 1-4 p.m.

Participation is open to anyone wishing to help children and young adults who suffer from cystic fibrosis, the nation's number one killer of American young people.

Denae Blawat, chairperson of the Bowl-For-Breath explains, "When you bowl on Sunday, November 22, you will be raising much needed money for research. Through research, there is hope for a cure for cystic fibrosis."

To enter the Bowl-For-Breath, residents of Thief River Falls and other local areas should obtain pledge forms at Family Bowl. After obtaining a minimum of five, participants will bowl for a minumum of one cent per pin. Registration begins at 12:30 p.m. at the Family Bowl.

After the Bowl-For-Breath, pledges will be collected based on the number of pins knocked down in three games of bowling. Prizes include: First prize — Mattel Intellivision; second prize — JVC RC-363 cassette player-recorder; thrid prize — Sanyo personal stereo. All prizes are awarded on the basis of the highest number of sponsors collected.

"Even if you can't participate in the event, you can help those suffering from cystic fibrosis in your community by sponsoring a participant who is giving his-her time and energy to help less fortunate persons," says Blawat. "We hope everyone in the area will give their support to the research, care and education programs that help give CF kids some breathing room."

For more information on the Bowl-For-Breath, contact Denae Blawat at 523-3692.

Grant obtained through the NWRDC for $15,576 with a grant for electric work from the McKnight Foundation for $1,245 have helped get most of the work done. Ambrose Wysoski, chairman of the NWRDC and Otto Stenberg, NWRDC board member, helped seniors obtain the grant, Hoffman said.

But $7,000 is still needed to satisfactorily complete the project, according to Hoffman. These monies would be used for materials. "Then we would have it nice," Hoffman commented.

Building, when completed, will include a recreation and meeting room, kitchen, bathrooms and craft room.

Because of heart surgery, Hoffman is limited to the hours he can work in one day, he said. But he continues to work each day for as long as he can.

He has been interested in carpentry ever since he learned to hold a hammer, he joked. He learned most of the trade himself, although he did take a 30-hour carpentry class through the Thief River Falls area vocational-technical institute.

There are volunteers ready to help complete the job. Senior citizens nailed rafters in the building using lumber from the former liquor store in two days, Hoffman said.

"There's always plenty of help," he smiled. "It's the materials that we need."

Teacher Strike Reportedly Is Near Settling is in written form, it was not released for publication by press time.

Involvement of the Interested Parents group was noted by Lehrer, who said he was glad to see the group formed, believes that it has been needed for some time prior to the strike, and that he believes the future of education in the local school district could well lie in the group's hands.

Ken Froschheiser, chairman of the newly-formed parents group, said that a meeting scheduled for 9 p.m. Thursday in the Lincoln high school auditorium of the strike was not settled will be be held whether the strike is settled or not. That decision was made by the—group's steering committee this morning and public participation is invited.

At the mediation session Monday agreement was reached on contract language which would provide a tie-breaker in staff reduction among faculty with the same contract anniversary date. The language provides that sequence be established by teacher number on file with the state department of education, with the lowest number being assigned seniority.

Answers from the Bible by Pastor Don Peres

Q. Pastor Don, "how can anyone believe the New Testament account of the life of Jesus seeing that it was written long after His death?

A. One of the things that we must remember is that the life of Jesus was written by eyewitnesses or people who recorded firsthand testimony I Jn. 1:1-3. The writers were all living at the same time these events transpired, and they had personal contact either with the events or with people who witnessed the events.

There is a strong belief among many theologians that the Gospels were written at an early date. The Book of Acts records the missionary activity of the early church and was written as a sequel by the same person who wrote the Gospel according to Luke. The Book of Acts ends with the apostle Paul being alive in Rhome, his death not being recorded.

This would lead us to believe that it was written before he died, since the other major events in his life have been recorded. We have some reason to believe that Paul was put to death in the Neroian persecution of A.D. 64, which means the Book of Acts was composed before this time.

If the Book of Acts was written before A.D. 64, then the Gospel of Luke, to which Acts was a sequel, had to have been composed some time before that, probably in the late fifties or early sixties of the first century. The death of Christ took place around A.D. 30, which would make the composition of Luke at the latest, within 30 years of the events.

F. F. Bruce makes the following observation: The evidence for our New Testament writings is ever so much greater than the evidence for many writings of classical authors, the authenticity of which no one dreams of questioning.

The evidence points out that (1) the documents were not written long after the events, but within close proximity to them, and (2) they were written by people during the period when many who were acquainted with the facts or were eyewitnesses to them were still living. The inescapable conclusion is that the New Testament picture of Christ can be trusted.

II Peter 1:20 says "knowing this first, that no prophecy of the scripture is of any private interpretation"

If you have any questions that you would like to have answered from the Bible, please write Pastor Don Peres, Box 129, Thief River Falls, MN 56701.

Arctic Era To End In TRF This Spring

got any further than prototype model construction. Someone may be interested in that product line, Severinson said, but it is unlikely it would be manufactured here. Existing manufacturers all have their own plant capacity and duplication of manufacturing facilities is not economically sound.

He also cited time constraints in snowmobile manufacture which would make it necessary to order components for manufacturing in January for the following manufacturing season. The buildings which the company owns here are for sale and operations have reportedly been consolidated into the main manufacturing building.

Settlement of claims by unsecured creditors are expected at the rate of eight to 18 cents on the dollar and these funds have been deposited. The unsecured creditors committee will meet with legal counsel to discuss the method of distribution which may not occur for some time.

Question of community involvement in attempting to secure manufacturing use of the facilities was posed to Severinson, and he responded that a local task force had been formed. Until such time as the company determines to sell assets without sale of the buildings there is probably little the community can do. Size of the plant has been a deterrent to total sales; it is too large for many manufacturers to consider.

Severinson said that total manufacture of snowmobiles for the current marketing year is about 90,000 units by all manufacturers. At the peak of the industry Arctic Enterprises produced well over 100,000 snowmobiles a year.

Northland Football Improves

Although the Northmen fell short of their preseason goal of a .500 finish, Northland community college football coach John Helley expects the recently-completed 1981 season to be a turning point in the school's football program.

The Northmen played better football than any previous Northland football team en route to a 3-5 record, he said. For most of the season the defense ranked as the best in the Minnesota junior college athletic association (MJCAA) Northern Division. With a more productive offense the Northmen could have easily been consistent winners.

In six years of football, Northland has never had a winning season. They were 2-6 in 1976; 0-8 in 1977; 2-6 in 1978; 3-6 in 1979; 1-7-1 in 1980; and 3-5 this fall.

There will be 20-to-22 sophomores back in 1982, giving Northland a strong nucleus to work with, and Helley hopes to complement them with an equal number of incoming freshmen.

"We've got plenty of openings to play football," advertised Helley. "We'll be looking for another 20-to-25 freshman football players who want to play two-way football. We won't have the luxury of having a 75-man team; we'll be going with 35-to-40 players, who we'll have a lot of two-way players."

Helley is convinced there are enough quality football players in the area high schools to make the Northmen competitive in the MJCAA.

"I still feel there are a lot of good football players in northwestern Minnesota who can play football at the community college level. A lot of players sell themselves short. We want to convince them that they have the ability and the opportunity to play football and study at a community college," he explained.

Helley hasn't gotten into his recruiting yet. He waits until the high schools complete their seasons before approaching the players. And with Mahnomen and Argyle involved in post-season playoffs, that means an even longer wait for some top-notch area football talent.

And Helley doesn't go with the hard-sell recruiting approach. He'll let the players know that he's interested in them and that they have an opportunity to play football here. It's then up to the players to make up their minds. Northland players themselves have been instrumental in recruiting success, selling the product to their friends and former high school teammates.

Miscellaneous

+Six Detroit Lakes players and four from Staples were named to the 1981 Mid-State all-conference high school football team. Lakers chosen included quarterback Dan Douglas, guard Mike Gray, tight end Mike Hutchinson, wide receiver Todd Jorgenson, halfback Jim Piche and linebacker Jim Matter. Cardinals picked were tight end Will Volseky, linebacker Rick Selvey, halfback Steve Peterson and guard Chris Mayhew. Thief River Falls lost to both Detroit Lakes and Staples this fall, dropping a 13-8 game to the eventual Mid-State champion Lakers and falling to the Cardinals 15-14.

+Bemidji and Fergus Falls continue to eye the Central Lakes Conference, according to Jim Carrington of the Bemidji Pioneer. The Former Northwest Athletic Conference (NWAC) members played as Class AA football independents this fall. They apparently would like to move into the Class AA Central Lakes Conference whrere Elk River and Cambridge are reportedly looking for other conference ties. Other Central Lakes schools are Brainerd, Little Falls, Alexandria, Willmar, St. Cloud Apollo and St. Cloud Tech.

+Roseau high school graduate Glen daMota was a key performer for the Northern Michigan University hockey team when the NMU penalty killing unit successfully skated off all 11 Notre Dame power play opportunities in a recent 3-2 Northern Michigan win.

+A deer hunting story in the Becker County Record at Detroit Lakes reported that Danny Thompson of that area shot himself a buck on the 1981 opener at the Tamarac national wildlife refuge, only to have a bear come out of a swamp and start dragging the deer away. Thompson wasn't too pleased with that development, said the Record, so he started "waving and yelling" at the bear. The bear then made "threatening gestures" toward Thompson, so he shot it. Refuge officers then seized the bear, but Thompson got the buck.

+Bemidji State University football coach Sparky Adams, who resigned Saturday following the final game of a winless 1981 season for the Beavers, told Pat Miller of the Bemidji Pioneer, "I'm not going to miss the headaches I've found here, but I will miss the kids. I really don't think I could take another year here without (jeopardizing) my health." The 1981 season was clouded by rumblings about BSU's shaky football future. "I know dollars are tight, but some priorities have to be set," said Adams. "We have the poorest equipment and travel budgets in the league and that goes against our recruiting efforts."

Northwomen In State Meet

Earning the title of Northwest Division champion for the first time this fall, the Northland community college volleyball team joined seven other qualifiers this morning (Wednesday) for the start of the 1981 Minnesota community college women's athletic association (MCCWAA) state volleyball tournament at Lakewood community college in White Bear Lake.

Four division champions, plus four division runner-up teams, began the tournament. Division champions include Northland in the Northwest; Vermilion in the Northeast; Normandale in the Central; and Rochester in the Southern. Division runner-ups include Fergus Falls in the Northwest; Hibbing in the Northeast; Inver Hills in the Central; and Willmar in the Southern.

Today's competition featured two pools of round-robin matches. First round matches in Pool A had Normandale vs. Fergus Falls at 10 a.m. and Rochester vs. Hibbing at 11. First round matches in Pool B had Vermilion vs. Willmar at 10 a.m. and Northland vs. Inver Hills at 11.

Teams play two-game sets today. Won-lost record within the two pools will determine the qualifiers for the single-elimination championship and consolation bracket finals Thursday. Top two teams in each pool will compete in the championship finals, while the bottom two finishers in each pool will play in the consolation bracket.

Northland, after playing Inver Hills at 11 a.m. today, was to meet Willmar at 12 noon and play Vermilion at 3 p.m.

Thursday's consolation semifinals will be played at 9 a.m., followed by the championship bracket semifinals at 11 a.m. and 1 p.m. Consolation finals will be played at 3 p.m., followed by the championship bracket third place match at 5 and the tournament title match at 7.

Deb Jacobson, who has been coaching the Northwomen since they started playing volleyball eight years ago, knows the state tournament competition will be a tough assignment, but she feels the team can be competitive with the rest of the field.

"If we play up to our potential, we'll be playing in our league," said Jacobson. "I don't think we'll be blown off the floor."

The Northwomen, who finished 6-0 against Northwest Division rivals Fergus Falls, Brainerd and the University of Minnesota-Crookston (UMC), displayed some fine volleyball skills this fall, but Northland's strong point, said Jacobson, is the team's aggressiveness. They go after everything and they're almost always on the attack. Northland was 14-11 overall.

Minnesota state champion will move on to the NJCAA Region 13 tournament Saturday, also at Lakewood.

In one breath Northland community college football coach John Helley said he was both disappointed and satisfied with the recently-completed 1981 season by the Northmen, who ended the year 3-5.

The disappointment came from not reaching a preseason goal of at least a .500 record, a first-time accomplishment that slipped away in a final game 14-7 loss at Brainerd. A victory over the Red Raiders would have given the Northmen their first non-losing season in six years of intercollegiate football and would have enabled them to finish third in the bunched Minnesota junior college athletic association (MJCAA) Northern Division standings behind leaders Fergus Falls and Golden Valley Lutheran.

But the satisfaction came from knowing the 1981 Northmen played good football, and for maybe the first time had to be taken seriously by all Northern Division opponents, even the unbeaten Spartans, who had to work hard for a 16-0 win and they once-beaten Royals, who struggled for a 19-7 win here.

"It's disappointing that you can come so close and not reach your goal," confessed Helley, who completed his third year on the Northland staff and his second season as head coach. "But we were in every ball game. I think we played the best football Northland has ever played. I think we had a very good year in terms of the effort and dedication of our players. They worked very hard and they felt good about themselves and the caliber of football they were able to play. They had great team spirit; great unity; and they had confidence in themselves. I think the football program at Northland community college really benefitted from these players; their dedication and their self-discipline. It was definitely a good bunch of young men."

Northland began the 1981 season against the perennially strong Golden Valley Lutheran squad on the Thief River Falls athletic field, and followed that strong effort with a come-from-behind 26-13 victory over the rival University of Minnesota-Crookston (UMC) a week later, spoiling the Trojans' dedication of their newly-completed athletic facility.

Then came a pair of disappointing losses to Iron Range foes Mesabi and Vermilion. The Northmen dropped a 15-0 game to Mesabi at Virginia and lost a close 7-6 decision to Vermilion in Thief River Falls.

Northland's highly-publicized defense produced a 9-0 shutout over Hibbing here in the fifth week of the season before the Northmen traveled to Fergus Falls to meet the nationally-ranked Spartans. They bounced back to edge Itasca 16-14 in their final home game but couldn't get that fourth win and a .500 finish at Brainerd.

For the most part it was Northland's aggressive defense, anchored by all-state candidate Mark Stock in the middle of the line, that made the Northmen competitive. Stock, a 5-9, 180-pound sophomore, led a trio of Mahnomen high school products who were starters in the defensive line. The others were Mike Busse, a 5-11, 192-pound sophomore, and Mike Oppegaard, a 5-11, 210-pound freshman. Like Stock, they deserve post-season recognition, too.

Only time the defense broke down was over the final two weeks of the season, even though the Northmen beat Itasca 16-14 and allowed Brainerd just two touchdowns in that 14-7 loss during that short stretch. But of the 1,365 yards that opponents accumulated against the Northmen (7-game statistics available do not include the Mesabi game), a little over half — 687 — were gained by the Vikings and Red Raiders. Otherwise, the Northmen played better defense than anybody else in the Northern Division.

And that defensive effort was even more remarkable in light of the very limited offensive support they had. The defense had their backs to wall often because the offense found it difficult, if not downright impossible, to move the football at times.

Mike Punton, a 5-9, 170-pound sophomore from Baudette, led a limited Northland ground game with 277 yards in seven games as the Northmen averaged just 88.4 yards per game rushing.

Busse, who saw limited duty at fullback at the start of the year and then got more playing time on offense when John Dillon, a 5-11, 190-pound sophomore from Thief River Falls went down with an ankle injury against Fergus Falls, led the Northmen in scoring with three touchdowns and 22 points.

One bright spot on offense for the Northmen was the pass-catching and running of wide receiver Ken Crouch, a 5-6, 185-pound sophomore from Inkster, Mich., who caught 35 passes for 397 yards. Many of them were simple quick tosses along the line of scrimmage that he turned into gainers.

Injuries were partly to blame for Northland's offensive problems. Helley said the Northmen make a habit of playing their best athletes on defense, and when injuries start cutting into the ranks of a small team, that means a lot of doubling up of positions and two-way football. And as the season wears on it's hard on a 35-to-40 man squad. That's probably why the Northmen gave up as many yards to Itasca and Brainerd over the final two weeks, pointed out Helley.

Nordics Enter Region Match

Undefeated status of the Marshall County Central high school volleyball team will be under fire Saturday when the Nordics enter the 1981 Region 8A volleyball tournament at the new University of Minnesota-Crookston (UMC) gymnasium facility.

Tournament pairings will find District 29 champion Cass Lake playing District 31 winner Alvarado at 2 p.m., with District 30 titlist Fosston playing District 32 representative Marshall County Central at 3:30. Third place match will be played at 7 that night, followed by the championship match at 8 p.m.

Alvarado and Marshall County Central enter the tournament with spotless records, but the Nordics face a major challenge against the Janice Woods-led Greyhounds.

Woods, a tall, hard-hitting individual who also excels in basketball, is the best volleyball player in northwestern Minnesota according to most informed sources. Her ability to spike with terrific force and block effectively, make Woods a one-player gang.

"We watched Fosston and I was very impressed with Woods," acknowledged Marshall County Central coach Sarah Ackerman. "They set up to her consistantly, and she has a wicked spile. She's also an excellent blocker and plays the back equally well."

Woods' presence is forcing a change in both the Marshall County Central offense and defense, admitted Ackerman, but the changes are minor. "We just have to cover in the back, watching the cross-court spike of hers, and offensively we have to try to hit the holes; set up the opposite side of Woods." There may also be more dinks — soft taps at the net — instead of trying to power the ball by Woods, she noted.

While Woods is a dominate figure, Ackerman is hoping the Nordics won't be intimidated. "If we are, we're in big trouble," she says. The Nordics will try to combat the Woods-led Greyhounds with a scrambling team-orientated game.

In addition to trying to get her team ready for a Region 8A appearance, Ackerman is trying to get the Nordics straightened out after a below-par District 32 tournament showing. Impressive during most of the 1981 season, Marshall County Central struggled in the district semifinals when the Nordics had to rally to beat Badger 14-18, 18-15, 19-17 and again in the finals where they edged Tri-County 18-16, 15-18, 18-13.

"That was a bad district showing," she admitted.

Region 8A winner will move on to the 1981 Class A state volleyball tournament November 20-21 at the Met Center in Bloomington.

Fosston is the defending Region 8A champion, with the Greyhounds also making state tournament trips in 1975 and 1977. None of the other three Region 8A challengers have ever made a state tournament appearance.

Youth Hockey Candy Sale To Start Thursday

Annual Thief River Falls amateur hockey association (TRFAHA) candy sale will kick off Thursday in the old arena.

All youth hockey players, starting with the 7-8-year-old Tiny Mites and including the Squirts, Pee-Wees and Bantams, are to report to the old arena Thursday to pick up their candy. The 7-8-year-old Tiny Mites are to report at 4 p.m., followed by the Squirts at 4:30, the Pee-Wees at 5 o'clock and the Bantams at 5:30.

The public is encouraged to purchase the candy from the players. Proceeds will help cover the cost of the youth hockey program in the city and will be used to help pay for the extensive remodeling of the old arena, which includes the installation of an artificial ice plant that will be put into operation for the first time this season.

JEWELS FOR THOUGHT
BY PHIL HESS

You know you've reached middle age when your weight lifting consists solely of standing up.

Father to son: "Remember this: I know a lot more about being young than you know about being old."

You can't call yourself a true procrastinator until you put off until tomorrow the things you've already put off until today.

Heard about the fellow who called his old car "Flattery" because it got him nowhere?

Ever notice how your belief in heredity is reinforced when one of your children does something outstanding?

Why don't you do something outstanding for your spouse this Christmas. Give one of exquisite diamond rings — a loving gift that says I love you forever! . . . Use our Christmas Lay-Away plan.

THE JEWEL BOX

FATHER AND DAUGHTER both got their bucks opening weekend while hunting near Roosevelt. Milt Burstad shot the ten-pointer Saturday evening with a 30-06, and Patti got her eight-pointer Sunday morning with a .243. It was her first time hunting deer.

Teachers Seek Wages To Match Their Duties

(Editor's Note: Following article by William B. Salinger, a high school English teacher in Eden Prairie, was published in the November 4 issue of the Minneapolis Star. It is reprinted here with the writer's permission at the request of representatives of the Thief River Falls Education association.)

At what point in your life did you know enough arithmetic to handle your finances? Enough about reading to understand an interoffice memo? When did you develop all of your skills, attitudes and learning? Who helped you and how? How many of those who helped you were teachers? Multiply that times the number of citizens now in society. Add the potential value of the 45 million students now in school. Divide by the number of teachers, and you have the value of a teacher.

I believe the fact that the preceding is an impossible task is one of the main reasons teachers like me are striking this fall. Because it is impossible to establish precisely what our value is, there is too much of a tendency to assume we have little value. The strike we are engaged in is not only for higher wages and better benefits; we are striking out of years of being frustrated at feeling undervalued. We know we have helped and are helping many people to be productive citizens. For this, we wish to be encouraged rather than discouraged.

We have felt discouraged for years by society's more subtle criticisms or by its silence and indifference. The criticisms we now hear, or the indifference suggested by those criticisms, don't sound new to us — just louder because we are striking.

We hear people say we shouldn't gripe about low wages; after all, we knew the wages were low when we started. They're right. We knew that economic mediocrity would be our pinnacle of wealth and we accepted that. But after years of achieving raises that fell one, two or three percentage points below the cost-of-living increases, even mediocrity began to look unobtainable. We work 10 years, go to school three more and earn lower hourly wages than many of our students who graduated three or four years ago. We watch talented colleagues leave for other jobs, and they tell us how quickly and easily they began to earn more. We become discouraged.

We hear people say that we should find other jobs if we are dissatisfied. It is hard for us because we feel so proud of what we do. We are exhilarated when we help our students achieve. We feel it is such a worthy thing to do. We feel discouraged that others seem unable to sense the worthiness of this.

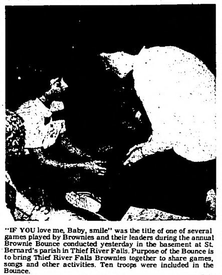
We hear people say that if we were really dedicated we wouldn't strike. (Or gripe.) We answer that our dedication extends beyond this year's students, though we will work hard for them when we return to the classrooms. However, our dedication also reaches toward tomorrow's students, for we know that we are good teachers — and we also know that we won't continue to teach if the present situation continues.

We hear people say their taxes are already high enough. They can't pay more. We wonder how those people would do if they brought their children home to do what we do: teach them to read, write, add and subtract. Structure social situations for them so they will learn to cooperate with others. Prepare them for college-entrance exams. Teach them to drive a car, to play volleyball, to sew clothes, to make a cabinet, to value the cultural heritage of man as expressed in literature or art or music, to play trombone with a band, to sing alto with a chioir, to have a subject agree with a verb in a sentence, to conduct an experiment, to know the principles by which their country is governed.

We hear an increasing number of people who don't have children ask why they should pay for education. We ask them to look ahead 20 or 40 years. Who will pay the social security taxes that might comfort their retirement? Who will read instructions for using the machines they have created? Who will sew the clothes they may want to buy? Who will play the trombones in the band they may want to listen to? Who will be their doctor, their lawyer, their senator? The people who will do these things — how well should they be educated and who will educate them?

We wish we could prove our value with statistics and numbers. We wish we could label each child — "taught by us." We can't. But we also cannot believe that society can deny us, as it has for so long, our deservedly important place in its system of social economic values. We cultivate a great resource — people. We are tired of being "just" teachers. We ask rather a "just" decision from society about actual worth.

PARTICIPATING in Junior Badge day yesterday in the basement of the city auditorium were these Junior Girl Scouts, who at the time of this photo, were learning about antique toys and tools. Girls also learned the art of storytelling, folk singing, and advantages and uses of natural foods. All girls earned their folk arts badge for participating in the event.



"IF YOU love me, Baby, smile" was the title of one of several games played by Brownies and their leaders during the annual Brownie Bounce conducted yesterday in the basement at St. Bernard's parish in Thief River Falls. Purpose of the Bounce is to bring Thief River Falls Brownies together to share games, songs and other activities. Ten troops were included in the Bounce.

Humane Society Workshop Set On Nov. 18, 19

First state-wide program in the U.S. for law enforcement agencies in which course credit is offered will be sponsored by Minnesota Humane society (MHS) November 18 and 19 at the Radisson Hotel, 11 E. Kellogg, St. Paul.

Workshop-conference will not only be directed to law enforcement agents and officers, but is open to county humane society members and officers, all MHS members and animal welfare advocates.

Twelve credit hours of course work through POST (Peace Officer Standards and Training) will be given for attendance. MHS will, through this workshop, aid police departments, sheriff's departments, animal control agencies and veterinarians in understanding law, responsibilities, and care and handling techniques of animals.

Conference will include nationally known speakers addressing issues of animal abuse investigations, emergency veterinarian care and practices, animal welfare agencies, humane education, animal control and techniques, legal responsibilities and current state of dog fighting in America. Information and pre-registration can be obtained by writing MHS, 529 Jackson St., St. Paul, MN. 55101 or calling directly (612) 296-3613. There will be a fee charged for attending the conference.

2 Area Women Attend UND Conference

Kim Adlis, Strandquist, and Marlene Beedy, Thief River Falls, were among the 91 health professionals, counselors and others who examined eating disorders, their diagnosis and treatment at a recent conference. It was presented in Grand Forks by the University of North Dakota division of continuing education.

The program, focusing on anorexia nervosa and bulimia, was sponsored by the UND School of Medicine and the Grand Forks Center for Human Development.

Participants examined the definitions of these two diseases, recently developed psychosocial and biological correlates, advantages and disadvantages of various treatment approaches, and special problems in treating these ailments.

Thursday, Nov. 19: THANKSGIVING DINNER: Roast turkey, mashed potatoes with gravy, cranberry jello salad, pumpkin pie with topping, dinner rolls, milk.

Friday, Nov. 20: Chili, crackers, vegetable sticks, apple sauce, bread, milk.

Letters to the Editor

To the Editor:

Next week will mark one year that I reluctantly drove to Thief River Falls to attend the five day plan to stop smoking. After numerous bouts of nagging from my wife and averaging more than two cartons of cigarettes a week, I decided I should at least give the five-day plan a try. I am proud to say that next week will be one year without a smoke.

I would like to again thank Pastor Dobkins and Dr. Herber for the time and talent they have donated to this program, to make it so successful. If anyone reading this, or someone you care about, has the least bit of interest in quitting smoking, you owe it to yourself to contact the Pennington county chapter of the cancer society and join the group that will be starting November 16 on the "five-day plan to stop smoking." Call 681-2685 to preregister.

Sincerely,
Roger Thibert

Children's Book Week Observed At Library

National Children's Book Week will be observed by the Northwest regional library in Thief River Falls with special programs beginning November 16.

Cecelia McKenna-Barda will present some views on children's literature at 7 p.m. Monday and Wednesday, covering such topics as what to look for in children's books and how to encourage children to read. Monday's program will deal with books for preschool to early elementary age children, while Wednesday's will relate to middle elementary grades and up. All interested persons are invited to attend either one or both of the free programs.

McKenna-Barda has taught children's literature at Bemidji state university, and is a teacher at Northrop elementary school. She will also share some of her favorite titles and have handouts of related information available.

In addition to the presentation, members of the library staff will be holding story reading or book discussion sessions for children in another part of the library while their parents attend the program. Children may attend whether they come with their parents or on their own.

National Children's Book Week was established in 1919 to focus attention on children's literature and its importance in children's lives. The Northwest regional library encourages all children and their parents to take time this week and visit the library, located at 101 East First Street.

4 Defendants Appear Before District Judge

Robert Arnold Jones, charged with criminal sexual conduct in the first degree in the alleged rape of a 12-year-old girl, appeared in district court October 28 and entered a plea of not guilty. He is being held on $50,000 bond in the Pennington county law enforcement center.

Michael Haller, charged with possession of a Schedule I controlled substance, and Kimberly Jo Wahlbeck (also known as Kim Jo Jones), charged with sale of a controlled substance, appeared in court Monday. Both entered not guilty pleas. Haller is free on $2,500 bond and Wahlbeck on $5,000 bond.

Also appearing Monday was Craig Hince, Thief River Falls, on a charge of fleeing a police officer in a motor vehicle. The charge is a gross misdemeanor.

All of the appearances were before Judge Warren A. Saetre in Pennington county district court in Thief River Falls.

Council Acts On Hazardous Waste Site

Inspector, Bob Bregier, and according to city ordinance, should be torn down by December 10 by its owners, Jobs, Inc.

City Attorney Bob Wurst said that his associate, Paul Ihle, had researched the matter and was of the opinion that the ordinance was shaky and "lacked due process", recommending that the city proceed under state statute. Wurst allowed that it meant "starting over," with a new proceeding and a new deadline.

Much discussion revolved around whether the building was unsafe, who would be liable if someone were injured, and what was a reasonable time to allow for removal of the building. Alderman Milan Borsheim said the Parking Assessment District should be "given some time". Penning commented, "That's so dead it stinks!" The matter was referred to attorneys to start new proceedings.

Subject of the Traffic flow plan recommended by Pennington County Safety Council was introduced by Mayor Bob Carlson saying "I though you might want to handle it. Have you had enough study time?" The plan was recommended in October, and tabled until November to allow council members and community time to study it. It was stated that the majority of opposition was to removal of the four-way stop at First and Kendall. Penning made a motion that the matter be tabled again, which passed. "I hope that in the near future we can have some discussion on this matter." said Carlson.

In other business the council:

—approved assessment rolls for water main extension on Dewey Avenue and replacement of sewer on Fifth Street between Main and LaBree Avenue. Total assessment for the Dewey Avenue project was $10,253.64, to be divided between six property owners involved according to the amount of frontage benefitted. Total assessment on the Fifth Street project was $9,653.90 to be divided between four property owners benefitted. One, Mrs. Pearl Poppenhaugen was not charged $178.50 for hookup since her sewer connected on Main. Owners can pay the assessment within 30 days without interest, or have the amounts added to their property taxes, and pay over ten years at nine per cent interest, accumulating from January 1.

—approved permits for David Fournier to hold three dances at the armory on November 20, December 11, and December 31. Recorded music is to be provided by disc jockeys from Grand Forks. The permits were subject to approval of Police Chief Ken Froschheiser.

—approved the low bid of $7548 for a new Ford pickup from Tunberg Motors. The pickup is for use of the street department. Notice was taken that there was less than $91 difference between the high and low bids. Other bidders were Westside motors and Northern Motors. Purchase of an asphalt kettle trailer for $3573 was also approved for the street department.

—approved letting of bids for a new patrol car for use in 1982, bids to be opened 2 p.m. December 8. Mayor Carlson suggested that committee chairmen "do their lobbying" to see who would get the old patrol car.

—granted progression raises, effective October 15, 1981, for Doug Martell to $1,289 per month; and Alan Johnson to $1,093 per month.

—authorized a contract to relocate the visual approach slope indicator at the airport. This would involve installation of new instrument landing equipment to be paid for by FAA. Seven acres would be lost to farmers who rent land from the city.

—set 7 p.m. December 8 as date for the second of two Federal Revenue Sharing hearings.

—noted, regarding possible cuts in local government aids, that lobbying efforts would have to made strongly to see that cuts were divided farily among various local government bodies.

—heard that the city had received a $21,586 dividend from Home Insurance Co. This is 50 per cent of the dividend the city will receive, getting another 25 per cent in March of 1982 and the balance in 1983. The money is already budgeted in 1982, noted Roger DeLap, assistant city clerk.

—noted that a Local Government Day dinner will be held for unpaid board and commission members and their spouses on November 30.

—approved bills from Hjelle Roofing of $9,855 for re-roofing the Service Center and $7,675 for repairs to the power plant roof; from Tri-Valley Opp. Council of $1,758.63 for Senior Meals Activity Coordinator's salary reimbursement; and from St. Regis Culvert Operations of $16,872 for installation of an aluminum culvert on Barzen Avenue.

Avoid an extra trip to the dentist for you or a new spring, wheel or axle for your car by keeping a sharp watch for potholes while driving.

LAND FOR SALE
ON SEALED BIDS

The owner of the property described below offers for sale on sealed bids a 200 acre farm located in the Town of Como, Marshall County, Minnesota, described as follows:

Northwest Quarter (NW¼) and Southwest Quarter of the Northeast Quarter (SW¼NE¼) Section 36, Township 158 North of Range 42 West, excepting and reserving all mineral rights.

Approximately 129 acres are open. It is expected that it will be plowed in 1981, but seller will be liable for the acres plowed only on the day of bidding. There are some buildings on the property.

The terms that the seller will accept will be either cash or a contract for deed. If the bid is for a contract for deed, a down payment of 20 per cent of the total bid will be required and the balance to be paid over a term of ten years with interest on the unpaid balance at the rate of 10 per cent per annum. All bidders should deposit 5 per cent of the bid in the form of a cashier's check, certified check or a bank money order. The successful bidder will be required to provide an additional amount on the day of bidding to bring the bid up to 5 per cent.

Sealed bids should be brought to the Law Office of Jaroslav Krata in Middle River, Minnesota, on or before 1 p.m. on Wednesday, November 18, 1981, at which time they will be opened at 2 p.m. If bids arrive at the Warren office, they must arrive by Tuesday, November 17, 1981. The highest three bidders together with the present tenant will have a right to raise the bids orally.

The seller reserves the right to reject any or all bids.

For further information contact — Law Office of Jaroslav Krata, 107 West Johnson Avenue, Warren, MN 56762. Telephone — (218) 745-4421 or Middle River (218) 222-3738.

Tragedy also struck the team off the field when Dave Gorski and Nate Kiel were involved in an automobile accident the night before the Oct. 17 Fergus Falls game. Kiel, a 6-3, 205-pound freshman from Kasilof, Alaska, was lost to the team for the rest of the year with a shoulder injury and Gorski, a 6-0, 180-pound sophomore from Lancaster, remains in the intensive care unit of United Hospital in Grand Forks with head injuries.

Captains were named earlier for the 1982 Northmen. Dave Kays, a center from Thief River Falls, and Ken Demarais, a tackle from Fisher, were elected offensive captains, while Steve Jorstad, a linebacker from Thief River Falls, and Thaddous Forman, a safety from Oak Park, Mich., were selected defensive captains.

"I feel the four captains the players elected will be a real asset to the team," mentioned Helley. "I think they'll be excellent captains."

Individual award winners were also named earlier. Kays and Demarais were named top offensive linemen for 1981; Stock and Busse were top defensive linemen; Punton and Dillon were top offensive backs; Forman and Coby Burslie, a sophomore from McIntosh, were top defensive backs; Jorstad, Don Hudec, a freshman from Kelliher, and Jeff Canivez, a sophomore from Baudette, were top linebackers; and Burslie and Gorski were top special team players.

The 1981 MJCAA football season will be climaxed Saturday when Northern Division champion Fergus Falls and Southern Division winner Normandale, both unbeaten and ranked high in the NJCAA polls, will meet in the state playoff game at 1:30 p.m. at Macalester college in St. Paul.

Sandstrom Is Speaker At TRF Realtors Meet

Guest speaker during a recent meeting of the Thief River Falls area board of realtors was Jerry Sandstrom, executive vice president of the Thief River Falls chamber of commerce.

Sandstrom, during the meeting, explained that one of the reasons he came to Thief River Falls was because of the people and their positive attitudes. "Thief River Falls residents make things happen," he said.

Sandstrom also discussed multiple listings from the standpoint of the buyer.

Bob Flynn, first president of the Thief River Falls board of realtors, was presented the Realtor of the Year award. Each year the board of realtors will select a realtor who qualifies for this award.

MSU External Studies Will Begin In Dec.

Two educational planning classes for all people entering Moorhead state university's external studies program will begin early in December.

External studies program is designed to help adults earn a college degree through part-time study. It also offers some credits for competencies acquired through work, personal experience or community service.

One class will meet Tuesdays from 7 to 9 p.m. beginning December 1; the other on Saturdays from 9:30 to 11:30 a.m. beginning December 5. Each will meet four times on campus, plus one specially arranged individual counseling session. Classes are designed to help external studies students develop a program leading to a bachelor's degree.

For more information, call the MSU external studies office at 236-2181.

Body's Reactions To Hypothermia Tested At UMD

by Paul Dienhart
'U' M News Service

It's that cold day when everything goes wrong.

You're striding along on cross-country skis, jacket open, breaking into a sweat in spite of the bitter cold. Suddenly, one of your skis hooks under a branch near the surface of the snow. As you somersault through the air you hear the ski crack in half. It's five miles back to town, but you grit your teeth and begin wading through the snowdrifts.

They find you toward evening, sitting in snow a half mile from shelter. Tracks indicate you wandered in circles before collapsing. They can't find a pulse or detect any breathing. In desperation, a rescuer trained by American Red Cross gives you external chest massage. Your hear, which had been beating slowly under rigid muscles, is jolted into a wild, uncontrolled beat that ends in heart failure. "We did everything we could, but I'm afraid we were too late," a loved one is told. "I'm sorry."

"You can't assume a person is dead because they're cold. It's amazing how much witchcraft is involved in treating hypothermia victims. Until recently, we didn't know much more about how the body regulates temperature in cold than those Benedictine monks who strapped brandy flasks on St. Bernards."

The speaker, Robert Pozos, is a physiologist who came to the school of medicine at University of Minnesota, Duluth, (UMD) from Southern California. "I was shocked at the temperature changes Minnesotans take for granted," he said. "Since most of my work has dealt with tremors and shakes, I decided to study shiver response."

Result was a laboratory among the first to show what happens when body temperature is lowered to the point of hypothermia. The lab Pozos runs with physiologist Larry Witmers contains a huge plywood and fiberglass tank filled with 39-degree Lake Superior water. A computer helps monitor heart beat, temperature and shiver reactions of students who volunteer to jump.

Although UMD safety rules allow Pozos to lower body temperature of volunteers by only two degrees centigrade, he can still detect onset of hypothermia. "I've talked to volunteers two days after the test and they don't remember half the stuff that went on," Pozos said.

Example of this reaction could be Sen. Edward Kennedy's failure to report death of Mary Jo Kopechne until several hours after plunging off Chappaquiddick bridge, Pozos said. Kennedy's repeated dives into cold ocean could have made him hypothermic.

"Personality changes are one of the first indications of hypothermia," Pozos said. "People who never swear will suddenly begin to cuss. We've had people in the tank go into profound depressions. When that starts we pull them out right away." Tank volunteers are free to get out anytime, and there is always a physician present in case of problems.

After personality change, next warning is loss in judgment, causing people to do irrational things. Then, when body temperature drops to around 90 degrees, muscles become rigid. At 86 degrees circulation slows enough so people begin to lose consciousness. Death from heart failure occurs around 71 degrees or lower.

"Shivering, personality change and stiff muscles are keys to recognizing someone who is getting hypothermic," Pozos said.

Depending on the situation, these stages can occur very rapidly. It is also possible to suffer from hypotermia and never get past early stages. "Cases can range from a vigorous old man who is too tight to turn up his thermostat, to a marathon runner racing in a cold breeze," Pozos said. Testing runners at this year's Grandma's Marathon in Duluth he found individuals with body temperatures several degrees below where volunteers are pulled from his tank.

Pozos' work is especially concerned with finding best survival techniques for wilderness emergencies, far away from professional care.

"In water, don't splash," he advises. "The more you move your limbs the more heat you lose. Get as much of your body out of water as possible. Water takes heat from you 20 to 30 times faster than air. If there's chance of help and you can get part of your body out of water — wait. You will lose heat much more rapidly by swimming."

Last year 85 people died in Minnesota waters, and state Department of Natural Resources estimates that half were the result of hypothermia rather than simple drowning.

"More people die of hypothermia on land because they're more scared of water than they are of air," Pozos said. He has this advice for stranded cross-country skiers: wipe perspiration from your body, find shelter, insulate yourself from cold ground and eat food you have with you. Then, wait.

"We don't recommend heroic measures in the wilderness," Pozos said. "It takes tremendous energy to walk five miles in deep snow. This assumes you had sense to bring food and matches."

"Always think like a Minnesotan! Think pessimistically. Think: what if...?"

In treating hypothermic victims, Pozos disagrees with current dogma of American Red Cross. "They recommend chest massage, but haven't been able to provide me with any data for that procedure. Hypothermic heart is very sensitive to malfunction. The colder the heart gets, the more likely it is to go into fibrillation (uncoordinated twitching). When that happens you have to continue massage or blood flow to the brain will stop. That isn't practical in the boondocks."

In the wilderness, Pozos advises rescuers make sure respiratofy passage is clear, take off cold clothes and wrap the person in blankets for natural rewarming. "Watch closely and give them fluid when they can manage to drink. Don't put them next to bonfires or throw them into hot tubs."

Pozos has found Minnesotans especially curious about effect of alcohol on reactions to cold. Scientists have long believed that alcohol makes a person cold faster, but Pozos' tests show the opposite.

He explained: "Alcohol dilates blood vessels near the skin. That's why drunks have red faces. The brain gets the message: 'You're OK, your skin is nice and warm.' That's why drunks don't shiver. Shivering makes you lose heat faster.

"Alcohol also minimizes freakiness. Cold hurts. You get in that tank and you know it hurts, unless you've been drinking. The more you panic and thrash around, the more heat you lose. We also have some evidence that alcohol protects the heart from fibrillation.

"Alcohol can get you into trouble in the cold, but once you're in trouble we don't think it's harmful to chances for survival."

"When I first got into this work six years ago, I thought there had to be a lot of answers around," Pozos said. "Getting cold is as old as mankind. But I found out there was a lot more information of reactions to heat because of military operations in hot climates. Of course, if Minnesota, the icebox of the United States, didn't have answers, who would?"

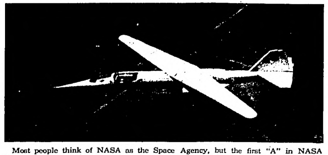
NASA's Fuel-Saving, Swing-Wing Airplane



Most people think of NASA as the Space Agency, but the first "A" in NASA stands for Aeronautics.

Here's one example. This "oblique wing" research aircraft has completed 39 test flights at NASA's Ames Research Center and Dryden Flight Research Center, both in California. These first subsonic flights proved the handling qualities of the airplane even with its wing angled up to 60 degrees to its fuselage. The program tests the theory that an oblique wing airplane can fly at low supersonic speeds using less fuel and with reduced intensity of sonic booms than conventional aircraft. NASA conducts a wide variety of aeronautical research at Ames, Dryden and at its Langley Research Center in Virginia and the Lewis Research Center in Cleveland. The aeronautics programs are all aimed at maintaining U.S. preeminence in civil and military aviation.

Tax Strategy Planning Guide Offered Free

President Reagan's economic recovery act of 1981 has generated controversy over the exact nature of changes in the tax law. At this point, the only certainty in many minds is the need to start planning now to avoid paying more than legally required in 1982 income taxes.

Showpiece of the Reagan tax cut is the across-the-board reduction in individual income tax rates. The cut will total 23 per cent by 1984, though the reduction for 1981 will total only 1.25 per cent, a savings for the average American taxpayer ranging from less than one dollar to three or four dollars per paycheck.

But individual income tax rate reductions aren't the only changes in tax law. "Marriage tax," for example, has been reduced, though not eliminated. Also, as a result of reduction in maximum income tax rate, maximum capital gains rate has been dropped from 28 to 20 per cent. Congress made this ceiling on capital gains tax available retroactive to June 10.

Taxpayers will have a little more breathing room under the new law for estimated tax payments. Under prior law, it was necessary to file an estimated tax return if tax liability was $100 or more. Starting in 1982, threshold amount will be $200, rising $100 per year in each succeeding year until leveling off at $500 in 1985 and subsequent years.

Through a significant provision in the new tax law, Congress has locked in the income tax cut after 1984. Starting in 1985, tax brackets, zero bracket amount, and personal exemption will be adjusted for inflation. This indexing provision will stop taxpayers from being pushed from one bracket to a higher one simply because they receive cost-of-living increases in their salary.

Rate of inflation will be measured by consumer price index.

These tax law revisions, and others, are explained at length in "How You Can Profit From the Reagan Tax Cut," an 18 page guide to planning tax strategies. To order a free copy, send a self-addressed business size envelope (approximately 9½ by 4½ inches) and 35 cents postage to: Tax Information Center, 68210 Boden Road, New Concord, OH. 43762.

Waiting to hear

Life without a mailbox would be lonely indeed. Everybody wants to hear from someone.

Why is communication so essential to man's well-being? Because we feel that life is incomplete without the fulfillment that comes to us from other lives.

And yet a wide circle of friends can also leave gaps in our lives. And so we pray. For we require divine guidance as often as we need human support. Just as we need to renew the ties of family and friends, so always we need to be in touch with the God who is Father of us all.

Would you like to hear from God? Before you even realized it — God was waiting to hear from you! Prayer is that simple . . . that universal.

Sick Babies Need Most Attention By Parents, Families

"Is my baby all right? It's the first question many parents ask after the birth of their child.

"No" is the answer for some 10 per cent of parents — those whose infants are born prematurely or critically ill. These infants require life saving care given by specialists in hospital newborn intensive care units (NICU).

With a healthy infant, parents can begin to touch and to hold their infant right after birth, a crucial process called "bonding." Some research has shown that building the emotional link between parent and baby in the first few hours of the infant's life can have an effect on the relationship in years to come.

Bonding isn't as easy when the baby is seriously ill. But it's just as important — perhaps more so, say staff members at a St. Paul hospital. Recognizing this, many hospitals have developed special sensitivity to concerns of parents.

"Sick babies are the ones who seem to need parental love and attention the most," says Sandy Clayton, clinical director. "But there are so many factors that interrup the process."

First of all, she points out, parents must face the fact that their baby may not survive. Should they commit themselves to loving this infant, or hold back? Their confusion can undermine the process of bonding.

Then there is life-support equipment so crucial to infant survival. Aside from the fact that it acts as a physical barrier between parent and child, the machinery can create real inhibitions within parents.

"It can be overwhelming for a mother to walk into the intensive care unit for the first time and see her tiny, helpless child," says Clayton. "Usually the biggest problem the nurses have is just trying to get the mother to touch, to stroke the baby."

Sue Thune, one of the unit's nurses, knows just what parents go through. Six years ago, her own first baby was born pre-maturely and was cared for in NICU.

"Babies in NICU don't look like normal babies," Thune explains. "They aren't fat and gurgling. It can be quite a shock."

Parents in the unit have a lot of adjustments to make, Thune points out. "Maybe the mother feels guilty about the birth, as though she somehow caused her baby's problems.

"Another problem is the shock of seeing this tiny body under glass, hooked up to tubes and machines that parents don't understand. They realize that there is very little they as parents can do for the baby," she says.

Actually, there is a great deal parents can do. Medical professionals recognize the emotional factor is often the most decisive of all in helping a patient (of any age) regain health.

So nurses in the NICU do all they can to bring parent and infant together. They have several simple but ingenious techniques to get things started.

"Sometimes I get the parent to help me while I change the baby's diaper, for instance," says Thune. "Or I might have one of them hold the baby while I do some work on the isolette (incubator). I do it in small steps, and gradually the parent realizes the baby won't break."

"People tend to underestimate babies," Clayton points out. "They react from birth to their environment. Babies like bright colors and movement, so we tell parents to bring toys and pictures to put in the isolette. It helps personalize the hospital routine, but it also gives parents one more way to learn to know the child, to get past the tubes and machines."

Since the hospital NICU serves families from throughout the upper midwest, many infants in the unit's 32 beds come from outside the Twin Cities. To accommodate these families, the hospital has sleeping rooms and lounges for parents. Family visiting hours on the unit are unlimited: Brothers, sisters and grandparents are welcome, and staff members are available for consultation at any time.

No matter how sensitive the hospital, of course, physical contact between parents and baby is bound to be more limited when the infant isn't well. In the flurry of publicity about bonding, some parents have come to view the process as a do-or-die matter: without early contact, they fear, it will be impossible to form a close attachment later.

Researchers in Minnesota have shown recently that this is untrue; parent-child attachment is a gradual process that develops throughout the first year of life and continues well beyond that.

As for those first few days, although interruptions and delays in contact with their newborn can be frustrating for new parents, care and effort by parents and hospital staff can do much to help make up for lost time.

White House Honors Retired Volunteers

President Ronald Reagan told members of the Retired Senior Volunteer Program (RSVP), the largest federal volunteer program, that his administration will seek help of volunteers in building a stronger national economy.

"Among the things we are going to do to restore this economy is form a task force throughout the country to mobilize voluntarism through the private sector," Reagan said.

The president said mobilization will allow volunteer programs like RSVP to "take up the slack" in programs to be cut from federal government.

"The idea of voluntarism is meaningful to this administration," Reagan told the RSVP volunteers invited to the White House September 23, the 10th anniversary of the program.

Fifth-three volunteers, representing the 50 states, Puerto Rico, Guam and District of Columbia, were in Washington as representatives of 320,000 RSVP volunteers currently serving nationwide.

RSVP was established in 1971 to provide a variety of opportunities for persons 60 or older to participate more actively in community services.

Following ceremony in the White House rose garden, volunteers were honored at lunch on Capitol Hill where congressmen and senators commended RSVP for its decade of service.

Senator Jennings Randolph (D-W. Va.) described RSVP as the most phenomenal success story of any volunteer program. "You touch the hearts of many people with your gentleness, your skill and your compassion," he said.

Senator John Heinz (R-Pa.) said older Americans are among "the most capable and underutilized resources" in a nation that will have even greater needs for their services in coming years.

Rep. Claude Pepper (D-Fl.) said RSVP has helped ease burdens for countless Americans. "I commend RSVP for making lighter and better lives of so many people," he said.

BBB/Mn Warns Against Credit Card Abuse

Convenience in shopping and bill-paying is one of the major advantages in owning a credit card, but the Better Business Bureau reminds consumers they must be careful when giving out credit card information over the phone to unknown companies.

Ron Graham, president of the BBB-Minnesota, said the Bureau has noted some alarming potential for abuse by out-of-state promoters taking phone orders for merchandise at cut-rate prices.

A recent promotion of this type reported to the BBB by Minnesota consumers was a newspaper ad featuring "Levis Jeans for $6.00." The only way a person could order the jeans was by calling a toll-free number and giving out their credit card number.

"The six dollar blue jeans deal is the latest to surface," Graham noted. "We've traced the promoter through a California answering service to an office in Alton, Illinois under the name Scott's Exchange."

According to the BBB, James R. Scott, the promoter, provided no bank reference, even though all VISA or Mastercard orders must circulate through a bank. In addition, Scott refused to show a sample or provide his source of supply.

A spokesman for Scott's Exchange would not reveal to the BBB where the jeans were purchased or where they are keeping them.

William Taylor, legal representative for Levi, Strauss & Co., San Francisco, told the BBB $6.00 for a pair of Levis was less than the price retailers pay to Levi, Strauss. He also stated the jeans were not sold to Scott by any of his representatives.

Graham said the jeans-by-phone deal could end in at least three possible outcomes — two of which are bad news for consumers.

"One, a person could get the jeans as advertised, or two, a person could get no jeans, just a bill for $6," Graham said. "A third possibility is a person could get no jeans, but their card number could turn up sometime in the future on a bill for somthing they didn't order."

Consumers should be aware that whenever payment is required in advance of the product or service, some risk is involved, the BBB warns.

Under the provisions of the Federal Fair Credit Billing Act, purchasers using credit cards have 60 days from the date billed in which to notify the credit card company in writing in case of error or nondelivery of goods or services.

Safety Rules For Winter Driving Given

With predictions that the upcoming winter will be more severe than those of the past several years, Minnesota public safety commissioner John P. Sopsic is reminding drivers to review the safety rules for winter driving.

Starting and stopping a vehicle are key areas. Starting requires a gentle application of the accelerator. In stopping, important things to remember are reducing speed and increasing following distances. Never jam on your brakes to stop on a slippery surface.

When stopping on snow or ice, apply the breaks gently. If you should have to stop suddenly on a slippery surface, pump your brakes. If your wheels lock release the brake to get them rolling again, then squeeze down again and keep repeating the pumping action until the vehicle stops. Stopping this way will slow your vehicle gradually instead of causing it to skid.

Other suggestions are:

+ Be able to see and be seen; get a feel for the road when you start out; make turns slowly and gradually; turn in the direction of the skid; remember scattered slippery spots and ice patches can cause problems; and avoid a collision by intentionally steering your car off the road and into a snowbank in an emergency situation.

These and other tips are contained in a brochure, "Winter Driving Tips," available from the Division of Emergency Services, Department of Public Safety, St. Paul, MN 55155.

SOLVING PROBLEMS BEFORE THEY HAPPEN.

Lutheran Brotherhood announces MagniMed... a major medical program with 100% coverage for outpatient surgery and generic drugs.

A major need. What would happen if you or a member of your family suffered a major illness or injury requiring an extended hospital stay, long-term treatment, major surgery or a combination of all three? Are you really covered against such catastrophic costs by your current insurance?

Improving on a good thing. Lutheran Brotherhood has recently introduced an extraordinary new major medical plan called MagniMed. It's designed to provide quality coverage at an affordable cost. Broad coverage, too. Unlike most other plans, for example, MagniMed pays a full 100% of your outpatient surgery and generic drug costs after the deductible has been satisfied.

Flexible, million dollar coverage! Among MagniMed's many other features are these:

- There are a number of deductible options so that you can tailor your coverage to what you can afford.
- There's no limit to the number of days or scheduled amount of benefits provided under the plan for intensive care and room and board is provided based upon average local semi-private room rates.
- Coverage is provided either while confined in a hospital or while being treated as an outpatient.
- Each covered family member is eligible for up to $1,000,000 of lifetime benefits.

Taking the lead. Once again Lutheran Brotherhood has spared no effort to provide Lutherans with the very best in insurance benefits — at a very competitive cost. Once again we're ready and able to help you solve problems before they happen.

Find out now. Don't wait another minute to protect yourself from the kind of calamity that could happen any minute. And if you already have major medical coverage, it could still be very worthwhile to compare it with what MagniMed offers. Call your nearby Lutheran Brotherhood representative today and find out all about MagniMed.

FACTUAL NEWS REPORTING EFFECTIVE ADVERTISING

Job Base Is Tax Base

Following editorial is from the Fargo (ND) Forum:

It was with considerable surprise that we learned that DFL State Sen. Collin Peterson of Detroit Lakes, Minn., thinks a poor public attitude is doing more to promote a poor business climate in Minnesota than actions by state government.

The senator maintains that "rhetoric" about Minnesota being a poor business state is little more than partisan political propaganda.

For a state senator who has made business problems one of his top priorities in the Legislature, Peterson sounds less than realistic. In fact, he could be accused of indulging in a little political rhetoric himself.

Peterson is referring mostly to Independent Republican Gov. Al Quie, who has been saying that the state's job and business climate is sick, and its improvement must take top priority in the upcoming legislative session.

Quie has become the DFL's whipping boy for the serious financial ills that are besetting the state and threatening its balanced budget.

He has been accused of mismanagement, which is unfair in the light of the nationwide creeping recession-inflation.

Now he is also being accused of political rhetoric when he says business is in serious trouble and it is affecting employment.

Leaders of Peterson's own party have said business in the state is in stress. DFL Sen. Roger Moe of Ada, Senate majority leader, acknowledged that the business problem in Minnesota is acute, especially on the Minnesota-North Dakota border.

DFL Attorney General Warren Spannaus, who is running against Quie for governor in 1982, says the business climate must be changed before business is going to be easily lured to Minnesota. He is working on a detailed, in-depth program for business development, he said.

Quie recently announced a 10-point program which he believes will allow business to expand and create new jobs.

Among problems business people don't want to put up with anymore are high income taxes, workers' compensation rates that are double-to-triple costs in neighboring states, the chance of higher unemployment compensation taxes, and increasing property taxes.

Those depressing conditions are enough to contribute far more to the business community's poor attitude than a negative image perpetrated by politicians. The Pollyanna attitude that everything that is not too bad does little good.

Minnesotans' eyes should be directed toward St. Paul, because that's exactly where the problems started back in the 1970's, when the DFL's insensitive attitude toward business, resulted in high taxes of business, plus workers' compensation and unemployment compensation rates which were among the highest in the nation.

We agree with Quie's statement that there is no difference between working people and the business community when it comes to the importance of jobs and the need for a strong economy.

Unless some of the financial impediments on business are improved in the upcoming Legislature, business will continue to suffer, and here in the border area, close their doors or move to a more welcoming state.

This would not help the job base, and unemplyment would not improve. Then attitudes really would be negative, with or without political rhetoric.

Don't Lose Indexing

Following comments are by Bob Johnson of the Wadena Pioneer Journal:

You're going to hear a lot from Minnesota politicians in the next few weeks about the need for eliminating the state's income tax indexing or temporarily calling a halt to its implementation in order to solve our financial mess.

Don't be hoodwinked by that hogwash. Indexing is the best thing that's happened to Minnesota taxpayers. It's made lawmakers go on record in voting tax increases. It has made lawmakers accountable to the people for their fiscal policies.

With indexing, legislators can no longer continue spend-spend-spend policies without going on record for the tax increases to pay for them. If they do continue the spending without adequate financing, our fiscal woes will continue. And Minnesotans will know who has to be voted out to restore fiscal responsibility.

Legislators don't like indexing because it forces them to go on record. Any relaxing of indexing would be a step backward. Let your legislator know now that you won't stand for any tampering with the indexing formula.

Reapportionment Drags

Following editorial is from the Detroit Lakes Newspapers:

We're starting to get a peek at some of the attempts to reapportion the state's legislative districts. . . and we're starting to have a bit of wishful thinking that the 1980 vote to create a special committee to handle this problem would have passed.

Reapportionment time is again upon us because every 10 years, all states are required to redraw their congressional and legislative boundaries on the basis of census results. We are bound by law to draw these districts in proportion to the population of the area according to the one person, one vote principle.

Mostly through lack of interest or a failure on the part of voters to know what's going on, a question of the ballot which would have created a committee to tackle reapportionment failed in the 1980 election. It's one question that we wish would have passed because the way the state goes about it now is silly.

Ten years ago, legislators tried to complete a reapportionment plan during the regular session, but failed. Gov. Wendell Anderson then called a special session to complete the project. After 86 days, a plan was passed by the legislators, only to be vetoed by Anderson. Anyway, the state eventually ended up with a plan devised by three persons from the Federal District Court.

Ten years ago, original plans split a lot of counties and erased a lot of county borders. . . it was a fairly typical case of legislators attempting to protect their own territory. The court plan the state ended up with was better, but not too much. There was still a lot of county lines erasing and splitting. . . necessary in some cases, of course, in an attempt to make each district as equal as possible in population.

Ten years later, it appears we will be going through the same steps again.

A very, very slight hope that legislators could get together to create a reapportionment plan which was fair has already been erased. Plans we've seen already are full of instances of self-protection and gerrymandering.

Of course, incumbents want to protect themselves and we're already seeing the zig-zag boundaries appear on proposed plans which would do just that.

Gerrymandering is more than oddly shaped districts, though. Gerrymandering (named after Elbridge Gerry, governor of Massachusetts in 1812 when the legislature created a salamander-shaped district to benefit Gerry's political party) is used to protect incumbents, secure partisan advantage and eliminate political mavericks.

Still, not that much is negotiable. The divisions of the past serve as a rough pattern for the future, and population shifts give a rough idea of which districts have to shrink and which have to grow. Essentially, the Twin Cities districts, with a population loss, will find districts disappearing. And the suburban areas, still growing, will gain districts.

It's the fine points which nobody can agree upon. . . especially when the fine points can mean the handicapping or the elimination of legislators. Add to that the fact that the DFL and I-R numbers in state offices are so close right now that any changes could create a new majority. And add to that the congressional boundaries which have to be changed as well. . . and must be so tempting to pad.

Already, we heard one leader in the House of Representatives call it a "hopeless chore."

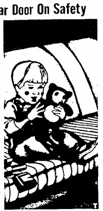
We agree. We just hope the state's legislators don't spend too much time monkeying around with it. Although we would prefer that the legislators would be able to redistrict themselves, we feel that's impossible.

Because voters a year ago failed to pass a law which would have created a committee to deal with the problem, we're going to end up solving the redistricting problem in court once again.-LW

Borrowed Nonsense:

"The only real mistake in diagnosis I can remember," one doctor told another while reminiscing at a retirement village, "was one time when I prescribed for indegestion and learned afterward that the patient could easily afford appendicitis."

Don't Close The Car Door On Safety



For safety's sake, never hold a child in your lap while riding in a car.

Automobile accidents are the nation's number one killer of children. They have killed 20,000 children during the past decade—topping the total of young victims of the polio epidemics of the '50's. Twice as many children die from auto accidents then from cancer.

Despite well-documented research demonstrating the effectiveness of child restraint systems in reducing deaths and injuries from auto accidents, reports indicate that 93 percent of young car passengers ride with no safety seat or restraint system at all.

Under these circumstances, in a car riding at only 30 miles per hour, a child can be flung against the windshield with the force of 600 pounds—That's the same as the impact of a child thrown out of a third story window.

Children need protection in cars starting with their first ride home from the hospital.

Here are some valuable do's and don'ts from the National Association of Professional Insurance Agents (PIA):

DON'T hold a child on your lap when riding in a car. In a crash, you'll lose your hold.

DO fasten your own seat belt. In a crash, an adult's weight can be a battering ram against a nearby child.

DO use only devices that conform to federal motor vehicle safety standards.

DO secure children in the middle of the back seat where they are least likely to be thrown against sharp objects.

DO insist older children use car lap belts.

For more information, write for the PIA consumer brochure, "A Parent's Guide to Auto Safety," at Auto Safety, 400 North Washington Street, Alexandria, VA 22314.

QUESTIONS Answered for VETERANS

Q — What is Veterans Administration tutorial assistance and how do I apply for it?

A — Tutorial assistance is a payment made to a veteran enabling him to hire a tutor when he is deficient in certain phases of his schooling. This fact must be determined by the school and verified to the Veterans Administration. For specific information, contact your nearest VA regional office.

Q — I am a World War II veteran who had Veterans Administration insurance at one time. I recently received a pamphlet saying I can receive a special insurance dividend on this cancelled insurance if I send $10.00. Is this legimate?

A — No. This is just another version of an old insurance hoax that has been circulating for years. The only dividends being paid by the Veterans Administration are to veterans who were issued participating policies and who have maintained the policies in a premium paying status.

Q — I am an honorably discharged veteran of World War II and have never applied for any benefits from the Veterans Administration. Will the VA pay any benefit for burial expenses when I die?

A — Yes. The VA will pay $150 for the purchase of a burial plot for any eligible wartime veteran not buried in a national cemetery. As of October 1, 1981, an allowance of $300 is available to all veterans who at time of death were receiving, or entitled to receive disability compensation, and to all veterans receiving, or entitled to receive pension.

Q — Is it possible for me to pay my Veterans Administration guaranteed home loan before it becomes due?

A — Yes. A VA guaranteed loan may be partially or fully paid at any time without penalty.

Q — I am a disabled veteran receiving 100 per cent compensation from the Veterans Administration. Am I eligible for dental care?

A — Yes. Veterans receiving compensation at the 100 per cent rate for service-connected disabilities may apply for dental care at the nearest VA medical center.

Q — I had a Veterans Administration guaranteed home loan on a house which was sold over 30 years ago. Am I eligible for another VA guaranteed loan now?

A — Yes. If the loan is completely paid, you may apply to the VA for reinstatement of your entitlement.

Q — Where can I obtain a flag for burial services for a World War II veteran?

A — You may file a claim at any Veterans Administration regional office or most local post offices. Take a copy of the veteran's discharge papers and death certificate to apply.

Q — Is it true that memories of Vietnam still bother some veterans, and if so, where can they go for help?

A — Yes. Some veterans report that they still have flashbacks, nightmares, anxiety and depression from their service in Vietnam. Help is available at one of the Veterans Administration's Vet Centers. There are over 90 of these storefront counseling centers nationwide and more are planned. Check your local telephone directory for the address or call your nearest VA regional office for details.

Q — How can I get my Veterans Administration disability check sent directly to my bank?

A — Simply fill out a government standard form 1199A at the bank where you wish to have the check sent.

Q: How does a veteran initiate a claim for Veterans Administration compensation and/or pension?

A: A veteran may contact any accredited service organization to initiate a claim for compensation and/or pension, or contact the nearest VA regional office and request the necessary VA form to initiate a claim.

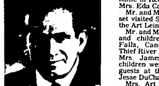
National Bible Week: November 22—29



Thomas L. Phillips

"The time to start reading the bible is now." So says Thomas L. Phillips, Chairman of the Board and Chief Executive Officer of Raytheon Company. He has been named National Chairman of the 41st annual National Bible Week. The non-sectarian observance will be celebrated November 22 to 29.

When accepting the responsibility Mr. Phillips said: "Every person has within his innermost being a yearning and a hunger for spiritual fulfillment. God, in His infinite wisdom, has made provision for this fulfillment and has revealed it to us in the Old and New Testament documents," he explained, adding "This is why reading the Bible is so vitally important."

National Bible Week coincides each year with Thanksgiving, America's only non-sectarian religious holiday. Proclamations recognizing National Bible Week are issued by many mayors and most governors. Clubs, civic organizations, labor unions, libraries, churches and synagogues conduct Bible Week events simultaneously with the national promotion. The essential purpose of such efforts is to motivate Bible reading and study.

The Layman's National Bible Committee is distributing free materials to any groups wishing to observe Bible Week. For a free packet, write to John F. Fisler, Executive Director, Laymen's National Bible Committee, Inc., 815 Second Avenue, New York, N.Y. 10017.

THE VOICE of BUSINESS

by Richard L. Lesher, President
U.S. Chamber of Commerce

The Wisdon of Big Brother

"Cap the Knife" Weinberger, where are you?

The U.S. Air Force maintains two bases in Greenland at an annual cost of at least $65 million. These facilities once served a clear purpose: To refuel American military planes crossing the Atlantic. What current need do they serve now that those refueling stops are no longer necessary?

The Air Force claims that Sondersterom Air Base, for a cost of $20 million a year, stands ready to detect potential enemy aircraft. Thule Air Base spends $45 million annually to detect ballistic missiles. Yet, in an age of satellite detection and with early warning systems blanketing Canada and Western Europe, the new rationale for these bases is less than convincing.

I don't imagine too many of the 306 military personnel stationed in Greenland would be heartbroken at the closing of one or both of these facilities. And Greenland has no Congressmen or Senators to howl in protest, as is invariably the case when closings of unnecessary bases are attempted in the United States. Most Americans want our defense capability increased, but we have no more patience for the waste of our tax dollars by the Pentagon than we do by any other department or agency of government.

Toilets for the Handicapped — At a Ski Resort

To demonstrate that the wisdom of big brother is willingly shared with 50 little brothers at the state level, Thomas Love of Washington Report, the U.S. Chamber's national weekly newspaper, uncovered this item recently: Despite its protests, the Sierra Sky Ranch ski resort was ordered by the State of California to provide wheelchair-accessible toilets for the handicapped, in keeping with a state law that such facilities must be provided at all privately owned public areas.

The state bureaucracy was not convinced by the arguments of the resort's operators who rested their case by pointing out: The resort can only be reached by skies!

A Billion Here, A Billion There

What's a billion dollars now that the national debt has reached and exceeded a trillion dollars? Apparently not much to the Washington Post. In a recent article concerning the Reagan administration's proposal to dismantle the Department of Energy, Budget Director David Stockman is quoted as saying that abolition of the department would save taxpayers "upward of $1.5 billion." The article appeared under the headline: "Plan to Abolish DOE Offers Little Saving."

Award the "Golden Fleece" to Proxmire's "Sacred Cows"

Senator William Proxmire has earned a reputation as one of the most vocal opponents of government's wasteful spending habits. Each month he presents a "Golden Fleece" award to the federal program or agency that is responsible for the most flagrant abuse of the taxpayers' dollars.

But even Sen. Proxmire has his sacred cows to protect at our expense. In fact, this Senator's sacred cows are just that — cows! The Reagan administration has been trying all year to convince Congress to reduce subsidies for dairy farmers, but when Congress failed to act by Oct. 1, a previously scheduled increase in dairy price supports took effect. Administration backers in both the House and Senate tried to push through a measure to roll back the increase, but this effort was thwarted singlehandedly in the Senate by Sen. Proxmire. His delaying tactics succeeded for 13 days, at a cost to the taxpayers of some $400,000 per day. As such, no one would accuse Sen. Proxmire of being self-serving if he were to serve himself this month's "Golden Fleece" award!

October 1st has come and gone and our Great Republic is still standing.

I thought I should take a moment to reassure members of Congress of that fact in the wake of doomsday reports about the "hardships" and "failures" of the Reagan economic recovery program, and the supposed lack of confidence in that program on the part of Wall Street, the business community and the American people.

If there is a lack of confidence in the prospects for economic recovery, it is not a lack of confidence in the President or his program, but in the commitment of the Congress to stick to the new budgetary course we have charted.

Let's set the record straight. The 1982 fiscal year budget, which took effect on October 1st, is the largest in this nation's history. As important as was the first round of budget cuts passed last spring, it amounted to nothing more than a reduction of the increase in spending planned by the previous administration.

"Laughable" is the only way to describe comments such as those made by Senate minority leader Robert Byrd who argues that Congress has already cut the budget "way beyond what was recognized as waste, fraud and abuse." The federal budget has doubled since 1975. It has tripled since 1970. Does anyone seriously believe there is not a single dime of waste left in a budget that now exceeds $700 billion?

This kind of posturing is to be expected from the liberal scions of Capitol Hill who have never abandoned their conviction that we can pave a road to paradise with ever-larger federal budgets. But it is astonishing that much of the panic and back-tracking which is emanating from Congress comes from some of the very Republicans and conservative Democrats who worked so hard to pass the President's program in the first place. They have joined the chorus of calls for delaying our individual tax cuts and cancelling various tax incentives for business so they can avoid further budget cuts.

Most disturbing is the appearance that this sudden resistance to the Reagan program among Republicans is motivated by political fear. "What if the President's attempt to make further budget cuts derails our glorious march toward majority party status in 1982?" is the frantic thought which is written on the worried faces of a number of Republican officeholders and strategists.

Our legislators need to be reminded of a simple fact: All major surveys indicate overwhelming support for the President's economic recovery program. For example, a recent Gallup survey commissioned by the U.S. Chamber of Commerce reveals that the President's budget cuts are supported by 59 per cent of Americans, including 54 per cent of all union members.

The worst possible course for Congress would be to change course before the tax incentives and budgetary discipline have had a chance to take effect. Neither workers nor businesses can make long-range plans and investment decisions in a climate of Congressional uncertainty.

Perhaps we should all put the following questions to our Congressmen and Senators today: If you cut our taxes one day and raise them the next, if you enacted budget cuts yesterday and vote to restore them tomorrow, then when it comes to economic policy, what do you really stand for? And if you don't stand for anything, who is going to care whether you are reelected or not?

A Well-Bred Goose For Thanksgiving

Succulent roast goose is becoming a favorite of the American holiday table. Today's well-bred birds are meatier, juicier and save time and work since the goose is self-basting.

A few simple steps can insure a memorable meal—correct oven temperature in two stages, use of a meat thermometer (should register 180° F.) and frequent removal of rendered fat.

Thaw bird according to package instructions. Follow the table below for correct roasting times. If you cook the bird unstuffed, cooking time will be slightly shortened.

Ready-to-Cook Weight (Pounds)	Time at 400°F.	PLUS Time at 325°F. (Hours)	Total Roasting Time (Hours)
8 to 10	1 hour	1-1/2 to 2	2-1/2 to 3
10 to 12	1 hour	2 to 2-1/2	3 to 3-1/2

WILD RICE STUFFING

2/3 cup wild rice
2 cups water
1/2 teaspoon salt
6 cups day-old white bread cubes (crusts removed)
1/2 cup finely chopped onions
1 teaspoon powdered sage
1/2 teaspoon salt
1/2 cup melted butter

Rinse rice thoroughly. Bring to boil in saucepan with water and salt. Reduce heat and simmer 30 minutes or until just tender. Combine bread cubes, onion, sage, salt and cooked rice. Add melted butter and toss to mix. Stuff goose lightly in neck and body cavities. Makes enough to stuff an 8 to 10 pound bird.

Fasten the neck with a skewer and tie legs together.

Listening to Minnesota...

by Mark Dayton

For the last year, I have been traveling throughout our state, talking with, listening to, and learning from Minnesotans. Many people have shared with me their frustrations with the federal government.

In recent years, government has gone wrong, they say. Spending too much... doing too little to create new jobs... forgetting the basic values which made America and Minnesota great.

But, perhaps one problem is fundamental. Somewhere along the line, government has stopped listening.

The voice of America—the values of Americans at the grass roots have been somehow lost in the decisions made by government.

Many Americans realize that it's time now to turn back—time for government to start listening again to people.

That's why I'm running for United States Senator. I believe that here in Minnesota—more than in other states—there are ideas and beliefs shared by our citizens which should be heard in Washington.

With this in mind, we've established something new—Minnesota Listening Forums—where a group of people in a community get together with me to discuss the problems that face our state and our nation.

These forums have been a great learning experience, but now I want to expand.

I want to make sure other Minnesotans have a chance to express their ideas and concerns. And that's the purpose of this column. I'll use this space to print letters from Minnesotans—to give you a chance to examine other people's ideas and my response to them.

While not every letter can be printed and, because of space, letters cannot be printed in their entirety. However, every letter will be personally answered, and as many questions as possible will be printed here—together with my reply.

But first, let me tell you a little about myself.

Chances are, your first reaction to my name—Dayton—is to think of my family's department store business. I am proud that my family made Minnesota their home and developed their business here. And I am proud of the thousands of Minnesotans who have worked with them to build it.

But I know that you will judge me on much more than my name. As Minnesotans, you will review my record—and test my ideas—in the months to come. That is our tradition.

I've had experience at the federal, state, and local levels. I've worked as a public school teacher in New York, as a legislative assistant to Walter Mondale when he was in the Senate, as an aide to former Governor Rudy Perpich, and as Minnesota Commissioner of Economic Development.

I left state government in 1979 and started the Minnesota Project. This private, non-profit organization has helped Minnesota neighborhoods and communities obtain more than $10 million in funding for important local improvement projects.

Throughout the state, the Minnesota Project proved again that when Minnesotans work together, we can do great things. Our spirit of citizen participation is part of what makes our state special. And it's that spirit which I hope to demonstrate in this column.

Please write. Let me know your concerns about the economy, education, agriculture, the future of our state and nation, or any other issue. Let me know what you want from your United States Senator.

Please write to Mark Dayton, P.O. Box 1982, St. Paul, MN 55111.

Mark Dayton is the former Minnesota Commissioner of Economic Development and a DFL candidate for United States Senate.

A creamy-cool cucumber dressing makes a wonderful coating for crisp green salads...and when it's as easy and inexpensive to make as the one in the recipe below, you don't have to run to the store to buy the bottled variety. What makes this dressing especially tasty is a dash of Lea & Perrins—the original Worcestershire sauce—stirred into the ingredients, adding just the right amount of savoriness to the bland dressing.

WORCESTERED CUCUMBER DRESSING

½ cup dairy sour cream
2 tablespoons milk
2 tablespoons seeded, peeled and chopped cucumber
1 tablespoon chopped scallion (green onion)
½ teaspoon Lea & Perrins Worcestershire Sauce
¼ teaspoon salt

In a small bowl combine sour cream, milk, cucumber, scallion, Worcestershire and salt; mix well. Serve over salad greens or fish. YIELD: 2/3 cup.

Olaf Olson Honored At 100th Birthday Party

by Bonnie Wentzel
Times Reporter

When Olaf Olson turned 100 last week, he was already thinking of his 101st birthday party next year.

"Are you gonna make this much fuss for me when I'm 101?" he asked of Gail Zacharias, activities director at Valley Home, as the two made their way back to the Home following Olson's local cable television appearance. The celebrity had been featured guest on KTRF and its television facilities on his birthday. Following that, a special birthday party was conducted in his honor at Valley Home.

When we arrived at the home last week, we found Olaf comfortably sitting upon the bed in his room, surrounded by relatives — relatives he said he never had.

"He always told us he didn't have any," Zacharias said.

There were colorful cards from Sweden — Olaf's homeland, and letters, along with a special letter and birthday card from President Ronald Reagan. Somehwere Olaf had many friends, whether he realized it or not.

Attending the birthday party last week were second cousins, Ruby Gast, Lake Bronson; Mrs. Loyal Olstad, Karlstad; Lester Olson, Alexandria; Mr. and Mrs. Kenneth Olson, Wadena; third cousin, LaVonne Lundeen, Stephen; and a niece, Beda Knutson, Fertile.

"Are you excited, Olaf?" inquired his niece as she made her surprise appearance into her uncle's room.

"No," he replied calmly, shaking his head. The reply brought laughter from Olaf's guests.

Deep down Olaf, we believed, must have been happy. He had lived to be 100 years old, and he had more friends than he probably believed he had, and he had his health.

Yet, his actions last week revealed not a trace of excitement. A major concern as we began talking together concerned a small item — that of his morning television appearance.

"Did I make a fool of myself?" he questioned. We assured him he hadn't.

"I was kind of scared (about the appearance)," he said. "I never tried anything like that before."

Olaf described his age as "pretty near as old as the hills." It was an amusing remark, yet his aged face remained sober.

"I bet I've been sick more than anyone in their life," he stated, describing his own life.

Olaf, who was born in Sweden, settled with his sister and parents on a farm four miles east of Hallock in 1895, he said, taking care to recall the precise date.

A few years later, Olaf's health began to deteriorate, forcing him to leave home.

"From 1909 to June. . ." he paused, adjusted his glasses and resumed with his statement once the figures had come to him, ". . . June 1913, I was in sanatoriums," he continued.

"I get mixed up on my

"YOU JUST got to know how to live," Olaf Olson stated last week as he celebrated his 100th birthday party at Valley Home in Thief River Falls. Olson, who was never married because of his poor health, he said, was surprised by relatives at the home last week — relatives he said he didn't have.

Teachers And Board Meeting At Plummer

Board of education at Plummer and the teachers in that school district met last Wednesday evening and will meet again this Wednesday at 7:30 p.m. in the Plummer school library in an effort to reach agreement on the 1981-82 and 1982-83 master contract.

At last Wednesday's three-hour session, compromises took place and agreement was reached on all language items except those relating to salary. The Plummer school board has offered increases to each of the teachers on the present salary schedule of 12 per cent in 1981-82 and 13 per cent in 1982-83. The offer reportedly would average a $4,300 increase in salary and insurance for the coming two-year contract.

Bargaining team for the Plummer teachers presented approximately eight items for board consideration. They included pay schedule and deductions, personal leave, prior experience, attending state meetings, association leave, bereavement leave and salaries for the two-year contract.

Under the board's proposal, the 12 and 13 per cent increases during the two-year contract would be supplemented by full insurance coverage paid by the district.

Middle River Teachers And Board Agree

Middle River faculty and school board agreed last week on a contract for 1981-82 and 1982-83 which would provide an approximate 25 per cent increase in salaries, increased district contribution to insurance coverage, added reimbursement for extra-curricular activities and other changes.

Minimum salary on the schedule was increased from $10,500 to $12,500 this year and $13,800 next year. The BA schedule advances to a top of $17,800 this year and $19,000 next year on a 12-step experience ladder.

Master's degree minimum increased from $11,400 to $13,700 this year and $15,000 next year, advancing in 12 steps from $16,700 to $19,000 this year and $20,300 next year.

Teacher negotiators were Marlowe Myer, Steve Holmes, Ted Dunston and KayDell Super. Board representatives negotiating were Mylan Abrahamson, Curt Neumann and Virgil Wagner.

Classes are underway at Thief River Falls public schools today following settlement of the teachers' strike which closed School District 564 schools for 22 days and left students without instruction since October 13. Buses ran on schedule this morning, hot lunch programs were operating at noon and attempts were being made to be back to an "education as usual" situation.

Settlement came at a Friday evening mediation session which began at 6 p.m. with mediator Richard Springer in attendance. Agreement on a contract came closer to midnight, however, about three hours after the mediator had left due to other commitments, when the negotiating team for the Thief River Falls Education association (TRFEA) agreed to recommend adoption of the contract for 1981-82 and 1982-83. The board will formally adopt the contract at its next meeting.

Members of the TRFEA met Saturday at 8 p.m. at United Methodist church and voted 138 to 48 in favor of accepting the contract as recommended by the negotiating team. With 186 teachers voting, the results showed 74 per cent in favor of the contract and 26 per cent opposed, according to Mike Lehrer, TRFEA chairman.

On Wednesday evening the teacher association membership had in effect rejected a previous board offer by voting not to consider it. That vote was taken by a show of hands, Lehrer said, with a clear majority favoring the motion not to consider the offer. The faculty negotiating team presented the board offer at the Wednesday evening meeting without recommendation.

Included in Wednesday's offer was a two-year contract providing an increase in salary and benefits of $5,150 but with only seven of the 20 strike days to be made up, leaving teachers with 13 strike days unpaid.

"Teachers chose not to vote on the board's offer because it was obvious that a majority found it unacceptable," chairman Lehrer said in a statement issued following the Wednesday meeting. "The reasons they felt it unacceptable were that it inadequate for teachers and inadequate for students as well. The board's last offer would cost students 13 days of their education. We feel that they cannot afford to miss these days."

Settlement accepted following Friday's mediation session provided for eight of the 22 strike days to be made up and 14 strike days unpaid. It also included a revised salary schedule which rearranged the dollars within the framework of the $5,150 average increase authorized by the board. (Salary schedule approved by the TRFEA Saturday evening as well as the proposed schedule rejected Wednesday evening are included in this issue of the Times.)

Lehrer cited several reasons why he believed the offer Saturday evening was accepted while the Wednesday offer was not considered. Apart from the recommendation for acceptance by the negotiating team Saturday, he said many of the teachers apparently believed they would receive no better offer without a much prolonged strike. They also recognized that the AVTI was "about to have a major problem", Lehrer said, and that a $650 gain from the board's previous offer of $4,500 average increase on the salary schedule is a gain which won't have to be negotiated in the next contract.

The TRFEA chairman also said that some positive gains had been accompolished through the strike, and that he sees the formation of the parent group as one of the best pro-education results to come from the strike. He also added thqt teachers probably felt enough days had been lost from the school year and that no more would be made up, and that the economy of the area was a consideration as well.

Exactly when the eight days will be made up will be determined by a meet and confer session between the board and teachers, with the board having the ultimate

Final Proposal Items Listed As Presented

Final proposal made by the Thief River Falls board of education and accepted by the Thief River Falls Education association following mediation on Friday evening included the following (Times' clarification is in parentheses):

(1) The board offers $5,150 (average increase per teacher) according to the attached schedule provided by the association.

(2) The board offers health insurance of $95 for 1981-82; $105 for 1982-83 and present 1979-81 langauge.

(3) The board proposes the association drop the dental insurance language for the 1981-83 contract period.

(4) The school district proposes life insurance remain the same as the 1979-81 contract (The board provides a $20,000 term life policy).

(5) Credit experience of page 11 of the 1979-81 contract would remain the same.

(6) The association will drop the request for three additional holidays (there are now two holidays on the schedule).

(7) The transfer policy would remain the same as the 1979-81 contract.

(8) Board extra-curricular proposed salaries would be paid according to the categories at 11 per cent for 1981-82 and 12 per cent for 1982-83 (those coaches whose seasons were affected by the strike would receive full compensation rather than prorated payment with the one per cent difference in first year settlement about equal to the extra-curricular time lost).

(9) All benefits will be retroactive to July 1, 1981.

(10) The board proposes to make up eight days of the 22 days lost during the strike. Make-up dates will be resolved through a meet and confer session.

VFW Donates Scholarships

Two scholarships of $50 each have been donated to the Thief River Falls area vocational-technical institute and Northland community college by the VFW auxiliary in Thief River Falls.

Scholarships will be awarded to those students who need and merit help to comlete the term.

Contract Terms Negotiated Are Summarized

In addition to the main salary contract and benefits package for all faculty members in the Thief River Falls public school system, a number of changes were also approved through netogiations and will be included in the master contract for 1981-82 and 1982-83 school years. A summary of the items agreed upon during the 16 negotiating and mediating sessions includes the following:

(1) In recognition of a bargaining agent, the word "certified" was changed to the word "licensed".

(2) Unrequested leave of absence are subject to provisions of the state statutes.

(3) For beaking any ties in the employment date that continuing contract teachers are employed by the school district, the teacher with the lowest teaching license file folder number on file with the school district shall have seniority. (This will be applied in unrequested leave of absence situations.)

(4) In regard to duty hours, the term "school business" was changed to "authorized absences."

(5) Health and hospitalization insurance premium paid by the school district was set at $95 in 1981-82 and $105 in 1982-83.

(6) Rate of pay for use of personal car for school district business was set at 24 cents per mile for both years of the contract. (About 70 per cent of this use is by instructors in the adult vocational agriculture department).

(7) Homebound instruction for elementary and secondary students will be paid at the rate of $10.25 per hour in 1981-82 and $10.75 per hour in 1982-83. Director of the program will receive an additional $300 each year.

(9) Summer school teacher salaries shall be $31 for two hours of teaching and $62 for four hours of teaching during both years of the contract.

(10) Curriculum development and department head reimbursement will be paid at the rate of $10.25 per hour in 1981-82 and $10.75 per hour in 1982-83.

(11) Lead reading teacher shall receive a salary of $10.35 per hour in 1981-82 and $10.75 per hour in 1982-83 as assigned by the building principal beyond the school day.

(12) Assistant to the principal (Howard Thorson at St. Hilaire school) shall receive an added payment of $3,200 in 1981-82 and $3,500 in 1982-83.

(13) Director of the Title I and Title IV program will receive $3,505 each year of the two-year contract.

15th Coin And Antique Show This Weekend

Fifteenth annual free international coin, antique, stamp and hobby show will be conducted Saturday and Sunday at the Best Western inn of Thief River Falls, according to Patrick Klemisch, chairman.

Show times will be 10 a.m. to 9 p.m. Saturday and 10 a.m. to 5 p.m. Sunday. Again this year there will be 25 dealers on hand to buy and sell coins, antiques, stamps and other items. Admission is free to the public and anyone interested is encouraged to attend.

Klemisch said that the show space is totally sold out every year and that he has turned down requests for tables from International Falls, North Dakota and as far away as Florida.

Over the 15 years the show has been held, the sponsoring Thief River Falls coin club has donated $4,025 in scholarships to Northland community college and the Thief River Falls area vocational-technical institute from proceeds of the events.

SOCIETY and CLUBS

Offerdahl And Jacobson Marriage Vows Spoken

Tracy Jean Offerdahl became the bride of Steven Wesley Jacobson at a recent seven o'clock ceremony at Zion Lutheran church in this city.

The bride is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. DelRay Offerdahl of Thief River Falls. Parents of the groom are Mr. and Mrs. C.W. Jacobson of Grafton, N.D.

Rev. Roger Hanson officiated at the ceremony before an altar flanked by fern decorated candelabra with blue tapers. Patti Nelson was the organist and Vicki Berglund served as pianist. During the ceremony Karen Kjensrud and Bill Berglund sang "If," "Looking Through the Eyes of Love," "Wedding Song," and "The Lord's Prayer."

The bride was escorted to the altar and given in marriage by her father. She was attired in an empire fashioned gown of white qiana with a wide lace ruffle outlining the sheer yoke. A lace motif, matching the lace around the high neckline, graced the yoke. Corresponding lace edged her full, chapel-length train. Her veil of bridal illusion, bordered with lace, was held by a lace headpiece embroidered with seed pearls. She carried a cascade of blue and pink roses and babies' breath.

Attending the bride were her sisters: Tawny Offerdahl as maid of honor, Terri Offerdahl and Tammy Hallstrom. They wore identical light blue gowns featuring lace yokes and floor-length, pleated skirts. In their hair, they wore a comb with light blue flowers.

Similar attire was worn by the flower girl, Miranda Johnson. The rings were carried by Dana Paulson, who like the men of the wedding party, was attired in a navy blue tuxedo with a white ruffled shirt tipped in light blue.

Wayne Jacobson attended the groom as best man. Groomsmen were Bruce Lafreniere and Wayne Sourdif. The ushers were Tim Kjensrud and Daryl Campbell who also served as acolytes.

A reception followed the church parlors with Mr. and Mrs. Cal Offerdahl and Mr. and Mrs. Virgil Berglund as reception host and hostess.

Florence Homme and Dorothy Jacobson presided at the coffee service and Dorothy Hoganson and Vivian Boe cut the cake.

Susie Sourdif was at the guest book and Julie Campbell and Kristy Jacobson ladled the punch. Joan Giauque and Cindy Kertz carried the fifts and presided at the gift table. Waitresses were Bernice Anderson and Josie Erickson. Ardelle Offerdahl was flower hostess and Jean Osied and Karla Nelson were the bride's personal attendants.

For traveling on a wedding trip to Winnipeg, the bride wore gray slacks and a floral print blouse in gray and pink.

The couple is now at home in Grafton, N.D. The bride is a graduate of Lincoln high school and the groom is a graduate of Grafton high school and the Thief River Falls AVTI.

Year's Program Planned By ALCW Executive Board

Thief River Falls conference ALCW executive board met recently at the First Lutheran church, Middle River, for an evaluation and planning session. President Jeanne Nysether of Ross presided.

Among the events discussed and planned were the general board meeting, which will include all local ALCW presidents, pastors and their wives, at the Gustav Adolph Lutheran church in Strathcona on Feb. 8, 1982; the conference spring convention at Messiah Lutheran church in Roseau on April 17; and the two-day retreat, July 7-8, at the Lake of the Woods Bible camp with Carol Olerud of the Minneapolis Institute of Living as guest speaker;

Also discussed were a one-day retreat at the Ekelund Lutheran church, rural Goodridge, and two one-day seminars in October with the Faith Lutheran church, Goodridge, hosting one seminar. It was noted that the other seminar, scheduled for a Thursday, is open for invitation.

Board members attending the planning session were Mrs. J. Nysether, Mrs. J. Miller, Roseau; Mrs. E. Aune, Gatzke; Mrs. Jan Peterson, Thief River Falls; Mrs. L. Swanson, Goodridge; and Mrs. E. Lund, Roseau.

Debra Knutson to Wed Dennis Piche Dec. 11

Debra Knutson and Dennis Piche announce their engagement and forthcoming marriage.

The bride-elect is a daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Delbert Erickson of Thief River Falls. Parents of the groom are Mrs. Betty Barkie of Grand Forks, N.D., and George Piche of Red Lake Falls.

The wedding will take place December 11 at Redeemer Lutheran church, Thief River Falls.

Moccasin Club To Study House Plants In 1982

Moccasin garden club program for 1982 was discussed at a recent meeting of the club held at the Wallace Tieman home.

Members decided that the program for discussion for next year will be "House plants." A committee composed of Rhodella Tieman, Alice Lendobeja and Eva Lendobeja, volunteered to make the new yearbooks.

Alice Lendobeja presided at the meeting and led the reading of the "Gardener's Creed." Members answered roll call by telling "How I winterized my perennials." The garden quiz was discussed and answered; and the dues for the coming year were collected. Adding interest was a plant exchange and sale.

Members attending were Christina Anenson, Marge Carlson, Inga Geving, Eva Lendobeja, Alice Lendobeja, Marianne Nelson, Olga Nelson, Joan Nelson, Rhodella Tieman, Beatrice Wilson and Agnes Tieman, the hostess.

The next meeting of the Moccasin garden club will be held Tuesday, November 24, at 1:30 p.m., at the Henry Anenson home. The Show-and-Tell program will feature Christmas ideas, gifts and decorations.

Mrs. G. Halvorson and Katie to be Honored

Baby shower honoring Mrs. Gary Halvorson and daughter, Katie Lynn, will be held November 22 at 2:00 p.m., at the Nazareth dining hall at Trail.

All relatives and friends are welcome to attend.

Mr. and Mrs. Arnold Lundin, former long-time farmers in the Stephen community, who are now residing at Spicer, were honored on their 50th wedding anniversary on September 13, at an open house at the Thief River Falls Country club.

Hosting the open house and welcoming the guests were the couple's children: Mr. and Mrs. Richard Lundin, Spicer, and Mr. and Mrs. Howard Sorenson, Thief River Falls, and their grandchildren: Mr. and Mrs. Tom Johnson, Corky Even, Thief River Falls, and Ricky and Cindi Lundin, Spicer.

Honor guests were Mrs. Margaret Micheal, Long Beach, Calif., and Edward Nelson of Newfolden, who were the attendants when the Lundins were married Sept. 18, 1931 at Newfolden.

Also present were the couple's brothers and sisters: Mrs. Margaret Micheal, Mrs. Hilda Pydgren, Mrs. Agnes Gastan, Mrs. Ruby Swanson, Kelly Lundin and Sue Lundin, all of Long Beach, Calif.; Mr. and Mrs. Harlen Nelson, Clearbrook; Mr. and Mrs. Edward Nelson and Mr. and Mrs. Nels Nelson of Newfolden; Mrs. Hilda Benson, Grand Forks, N.D., and Mrs. Olga Wimpfheimer of East Grand Forks; and Mrs. Wimpfheimer's daughter Evelyn of Juneau, Alaska.

Reception hosts and hostesses were Mr. and Mrs. Otto Anderson of Newfolden and Mr. and Mrs. Verne Nelson of Gonvick. At the guest book were Cindi Lundin, granddaughter and Lori Johnson. Mrs. Elton Underdahl and Mrs. Clifford Nelson of Newfolden served the punch. The thank-you notes were distributed by Tracy Nelson of Newfolden.

The three-tiered anniversary cake, topped by a gold 50th anniversary cross, a gift from the children, was cut and served by Mrs. Harvey Underdahl and Mrs. Sandi Larson of Clearbrook. Mrs. Arnold Peterson of Thief River Falls and Mrs. Wallace Roppe of Newfolden were at the coffee service.

The corsages, boutonnieres and floral arrangements were made by Mrs. Tom Johnson, a granddaughter.

Approximately 175 relatives and friends attended the event.

Local Women Attend LWML Rally At Radium

Several women of St. John Lutheran church, Thief River Falls, attended the Crookston circuit Park Region I Lutheran Women's Missionary League (LWML) fall rally held at the Immanuel Lutheran church at Radium.

Attending were Connie Mehrkens, Marion Jasperson, Lillian Berry, Esther Beiswenger, Emma Mehrkens, Nona Pream, Dorothy Anton, Alice Patton, Betty Kezar and Carrie Nicholson.

The rally theme was "Gather in My Wheat." Rev. Paul Preisinger, the host pastor, led the devotions and the Bible study, "Models for Ministry," featuring great women of the Bible. In the devotional meditation, he introduced Hannah and Mary, two women of faith, who dared to expect great things of God. Hannah had long been childless and in praying for a son, promised to lend him back to the Lord. Mary, when told that she would be the mother of the promised Messiah, simply agreed to God's proposal by saying, "Let it be to me according to Your word." Preisinger concluded by saying "These women stand out as examples for today. God doesn't expect us to do great things under our own power, but He promises to give us the measure of faith so that we can perform the great tasks that He has set before us."

In the Bible study, Preisinger continued the study of Biblical women and how they served the Lord. He stated that God still continues to use women in His work and in the extension of His church.

First leader Mrs. Beverly Erdmann of Crookston presided at the rally. The welcome was given by Mrs. Marlene Sommers of Radium.

Christian Growth chairman Mrs. Betty Kezar, Thief River Falls, reminded each society to send their reports of Christian Growth yearly activities to her no later than Feb. 15, 1982. She also encouraged members to use their mite boxes to help reach the $650,000 mission project goal adopted at the International convention held in Milwaukee in June.

Mission Service chairman Alice Patton, Thief River Falls, reported on the needs of Bethesda Lutheran home and Lutheran World Relief. She stated that Bethesda needs women's clothing for their residents; while World Relief is requesting work clothing and jackets for men and dresses, skirts, slacks and sweaters for women.

Regional vice president Marie Drevlow, Green Meadow, reported that the Minnesota North District LWML biennial convention, marking the 40th anniversary of LWML, will be held June 15-17 at the University of Minnesota, Crookston.

Announcement was also made that the scholarship application for any student entering full-time church work is due April 15, 1982. The application must be accompanied by a letter of recommendation from the pastor.

The afternoon session included reports and slides of the International LWML convention in Milwaukee by delegates Carol Monroe, Radium, and Edie Danielson, Euclid.

The Fisher society with members Irene Williams, Thelma Ross, Joanne Beiswenger, Gladys Wagner, Norma Ross, Dorothy Wentzel and Betty Wager presented the skit "Mirror, Mirror on the Wall." Lauraine Jurchen, Crookston led the singing; and the women of the Immanuel Lutheran church, Radium were in charge of the noon meal and the coffee served during registration.

The LWML spring rally will be held at McIntosh.

Ray Morrisseys Of Gatzke Note 25th Anniversary

Mr. and Mrs. Ray Morrissey were honored on their 25th wedding anniversary at a recent open house held at the Gatzke school gymnasium. Among the 250 guests attending were a large number who had participated at the wedding 25 years ago.

Members of the wedding party attending were Phyllis Taus Blazek of Middle River; the bridesmaids: Judy Godar, Walnut Creek, Calif., a sister of the bride, and Darlene Ruud Swagger, Minneapolis, a friend of the couple; miniature bride, Paulette Zeidlik Omdahl of Roseau, a cousin of the bride; best man, Stanley Cwikla, Aberdeen, S.D., a brother of the bride; the groomsmen: LeRoy Lian, Sylmar, Calif., a friend of the groom; Jerry Cwikla, Middle River, a brother of the bride; and the ring bearer, Kenny Cwikla of Middle River.

Unable to attend was the flower girl, Eileen Cwikla Walseth, a cousin of the bride.

The anniversary observance began with a program with the couple's son, Bruce Morrissey, Green Bay, Wis., as master of ceremonies. Highlighting the program was a brief movie of the wedding. Participating in the program were the couple's daughter, Theresa Sorenson of Watford City, N.D., who sang and played "Natural Woman; Arlette Ruud, who read a poem she had written about the couple's married life; and Jim Morrissey of Thief River Falls, who sang "Annie's Song." Words of appreciation, as well as comments of their life were given by the couple.

The reception that followed was prepared and served by Lila Ruud, Linda Engelstad, Elva Sparby, Angie Brawley and Maxine Monson.

The four-tiered anniversary cake, baked and decorated by Mrs. Juel Aune, was topped with the ornament that graced the original wedding cake. It was cut and served by Mrs. Winton Gackstetter of Red Lake Falls, Morrissey's sister, who cut the cake at the wedding. Mildred Brateng, Roseau, poured the coffee.

Betty Larsen of Roseau presided at the guest book and Jayne Morrisey of Greenwich, Conn., a daughter, served the punch, and Denise Morrissey of Thief River Falls, daughter-in-law, pinned the flowers.

Serving the tables were the original waitresses: Mary Ann Lunsetter, Angeline Verbout and Grace Lunsetter.

At the gift table was Joan Haugen of Roseau.

Chat And Chew Club Sends Gifts To Fergus Falls

Items to be sent to the Fergus Falls State hospital were brought to the meeting of the Chat and Chew homemakers club held Tuesday at the Hilda Wennberg home. The articles will be sent in time to be used as Christmas gifts for the patients at the state hospital.

During the business session, plans were made for the club's Christmas party. The event was scheduled for December 8 with a dinner at 12:30 p.m., at the Best Western. A dessert and gift exchange will follow at the Wanda Murphy home.

Vi Sullivan presided at the meeting and Betty DeHaan read the homemakers creed. Correspondence included a thank-you card from Mrs. Kevin Reff, the former Lois Aubol, for the wedding gift.

Nine members attended the meeting and participated in the craft project of making a fabric Santa Claus face with Pauline Aubol as instructor.

A dessert lunch was served by the hostess.

Valley Home Events Reported By Ella Overum

Seven residents at Valley Home observed their birthdays during the month of October, according to the Home's news reported, Ella Overum.

Noting birthdays and dates were Sharlot Derocher, October 2; Parnel Hasby, October 6; Clardina Terrian; October 12; Marie Larson, October 13; Einar Ness, October 15; and Olga Christianson and Betsy Pearson, both on October 22. All were honored jointly at a party that featured brown derby treats provided by the Home together with contributions from Einar Ness, Marie Larson, Sharlot Derocher and Parnel Hasby. Each honoree received a card with a cash gift from the Home as well as a birthday card from the Catholic Daughters.

Honorees serving special treats on their birthday to residents and staff were Clardina Terrian, who served ice cream bars, and Olga Christianson and Betsy Pearson, who served cake and ice cream.

Highlighting the activities for a large number of residents, was a bus trip to Maple Lake and Union Lake to view the trees in fall colors. The tour climaxed with a dinner at the Brekke farm, south of Erskine. The residents were accompanied by Gail Zacharias and Nancy Hendrikson.

Other outside activities in which the residents participated were the open house for Senior Citizens at the public library, a shopping trip to Kmart, and a bowling tournament at Oakland Park with the Valley Home team victorious.

Devotional programs were given by Rev. Raynard Huglen of Newfolden, Lester Brekke, Rev. J.M. Hovland of Trinity Lutheran church, Harvey Dyrud and Mr. and Mrs. Carl Haugen of Newfolden, Rev. Ernest Dobkins of the Seventh-day Adventist church; Rev. Duaine Espeseth of Faith Lutheran Brethren church, Rev. and Mrs. Frank Armstrong of the First Baptist church; Rev. Mark Johaningsmeir of the United Methodist church and Rev. Dave Super of St. Bernard's Catholic church.

Tuesday evening services were led by Dean Paskewitz and the Erickson string band of the Evangelical Free church; Mr. and Mrs. Don Johnson and daughters; Norris and Laurie Trochmann and Mr. and Mrs. Lowell Trochmann.

Rev. George DeWall and family of the Bible Baptist church were in charge of Sunday afternoon services. Rev. Roger Hanson and a group of young people from Zion Lutheran church in this city presented a program October 11; and Mr. and Mrs. Virgil Hjelle of Viking sang a number of solos and duets for the residents on October 30.

Witches, ghosts and goblins visited the residents on Halloween. Among them were the children and teachers from Discovery Place. They delivered treats and sang songs, and in turn, the residents gave them special treats. That evening, a film brought by Rev. M. Ortmann of Warroad was shown.

The Elizabeth circle of Zion Lutheran church met in the Royal room on October 27, and the Hannha circle of Trinity Lutheran church visited the home on October 29 and served doughnuts with the afternoon coffee. On October 25, the Dairy Queen served chocolate, strawberry and pineapple sundaes to the residents in appreciation to those who had been regular customers during the summer months.

Several men attended the workshop on making picture frames with Web Maves as instructor; and a number of women assisted in making lefse for the craft sale held November 5.

A new activity was also added during the month. From Monday through Friday a dramatized reading of the New Testament is given at 11:30 a.m., at the center.

Other activities included Bible study with Judith Wold as leader, movies each Thursday evening, bowling, choir practice, games and popping corn.

KITCHEN KARNIVAL

Featuring recipes from the Kitchen of

Mrs. Sam Brattell
Route 3,
Thief River Falls

Pecan Pie

- 1 cup chopped pecans
- 3 eggs
- ¾ cup white sugar
- ⅛ teaspoon salt
- ½ teaspoon vanilla
- 1 teaspoon corn starch
- 1 cup white corn syrup
- 3 tablespoons sweet milk
- 3 tablespoons butter
- one 9-inch unbaked pie shell

Method: Dot bottom of pie shell with butter, cover with chopped nuts and level. In a bowl, combine other ingredients and beat well. Pour over chopped nuts. When the pecans have risen to the top, bake in a 325 degree oven until firm, about one hour.

Mrs. Brattell received this recipe from Mississippi and has had many requests for a copy. If the pie is to be served warm, she adds a little more corn starch.

The Brattells live just out of Thief River Falls. They came here 5½ years ago from Grygla where they farmed until retiring. They have three children: Bonnie and her husband, who have their business and live in Anoka with their children Nathan and Sonja; Wayne, who is in insurance, lives in Minneapolis with his wife and son, Christopher; and Diane, a speech therapist and her husband, a professor at the university, live in Madison, Wis., with their children, Matthew and Geoffery.

Mrs. Brattell enjoys sewing and together with her husband, are gardening enthusiasts. They are members of Zion Lutheran church.

Drive Begun To Send Food To Poland

A drive has begun in Minnesota to raise money and secure commodity donations to send food and medicine to Poland through the Minnesota committee of CROP, "Food for Poland." CROP is the community hunger appeal of church world services.

A broad cross-section of community and religious organizations make up the Minnesota committee, including the Arch-diocese of St. Paul, the greater Minneapolis association of Evangelicals, all Polish-American organizations in the Twin Cities, and numerous business and labor leaders.

Donations of wheat and other commodities will be sent to Poland with free transportation to port provided by the Teamsters Union. Longshoremen will donate the containerizing and loading, and transportation to Poland will be provided free in Polish government ships.

Cash donations may be sent to: CROP, Food for Poland, 1619 Portland, Minneapolis, MN 55404. All money sent will be used exclusively for the purchase of food and medicine.

Distribution of food and medicine will be through the Polish Episcopal conference of the Roman Catholic church in Poland in cooperation with the Solidarity Unions. Poland is suffering an acute food shortage with 50 per cent of the population affected. Empty food shelves in grocery stores are a grim threat of a hunger crisis. Members of the committee and participating organizations wish to declare their support for the people of Poland who have bravely stood up for their personal economical and national freedoms.

Members of the committee include Rev. Roger Livdahl, church world service, CROP, coordinator; Leonard Jankowski, chairman; Adeline Marty, secretary; and Eugene Swiderski, treasurer.

A complete obituary will be published in Wednesday's edition of the Times.

Dear Readers,
Rev. John C. Formey of Providence, R.I. states, "A pastor and funeral director, working together, can respond more effectively than any other two disciplined to the multiple needs of a grieving family as they work out their natural feeling of anger, guilt, and loss. Comforting grief is a tall order for any human person, and two heads and hearts are better than one.
Respectfully,
Belmont Funeral Home

AVTI Offers 120-Hour Nurse Assistant Class

Thief River Falls area vocational-technical institute (AVTI) will offer a 120-hour course to help perpare persons for employment a nurse assistants. For those interested in the AVTI LPN program, this course will be given full credit towards the program.

Class is scheduled to begin December 10 and will meet Thursdays and Fridays from 8 am. to 2:30 p.m. for 10 weeks in room B24 at Northland community college. Instructor is Sylvia Jensen, RN. Cost of the program is $150 for tuition, and $14.50 for the textbook.

Purpose of the course is to help students better understand needs of the ill person. Students will learn basic skills in caring for ill persons and practice specific procedures in the class laboratory such as bathing, bedmaking, body mechanics and vital signs.

Class size is limited to 12. Pre-registration is required by contacting Adult Education, Thief River Falls Area Vocational-Technical Institute, Highway One East, Thief River Falls, MN 56701; (218) 681-5424.

Honor Olaf Olson For 100 Years Of Life

dates," he apologized politely.

Olson spent time in hospitals in San Diego, CA, Battle Creek, MI and Chicago, IL. When he wasn't in hospitals, he worked at odd jobs in various states, including Oregon, Michigan and California.

Olson's health problems stemmed from a tumor in his stomach, we gathered from information he supplied to us. He remembers that at the time it cost $1 a day to be hospitalized.

It was in 1934 that Olson returned to Hallock and later spent a few years in Lake Bronson before entering Valley Home in Thief River Falls, the 17th of July, 1973, he said.

Olaf never married. His health was not good, he said.

For a time, he was ordered by his doctors to eat fruit and drink goat's milk. Another cure during that time was fasting — a cure that worked quite well, according to Olson. "I've had lots of experience in fasting," he said. His longest fast lasted 356 hours.

Now Olaf has no problems with his stomach and he can eat any foods he wishes, although he limits himself to two meals a day. He is a strong believer in natural foods. "They take good care of my stomach," he said, referring to that type of food.

But what is Olaf's secret for living to be 100, we asked.

"You just got to know how to live," he said. "That's why I got sick before; because I didn't know how to live."

Olaf was summoned by his relatives after we had talked for a short period of time, and after he had showed us some of his cards, including the one from the president, which he kept in his dresser drawer in a brown envelope. Before he left his room, he sat thumbing earnestly through a small tin box of clippings which he had retrieved from the dresser beside his bed. Finally, he pulled a clipping on natural foods from the box, and held it tightly between his crooked fingers. "Here," he said. "See?"

A special birthday program put on by the Marcy Circle of Gatzke was waiting for Olaf as he prepared to leave his room. (Tillie Anderson, 68, was also honored on her birthday that day).

We watched his slightly bent figure making its way down the Valley Home corridor. Although he needed little help on his journey, he accepted his relatives at his side.

He remained silent, although his pace seemed to quicken as he neared the Valley Home center. After all, it was Olaf's 100th birthday.

Teacher Strike Ends; Classes Are Underway

decision-making responsibility.

Supt. Robert Block, who credited board chairman Ken Wiebolt with yeoman service in getting the board and teachers to come to terms Friday evening, said he expected the Northwest vocational center classes to resume much as they had been prior to the strike. A meeting with officials from participating school districts (Middle River, Strandquist, Goodridge, Newfolden and Plummer) last week indicated that all would send their center school students here if the strike was settled over the weekend.

He said he expected that a number of local public school students would be lost to private schools in the community and several others to other school districts. Impact on the post high school area vocational-technical institute has not yet been fully assessed. As of the end of the strike period, 11 students had transferred officially to other schools.

School board chairman Ken Wiebolt had little comment about the settlement, indicating only that he was glad the school district could now get back to the business of educating students.

TRFEA chairman Lehrer stressed that throughout the strike he had received no hassle from any member of the public. He had received phone calls from people who disagreed adamantly with the teacher position, he said, but that was expected and he had no objection to people speaking their mind.

He also believed the strike provided greater unity for the local teachers, he said. If there were any complacent teachers before, he indicated, they are now taking a whole new look at their profession, thinking a lot more of it than they did before.

The percentage of teachers who opposed the acceptance of the settlement may have felt that they did not accomplish the goals they had set when the strike began, Lehrer indicated, but that is what happens in negotiations and you have to accept it, he added.

Negotiated Contract Terms Summarized

cipal will receive $3,500 each year of the two-year contract.

(15) AVTI and post secondary community education instruction rate will be $10.25 per hour in 1981-82 and $10.75 in 1982-83.

(16) Department heads shall be paid at the rate of $10.25 per hour in 1981-82 and $10.75 per hour in 1982-83 when so assigned by the building principal. The maximum number of hours allowable will be 55 outside of the contracted school day per department head at the discretion of the AVTI director (Previous limit was 36 hours).

(17) Any pre-approved extra time beyond the regular curriculum for VICA, DECA, OEA, FFA and FHA will be compensated at $25 per half day and $50 per full day.

(18) Part-time teachers, except those who are contracted for less than 85 continuous days and 14 or less hours per week, shall be eligible for all fringe benefits as mentioned in the contract in proportion to the time they teach. Years of experience for step advancement will be computed by dividing the amount of student contact time times days worked into the amount of normal student contact time per full time equivalent in that subject area. (Previous contract was for 100 continuous days rather than 85). Step advancement will be made only by full years as computed by the above formula. Hours of the work day in every instance shall be continuous. The part-time teacher will share a proportionate amount of duty responsibilities expected of full-time teachers.

(19) Long-term substitutes shall be those who teach for 85 days. (Former total was 100 days).

(20) Extra-curricular salaries shall be increased from the 1979-81 contract by 11 per cent in 1981-82 and 12 per cent in 1982-83.

(21) Eight days will be made up. Make-up dates will be resolved through meet and confer session.

Snowdrifters Club Sponsors Snow Contest

Thief River Falls Snowdrifters snowmobile club is sponsoring a "First Snowfall Contest." The first snowfall is defined as the first measurable snowfall over one inch.

The contest is open to all ages, with only one entry per postcard, but you can enter as many times as you wish. Prizes will be $25 for first place, $15 for second place and $10 for third place.

To enter the contest, send a postcard with your name, address and phone number along with your estimated date and time of the first snowfall to First Snowfall Contest, Box 411, Thief River Falls, MN 56701. In the case of a tie, winner will be determined by the card with the earliest postmark. Final decision and a list of winners will be chosen by the Snowdrifters board of directors.

Any person interested in joining the Snowdrifters can contact a current member, or call Lyle Heldt at 681-4552. The Snowdrifters offer family snowmobile outings, poker runs and other year-round activities for the family.

Kristi Gerardy Performs With CSB Singers

Kristi Gerardy, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Ronald Gerardy, Thief River Falls, will be appearing in concert as a member of the college of St. Benedict campus singers at 8 p.m. November 23 in the Benedicta Arts center auditorium at CSB.

Concert comes at the conclusion of a five-day tour which included concerts and-or liturles in Algona, Des Moines, and LeMars, Iowa, and Omaha, NE.

Since 1950, the campus singers have been the select vocal group at CSB, noted for its varied programming and regular performances of original chamber works for female voices. Their repertoire allows them to perform in a variety of contexts ranging from churches, clubs, and colleges to elementary and secondary schools.

Program for their fall concerts includes Renaissance madrigals, operatic excerpts, and contemporary pieces, including parts of a Leonard Bernstein mass. Six and a Quarter, Inc., a group of seven campus singers members, will perform songs with a 1940s sound.

Director of the campus singers is Philip Welter, assistant professor of music at CSB.

Computer User Group Formed

A meeting to form a computer users group will be conducted November 23 from 7 to 9 p.m. at the Northwest regional library meeting room in Thief River Falls.

Purpose of the group will be to exchange ideas, solve problems and share a common interest.

G. Raymond Carlson, a brother of Orville, pastored the local Assembly from 1940 til 1948.

The Carlsons have recently returned from the Fiji Islands, where they have ministered for 15 years. Before going to Fiji, they did missionary work in Bangladesh for 11 years. Following Bible College and prior to missionary service, the Carlsons pastored for a number of years. Rev. and Mrs. Carlson will have many interesting things to share regarding missions in the Fiji Islands.

Pastor Hagemeister and Congregation cordially invite the public to attend this Missions Service.

CHARCOAL PORTRAITS created by Marv Espe, Roseau, attracted several "models" to the painting booth during the fifth annual Holiday Fair conducted in the Thief River Falls city auditorium Saturday. Espe's booth also contained a collection of his acrylic paintings, and pen and ink and watercolor creations.

Thoughts On Schools

In a recent issue of the Wall Street Journal, Fletcher L. Byron discussed his views on how education and business should cooperate. Byron is chairman of Koppers Co., and the newspaper article was adapted from a speech he made to the national association of state boards of education.

"During the past 10 years a considerable misunderstanding developed between business and the schools," he wrote. "Partly as a reaction to the social and political turmoil of the 1960's and partly as a result of the technological revolution, business conveyed the impression that it wanted new workers who were technically trained and narrowly skilled. This attitude was adopted fairly quickly and uncritically both by students and by schools — high schools as well as colleges and universities.

"In the past five years we have found that this approach was short-sighted," Byron states. "We learned that the graduates of the 'new vocationalism' weren't very well-rounded academically, nor did they have the resilience and flexibility to learn in different ways. Nor, for that matter, were the new graduates coming into the work force adequately skilled. Although we still need highly skilled workers, we now realize that most skills-training should occur on the job, where the latest techniques can be learned.

"What business really needs are people who are 'fundamentally literate' — who can read, write, do arithmetic and algebra, and who have a more or less common base of knowledge. Above all, business needs employees who are flexible, who have learned how to learn and who have the capacity for independent thought and the potential for leadership.

"As the federal government continues to remove itself from the role of prescribing educational policy, the burden of planning and supporting educational programs will rest more squarely on the shoulders of the state and local boards, where it essentially belongs. But business, also, has a great deal to contribute."

Byron goes on to point out how business can be involved in the classroom by providing guest instruction and program materials. Not all teachers welcome such ideas, he notes, and unions sometimes oppose them, but they can help to prepare students for future employment and provide factual teaching.

And he notes that businessmen may be able to help school boards come to grips with worsening budgetary restrictions. "Refined planning techniques from the business sector may be useful in the increasingly difficult allocations decisions that school systems will have to make."

"School systems aren't businesses, of course," he writes. This point was recently driven home to me when I was asked what a manager would suggest for an institution in financial disarray, with abysmal labor-management relations, poor strategic planning, minimal accountability and unmeasurable productivity.

"My well-honed business instincts told me to shut the institution down, walk away from it and take the loss. And if the institution were a clothing or an automobile plant, that's probably what a businessman would do. But the common sense rules of business don't necessarily apply to the management of public schools. You can't just shut them down and cut your losses.

"What educators can do is sit down with knowledgeable business people and seek commonalities between decision-making in business and education. If we are aware that neither the business world nor the educational system can keep their spheres from intersecting, we can work together to solve our mutual problems to the advantage of both."

Hollow Criticism

A recent editorial in the Northern Student of Bemidji state university expresses disappointment in what the writer refers to as "hollow criticism." The term is defined by the writer as "any criticism given by someone that doesn't know what he or she is talking about. . . ."

Ridicule heaped on public officials is the main point stressed in the editorial. In regard to Gov. Al Quie, for instance, the writer notes: "My point is not that the criticism is unwarranted, but that those doing the condemning don't have an alternative or a better plan themselves. We are in a crisis, but simply blaming someone won't solve it. It is our right to knowledgeably criticize, but our responsibility is to be constructive; to aid in solving the problem."

Regarding U.S. secretary of the interior James Watt, the writer states: "What really gets me is that the same people that complain about high gas prices and the large percentage of crude oil imports are the same ones that sign petitions for the ousting of the secretary of interior because he wants to develop state and federal lands."

In conclusion, the writer notes: "The basic right to freedom of speech and the privilege of freely expressing your opinion are both key building blocks in a working democracy; but so is the responsibility to be constructive."

Maybe We're Mellowing

We can't think of any Minnesota public official who we have given as much editorial heat over the past eight or 10 years as attorney general Warren Spannaus. And most of that heat has been over one issue that is covered by the umbrella title of gun control.

Warren stopped in for a chat the other day when passing through town on a support-assessment foray into the rural areas. He is an announced candidate for governor and he has better than a good shot (pardon the term, Warren) at getting elected. He has a history of being one of the most successful vote-getters among state officials.

It would be hard to find a more pleasant casual conversationalist than Warren Spannaus. He displays a good sense of humor and he has the professional politician's knack for swinging the subject around to what he wants to discuss without being offensive about it. Since he knows the main hang-up with us is his long-standing view on handgun ownership, the conversation quite naturally came around to that subject early in the visit.

Spannaus contends that he shouldn't be considered the enemy of the sportsman, a large group of voters with which his popularity is definitely on the low side. He maintains he has been extremely helpful to sportsmen on a number of issues and he plans to point them out during his campaign. We told him we thought that that could be vital information.

But he isn't backing away from his previous stands on handgun ownership, particularly involvement of local law enforcement in investigating potential purchasers during a seven-day waiting period. He doesn't see how anyone can find fault with that, and probably a lot of people don't. We think its an infringement on individual rights and creates unnecessary effort on amply busy law enforcement agencies.

It is difficult to be supportive of anyone in politics who not only is a standard bearer in the opposite party that you normally support, but who holds contrary views on an issue which you think should be clear-cut. If a person can't understand that issue, one reasons, he probably can't understand a lot of other issues as well.

But we recognize that Spannaus has been a staunch supporter of public and press freedoms, particularly in the area of public records and freedom of information. All citizens, not only media representatives, should applaud him for that, because government of a free people should not operate behind closed doors and laws should not be enforced out of the public view.

Maybe we're mellowing. We haven't given up on Gov. Quie yet. He is struggling with conditions not of his own making, and if he can find his way out he will deserve a good deal of support. It's still a long way to the election — too long for all the campaign rhetoric that goes with it — and a lot can happen before that.

But it was pleasant to have the attorney general stop to visit and we meant it when we said he would be welcome to come again.

Borrowed Nonsense:

After spending all day Sunday showing model homes to a couple, the real estate salesman was in his 15th house. "This is the hobby room," he explained on the home tour. "Do you folks have any hobbies?" "Not really," the woman replied, "unless you count looking through model homes on Sundays."

Communications Professor: "Your reports should be written so clearly that even the most ignorant reader can understand them."

Student: "Yes, sir. What part is it that you don't understand?"

There are two ways to avoid harming your feet by jogging. One is to buy a special pair of shoes for $79. The other is to buy an ordinary chair for $29.

LIEUTENANT HORKOY (Mark Knutson) and Mitzi (Dana Peterson) scheme how to marry off Mitzi's three older sisters, in the production of "Seven Sisters" to be presented by the Marshall county central high school drama department this Friday and Saturday in the MCC school gymnasium in Newfolden at 8 p.m. Tickets, available at the door, are $2 for adults and $1 for students.

Shoring Up the Tourism Industry

In the past year, Congress has learned that you don't have to throw away millions of dollars, pass scores of regulations, or build huge bureaucracies to solve problems faced by embattled parts of our economy.

We have learned that cooperation and coordination can be far more effective. And last month, we used that philosophy to address some of the problems of America's tourist industry.

Tourism is the third largest retail industry in America, earning over $160 billion last year. It is among the top three industries in 38 states. Over 6.7 million Americans depend on tourism for their jobs, bringing home over $35 billion in paychecks in 1980. The Federal government collected $14 billion in taxes on tourism last year.

Here in Minnesota, one dollar out of every twenty is spent by tourists. That $2 billion created over 125,000 jobs across the state in 1980.

In the Seventh District, it is estimated that over $25 million will be spent on motel rooms alone this year. Millions more will be spent on boat rentals, hunting gear and other purchases by tourists. And since almost 99 per cent of all tourist-related companies are local small businesses, most of those dollars will stay near the place where they are spent.

Tourism is an important industry. But the combined impact of the energy crisis and high inflation have hit tourism harder than most other parts of the economy. Employment and profits from the tourist industry have levelled off since 1978, both here in Minnesota and across the country.

As a charter member of the Congressional Travel and Tourism Caucus, I have been able to generate support to help our local tourism industry.

During the 1979 oil crunch, President Carter proposed a ban on gas and oil sales to all recreational boaters. I led a group of Congressmen who headed off that move.

When an exorbitant tax on boating was proposed earlier this year, I was a leader in the drive which kept that proposal on the drawing boards.

But these efforts did not solve the problems of the national tourism industry. Energy costs, commercial transportation costs and inflation in general remain high. Many foreign tourists are not coming to America these days.

To complicate matters, there were 50 Federal agencies and numerous state and local organizations that were bumping into each other while trying to drum up more tourist business.

To streamline and strengthen these efforts, Congress passed the Tourism Policy Act which was signed by President Reagan two weeks ago. I have worked with the Tourism Caucus for two years to get this legislation enacted.

Under this new law, Commerce Secretary Malcolm Baldrige will have an Advisory Board from the tourist industry to advise him on problems facing the industry. All the government's efforts to shore up the industry will be coordinated by the Under Secretary of Commerce for Tourism, Frederick Bush.

A major provision of the Tourism Policy Act will create the U.S. Travel and Tourism Administration (USTTA). The USTTA will absorb most of the Federal tourism activities, thus cutting down the administrative costs and work force employed in those programs.

Finally, the Assistant Secretary of Commerce for Marketing will put together an aggressive advertising campaign to lure foreign tourists to America. Since every tourism advertising dollar spent brings in $18.71 from foreign tourists, this campaign will make the USTTA a money-making proposition for America.

The USTTA will also examine the problems being forced by the domestic tourism industry and will make informed recommendations to Secretary Baldrige for future policies.

Without building a new bureaucracy, we have saved the government millions by combining all the conflicting Federal agencies. We've given the industry a vioce in future policy decisions.

I will continue to work for sensible solutions to the problems of the tourism industry. But I believe that this bill is an important first step.

If you have any ideas on how to improve our American tourism industry, you might want to write to the USTTA, care of: The Honorable Frederick Bush, Under Secretary for Tourism, U.S. Department of Commerce, Washington, D.C. 20230

Tri-County H.S. Will Present Two-Act Drama

Mission Meets At Westaker Nov. 21-24

A mission conference with missionary Connely Dyrud is scheduled at the Westaker church of Newfolden November 21-24.

Saturday services, at 7:30 p.m., will have special emphasis for young people, with mission slides being shown.

Sunday morning, Dyrud will speak at Hegland at 8:30 a.m.; Westaker at 9:45 a.m.; and Bethania at 11:15 a.m. Evening services will be conducted at 7:30.

Monday and Tuesday meetings will be conducted at 8 p.m. All services will have mission displays. Special musical numbers are scheduled for all conference sessions.

Dyrud, his wife, Carolyn and their children Shannon, Christina, Victoria and Chester are on a furlough from Brazil.

Everyone is welcome to attend.

RRV Angus Ass'n. Field Day Conducted

A large number of cattle breeders from throughout northwestern Minnesota attended the Red River Valley Angus association's third annual field day conducted at the Pennington county fairgrounds in Thief River Falls recently.

Included in the day was a potluck dinner, contests, demonstrations, and a display of calves.

Winners of the judging conest in the men's division were Clifford McGregor, Warren, first; Ralph Lewis, Baudette, second; and Dan Brown, Crookston, third. In the women's division were Judy Bolduc, Gully, first; Patty Purath, Red Lake Falls, second; and Kathy Carlson, Thief River Falls, third. Taking top honors in the youth division, 13 and over category, were Brad Qually, Thief River Falls, first; Dave Preisler, Bejou, second; and Todd Carlson, Thief River Falls, third. Twelve and under group were Kari Strickler, Euclid, first; Christin Strickler, Euclid, second; and Teresa Bauer, Ada, third.

Missing the correct weight of the 1,355 pound bull exhibited by Angus Acres, Euclid, by only three pounds, was Harvey Peterson, Crookston. Runners-up in the weight guessing contest were Diane Bellas, Gully; Teresa Bauer, Ada; and Robert Solem, Thief River Falls.

Winfred (Punk) Bauer, Ada, demonstrated the correct way to clip hair from a show animal, to emphasize the animal's good points and cover up its weak spots. Norman (Butch) Myers, Twin Valley, discussed fitting an animal for show by dressing the clipped animal, (brushing the hair) so it no longer shows any weak spots, and is ready to go into the show ring.

Eight area Angus breeders brought Angus and Angus-crossbred calves for display. Those exhibiting were Angus Acres, Euclid; LeRoy Stumpf, Plummer; Gary Krueger, Fosston; Purath Angus, Red Lake Falls; Royce Wansholz, Waubun; and Norman Myers, VLS Angus Ranch, and Angus Hill Farms, all Twin Valley.

Bringing the afternoon to a close was Vern Kerchberger, regional Angus assistant manager, who expressed his delight in seeing the interest of the large crowd and also the select group of calves on display. Kerchberger pointed out that the demand for Angus bred calves in the feed yards is stronger than ever and passed out surveys showing the strength Angus breeding has in the cow-calf operation, with more live calves born unassisted than any other breed combination lacking an Angus-cross.

Bryant, Scott Host March Of Dimes Dinner

Former defensive back Viking, Bobby Bryant, accepted the position of honorary chairman of the March of Dimes sports awards dinner at last week's organizational meeting. Ray Scott of KSTP radio agreed to act as master of ceremonies of the event, which will be conducted at the Radisson South hotel January 12, 1982. Proceeds from the event will benefit March of Dimes programs to fight birth defects.

Both Bryant and Scott are enthusiastic March of Dimes volunteers. Bryant has been involved with the foundation for ten years, and is a past chapter chairman. His acquaintance with many of the March of Dimes poster children has convinced him of the importance of the organization. "It is a great organization to support because it is working to help children in this area who have birth defects," he said. Scott is also very much aware of the March of Dimes efforts in research and education for the prevention of birth defects. He has been a guest speaker at past March of Dimes functions.

1st Laywoman Named Director Of MN Council

Jean Dowell, 53, Bloomington, has been named Minnesota conference council director, the top program position of the United Methodist church in Minnesota.

Assuming her new post January 1, she becomes the first laywoman to attain this office in the nation, and is the first lay person and the first woman to hold the position in the state.

Elected by the denomination's council on ministries, she will supervise a staff of five professional program developers and administer a budget of $1.8 million. Dowell succeeds the Rev. Lyle Christianson who has been appointed superintendent of 60 United Methodist churches in the greater St. Paul area.

In her fourth year as director of Outreach for the church in Minnesota, she sees her selection as an affirmation of clergy and laity working together. "I think it's the time," she said, "when the laity and clergy are laying claim to the ministry and mission of the church."

"I affirm my laity," she asserted, then added, "What the church is doing in the world is far more than clergy can do alone."

Approaching her new assignment with "a great deal of excitement and enthusiasm" Dowell says she is proud of the role Minnesota annual conference has taken in shaping mission and ministry of the church.

$3,727,400 In Guaranteed Loans Okayed

Paul W. Jansen, district director of the Minnesota district office of the Small Business administration, announced recently that $3,727,400 in SBA guaranteed loans had been approved for 25 Minnesota companies in the month of October. Projected additional employment created as a result of these loans is 386 jobs.

Direct management assistance was provided to 225 Minnesota firms thru the Small Business administration's in-house counselors or through support groups like the Service Corps of Retired Executives and the twelve colleges participating in the Small Business institute program.

One loan, amounting to $125,000, was made to minority owned firm; making the minority component of the October loan portfolio four per cent of the total loans and 3.3 per cent of the total loan dollars.

Tranby Earns UMM Award

Scott Tranby, son of Arthur and Carol Tranby, Thief River Falls, was honored recently as a freshman academic scholar at the University of Minnesota, Morris.

Award is presented annually to scholastically talented first year students and carries with it a financial award. Tranby is a 1981 graduate of Lincoln senior high school, where he was a member of national honor society. At UMM he plans a pre-medicine program.

Happiness Is The Times

St. Paul Is Site Of Farm Show Dec. 1-3

Saint Paul will once again be the site of the first major farm show of the season, when the Midwest livestock equipment show gets underway December 1-3 at the St. Paul civic center.

Farmers visiting the third annual show, from 9 a.m. to 5 p.m. daily, will see the latest in equipment, with many new products being shown for the first time. Other features will include farm energy exhibits, 15 clinics especially for the livestock farmer presented by the University of Minnesota agricultural extension service, special speakers, and information and education for farmers and their families.

Show is expected to attract visitors and exhibitors from foreign countries as well as from the Midwest.

More than 150 different livestock exhibits — including both equipment and major implement displays — will be part of the show.

Admission is $3 for adults; children under 12 are admitted free.

For more information, contact Marilyn Buss, Farm Fairs, Box 946, Rt. 2, Lake Crystal, MN 56055 (507-726-6863).

Saint Paul convention, exhibition and tourism commission is aiding the show with arrangements and publicity.

Give Memorial To Heart Ass'n.

A memorial gift has been given to the American Heart association, Minnesota affiliate in the name of Alma Sattler Hamilton, according to Mrs. David Drotts, Pennington county Heart fund memorial gifts chairman.

Heart Association's memorial program is a way to both express sympathy and also help fight heart and blood vessel diseases — the state's largest cause of death and disability.

Persons wishing to use this Heart association service as a means of paying tribute to friends or relatives affected by heart disease or as a get-well wish, should send their request and memorial contribution to: Memorials, American Heart Association, Minnesota Affiliate, 4701 W. 77th St., Minneapolis, MN 55435 or call 835-3300-toll free 1-800-862-6044.

Farm Prices Received Drop During October

Minnesota's October 15 prices received index fell four per cent from September and dropped 10 per cent from a year ago. Oats, dry edible beans, all hay, calves, milk and egg prices rose. Prices for all other commodities were lower, except lambs which held steady from last month but fell below a year earlier.

Slaughter cows were the lowest since November of 1978, beef cattle were the lowest since December of 1978, sheep since August of 1977 and wool prices were the lowest since December of 1976.

U.S. prices received index fell four per cent from September and nine per cent from a year ago. Holding down the index were lower prices for cattle, hogs, potatoes and corn.

Farmers paid less for replacement livestock, feed, and fertilizers during October, however, family living costs were sharply higher.

Answers from the Bible by Pastor Don Peres

Q. Pastor Don, "Are you sure God won't let us into heaven by just living a good life?

A. Unfortunately, the bible does not allow anyone to earn his way into heaven. The scriptures teach that good works have nothing to do with one entering into a right relationship with God. This relationship is nothing we can earn, because God has done everything for us.

Titus 3:5 says "Not by works of righteousness which we have done, but according to His mercy He saved us."

Ephesians 2:8-9 says "For by grace are ye saved through faith, and that not of yourselves, it is a gift of God, not of works, lest any one should boast."

John 6:29 says "This is the work of God, that ye believe on Him whom He hath sent."

If our eternal salvation was on the basis of works and we could earn it successfully, then God would be our debtor. He would owe us something. Romans 4:1-3. The Bible teaches that God owes no man anything, and our own righteousness is as unclean rags. Isaiah 64:6.

Galatians 2:16 mentions "Knowing that a man is not justified by the works of the law, but by the faith of Jesus Christ, for by the works of the law shall no flesh be justified.

Galatians 3:26 declares "For ye are all the children of God by faith in Christ Jesus

Hebrews 11:6 teaches "But without faith it is impossible to please God."

People are morally incapable of earning their own way into the Kingdom of God. People are not good enough to merit an eternal relationship with God.

That's why Jesus Christ came and died on the cross of Calvary. He was the only one good enough to please God. Now you and I have the precious opportunity to believe on Him to get us to heaven. John 14:6 says "I am the way, the truth, and the life: no man cometh unto the Father but by me."

If you have any questions that you would like to have answered from the Bible, please write Pastor Don Peres, Box 129, Thief River Falls, MN 56701.

Jamboree Starts Winter Sports

With the settlement of the Thief River Falls teachers strike, opening day practice started as scheduled today (Monday) for the Lincoln high school basketball and hockey teams. Girls basketball team missed its Nov. 9 opening practice date allowed by the Minnesota State High School League by one week.

First winter sports activity in Thief River Falls will be the Saturday, November 28, Section 8 hockey jamboree in the sports arena. For the first time, the jamboree is scheduled to feature all 17 Section 8 teams, with the Thief River Falls junior varsity added to make it nine scrimmage sessions that day beginning at 12 noon.

Jamboree pairings will feature Detroit Lakes vs. Hallock; Fergus Falls vs. Lake of the Woods; Little Falls vs. Thief River Falls junior varsity; Red Lake Falls vs. Crosby-Ironton; Alexandria vs. Indus; Crookston vs. Moorhead; Roseau vs. Brainerd; Warroad vs. Bemidji; and East Grand Forks vs. Thief River Falls.

The expanded jamboree, minus a couple of teams, has held here for the first time last year and met great success. Headed by the Thief River Falls amateur hockey association, officials hope to make the preseason Section 8 jamboree an annual event here.

Strike Hits Athletic Schedule

Curtailment of the Lincoln high school fall sports season by the Thief River Falls teachers strike forced the Prowlers to miss 13 regular season varsity games, matches or meets, along with some post-season competition, as well.

Thief River Falls had to forfeit three football games; five volleyball matches; two cross country meets, including the Northwest Athletic Conference race; and three swimming meets.

The Prowlers also missed out on an opportunity to compete in the individual portion of the North Half Region 8AA girls tennis tournament; the North Half Region 8AA volleyball tournament; and the Region 8AA cross country meet.

Lincoln swimming team will miss a scheduled Tuesday meet at Bemidji, but the Prowlers are scheduled to compete in the Section 3 swimming and diving championships Tuesday, November 24, at Bemidji State University.

Miscellaneous

+Minnesota State High School League (MSHSL) state football playoff championship games will be played Friday, and looking back at the 1981 season, we had an opportunity to see three of the finalists. We were on hand when Moorhead, scheduled to meet Rosemount in the Class AA finals, beat Thief River Falls 16-0; watched St. Peter, scheduled to play Hermantown in the Class A finals, beat New Ulm 29-18; and saw Argyle, scheduled to play Starbuck for the nine-man title, defeat Middle River 21-0 in a playoff game. Ironically, although each of the scores sounds decisive, a play of two in each of those three games would have reversed the outcome in each contest.

+Bill Quenette of Moorhead was named Region 8AA basketball coach of the year for 1980-81 at the Minnesota state high school coaches association clinic Nov. 6-8 in Bloomington.

+Bill Soltys of Grand Rapids was named Northern Lakes Conference high school football coach of the year, and six Indians were named to the all-conference team: quarterback Tony Kellin, linebacker-runningback Greg Chandler, wide receiver-defensive end Ron Renner, defensive back-kick returned Bruce LaRoque, two-way tackle Todd Veneman and two-way tackle Jeff Johnson. Grand Rapids beat Thief River Falls 13-6 this fall.

Cards Name Football Captains

Dean Sletten and Kyle Gustafson have been named co-captains of the 1982 Plummer high school football team, it was announced by Cardinals head coach Gary Brantl.

Sletten, a junior runningback-linebacker on this year's Plummer squad, was named the team's top offensive back. He was a North Tri County Conference all-conference selection this fall.

Other individual honors for the Cardinals went to sophomore Troy Gustafson, named the team's top offensive lineman; eighth grader Gary Torkelson, the team's top defensive lineman; and freshman Russ Fisher, named the team's top defensive back.

The Cardinals won two of their first three starts this fall, but lost their final six games for a 2-7 finish. They opened with a 12-6 win over Grygla-Gatzke, lost to Erskine 42-8 and beat Mentor 14-12 to stand 2-1 in the earlier going. But over the last six weeks the youthful Cardinals lost to McIntosh-Winger 33-7, Middle River 35-0, Oklee 22-0, Clearbrook 40-6, Gonvick-Trail 34-12 and Goodridge 8-0.

Sletten led the Cardinals in scoring with 22 points and rushing with 685 yards on 133 carries. Sophomore Brian Fisher added 264 yards on 82 carries and junior Kyle Gustafson had 149 yards on 38 tries.

Three Cardinals shared the quarterbacking duties. Kyle Gustafson was 22-for-65 passing for 278 yards; sophomore Tim Peters was 13-for-23 for 200 yards; and sophomore Tim Gagner was 15-for-56 for 156 yards.

Senior Steve Fossell led the receivers with 16 catches for 251 yards, while Peters was on the receiving end of 14 passes for 176 yards and Sletten caught eight for 74 yards.

Defensively, Torkelson was the leading tackler with 73, while Sletten was credited with 62 stops and Kyle Gustafson had 51, along with a team-leading 37 assisted tackles, one more than Sletten. Konickson led the team with three fumble recoveries while Fisher led with five interceptions, to go along with 40 tackles and 20 assisted tackles from his defensive back position. Torkelson, a defensive tackle, had three interceptions.

Jon Lindquist, Darrin Tougas, John Cyr, Matt Radniecki and Rick Dulka were the offensive statistical leaders at Oklee this fall as the Bobcats completed a 5-4 North Tri County Conference campaign under head coach Dale Svaren.

Lindquist and Radniecki, a pair of ends finished 1-2 in the Oklee scoring charts with 46 and 38 points, respectively, and both had 298 yards in receptions - 19 catches for Radniecki and 12 for Lindquist.

Fullback Leif Fore was third in the scoring charts with 32 points, followed by Tougas with 28, Cyr 18, Loring Mercil 16, Gary Parenteau 14 and Dulka 12.

Tougas led the Bobcats in rushing with 294 yards, followed by Cyr with 199, Dulka 194, and Fore 116.

Cyr enjoyed a strong season as the Bobcats' quarterback, completing 63 of 168 passes for 901 yards and 16 touchdowns, earning all-conference honors, along with Dulka, an excellent linebacker. The pass-happy Bobcats threw for 1,403 yards this fall while running for 1,026.

Fore caught 12 passes for 129 yards, Mercil had 10 catches for 96 and Kevin Enerson caught nine for 117.

Dulka's all-conference play as a linebacker included a team-leading 177 points on the Bobcats' defensive charts. Tackle Mike Vettleson had 137, followed by Cyr 125, Lindquist 100, Fore 82, Radniecki 66, Enerson 66, Mercil 62, Thelmer Anderson 53, Erick Mickelson 33 and Chad Christianson 33.

The Bobcats' 5-4 North Tri County Conference finish included wins over Grygla-Gatzke 28-6, Goodridge 26-6, Plummer 22-0, Mentor 40-12 and McIntosh-Winger 50-14. They lost to Middle River 36-6, Clearbrook 58-30, Gonvick-Trail 30-12 and Erskine 36-6.

Unbeaten North Tri County Conference champion Middle River was led offensively this fall by fullback Steve Bengtson who rushed for a team-leading 866 yards and scored a team-high 98 points. Bengtson averaged six yards on his 145 carries while scoring 15 touchdowns and four two-point conversions.

Jeff Cwikla was second on the Middle River scoring charts with 70 points, followed by Mike Peterson with 56, Doug Kilen 54, Jon Neumann 10, Brian Berg 8, Brent Walton 6, Nathan Bukowski 6, Graig Kaml 6, Kevin McKeever 6 and Ryan Johnson 2. The Skippers out-scored the opposition 322-56.

Cwikla followed Bengtson in the rushing department with 672 yards and a 6.4-yard average, while Peterson rushed for 456 yards and had a 7.6-yard average. Kilen contributed 328 yards and Kaml added 123 and both averaged nearly five-yards per carry.

Middle River defensive charts were headed by Johnson and Kilen, both had 87 tackles, followed by Peterson with 54, Walton 48, Bengtson 50, McKeever 43, Cwikla 42, Harlan Olson 41, Neumann 35 and Dan Burda 29.

Walton and McKeever each came up with three interceptions, while Bengtson, Cwikla, Olson and Roy Hanson had two apiece and Kilen and John Scheff added one each.

Winless, Strike-Shortened Season . . .

Lincoln Football Figures Reduced In 1981 Season

A 1981 season that was cut short by a teachers strike and included some offensive problems while the six-game schedule was in progress produced a set of small post-season statistical figures for the Lincoln high school football team.

It goes into the record books as a 0-9 finish for the frustrated Prowlers, who played some excellent defense, but struggled offensively in losing their first six games this fall: three by shutouts as they fell to Grand Forks Red River 29-0, Detroit Lakes 13-8, Grand Rapids 13-6, Staples 15-14, Moorhead 16-0 and Bemidji 3-0 in overtime.

Final three scheduled starts go down as 2-0 forfeit losses for the Prowlers as the teachers strike in School District 564 wiped out games against Fergus Falls, East Grand Forks and Crookston, with the Crookston game considered a double forfeit since both sides were involved in strikes at the time.

As an 0-9 finish, the 1981 season will be remembered as only the third winless football campaign ever for a Thief River Falls football team dating back to 1915, and the first winless season since 1923.

The losses themselves were sometimes hard to swallow for the Prowlers, who played defense with the best of them. They held Red River to 81 yards rushing but lost 29-0 because of six mis-played punts; they held Detroit Lakes to 78 yards on the ground, but surrendered 182 in the air in losing a close 13-8 game; limited to Grand Rapids team who was then ranked No. 6 in the Class AA polls to a mere 58 yards rushing in a tough 13-6 loss; checked a potent Staples team on 107 yards rushing but gave up a touchdown on the final play of the first half in losing a heart-breaking 15-14 game; gave up yards, but not points against Class AA power Moorhead until the Spuds scored in the final minute of the first half and the final seconds of the game in a 16-0 defeat; and stopped Bemidji with just 65 yards and no points before an overtime field goal produced a 3-0 Lumberjacks win.

Obviously the defense played well enough to win every one of those games. But just as obvious was the lack of offense by the Prowlers. They finished with a minus-22 yards on the ground and just 41 total yards against Red River; got 176 yards worth of offense against Detroit Lakes but scored just once; had 160 yards against Grand Rapids but again hit the end zone only once; had their biggest day offensively with 268 yards against Staples, but couldn't score enough to win; mustered only 67 yards against Moorhead; and finished with 154 yards against Bemidji.

In their six starts, the Prowlers scored only 28 points, averaging less than a touchdown per game. Tom Ose, who missed the first two games, finished as the team's leading scorer with 14 points and topped the rushing charts with 310 yards in four games, including a 177-yard effort against Staples.

The six-game 1981 Thief River Falls statistics are minus some figures from the Sept. 25 game at Staples, as indicated on the statistical chart.

Quality of the Thief River Falls schedule had a great deal to do with the Prowlers' winless mark in six starts, with four of those six teams earning post-season playoff berths. Red River played in the North Dakota Class A state playoffs; Detroit Lakes won the Mid-State Conference and competed in Minnesota Class A post-season play; Grand Rapids was the unbeaten Northern Lakes Conference champion and played in the Class AA playoffs; and Moorhead was 7-1 as an independent and qualified for the Class AA playoffs.

There were 21 seniors on the 1981 Thief River Falls roster, including captain Rob Jorstad, along with Brent Schmitz, Rick Langlie, Jim Dillon, Kent Kainz, Jeff Imgrund, Mark Harder, Tom Colby, Paul Waswick, Kent Ellingson, Wade Hruby, John Helms, Kevin Leach, Steve Olson, Dan Odegaard, Eric Bondy, Todd Anderson, Jon Ness, Ken Bakke, Rod Nichols, Roger Stoltman, Dave Upham and Keith Grochow.

North Tri County . . .

Pries, Johnson Head All-Conference List

All-conference football selections in the 1981 North Tri-County Conference were headlined by Francis Pries, Jr. of Erskine, who was named the league's most valuable back, and Ryan Johnson of Middle River, named the league's most valuable lineman.

Also earning special recognition was Ron Johnson of Gonvick, Trail, named North Tri-County Conference coach of the year.

Unbeaten North Tri-County Conference champion Middle River placed five players on the all-conference team, including Mike Peterson, Steve Bengtson, Jeff Cwikla, Doug Kilen and Johnson.

Rest of the honor squad included LuWayne Loiland, Ron Erickson, Dean Birkeland and Alan Wolden, Gonvick-Trail; Joey Farell, Paul Lindseth and Pries, Erskine; Tony Marty, Wayne Pulsford and Kevin Prosser, Clearbrook; Rick Dulka and John Cyr, Oklee; Tim Finseth and David Balstad, McIntosh-Winger; Ken Frazer and Darin Easthouse, Goodridge; Dean Sletten, Plummer; Rodney Hagen, Grygla-Gatzke; and Gary Kolb, Mentor.

It was also officially announced that Erskine and Mentor would field a cooperative sponsorship football program next fall, but the North Tri-County Conference would remain ten-team league with the addition of Fisher, a former member of the Agassiz Valley North Conference.

North Tri County All-Conference

Goodridge — Ken Frazer, sr., runningback; Darin Easthouse, jr., defensive back.

Plummer — Dean Sletten, sr., linebacker.

Grygla-Gatzke — Rodney Hagen, jr., defensive lineman.

Mentor — Gary Kolb, sr., runningback.

UNUSUAL BRANCHING of the brow tines on this big buck's antlers brought the total number of points to 12. The deer was killed near Strandquist last Sunday, by Lynn Stenvik, Goodridge, with a 300 Savage. It was his first buck. He said he intends to have the head mounted.

Spuds, Eagles Earn Title Game Berths

Area teams were 2-for-4 in the semifinals of the 1981 Minnesota State High School League state football playoffs Friday as Moorhead reached the finals in Class AA and Argyle advanced to the championship game in nine-man play, but Mahnomen fell in Class B and Fertile-Beltrami lost in Class C.

Championship games in all five MSHSL classes will be played Friday.

Class AA

Moorhead and Rosemount will meet in the Class AA championship game at Parade Stadium in the Twin Cities as the Spuds handled Wayzata 24-7 and the Irish knocked off St. Paul Johnson 34-14 in the semifinals.

Class A

St. Peter defeated Totino Grace 14-6 and Hermantown edged Albany 23-21 in the Class A semifinals. Championship game will be played at St. Peter.

Class B

Holdingford defeated defending state champion Mahnomen 21-14 and Pine Island eliminated Granite Falls 28-14 in Class B semifinals. Title game will be played at Pine Island.

Class C

Championship game in Class C will be played at Medford following Friday's semifinals when Medford beat Chatfield 23-14 and Clarkfield defeated Fertile-Beltrami 26-7.

NineMan

Argyle rolled over Nevis 36-6 and Starbuck crushed Westbrook 59-16 in the nine-man semifinals. Site of the championship game — either Argyle or Crookston — was to be determined today.

Community College Volleyball Tourney . . .

Northwomen Find Wins Hard To Come By At State

Record-wise it didn't show, but Northland community college "played some pretty good volleyball," according to coach Deb Jacobson as the Northwomen participated in the 1981 Minnesota community college women's athletic association (MCCWA) state volleyball tournament Wednesday and Thursday at Lakewood community college in White Bear Lake.

Northwest Division champion Northland, grouped with Northeast Division champion Vermilion and secondplace Southern and Central Division finishers Willmar and Inver Hills, won just one of six games in Wednesday's opening-round pool play.

The Northwomen opened in fine fashion, beating Inver Hills 17-15, but then blew a 13-10 lead in losing the second half of the two-game set 15-13. "That put us in a wrong mood," noted Jacobson. "We didn't play well."

Trouble receiving serves and inability to mount an offensive attack found the Northwomen on the short end of a 15-3, 15-4 two-game set with Willmar. "We played defense the entire match, and you can't win very many volleyball games playing defense," explained Jacobson.

Wednesday's third trip on the court was against Vermilion, and the Northwomen lost 15-3, 15-4. "The scores weren't a true indication of the way we played," Jacobson pointed out. "We played well, but we just couldn't get any points."

Top two finishers in each of the four-team pools advanced to Thursday's championship semifinal round, while the bottom two finishers in each pool went into Thursday's consolation semifinals for single-elimination 3-out-of-5-game matches.

Northland drew Northeast Division runner-up Hibbing in the consolation round, and Hibbing won 15-8, 15-6, 16-18, 15-13. "It was a good match," said Jacobson. "We definitely put a scare into them. We went out fighting."

Normandale emerged as the 1981 MCCWAA state champion, sweeping Rochester 3-0 in Thursday's finals. Willmar topped Vermilion for third place, while Hibbing took the consolation crown.

Division runner-up Fergus Falls failed to win a game during the two-day event, making it a rough showing for the Northwest Division.

"It was kind of disappointing that the Northwest Division teams didn't have a better showing," acknowledged Jacobson, "because we do play some pretty good volleyball. As far as skill-wise, we were supposed to be down there. We could compete with those teams. We just didn't pick up the wins."

Northland's state tournament team included two sophomores — Vicki Troska of Goodridge and Kathy Walker of Thief River Falls — along with six freshmen — Deb Koskela, Diane Zimpel and Kathy Skerven, Plummer; Kelly Thompson, McIntosh; Shelly Taggart, Greenbush; and Marlys Huot, Thief River Falls.

Moorhead, Fosston Win Volleyball Tournaments

Fosston and Moorhead emerged as Region 8A and Region 8AA high school volleyball tournament champions Saturday and will compete in the 1981 state tournament Friday and Saturday at the Met Sports Center in Bloomington.

It was the fourth straight Region 8AA title for the Spuds, who beat host Cold Spring-Rocori 18-5, 18-15 in the title match. Earlier Moorhead was a winner in the North Half Region 8AA tournament and Rocori won the South Half Region 8AA event.

Fosston also uccessfully defended its title in the Region 8A tournament played at the University of Minnesota-Crookston (UMC).

In opening round play, District 31 champion Alvarado got by District 29 champion Cass Lake 11-18, 18-14 18-12 and the District 30 champion Greyhounds knocked off District 32 winner Marshall County Central 18-12, 18-15.

Fosston edged Alvarado 21-19, 19-17 in the title match that night, with Cass Lake beating Marshall County Central 18-13, 21-19 in the third place match.

The losses to Fosston represented the first set-backs of the year for both Marshall County Central and Alvarado.

Despite the losses, Marshall County Central coach Sarah Ackerman wasn't unhappy with the Nordics' play.

"They played well," she said. "We had some excellent team play. We played the best we could. I was really proud of them."

Perhaps the only disappointment came in the second game 18-15 loss to Fosston when the Nordics owned a 15-8 lead and couldn't produced any more points.

The smaller Nordics, as expected, had their troubles handling Fosston's six-foot Janice Woods and her booming spikes.

"We have no height at all," admitted Ackerman. "But we still held our own. I'm really proud of them. I'm not upset about the results at all."

The third place match was anticlimatic, confessed Ackerman. "We didn't have anything left for Cass Lake. We burned ourselves out against Fosston," she said.

"But I can't be disappointed with a 19-2 record. I thought they had a very good year."

Recreational Skating Lessons Program Starts On Thursday

Recreational skating lesson program will begin its 1981-82 season November 19 for skaters having lessons on Thursdays and November 24 for skaters having lessons on Tuesdays.

Skaters who participated in the recently-completed fall clinic received their lesson assignments at testing time last week. Skaters not present for testing will skate the same time they were scheduled to participate in the clinic, or at one of the Tuesday times that fit their badge level.

For additional information contact Jan Nelson at 681-7139, or Jan Fessler at 681-6092.

Class assignments for skaters participating in the 1981-82 season program only, and for those who will be in the Tuesday classes are as follows:

Thursday Classes

Pre-school and kindergarten classes are held at 10 a.m., 10:30 a.m., 3:30 p.m., and 6 p.m. Children may be brought to anyone of the classes. We encourage parents to bring their skates and assist your child on the ice if the child is a very new skater. We also recommend that the very young skaters come to the morning classes.

10 or 10:30 a.m. — Christopher Fossum, Kelly Liden, Jennifer Olin, Bradley (Svir) Godfred, Kristen Worth.

Beginner through Badge 3- 3:30 p.m. — Nicole Emmons, Sakkone Sengsouvanne, Jeremy Gagner, Gina Mules.

Boys beginners throught Badge 3: 4:15 p.m. — Bobby Bluemke.

Badge 7: 4:15 p.m. — Sherri Minar.

Badges 6-7: 5:15 p.m. — Anne Nabben, Theresa Gunderson.

6 p.m. — Corey Anderson, Heather Anderson, Heather Crowser, Angie Delap, Brianna Geer, Jed Geer, Shane Geray, David Halsa, Karen Halsa, Jennifer Munro, Melissa Munro, Krissi Super, Maja Turenne, Joshua Efta, Jedd Efta.

Beginner through Badge 3: 6 p.m. — Jacob Efta.

Badges 4-5: 6 p.m. — Pamela Puppe, Nicole Rux, Joe Efta.

Tuesday Classes

(Tuesday classes Nov. 24, Dec. 1, Dec. 8, will be held at the old arena.)

Beginners through Badge 4: 3:30 p.m. — Lynel Anderson, Kristen Boughton, Jessica Brunkhorst, Amy Enge, Jessica Hagenah, Tarik Kovisto, Jamie Kruta, Jodi Kruta, Cathy Park, Carrie Pederson, Michelle Sandsmark, Carla Sorenson, Jenny Stumpf, Allison Votava, Shelly Wilson, Kelly Lehr, Nicole Boughten.

Pre-school and kindergarten: 3:30 p.m. — Joel Anderson, Mike Conley, Derek Dahlstrom, Roberta Jo Dahlstrom, Brad Flynn, Christopher Johnson, Carrie Johnson, Shana Jorgenson, Kari Krankkula, Traci Lindberg, Jordan Lindquist, Andrew Lundbohm, Robyn Sandsmark, Kelly Skeim, Tom Stumpf, Courtney Jo Torgerson, Julie Votava, Amy Wessel Scott Wessel, Adam Kuck, Brian Woritt, Lee Kuck, Kara Boughton.

A DESIGN by artist Terry Redlin of Hastings depicting a rainbow trout was selected by the Department of Natural Resources as winner of the state's first trout stamp contest. Starting March 1, 1982, the stamp, priced at $3, will be required of anglers between the ages of 16 and 65 who fish for trout in trout streams. Revenue from the stamp sales is earmarked for improving habitat in trout streams. Sixty-eight entries were received for the stamp contest. Redlin was also the winner of the 1981 Minnesota duck stamp contest.

Scott Sabo Featured In Wisconsin Hockey Story

(Lincoln high school graduate Scott Sabo, a member of the University of Wisconsin hockey team, was the feature subject of this recent article appearing in the Capital Times in Madison, Wis., written by Mike Lucas.)

"I think maybe the key to this team will be the line of Scott Sabo, Paul Houck and Ron Vincent. If we get them organized, they are potentially as good as the (John) Newberry line." — UW hockey coach Bob Johnson.

After a while, the neighbors got used to Scott Sabo and his roller skates. They just got out of way when he hit the streets of Thief River Falls (Minn.) last summer.

"Acturally, there was not much traffic up there anyway," he said. "I used to skate around the block or up and down the streets."

He cut a pretty mean path, too. But he was not on conventional roller skates. And he was not plugged in to a boom box. There was a method to his recreation. He was getting ready for a hockey season, one in which Bob Johnson would consider the development of Sabo and his linemates a critical factor in the defense of a national championship.

So far, they look pretty organized. Johnson figures that line will get even better when Ron Vincent recovers fully from a bum shoulder and Paul Houck, a freshman, adjusts completely to the league. "Sabo is a hard worker," said Johnson of the third component, "and I believe in hard workers."

Scott Sabo is a sophomore forward at the University of Wisconsin. He already has scored five goals in six games; three more than he scored all of last season. He got two goals last Friday night on his 21st birthday at Duluth. In so doing, he helped the No. 1 ranked Badgers sweep the Bulldogs (6-1 and 6-1).

In evaluating his performance, Sabo credits his early production to two factors: more playing time and more leg strength. One is the result of the other, perhaps.

"I feel a lot faster than I did last year," he said.

He credits the roller skates for that. A fellow in Thief River Falls came up with the idea. He replaced the blade on a standard hockey boot with four roller wheels, designed of hard-rubber.

"You could skate anywhere you wanted to with them — over tar or cement," said Sabo.

"They were a lot heavier than the normal hockey skates. And the blades were a little bit longer. They forced you to make a lot of turns because you really couldn't stop on them. You sort of just keep going around and around.

"But they forced you, too, to keep the blade on the ground longer. And that's what the coaches have been emphasizing here. The less time that your skate is off the ice, the more balance and the more power you will have in your legs."

Sabo spent less time on the ice during the first half of last season than he cares to remember. The only things that he lifted off the ground were his crutches after his leg ballooned from an infection. The practice time which he missed put him behind the rest of the freshman class.

"There was a point where I was pretty frustrated," he admitted. "Because I wasn't physically ready, it led to some mental stuff. You think, 'If I quit, I won't miss it.' One thing leads to another. I wasn't able to do things that I did the year before. It wasn't until after Christmas that I started to come around."

Sabo finally entered the lineup and Bob Johnson's plans in early February at North Dakota. Johnson was looking for someone who wouldn't shy away from contact in the corners against the Fighting Sioux. Sabo filled that need. And he earned a spot on the fourth line.

Certainly, he was accustomed to the rough stuff — as he displayed later in the playoffs at Clarkson College — having played a year for the Warroad Lakers where he was coached by Scott Marvin, a former Sioux defenseman. Marvin holds virtually every record associated with penalties at North Dakota.

The assistant coach at Warroad was Billy Christian, a member of the 1964 Olympic team and the father of Dave Christian, an Olympic hero of a different era and a member of the Winnipeg Jets. Dave Christian played with the Lakers and the Fighting Sioux.

With all this schooling, it was difficult for Sabo to go wrong. Marvin and Christian, in fact, persuaded him not to go to North Dakota, for fear that being a Minnesota product he would be lost in the Canadian shuffle.

He took their advice and opted for Wisconsin. But he brought with him a few bad habits that he had picked up in the senior league.

"The rinks were smaller in that league," he said, "and the play was more methodical. Slow down and think. I the WCHA, it's more wide open and the play just kind of happens. It took a whlie to adjust to that."

The adjustment from center, which he had played most of his life, to wing has been easier this season.

"I didn't think that I would like it at first," he conceded. "But I kind of like it now, especially since I have always enjoyed the hitting and going into the corners. It's surprising how many scoring chances you get at wing."

The scoring of the third line — Sabo, five points; Houck, five points; and Vincent, eight points — has not pleased Johnson as much as the defense of the third line. While they've been on the ice, the trio has yet to have a goal scored against them in six games.

"I know that I'm concentrating more on defense," Sabo said. "I think one of the reasons is because defense has been the weakest part of my game. At center, I was used to cruising and freewheeling around the points. At wing, though, you have to cover your man in front of the net and you have to concentrate on him all the time."

Along with skating on a regular shift, scoring a few goals early also has helped his concentration. And, according to Bob Johnson, it has made players like Sabo hungrier — which is exactly the way he wants them.

TRFAHA Will Meet Tonight At Northland

General meeting of the Thief River Falls amateur hockey association (TRFAHA) will be held tonight (Monday) at 7 p.m. in room A16 at Northland community college.

All those interested in the youth hockey program are urged to attend the meeting.

A reminder to all youth hockey players currently involved in the annual TRFAHA candy sale that they should have either their money or their unsold candy returned by the end of next week.

Handling the 7-8-year-old Tiny Mite portion of the candy sale are Mr. and Mrs. Mike Lundgren, 407 So. Markley, 681-7390; the Squirt portion of the sale is being handled by Mr. and Mrs. Les Sabo, 1010 No. Arnold, 681-4598; Pee-Wee portion of the sale is being handled by Myron Anderson, 610 So. Conley, 681-2056; and the Bantam portion of the sale is being handled by Mrs. Don Breiland, 436 So. Maple, 681-1138.

Pheasants To Benefit From State Stamps

A wildlife stamp commemorating the introduction of the ring-necked pheasant to the United States 100 years ago has been issued by the Minnesota association of farmers, landowners and sportsmen (MAFLAS) with the enthusiastic support of the Minnesota Department of Natural Resources and its commissioner Joseph Alexander.

Printed in full color, the centennial stamp features a painting by noted Minnesota wildlife artist Roger Preuss, entitled "Pheasants in Autumn Heritage." The scene focuses on a pair of rooster pheasants rising out of dense cover on a farm woodlot.

MAFLAS stamp will be offered to sportsmen, farmers, other conservationists and the general public.

Proceeds from the $5 stamp will fund new and ongoing programs in an effort to improve depleted wildlife habitat.

While it ranks as the preeminant American game bird, the pheasant was not originally among the native wildlife species found in this country. The importation of 28 Chinese pheasants to the Willamette Valley of Oregon in 1881, under the auspices of a U.S. Consul-General to Shanghai named Owen N. Denny, is considered the first transplant of these birds to the United States.

According to Don Ledin, executive secretary of MAFLAS, typical projects that will be funded by stamp proceeds include the creation of additional safe nesting sites and more protective winter cover for the state pheasant population and other wildlife.

"In most areas of the Upper Midwest", said Alexander, "the lack of a safe place for the pheasant to successfully hatch a brood of young is the factor that holds down populations of pheasants and other ground nesting birds.

"The economics of modern farming dictates the use of large machinery and large fields. Many of the fencerows, odd corners and marsh edges that dotted the landscape during the forties and fifties are gone. The MAFLAS program is designed to help the landowner replace some of this cover in areas where it will fit in with the farming operation."

Ledin emphasized the urgency of launching a successful habitat restoration project which would provide pheasants with both additional safe nesting and winter cover. He pointed out that until 1958, pheasants were plentiful in Minnesota, but, primarily due to the disappearance of habitat, the harvest of pheasants dropped to 466,000 in 1980 from a high of 1,500,000 in 1958.

MAFLAS, with its 32,000 members, will be cooperating with the Future Farmers of America, the Department of Agriculture and the Department of Natural Resources to make this a successful operation.

A full scale reproduction of the painting used to illustrate the stamp will be issued in a limited edition print by the Wildlife Publishing Company, Lake Elmo. Both stamp and print will be distributed nationally.

Commemorative stamp may be obtained by sending a stamped, self-addressed envelope to MAFLAS, 490 N. Snelling Avenue, St. Paul, MN 55104, with a $5 check or money order.

DNR NEWS

Department of Natural Resources reported that the new Turn In Poachers (TIP) program has netted 86 arrests since its start on Sept. 1.

Under the program citizens are entitled to cash rewards for providing the DNR with information on game and fish law violators when the information results in an arrest. The names of citizens supplying the information are kept confidential; in fact they are assigned a code number and paid in cash.

Funds to finance the reward program are derived from private contributions under the direction of TIP Inc., a private non-profit group.

Of the total arrests to Nov. 6, 67 were made in October. Since Sept. 1, rewards were paid to 23 persons. However, many informants have declined the rewards, insisting that they are only interested in seeing the DNR put a stop to gross, flagrant violations.

As of Oct. 30, a total of $3,150 had been paid in rewards since the start of the TIP program.

Officials said 126 cases resulting from information supplied by TIPsters are currently under investigation.

A special phone number has been set up in the DNR to handle TIP calls. The toll-free long distance number is 1-800-652-9093.

Minnesota big game hunters were reminded by the Department of Natural Resources that the bear season closed on Oct. 27 and that no bear hunting is allowed during the November deer hunt.

Officials said bears are being subjected to increased hunting pressure and that a sufficient number are usually taken during the regular bear season to maintain a stable population.

They also noted that bears begin to enter their dens in November and may not be molested while they are denned up.

Seven men from Monticello, Big Lake and Buffalo have been fined $500 each and given suspended jail sentences after pleading guilty on Oct. 19 to duck hunting violations.

The men were arrested Oct. 4 by state conservation officials and agents of the U.S. Fish and Wildlife Service and charged with hunting migratory waterfowl over baited ground and with exceeding the legal limit of ducks.

The hunter's guns were confiscated and will be sold at a later date at public auction by the Minnesota Department of Natural Resources. Their small game hunting privileges were also revoked for one year.

Those fined were Brian T. Hayes, 29, Curtis W. Hayes, 28, Jack R. Leeman, 35, and Steven J. Soltau, 29 — all of Monticello; Bradley P. Hayes, 32, of Buffalo; and Ronald D. Hayes, 39, and Roger H. Loegering, 19, of Big Lake.

Eugene Glunz, 38, of Monticello was arrested with the others but only charged with hunting over a baited area. He also appeared in court but plead not guilty and his case has been continued.

Persons planning to order tree seedlings from the Department of Natural Resources for planting next spring better get their requests in soon.

Forestry officials said several species of trees have already been sold out and supplies of others are being rapidly depleted. On Sept. 1, the Department began accepting orders for some 26 million seedlings that will be available from DNR tree nurseries next spring.

Supplies of the following species have already been sold out: white pine, Scotch pine, white spruce, Colorado spruce, black walnut and honeysuckle.

Minimum order that will be accepted is for 500 trees. Seedlings are sold for purposes of reforestation, windbreaks, shelterbelts, erosion control, soil and water conservation and for permanent food and cover for wildlife.

Price lists and order blanks can be obtained from DNR forestry offices, ASCS offices, SCS offices, county extension offices, or by contacting DNR Forestry, P.O. 95, Willow River, MN (218) 372-3183 or the DNR Forestry Division, Centennial Building, St. Paul, MN 55155 (612) 296-4479.

Orders will be accepted until Jan. 31, 1982, for trees to be planted in 14 southeastern Minnesota counties, and until March 15 for trees to be planted elsewhere in the state.

Officials cautioned that supplies may be exhausted before those dates, however.

Lake trout fishing season in Lake Superior is re-opened Nov. 5, the Department of Natural Resources reminded.

Season closed Oct. 10. Officials explained that the closure protects lake trout while they are spawning in the shallow waters along reefs and bars.

Lake trout limit is 3.

DNR fisheries chief Jerry Kuehn said the DNR is considering changing the closing date for lake trout fishing in Lake Superior in future years to Sept. 30 and the re-opening date to Dec. 1.

"Because of the success of the stocking program," said Kuehn, "we have seen high concentrations of these fish in spawning sites in early October and they are extremely vulnerable to angling pressure.

"The lake trout population in Minnesota waters of Lake Superior has not yet reached the desired level. Excessive removal by angling must be avoided until that is achieved."

He said the goal of the lake trout program is to re-establish the population to the point where it can sustain itself through natural reproduction without the need for continual stocking of hatchery reared fish.

Therefore, said Kuehn, it is essential that lake trout be allowed to spawn before they are caught.

Fergus Falls Is Defeated By Normandale

Southern Division champion Normandale scored with 69 seconds remaining Saturday to edge Northern Division champion Fergus Falls 21-14 in the 1981 Minnesota junior college athletic association (MJCAA) state football playoff game.

The victory boosted the Lions for 10-0 for the year and will send them to Illinois Saturday for the Midwest Bowl against the Illinois state champion.

Fergus Falls finished the year 9-1. The Spartans were ranked No. 4 in the latest NJCAA national poll, and the Lions were No. 6.

Mn. Has Ninth Highest Tax Burden In Nation

Per Capita 1980 Tax Rankings

	Total State & Local Taxes	Individual Income	Property	Sales	Corporate Income
Minnesota	9th	6	22	37	4
Wisconsin	14	7	16	22	14
Illinois	11	18	14	16	9
Michigan	12	11	9	21	3
Iowa	24	12	17	28	24
North Dakota	31	38	29	18	19
South Dakota	38	N/A	19	15	46

N/A — Not Applicable

Minnesota's per capita state and local tax burden increased 2.6 per cent in 1980, which represents the lowest increase in 21 years. (In 1959, a low 1.6 per cent rise in tax burden was reported.) The state ranks ninth highest in the nation in total state and local per capita tax collections in 1980, compared with 7th highest in 1979 (including District of Columbia). Per captia amounts were $1,096 in 1979 and $1,125 in 1980.

Minnesota's increase was below the average 5.7 per cent tax rise witnessed in the rest of the states, and substantially below Mpls.-St. Paul consumer price index which showed 12.2 per cent increase for the same period of time. The 2.6 per cent rise in tax burden also trails well behind the state's unusually low 6.7 per cent increase in personal income for the same period of time.

Even though a low per capita tax burden increase was seen in Minnesota in 1980, the State ranks ninth highest in the nation. Tax burdens in New Jersey and California increased enough to move the two states ahead of Minnesota in 1980 rankings. But becaue of massive property tax cuts in Nevada, that state dropped from seventh highest in 1979, (which was higher than Minnesota) to 23rd in 1980. Minnesota has retained its status as highest taxed state in the Midwest.

State-by-state tax burden figures, based on U.S. Department of Commerce data, are analyzed every year by Minnesota Taxpayers Association (MTA), a non-profit, non-partisan research association. Current figures reflect tax collections for fiscal year ending June 30, 1980.

According to Don Paterick, executive director of MTA, "minimal increase in Minnesota's total tax burden is attributed to the fact that the state's individual income tax burden did not increase in 1980 on a per capita basis. Per capita amount remained at $309. Minnesota's income tax ranking thus dropped from third highest in 1979 to sixth in 1980. On the basis of income tax collections per $1,000 of personal income, Minnesota's national ranking of third highest in 1979 dropped to seventh in 1980. The improved position is due to income tax reductions made by the 1979 legislative session.

Indexing of tax brackets and increase in personal credits have saved taxpayers and reduced collections in Minnesota by $210 million, as estimated by Minnesota Department of Revenue, through fiscal year 1980. 1980 rankings are the first to show a full year's effect of the tax reductions. If 1979 legislative reductions had not been enacted, Minnesota's per capita income tax ranking would have been second highest in the nation instead of sixth. Total state and local burden would have been seventh highest in the nation instead of ninth in 1980."

In other areas of taxation, Minnesota's property tax ranking in 1980 is 22nd highest, compared with 23rd in 1979. Per capita amount of $324 incresed four per cent in 1980, and was above national average of $302.

"Department of Commerce does not subtract out Minnesota's property tax refund (circuit breaker) before national rankings are computed." Paterick said. "This additional state paid relief amounted to an estimated $67 million for Minnesota's homeowners in fiscal 1980. (Additional amounts for renters and senior citizens are subtracted from income tax.) If this amount had been included, all else remaining constant, Minnesota's ranking would have dropped from 22nd to 24th.

Minnesota's sales tax ranking was 37th highest in 1980. Even though per capita revenues increased six per cent in 1980, ranking dropped from 35th highest in 1979. Minnesota's $159 per capita compares with national average of $196.

In corporate tax collections, Minnesota retained its 4th highest position with $94 per capita, compared to $88 in 1979. National average was $65 in 1980.

Per capita state and local spending in the state reached $1,894 in 1980 — 15 per cent increase over $1,651 in 1979. Minnesota's ranking jumped from 12th in 1979 up to 7th highest in 1980.

Expenditures for education account for 34 per cent or $652 total per capita spending in Minnesota. Of this, $460 per captia is for local schools and $169 is expended for higher education. Minnesota's ranking for total education expenditures is 16th highest in the nation in 1980, compared with 17th in 1979. For local schools only, Minnesota's ranking moved up from 16th in 1979 to 14th in 1980; in higher education, the state moved from 26th in 1979 to 22nd in 1980.

Public welfare is the second largest expenditure item with $254 per capita, 26 per cent above national average and ninth highest in the nation. Expenditure for highways was the third highest spending category with $219 per capita, 49 per cent above the U.S. average and 12th highest in the nation. State and local expenditures where Minnesota ranked below national average were in police and fire protection, and corrections.

Judith Blegen At F-M Concert November 22

Soprano Judith Blegen, a Metropolitan opera star, will be featured soloist at the Fargo-Moorhead symphony November 22 at 4 p.m. at Concordia memorial auditorium under the direction of J. Robert Hanson.

Blegen will sing "Ruhe sanft" from the opera "Zaide" and "Vorrei Spiegarvi, Oh Dio!" by Mozart, Juilette's Waltz song from "Capuletti Ed I Montecchi" by Bellini. Program will also include "Symphony No. 2" (Mysterious Mountain) by Alan Hovhaness, and Sibelius' "Pohjola's Daughter."

Blegen, born in Montana, has paternal roots in Warren. She was featured in Donizetti's "L'elisir d'Amore on PSB "Live from the Met" telecast last spring and she will be opening the season at the Met in the fall of 1982.

Individual ticket admission to the Blegen concert is $7 for reserved seating, $5 general admission with $2 senior citizen-student general admission. For tickets, call the symphony office at (218) 233-8397 or write Box 1753, Fargo, ND 58107. Tickets are also available at Fargo Straus stores, Marguerite's music in Moorhead, and the three local college student unions. Box office opens at 2:45 p.m. the day of the concert.

Special group of symphony association members have partially underwritten the concert. Concert is partically supported by the Coordinated arts fund and the Minnesota state arts board, with funds appropriated by the Minnesota State Legislature, the North Dakota council on the arts, the national endowment for the arts and the cities of Fargo and Moorhead.

Farm Families Needed To Host Ag. Students

Farm and ranch families in Minnesota and the Dakotas are needed to host international agricultural student-trainees for eight months, from April through November 1982, to provide them with practical training and work expericence.

Approximately 100 student-trainees from 10 European countries as well as Australia and New Zealand are expected to participate in the 1982 training program.

These students are sponsored by the Minnesota agricultural student-trainee program, which has provided training for nearly 1400 international student-trainees since 1949. Program is administered through the office of special programs, a unit of the agricultural extension service at the University of Minnesota.

Student-trainees will live with their host farm or ranch family to learn about American agriculture, rural community life and the kinds of agriculture operations related to their career interests. They will work the same hours as their hosts.

After the eight-month training program with a farm or ranch family, the student-trainees are required to study at the University of Minnesota during winter quarter.

All of the student-trainees have completed high school, have finished two or more years of agricultural college, and have two years of post high school farm work experience. Their average age is 23. They all have knowledge of the English language.

Farm families who wish to host a student-trainee must be willing to:

— Accept the student-trainee as a family member;

— Be interested in the student-trainee as a person and as a representative from another culture;

— Provide the student-trainee with practical on-the-job agricultural training and work experience;

— Be able to pay the student-trainee $450 to $475 a month and provide room, board and laundry;

— Introduce the student-trainee to other members of the community.

Anyone interested in hosting an international student-trainee can obtain further information and an application form from Fred Hoefer, Office of Special Programs, 405 Coffey Hall, University of Minnesota, St. Paul, MN 55108. Tel. (612) 373-0725. Placements are made in January.

Court Okays Informal Page On Tax Index

Gov. Al Quie said he is pleased that Ramsey county district court has ruled to permit an informational page on income tax indexing in the annual state tax instruction booklet.

Judge James Lynch ruled late Wednesday in favor of Commissioner of Revenue Clyde Allen in a suit filed by Richard A. Beens of St. Louis Park. Beens has asked for a restraining order to prevent publiciation of the tax information page on indexing, claiming it was not necessary for calculation of taxes owed.

Informational page prepared by Commissioner Allen was designed for taxpayers to understand their income tax savings in 1981 resulting from indexing tax law changes. The commissioner had argued that the instruction booklet regularly has contained tax information of a general nature

"The people of the state deserve to have the right to know how the tax laws passed by the Legislature affect the amount of taxes they pay" Quie said. "This ruling sustains that right."

Cattle And Hog Producers To Set Production

Continued high interest rates, large meat supplies and declining feed costs are setting the stage for 1982 red meat production. Cattle and hog producers are weighing these and other issues with their decisions on whether to expand or cut back on production in 1982.

Minnesota agricultural statistics service is gearing up to measure producers' hog and cattle inventories, and to find out if the state cutback in hogs and the expansion in the cattle will continue.

"Profitwise, hog producers have taken a real beating this year," says Carroll Rock, director of the service. "Hog prices have been way below the break-even cost for almost a year now." Minnesota farmers responded to this by cutting back on production.

With the high risks involved in farming, producers tend to rely less on luck and guesswork and more on good information sources to make their decisions. "Our own source of information is the farmer," says Rock, "and as far as we're concerned there is no better source. Better participation in these surveys is important because our reports go right back to producers to help put rumors to rest on supply and demand."

The service will release its hog report on December 22 and its cattle inventories report on January 29.

New Section Of I-94 Opens In Minneapolis

The 3.5-mile section of Interstate 94 from the Lowry Hill tunnel to Dowling Avenue North was opened November 4 by the Minnesota department of transportation (Mn-DOT), commissioner Richard P. Braun announced.

Braun said the newest section of I-94 will greatly reduce traffic congestion in north Minneapolis, provide direct access from I-94 to westbound US 12, and improve truck and commuter access to northside commercial areas and to downtown Minneapolis.

New section and the two-mile section from Dowling Avenue to Inter-state 94 in Brooklyn Center scheduled to be completed in the fall of 1983 will provide a direct freeway route through the western side of the Minneapolis-St. Paul Metropolitan Area, Braun said.

Route of the new freeway section, was chosen to minimize its effect on residence and businesses, Braun said, and runs for most of its length below street level to reduce noise and visual impact. Depressing the freeway also enables local streets to be carried over it, retaining local traffic patterns.

400 Attend Vets Program At Legion

Over 400 persons attended the Veteran's day program sponsored by Ecklund-Holmstrom Post 117 of The American Legion and auxiliary in Thief River Falls last Wednesday evening.

Guest speaker was Frank Momsen, immediate past national adjutant of the American Legion, from Cottage Grove.

Momsen, born in Garrett Park, MD, grew up and was educated at St. Paul Park. He attended Carleton college and the University of Minnesota.

For 23 years he was employed with the Greyhound Bus lines and then joined the state headquarters staff of the American Legion in 1959, becoming state adjutant in 1966. In January 1978, he moved to Indianapolis, In. to become the national adjutant, retiring from that office July 1 of this year.

Momsen served in the United State Navy during World War II and joined the American Legion at Tracy, MN in 1946. He has held offices and served many appointments at the post, district, department and national levels, having been national sergeant-at-arms from 1963 to 1964. He was recently appointed an advisor to the national convention commission.

Momsen and his wife Jo Ann, have four children and six grandchildren.

Program included social hour from 6 to 7 p.m., followed by the Pledge of Allegiance and invocation by Vernon Lee.

Master of ceremonies during the evening was Ellsworth Jorgenson. Following the banquet, a welcome was given by Lova Kraemer, auxiliary president and Orville Botner, post commander.

Entertainment was provided by Bob Reeve, department vice commander, with a piano solo by Nora Hushagen. Introductions were given by WW I veterans and their wives, and Jim Barry, Sons of the American Legion commander. Benediction was given by Vernon Lee. A dance followed the evening program.

GTA To Build New Facilities At Warren

Grain Terminal association (GTA) informed the Warren city council last week that it plans to install trackage in that community to accommodate 52-car unit trains which would have access to either the Soo Line or Burlington Northern railroad system.

Although not yet approved by the GTA board, according to an article in the Warren Sheaf, the plans are to add another elevator to match or exceed the size of the 200,000 bushel structure dedicated in July of 1979 at the southeast edge of the city. Expansion is projected in excess of $2 million. Plans are to acquire 14 acres of land and begin laying the track next spring.

The new elevator would be built east of the present structure with a double spur track laid between the two. This would give access to the Soo Line on the north and the Burlington Northern on the west. Warren is said to be one of the few points in the Red River valley where the two railroads cross.

The GTA elevator in Warren reportedly is approaching handling of three million bushels of grain this year. It reportedly now has space for 10 hopper cars on the Soo Line only. The new siding would be the responsibility of GTA and would cost from $500,000 to $1 million. Unit trains reduce the cost of grain shipment through lower frieght rates.

PROBABLY THE BEST product line from the standpoints of both appearance and performance in the history of Arctic Enterprises may never get beyond the design and prototype stage. Only possibility for production appears to be with the sale of the production rights to another manufacturer. Edgar Hetteen, founder of Arctic Enterprises (left), and Roger Skime, whose lifetime employment has been with the local snowmobile company, look over one of the models which would have been in the 1982 line. Skime, who has been involved in product development over the years, said he believes performance testing on the 1982 models was the best ever. The prototype sleds are housed in the fiberglas shop at the Arctic Enterprises plant here where they are showcased for prospective buyers of the snowmobile company. Creditors of Arctic Enterprises have voted to approve the sale of the snowmobile operations and the federal bankruptcy court has authorized the sale.

Arctic Demise Sad Time For Founder Of Company

by Marvin Lundin
Times Editor

Disappointment? Certainly. Frustration? A little. Sadness? A lot. Nostalgia? Almost overwhelming. But bitterness? Never!

These are the impressions one gets from conversation with Edgar Hetteen, founder and president of two major snowmobile companies, regarding the almost certainty that Arctic Enterprises has reached the end of its snowmobile production era. Unsecured creditors of the company voted recently to permit the sale of the snowmobile operations of the company.

Probably there is no one for whom snowmobiles and snowmobiling have been such a vital life part for the past quarter of a century. Certainly no one has devoted the time and effort to promote the sport and the product that Edgar has, and perhaps no one can feel as personally involved with the machine which became known to the world as the Arctic Cat.

"It seems such a horrendous waste," Hetteen said sadly. "Such a waste of talented people, good facilities, a super product line, 600,000 loyal owners out there and a couple thousand dealers eager to buy and sell and service. It's too bad that the banks couldn't see it that way."

Hit by two years of nearly snowless winters in succession — a weather phenomenon virtually unheard of across the upper United States — Arctic Enterprises was staggered by the one-two punch. Next came a flurry of high interest rates, rising gasoline prices, economic downturn and unemployment. The company was reeling. Then the banks which were necessary to capitalize the next year's production threw the knock-out punch by calling in their loans. All that was left was for the bankruptcy court to count the company out.

Hetteen is confident the company could have returned to profitability with some more money and some more time. He has no doubt about that at all.

"Every company that was producing snowmobiles had the same hurts as Arctic Enterprises," Edgar says about the snowless winters and the economic trends. "But Arctic was the only company where everything depended on the snowmobile. For some of the major companies the snowmobile was only a minor part of their operations. For Arctic, it was the operation."

In the early days, Edgar was the operation. He came to Thief River Falls from Roseau with a far-fetched idea and a need for $10,000 in operating capital. "I got my $10,000 and Thief River Falls got Arctic Enterprises," he said. "But in the beginning it was only a dream, an illusion. Now we have proven all the things we believed could happen; we have made them reality.

"I have a tendency to over-simplify. I don't know enough about details. But I do know that if you spend all your time thinking and worrying about all the things that could go wrong with something, you'll never start. Crisis in the early years? Every day was a crisis. But every time I went to L.B. (L.B. Hartz is credited by Edgar with being the early lifeblood of the company) with a problem, he refused to acknowledge it was a problem and we made it work."

Hetteen will never be critical of company management. If he has any disappointment beyond watching the company's snowmobile operations fold, it is that there may not have been any fighters who surfaced in the manner he would like to have seen. . . the old-time fighters who refused to accept defeat.

"I don't mean a lack of fighters within the company itself," Hetteen added. "I believe that Arctic management did all that was humanly possible within the constraints that were placed upon them by the financial firms and later the bankruptcy court. But it seems the community is lacking the scrappers like Bill LaFave and others who wouldn't allow — who simply wouldn't allow — a home-grown industry like Arctic Enterprises to go down the drain by default.

"Maybe there were ways that weren't explored enough," he said. "Maybe there weren't. But I'm not one who likes to see things die easy."

Some critics say the company strangled on its own overhead, that waste and inefficiency were rampant, that Arctic Enterprises self-destructed.

"If Arctic management from Lowell's time (Lowell Swenson purchased the COMPANY FOUNDER Edgar Hetteen, who came to Thief River Falls with a dream and a need for $10,000 in capital, is one who believes Arctic Enterprises could have recovered and survived with a little more time and money. "It was unfortunate that the financial world saw fit to stop the company," he said. What bothers him most about the snowmobile operation being put up for sale with authorization by the bankruptcy court is that no "old-time fighters" have emerged in the community. . . people who would refuse to let the local industry go by default. "In the early years every day was a crisis," he reminisced. "But we refused to acknowledge problems as being problems and we pushed ahead with support from some strong individuals in the community. Now nobody outside the company seems to be scrapping to keep Arctic alive, and that bothers me. . . it really does."

Total Of 89 Students Missing . . .

All Classes Operating In Schools Following Strike

All classes in all schools are operating in nearly normal fashion following resumption of classes Monday following the 22-day teachers strike in Thief River Falls. School administration reports activity generally running smoothly and a mostly positive attitude by students returning after a month of unscheduled vacation.

As expected, most of the scheduling problems are concentrated in the post high school area vocational-technical institute where individual programs have individual problems. Director Orley Gunderson is working with faculty and the student senate in efforts to reschedule within local and state requirements to provide as little inconvenience to the students as possible.

Enrollment at the AVTI has picked up from the opening day still indicates a significant reduction in enrollment from what had been scheduled prior to the strike. On Monday there were 462 of 584 students reporting for class — a reduction of 122 or about 21 per cent. On Tuesday there were 71 students missing from the 584 previously enrolled, including 52 not reporting and 19 officially dropped.

This morning 10 more students returned, making the total current enrollment 523 or a net loss to date of 61.

The AVTI was not the only school in the district to lose enrollment during the strike, although not all losses can be considered strike related. Families continue to leave the community when finding employment elsewhere and some of the student losses reflect that situation.

In the elementary schools, principals report losses of eight students at Northrop, seven at Washington, four at Knox and three each at Mark Twain and St. Hilaire for a net total of 25 students. A large percentage of those have transferred to local private schools, all of which have required students transferring in to complete the school year in those schools.

Franklin middle school had a net loss of four students but the loss is not necessarily strike related, according to Dr. Milton Hoff, principal. At Lincoln senior high school, enrollment is actually one student larger after the strike than it was before the walk-out, although there have been several transfers in and out during the strike period.

Thief River Falls board of education will meet Monday at 8 p.m. in the Lincoln high school library, at which time it is expected to officially adopt the 1981-82 and 1982-83 con-

St. Bernard's Paper Drive This Saturday

St. Bernard's school paper drive will be conducted this Saturday beginning at 10 a.m.

Those who have papers for the drive are asked to box and bundle them and place them on curbs. It has been requested that no plastic garbage bags be used.

For further information on the drive, or to make arrangements for leaving papers to be picked up, call Donna Olson at 681-7187.

Re' Generation Performs At LHS Tomorrow

Re'Generation, the Nash*ville-based singing group*, will perform at the Thief River Falls Lincoln high school auditorium tomorrow at 8 p.m. for members of the Thief River Falls concert association.

Group, comprised of 10 singers, has made over 5,000 live appearances since it was founded by Rev. Derric Johnson in 1970. Group has also recorded over 40 record albums and has earned a gold record. This year, Re'Generation will be celebrating its 12th year with a concert.

Group's presentation includes a blending of close harmony patterns, using familiar music, bright costumes and intricate choreography. Singers present Broadway, traditional, popular and patriotic music.

Johnson created the group through his concern over the direction many youth were headed at the peak of the anti-Vietnam demonstrations during the riots and general national unrest.

Re'Generation has appeared with performaners such as Glen Campbell, Paul Anka, Danny Thomas, Art Linkletter and Dr. Rober Schuller, among others. Group appeared in a Burl Iver television show last season and have another television special with him in preparation.

Art Adventure Leaders Meet At Library

Art Adventure leaders will meet 2:30 p.m. Monday, November 23 in the Library meeting room. The volunteer group makes presentations on art in area elementary schools.

Gretchen Beito stated that the group still needed volunteers to fill vacancies for grades two and four at Mark Twain Elementary School and grade three at Knox Elementary School, adding that they would like to extend services to St. Hilaire school.

Present Art Adventure volunteers include: At Northrop elementary: Ina Thorsgaard, grade 3; Melvine Dagg, grade 4; Barbara Jauquet, grade 5;

Washington elementary: Judy Dimich, grade 3; Mary Morken, grade 4; Sande Drevlow, grade 5;

Mark Twain elementary: Nancy Tofte, grade 3; Janice Upham, grade 5;

Knox elementary: Gretchen Beito, grade 4; Margaret Saetre, grade 5;

St. Bernard's elementary: Mark Evans.

Substitutes are Henrietta Ness and Kathy Winjum.

Charge Against Haller Dropped

Charge of possession of cocaine against Michael Haller of Thief River Falls has been dropped by the Pennington county attorney's office.

Minnesota crime lab report indicates that a substance seized during a search of Haller's residence and believed to be cocaine was actually a combination of benzocaine and procaine, neither of which is a controlled substance.

INGA GEVING, 1981 woman of the year, was honored last evening during a regular dinner meeting of the Thief River Falls chapter of the Business and Professional Women's club (BPW). Award if designed to "honor a business and professional woman who has distinguished herself in her career and community," according to the club. Serving on the committee making the selection of Woman of the Year were co-chairpersons Marilyn Winters (right), and Ellen Spray, who was unable to attend last evening's meeting. Pictured left is Anita Paulsen, president of the local BPW club.

Regional Group Opposes Waste Disposal Here

Northwest regional development commission has added its opposition to establishment of a hazardous waste disposal site in northwestern Minnesota. In a recent newsletter, the commission summarizes its findings in regard to the fact that four of 20 proposed candidate sites for hazardous waste disposal are located in economic development Region One.

Still listed among proposed sites are three square miles in sections 8, 9 and 16 of Caribou township in Kittson county; two square miles in sections 33 and 34 of East Park township; three square miles in sections 33, 34 and 35 in Espelie township; and four square miles in sections 19, 30 and 31 of Rollis township and section 24 of Whiteford township, all in Marshall county.

The NWRDC newsletter had the following to say about the commission's position on the proposed locations:

Main criteria applied to the sites in Region I is the fact that they are located primarily on public land. In addition to that criteria factor, the sites must comply with four basic factors. They must (1) have a proximity to nine-ton roads; (2) have certain favorable hydrogeologic characteristics; (3) have a low population density and avoid residential areas; and (4) avoid wetlands, shorelands and 100 year floodplains.

Northwest regional development commission members at their October 27 meeting discussed the individual areas and unanimously opposed all four in Region I because they are inappropriate due to the nature of the sites. The commission's reasoning in this matter follows.

Surface and Groundwater Hazard — All four sites have a well known history of flooding

County Fair Has Officer Changes

Six directors were reelected and new officers elected in two key positions when the Pennington county fair association held its annual meeting Monday evening at the Pennington county courthouse. Operations for 1981 were reviewed, showing total receipts of $44,260 and total expenditures of $44,836, reducing the cash balance of the association from $19,262 to $18,686.

Oliver (Skip) Swanson was elected to succeed Vernon Lee as chairman of the fair board in a reorganization following the annual meeting. Ellsworth Jorgenson was elected secretary to fill the vacancy created by Swanson's move to the chairmanship. Duane Olson was reelected vice president and Dick Anderson was reelected treasurer.

Reelected to directorships for three-year terms at the annual meeting were Mrs. Thornton (Mariann) Stark, Richard Jorde, Dick Anderson, Wilbur Hallstrom, Ellsworth Jorgenson and Mrs. Wayne (Donna) Harder.

Swanson, Jorgenson and Anderson were elected delegates to the Minnesota association of county fairs annual meeting to be conducted January 17-19 in the Twin Cities. Alternates authorized were Duane Olson, Vernon Lee, Terry Courneya and William Ulrich.

Discussion at the annual meeting indicated support for continuation of successful and popular programs at the annual fair in 1982 but encouraged a change in the expensive country-western program which has lost money as a final night finale for several years. Expected to be continued will be the demolition derby, mud wrestling, horse racing, talent show and senior citizen night.

Receipts for 1981 fair operation, according to Anderson's treasurer report, totaled $30,105 and included grandstand receipts, $11,495; auto parking, $701; space, booths and equipment rental,

Educators Ask High Priority For Funding

Federal and state budget cuts will lead to a national disaster unless higher education is treated as a top priority, a national organization of colleges and universities has warned.

A unanimous resolution passed by the National Association of State Universities and Land-Grant Colleges (NASULGC) called on President Reagan and Congress to "reaffirm higher education as a top national priority because of its vital contributions to our nation's securtiy and economy."

State financial problems and a trend away from federal support for higher education "will lead to a national disaster even more damaging than our unpreparedness in science, technology and education . . . at the time the Soviet Union launched its sputnik satellite in 1957," according to the resolution written by University of Minnesota President C. Peter Magrath.

"President Reagan's economic recovery programs, as well as his call for an increased defense effort, can only be fulfilled by maintaining healthy universities that will continue to teach the nation's youth and conduct research at a level of quality which will assure our national economic revitalization and defense preparedness," the resolution said.

Representatives from 140 colleges and universities attended the 95th annual NASULGC meeting in Washington. Total enrollment of member institutions last year surpassed 3.7 million.

Hagins Guests At Vandenberg AFB Dinner

A former Thief River Falls resident, Mrs. Lynn (Geving) Hagin, and her husband, Dr. E.J. Hagin, were guests at a recent private dinner hosted by Maj. Gen. Jack Watkins, at the officers' club at Vandenberg Air Force Base, CA, honoring Space Shuttle One pilot Robert L. Crippen and NASA astronaut Dr. Joe Allen.

Mrs. Hagin is the daughter of Mrs. Sadie Geving, Riverside Terrace apartments, Thief River Falls. Born in Goodridge, she attended Goodridge elementary school before moving with her family to Thief River Falls where she attended Knox elementary school and junior high school at Lincoln, then moved with her parents and brother Glen to Michigan. Hagin and her husband, currently reside in Santa Maria, CA.

Dr. Hagin is presently vice president and director of western operations for the ITT-Federal Electric corporation projects at Vandenberg air force base, (which also includes sites in Hawaii); jet propulsion lab in Pasadena, CA; rocket propulsion lab at Edwards air force base; system test facility at Fort Huachuca, AR; and the Missile Impact Predictor Upgrade project for the Ballistic Missile early warning system.

Vandenberg air force project is responsible for operation of radar, telemetry and optical systems for tracking missiles and spacecraft and for processing data both in real time and non-real time, according to information supplied by Mrs. Hagin.

On the space ship Columbia, the Vandenberg project provided data to Johnson Space Flight center in Houston, Tx., during orbital support, tracked the spacecraft during the landing phase and provided optical data to television viewers.

Federal Electric corporation air controllers vectored the chase plane pilots to intercept the Columbia to assist them during their landing at Edwards air force base in Lancaster, CA.

According to a recent story in the Mesa Missilier, a Lompoc, CA newspaper, it was Crippen and John W. Young who made history last April when they successfully piloted the space shuttle Columbia from liftoff at Cape Kennedy in Florida to a perfect landing at Edwards air force base 56 hours later.

Crippen has logged more than 4,275 hours flying time, which includes more than 4,090 hours in jet aircraft. He was a crew member on the successfull Skylab medical experiment altitude test, a 56-day simulation of the Skylab mission. He was also a member of the astronaut support crew for the Skylab 2, 3 and 4 missions.

Allen has logged more than 2,400 hours flying time in jet aircraft. He served as mission scientist while a member of the astronaut support crew for Apollo 15.

Everett and Arlette Kompelien, accompanied by Bella Kompelien and Erick Rensla, traveled to Mpls. and visited several days at the home of Pastor and Mrs. Art Rensla of Maple Plain.

All Classes Are Operating After Strike

tract with the Thief River Falls Education association. The contract was ratified by teacher vote Saturday evening.

The board is also expected to establish meet and confer schedule with the faculty to determine when the eight make-up days authorized in the strike settlement will be arranged in the school calendar.

In rescheduling at the AVTI, Gunderson said, attention is being given to requirements and situations in individual programs but efforts are being made to standardize as much as possible to minimize secretarial and custodial overtime. The AVTI lost 21 instructional days during the strike, one day less than the K-12 schools, because one non-instructional in-service day had been scheduled during the strike period. This leaves AVTI students with a net of 13 days of instruction not scheduled to be made up.

The AVTI normally operates on 60-day quarters, the director said, and the determination has been made that four days will be deducted from each of the fall and winter quarters and five days from the spring quarter. Any student who demands the additional 12 days may receive them by coming back for the start of the next class.

In programs such as cosmetology and aviation mechanics where outside agencies are involved in licensing or establishment of minimum instructional time requirements, special arrangements must be made. But those arrangements may not include extra instructional days for any instructor, Gunderson noted, or it could result in a grievance from other instructors in the system.

In cosmetology, which is a year-around program at the AVTI, students short of instructional hours necessary will be able to acquire them in the next class starting. In the aviation mechanics program, students not earning the required hours this spring will have to return in the fall to accumulate that instructional time.

Practical nursing poses another problem, Gunderson noted, because it involves the local hospital and its schedule, and because the LPN class composition includes a number of family people. Make-up of days when the hospital is geared down for the holidays and the students would be involved in family holiday activities may not be practical. Consideration is being given to alternatives in that program.

In the K-12 system the district reportedly lost two employees as a result of the strike. An electronics instructor, Daniel Vrudny, did not participate in the strike and simply chose to relocate. The newly hired school psychologist, John Nagle, also left the district and obtained other employment. Those resignations will also be acted on at Monday night's board meeting.

At the AVTI, replacements for Ray Olson in auto mechanics and Dave Lysaker in sales and marketing have not been hired pending final class enrollments and implementation of Gov. Al Quie's proposed cut-backs.

Curriculum juggling is going on at all the schools to compensate for the 14 lost days in instructional time which will not be made up in grades K-12.

Frank Hamerlinck, principal at Lincoln high school, said the first semester is being shortened while the second semester will actually be extended due to the inclusion of the bulk of the make-up days. Last Monday was the start of the second quarter and report cards for the first quarter will be issued next Wednesday.

Hamerlinck added that extra-curricular activities have been resumed. The fall play has been rescheduled to January, however, and the annual high school Christmas concert scheduled for December 6 and 7 is being moved back to a later date. Vocal music instructor David Morken is attempting to schedule the later date with clearance through the local ministerial association.

Social Security Men Here Tues.

Ted Hoversten and Neil Rowe, field representatives of the Grand Forks Social Security office will be at the Thief River Falls city auditorium Tuesday, from 9:30 a.m. to 2 p.m.

'Seven Sisters' Staged At MCC This Fri., Sat.

Marshall county central high school drama department will present "Seven Sisters," a Hungarian comedy adapted by Edith Ellis, this Friday and Saturday at 8 p.m. in the MCC high school gymnasium in Newfolden.

Comedy, set in Hungary, is the story of widow and her troubles in finding matrimonial "catches" for Katinka, Sari and Ella, the three oldest of her seven daughters.

Widow Gyurkovics is bound by custom to marry off her daughters in the order of their ages. A fourth daughter, pretty nineteen-year-old Mitzi, is expelled from school for running away to a masque ball and is sent home in disgrace. In order to give the older sisters a better chance to marry, her mother cuts Mitzi's age to 15. Mitzi tells Horkoy, the young lieutenant she meets at the ball, all about her situation. Horkoy promises that within a year he will see that her older sisters are married off. Mitzi then promises that his reward will be three kisses and they make the bargain.

Cast for "Seven Sisters" includes Rochelle Roseland, Mrs. Gyurkovics; Peggy Hanson, Katinka; Brenda Berggren, Sari; Peggy Bjorgaard, Ella; Dana Peterson, Mitzi; Jodi Foss, Terka; Jill Melvie, Liza; Kari Larson, Klara; Allen Lindemoen, Col. Radivany; Alan Melvie, Gida; Mark Knutson, Horkoy; Bill Johnson, Sandorffy; Bret Hanson, Ton Teleki; and Charley Riesen, Janko.

Other production crew include Bruce McKenzie, stage manager and Dawn Olson and LuJean Skadsem, lights. Mrs. Carol Peterson is director of the production with Miss Sarah Ackermann as technical director.

Admission for "Seven Sisters" will be $2 for adults and $1 for students, with tickets available at the door.

Minn. D-Day Asks Smokers To Kick Habit

Every year, the organizers of Minnesota D-Day invite smokers all across the state to put aside their smoking habits — at least for a day, if not for good. On November 19, they're going to do it again, and this year the state stop-smoking day will coincide with the American Cancer society's Great American Smokeout. ("Minnesota D-Day" was the forerunner of the national stop-smoking day.)

By now, just about everybody knows what cigarettes can do to you. Lung cancer is the leading cause of cancer deaths in men and the second leading cause in women. If no one smoked, the lung cancer death rate would drop by an estimated 80 per cent, according to the American Lung association of Minnesota.

Smokers are three times as likely to die of heart disease if they also have high blood pressure and high blood cholesterol levels, and are inactive or obese. Smoking is responsible for 70 to 80 per cent of all deaths from emphysema and chronic bronchitis. Smoking-related disease kills about a third of a million Americans every year.

Surveys show that the overwhelming majority of smokers want to quit. It's not a matter of "if", it's a matter of "when", the lung association notes.

This year — to help smokers make the leap from "if" to "when", Minnesota D-Day is offering a free packet of information on how to quit. It's called the "Help Yourself Kit," which includes self-help aids for people who want to quit on their own, as well as detailed information about more formal stop-smoking programs. There's also a self-test that tells people why they smoke, information about how smoking habits affect other people, and a pamphlet on what to expect after quitting.

For a free "Help Yourself Kit", call toll-free 1-800-652-9770 anytime through November 30.

Meteor Shower Visible Nights Through Friday

Meteor showers create a colorful sparkler show across the night sky in the third week of November. These "falling stars' are actually trails of light formed when very small particles streak into Earth's upper atmosphere and burn to cinders.

One meteor shower, the Leonids, visible Nov. 14 to 20 from 11 p.m. till dawn each day peaked Nov. 17. Up to 40 bluish-green meteors should fall each hour, their tails streaking across the sky for up to eight minutes. Occasionally a larger chunk of material might cause a "fireball," which burns farther down into the atmosphere.

Apparent center of this sky sparkler, the radiant, is in the area of constellation Leo, which looks like a large backward question mark low in the eastern sky. But the meteor shower only seems to come from the constellation since the two are actually many light-years apart.

Fastest of all meteor showers, the Leonids enter the atmosphere at about 80 miles per second. They are debris from the tail of the comet Temple-Tuttle, which makes an elliptical orbit around the sun every 33 years. The comet will return again in 1998, but its "trash path" creates the Leonids every year, said Barbara Ganzel, department of astronomy.

Starwatchers may also see five planets this month. Venus shines brilliantly beginning at sunset in the south-southwest sky. Morning is prime time to watch for Mercury, Jupiter, Saturn and Mars a little south of due east. Mars is highest in the sky and a bit reddish, Jupiter is brightest and Mercury is closest to the horizon.

MURRAY ANDERSON, Thief River Falls (right) and Curt Nelson, Underwood, MN recently participated in the annual toothpick engineering contest in the engineering department of Moorhead state university. Eighty-five participants from MSU were involved in the construction and design of 47 structures. Overall winner, Allen Schmitt, Watkins, MN, had a top load and new school record of 331.0 pounds. Rules state that a structure is to be built using a maximum of 500 round wooden toothpicks, an undetermined amount of glue, a lot of engineering ingenuity, and must be designed and constructed with a clear span of 20 inches. Anderson's load was 21.0 pounds.

American Education Week Nov. 15-21

Gov. Albert H. Quie has proclaimed November 15-21 as American education week (AEW) in Minnesota, saying, "There is a widespread need for better communication and more cooperative relationships between professional educators and the community."

"American Education and You: Partners In Our Children's Future" is the national theme for the 61st annual observance of American education week. National AEW sponsors are the National Education association (NEA), American Legion, National Congress of Parents and Teachers (the PTA), U.S. department of education and the national school boards association

Sponsors in Minnesota are the parallel state organizations: the Minnesota Education association (MEA), Minnesota department of the American Legion, Minnesota Congress of Parents, Teachers and Students, state department of education and the Minnesota school boards association (MSBA).

"Teachers," Quie says, "mold the minds of future citizens, and the schools represent the best efforts of the community, the state, and the nation to improve the quality of life.

"Teachers are dedicated to preparing students for a better life, and defining the schools' goals and evaluating their results are the responsibilities of an informed and involved citizenry," he added.

Arctic Demise Sad Time For Its Founder

company from Hetteen) had been as conservative as I am, it would never have progressed to the extent that it did," Hetteen believes. "The company took an aggressive and progressive attitude and it established itself with that type of people and that kind of thinking.

"The industry became very competitive. It was no longer possible for the jack of all trades like myself to conduct the affairs. Experts were needed in sales and in marketing and engineering and many other areas. It was necessary to gather and analyze data to remain competitive and to handle all the planning and ordering and supervision to keep a large work force operating. Consequently, Arctic perhaps became staffed with what ultimately turned out to be too many people.

Perhaps we lost sight of what it was like to fight and kick and scratch for every nickel. It was easy to think that the company was going to grow forever. The company had the talent and the know how to stay in the same field but widen the horizons. Maybe the work should have been done earlier, but we were headed in that direction. Who could see," he mused, "that the world was coming to an end?"

Edgar has changed his goals abruptly in the past few months. His position with the company ended in late June of this year. Now he and Myron Halyorson are buying and selling cars, tractors and other items at a sales lot a stone's throw from Hetteen's home on highway 32, south of Thief River Falls.

"I have to have an income," he said. "If I had my druthers, I'd much rather go back to the world I loved. I think all of us would rather go back and make snowmobiles. I've met and been associated with the nicest people in the whole damn world, and I mean that.

"It's a difficult world to leave. I would have to say I've been highly successful in meeting goals I've set for myself. Arctic has been extremely good to me. During the past few years I was able to travel extensively for the company. I know 200 to 300 dealers as friends in Europe and from Point Barrow, Alaska all across the United States. If you were to ask me what I would want to do if I could do anything I like, I couldn't tell you. I've done it all, and when I liked it I went back and did it over again."

There must be a feeling of accomplishment along with the grief in having watched an industry grow and mature and affect so many lives, and Edgar admits to having some pride in the role he played in that.

"Dedication of a lot of people was involved over the years in the development of that little black snowmobile," Hetteen says. "All of the people from the company offices through the people on the assembly line put a little of themselves into Arctic Cat. Many put everything they had into it; their first marriage was to the snowmobile. And that dedication showed.

"There is only one way to cope with the feelings that result from looking back at what was and comtemplating what might have been. That is to blank it out of your mind and become extremely busy with something else." That is what he is doing now in his used car business — an activity calculated to allow him to stay in the community where he much prefers to live.

Fortunes were made in the Arctic Enterprises era, some of them by people not at all associated with the company. "I had the same opportunity as anybody else," Hetteen said. "Work was an obsession with me and I was most concerned with welding a little machine together. But I can truthfully say that I never sold stock in the company that the buyer didn't get value from."

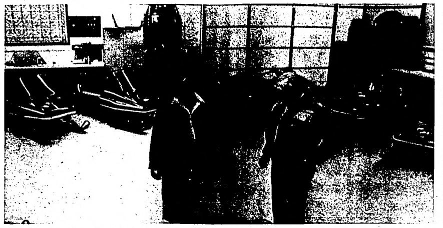
Hetteen takes pride in the advancements made in the relatively short life of the company. Included are the design of extremely warm and lightweight clothing items which created a whole new industry, the introduction of light-weight engines, engineering features which improved appearance, performance and creature comforts of the snowmobile.

In 1960, when the smowmobile industry was in its infancy, Hetteen and other pioneers made an 1,100 mile trip in the wilds of Alaska with the heavy, welded steel, cumbersome snowmobiles of the day. They bundled in clothing which added greatly to their body weight as temperatures fell to 35 below zero and high winds blew.

"I'd like to make that trip again today with modern machines and modern clothing," Hetteen said. "It would be a snap."

Saturday Edgar was honored in Minneapolis during the Snow World show when a number of his friends and acquaintances from the industry gathered for a dinner and a "roast" in recognition of the "father of snowmobiling, although he no longer has a company to support his promotional activities.

"I don't think Arctic Cat will die as a machine," Hetteen speculated. "I refuse to believe that a fine old name like Arctic Cat won't be resurrected by someone — even a competitor. Unfortunately, it would seem, it won't do any good for Thief River Falls. And that's a tragedy."



SLEEK NEW MOEDLS of Arctic Cat snowmobiles would have provided countless hours of enjoyment for buyers had Arctic Enterprises been able to attract the capital to produce them. The 1982 product line was believed to be the best ever, but the decision by Arctic's creditors to call in their loans and to not finance new production resulted in only prototypes being built. The company snowmobile operation is now for sale, and if the model line is ever to be produced, it will most likely be built elsewhere. Arctic founder and its first president, Edgar Hetteen (right) is shown with Roger Skime and some of the new machines which were scheduled for 1982. Skime, who went to work for Hetteen in the very early years of the company, rose through the ranks to become a vice president. His position with the company will terminate at the end of this year. "I don't even know how to look for a job," he commented to Hetteen. "This is the only job I've ever had."

Gerald Ford To Speak At Quie Banquet

Former President Gerald R. Ford will be the guest speaker at a holiday gala dinner for Governor Al Quie on Friday, December 11 at the Minneapolis auditorium.

Ford, U.S. President from 1974 to 1977, will join Gov. Quie and his wife and many other officials for "A Fridy Nite with Jerry Ford and the Quies." Among special guests are Minnesota's two United States Senators and the state's five Republican Congressmen, including Rep. Arlan Stangeland of Minnesota's seventh district.

Individulas wanting to attend the dinner may send a check for tickets ($50 per person) and write to "A Friday Nite with Jerry Ford and the Quies," 555 Wabasha, 1 E. St. Paul, MN 55102.

For further information call Dr. Arnold Berg at 681-1770.

Region Group Opposes Waste Disposal Site

and connect with the Red river drainage system. The lands are within the Red lake and Roseau river watershed districts. Consequently, the very real potential for water contamination includes Minnesota, North Dakota along the Red river, and Canada. The Lake Bronson aquafier is located within nine miles of the Kittson county site and could be endangered.

The commission also questioned the possibility of international problems stemming from the threat to Canadian waters. The WMB staff stated that they are using information developed by the department of housing and urban development (HUD) in determining the location of floodplain avoidance areas. However, HUD information is mapped for municipal insurance purpose and is not developed for rural areas.

Transportation Hazard — The roads in Region I that serve the sites are under developed. In the case of three sites roads are gravel or dirt. Only one site is served by a bituminous road, but it is not of nine-ton capacity. The route followed by the main stream of hazardous waste traffic would be entering the Region from the Twin Cities. The routes that it would be necessary for these trucks to follow under present road capacity conditions would be limited. In addition, it would be necessary for traffic to flow through numerous communities in Region I.

The principal routes into the region are highways 2, 59 and 75. The communities obviously affected by the hazardous waste traffic would be Lengby, Fosston, McIntosh, Erskine, Mentor, Crookston, Warren, Thief River Falls, Holt, Middle River, Argyle, Stephen, Donaldson, Kennedy, Hallock, Lancaster, Winger, Red Lake Falls, St. Hilaire, Perley, Hendrum, Halstad, Shelly, Nielsville, Climax, Eldred and Goodridge. The transportation of hazardous substances is the segment of the chain in the disposal process from the generating facility to the final storage site which is subject to the greatest number of unknown and circumstantial elements.

Distance Hazard — The major sources of generation of hazardous waste in Minnesota are Minneapolis-St. Paul, Duluth, Rochester, St. Cloud and Mankato. The NWRDC seriously questions the economic wisdom of placing a land disposal facility in northwestern Minnesota. A centrally located site would be a more cost efficient choice placing the least burden on the state's already underfunded highway system. From businesses' point of view, the expense of processing waste, along with the transportation costs, may make it financially unreasonable for them to use the facility. This would have a very adverse economic affect on businesses generating waste and would drive more jobs out of the state. It could also serve to encourage the continued illegal disposal of waste.

The commission felt that the increased risks involved in the long distance hauling of hazardous wastes could not be justified even if the sites in northwestern Minnesota met all other criteria. In fact, they are convinced that such long distance hauling could be immeasurable expensive to the residents of Minnesota.

Readers who have any questions, would like to receive additional information or have information or comments they feel would be useful to the NWRDC in this matter, contact Pat Scharmer Rood at 281-1396.

Teachers At Bemidji Agree To Settlement

Bemidji school teachers went back to school Monday following settlement of a two-year contract Sunday evening. The agreement was reached after a 23-hour mediation session with the final proposal made by mediator Richard Springer, who was also involved in the Thief River Falls mediation sessions.

Teachers at Bemidji had been on strike for eight school days and will make up four of the eight, according to the agreement. According to the Bemidji Pioneer report, teachers were not given the result of the vote on the contract but were told that the contract had been ratified by the general membership.

Max Boyer, president of the Bemidji Education association, said the package the teachers voted on was "in excess of $5,300 per teacher in new money over two years." Ralph Smith, chief negotiator for the Bemidji school board, said the settlement would give each Bemidji teacher an average of $4,723 in new money over the next two years.

Smith said that Boyer's $5,300 figure included making up all eight school days missed because of the strike and assumed that all teachers are eligible for the maximum amount of all the benefits, including insurance and extra-curricular pay.

A beginning teacher in Bemidji will earn $12,527 this year and $14,680 in 1982-83 at the BA level. At the top of the salary schedule, the maximum a teacher would earn is $26,527 this year and $29,750 next year.

Total settlement is expected to cost the district about $1,556,851 over the two-year contract period and includes $6,125 in new money for extra-curricular pay, $18,788 in additional insurance money, $614,032 total increase in salaries for the first year of the contract and $917,906 in new money for the second year of the contract.

Sen. Boschwitz Will Appoint Senate Page

Sen. Rudy Boschwitz will appoint one Minnesota high school student to serve as a senate page at the United States Capitol in Washington, D.C. from January to June of 1982.

"This is a marvelous opportunity for a young person to experience first hand the political system by which our country is governed," Boschwitz said. "Only 30 young people are chosen for the senate page program each session."

Although the work is varied, pages serve principally as messengers carrying material between the senate chamber, senator's offices and committees. Morning duties include filing the "Congressional Record" and calendar of business for each day on the senator's desks, along with bills, resolutions, documents and reports that may be before the senate.

Prior to reporting to the senate cloakroom in the morning, each page attends school from 6:15 to 9:45 a.m. The Capitol page school offers a four-year high school program which includes required courses and electives. The page school operates in conjunction with the board of education of the District of Columbia and college entrance requirements may be met through the academic courses offered.

Pages must be at least 14 years of age and no older than 17 years of age. Completion of eighth grade is required. Senate page salary is $9,090 gross per year and pages are only paid while the Senate is in session.

Male pages are required to wear a navy blue suit (long trousers), white shirt, black tie, black shoes and black socks. Female pages are required to wear navy blue pants suits, white long-sleeve blouses and black shoes.

No dormitory facilities are provided for pages and most live in nearby rooming houses. Each page is responsible for conduct at all times that reflects favorably upon the senate and his or her sponsoring senator.

An application form may be obtained from Senator Rudy Boschwitz, Senate Page Selection Committee, 210 Bremer Building, St. Paul, MN 55101, 612-221-0904 or 1-800-642-9771. The deadline for applications is December 11.

Moose Is Grad From Deep Sea Diving School

Don R. Moose, son of Glen and Veronica Moose, Viking, graduated November 20, as a professional deep sea diver from Divers Institute of Technology, Inc., Seattle, WA, having completed six months of intensive training.

Moose made qualification dives to 200 feet using air and helium-oxygen mixtures. He learned to complete various underwater tasks including burning and welding while using conventional hard and lightweight gear, Scuba, Hookah, Desco, and mixed-gas units.

In addition to underwater tasks, he also studied diving physics, physiology, underwater photography, use of explosives, gas mixing and analyzing, manifold operations, underwater television and sound devices, saturation theory and techniques, recompression chamber operations, and diving safety and standards.

Thanksgiving Proclamation Made By Quie

"As Americans and as Minnesotans, we can be thankful for many blessings," Gov. Albert H. Quie stated in a recent proclamation of Thanksgiving Day.

"Thanksgiving Day was first celebrated in this land not during a time of great prosperity and strength, but in times of adversity. The colonies of Massachusetts and Virginia had few material possessions to help them face the dangers of the wilderness. They had no certainty that the harvest for which they gave thanks would be sufficient to carry them through a long winter. Yet they gave thanks to God for what they had and for the hope that was in them," he added. He continued:

"The ensuing years have multiplied our nation's blessings. We have been blessed with abundance beyond the imagining of those who offered thanks during that chilling winter more than three and one-half centuries ago."

"Today we have good reasons for gratitude. We have liberty in a world where repression is common; we have peace in a world at war; we have a plentiful harvest in a world where hunger and despair still stalk much of mankind."

"Minnesota is blessed with warm and giving people, tremendous beauty, and abundant natural resources. We are a state which has accomplished much, and we are still filled with great promise."

"May we be thankful for all we have received; trusting not in our wealth and comforts, but in the strength of our purpose and our hope that all states and nations may be similarly blessed with liberty, abundance and a life of peace."

REPORT

There are 52 organizations in Thief River Falls, either to serve you or for you to participate in.

The following is a list of each organization with the president's or chairman's address, phone number and the organization's normal meeting date. Jerry Sandstrom, chamber executive vice president, encourages an officer to contact the chamber when there is a change of officers or normal meeting date, time and location for any organization. Sandstrom also encourages organizations to contact the chamber of commerce any time a special event, meeting or convention is scheduled.

By registering your event with the chamber of commerce and checking with the chamber's activity calendar for other events that may be scheduled on that day, week or month, you can help avoid potential conflicts and make your event that much more successful.

Smokers Urged To Kick Habit D-Day, Nov. 19

Smokers all across the state are being encouraged to "lick" their smoking habit November 19, on Minnesota D-Day.

D-Day organizers plan to give free suckers to the first 1,000 non-smokers, old or new, who visit exhibits at Town Square Park, St. Paul, or on the Nicollet Mall, Minneapolis. Volunteers will be at both sites between 11 a.m. and 2 p.m., on D-Day.

In addition to free suckers, there will be a variety of other activities designed to "amuse, entertain, and provide important information about smoking and health." Smokers will be invited to sign up for a free "help yourself" packet of materials on how to stop smoking.

Stop-smoking packet can also be ordered by calling toll-free "stop-smoking hotline" at 1-800-652-9770, according to D-Day Chairman Buddy Ferguson. The hotline has been in operation since October 15, and requests for the packet have been running "far ahead of expectations," pects to get "close to 5,000" packet orders by D-Day.

Ferguson warned that, because of number of requests, "there may be some delay" in mailing out the packets. Orders for them will be filled "as quickly as possible," he said. He also advised hotline callers "not to be discouraged" if they have trouble getting through on D-Day, because the line will be in operation through November 30.

D-Day is an annual event in which smokers throughout Minnesota are encouraged to quit smoking for a day, if not permanently. This will be the eighth time D-Day has been observed statewide in Minnesota, and the Great American Smokeout, a national version of the event begun four years ago by the American Cancer Society. It has been estimated that well over 50,000 smokers have quit on D-Day since 1974. About 15 per cent of them have indicated in follow-up surveys that they were able to quit permanently.

D-Day is sponsored locally be a coalition of private groups and public agencies, including the American Cancer Society, Minnesota division; the American Lung Association of Minnesota, the state Departments of Education and Health, and the Minnesota Medical Association.

Letters to the Editor

Dear Editor:

In spite of all that has been said about cigarette smoking and its harmful effects on people, especially young people, most people do not know that our local School District 564, Thief River Falls, is involved in the business of selling cigarettes, primarily to younger people.

The school district has a contract with a vender to provide food service and vending service at the AVTI. Included in the contract are the specifications for one vending machine to sell cigarettes in the student commons. The terms of the contract were formulated by the school district and then the contract was put out on bids. This means that the school district fully intended to sell cigarettes at the AVTI before the contract was awarded. It was the district's intention to sell cigarettes, not the students' idea later.

Thursday, November 19, 1981 is Minnesota D-Day, a day sponsored by the American Lung association and the American Cancer society - Minnesota division. The main purpose of Minnesota D-Day is to get smokers to stop smoking for at least one whole day in hopes that they might quit for good.

This would be a good time for School District 564 to quit, too; to quit the tobacco business. According to the contract, the school district gets a paltry eight per cent commission on the gross sales from the machine or about seven cents per pack sold. For that insignificant amount, the school district works at cross-purposes with its very teachers and administration who are dedicated to student education, health and well-being.

Mixed signals such as this from the school district only serve to cause more confusion among our young people. Who can say that smoking is unhealthful when the school sells, or allows cigarettes to be sold, on school property?

I do not think the school should give status to smoking by selling cigarettes on school property. If you agree with me, let the members of the school board know; they claim to have the interest of our young people at heart. Let's see if they really do.

Sincerely yours,
Charles R. Samuelson

The Traditional Healer - Not A 'Witch Doctor'

by Thomas Harney
Smithsonian news service

The Kenyan medical practitioner examining the wailing baby did not wear a white jacket or a stethoscope. His garments were cowhide and he wore a necklace with an engraved bone talisman to exorcise the evil spirits.

His consulting room in the thatched hut, bore no resemblance to a hospital examining room. It was outfitted simply with a cooking hearth, a bed, a few chairs and a table with an array of tins, boxes, bottles and bowls containing herbs.

Not that it mattered to the baby's desperate mother. When her child's chronic, debilitating colic failed to respond to treatment at a nearby hospital, she turned to a local herbalist, one of thousands of healers in Africa whose knowledge — passed down orally from generation to generation — of the medicinal properties of local plants equips them to handle medical problems ranging from the simple to the sophisticated.

The herbalist questioned the mother closely about the baby's symptoms, went out into the field behind his house and returned a few minutes later with the leaves and roots of a plant.

Placing the plant in a bowl of water, he added some herbal powder and liquid from his arsenal of pharmaceuticals and proceeded to boil up a tea. When the concoction was ready, he recited an incantation to drive off the evil spirits afflicting his patient, then fed the tea to the baby.

Within a few minutes, the baby stopped crying. After continued doses of the tea over the next several days, the cure was complete.

This story is told by Dr. Edward S. Ayensu, a Smithsonian plant biologist who was born and raised in Ghana. In a lifetime of travel across Africa and other continents, Ayensu has seen many such "cures." In West Africa, he once witnessed the rigorous and lengthy religious indoctrination of a tribal healer, which included taking the student into a forest to learn to identify the names, medicinal uses and locations of various trees and shrubs.

"Unfortunately, because many of the traditional healers in Africa, Asia, the Caribbean and other parts of the world claim to employ magic and spiritual forces to aid their herbal cures," Ayensu says, "they have been branded 'witch doctors' and 'voodoo priests' by Westerners and the value of their medicinal remedies questioned, if not dismissed out of hand."

But this attitude is changing. Fostered by such scientists as Ayensu and Dr. Richard E. Schultes, director of Harvard university's botonical museum, interest in herbal medicine is undergoing a renaissance. Scientists, drug companies and public health experts at the World Health organization are studying the herbalists' methods and analyzing their herbal teas. And the organization has recently initiated a program to promote and encourage traditional medicine throughout the developing world.

This interest is well founded; Western doctors are coming to realize they have much to learn from reputable herbalists. Studies show that a surprising number of the prescription drugs sold every year in the United States are derived from plants which have long been included in the pharmacopoeia of traditional healers. Two examples:

+ Reserpine, a drug used in the treatment of high blood pressure, is extracted from Rauwolfia serpentina, a plant native to Southeast Asia. Hindu healers have used this plant for thousands of years to treat nervous disorders.

+ Diosgenin, a drug used as the foundation material in the manufacture of birth control pills, comes from the Mexican yam, a climbing vine that Mexican Indians have used as a general cure-all.

Sadly, the folk pharmacopoeias possessed by many traditional societies are in danger of being lost forever, Schultes and Ayensu warn, with potentially grave consequences. Approximately 20,000 flowering plant species are threatened with extinction because of the cutting and burning of tropical forests and development; as a result, many useful drugs may never be discovered.

At the same time, native peoples also are being irrevocably changed through contact with modern civilization, setting in motion a vicious circle: With the arrival of aspirin pills and other Western medicines, herbal remedies often are abandoned and forgotten. In their place, increasingly costly drugs are imported, straining the already fragile economies of these developing nations.

As director of the Smithsonian's office of biological conservation, located at the national museum of natural history, and a member of the national academy of sciences board on science and technology for international development, Ayensu has been at the forefront of efforts to prevent what he terms a "tragedy."

Botanical exploration, he says, should be accelerated in the tropics, where the world's most diverse plant communities live. Ayensu himself has been working to identify and publish data on medicinal plants in a systematic manner, information that will be useful to the scientific community and the general public.

Three years ago, he published the first authoritative sourcebook on "Medicinal Plants of West Africa," listing the botanical characteristics, names and traditional medicinal uses of 187 species of West African plants. This month, a sequel, "Medicinal Plants of the West Indies," was published. (Both volumes are published by Reference Publications Inc., of Algonac, Mich.)

Ayensu's own interest in medicinal plants dates back 20 years to field research trips to Antigua and Dominica. There, he was surprised to learn that many familiar West African medicinal plants had been introduced to the Caribbean by slaves as early as the 1400s. In Dominica, for example, he found the well-known castor oil plant (Ricinus communis), a native of Africa, whose leaves and roots are used in that nation to treat stomach disorders — and in fact could have been the herb that cured the baby's colic.

Ayensu believes that the escalating costs of important Western drugs make it imperative for the Caribbean nations and other developing regions of the world to achieve "drug independence."

This cannot happen however unless they become familiar with medically valuable plants growing right in their own backyards. A dramatic example is the case of the Madagascar periwinkle (Catharanthus roseus), which flourishes in certain areas of Antigua — and is all but ignored. Long used by traditional healers on other Caribbean islands to treat bronchitis and other ailments, this plant is now the basis of a leading drug for the treatment of leukemia. One pound of the alkaloid vincristine extracted from periwinkles currently sells for $100,000 on the world market.

In the People's Republic of China, he continues, where herbal medicine is employed side-by-side with modern medicine as part of a comprehensive health care program in cities and the countryside, literally all available soil suitable for the growth of the periwinkle plant is under cultivation.

"It seems obvious," Ayensu says, "that the complexion of the world's health situation requires that other developing nations follow China's lead. It is just not possible for us to place Western health systems in developing countries before the year 2000. The fact is, healers will be the only health care available in this period in a large part of the developing rural world.

"Plants with valuable medicinal properties must be identified and cultivated in these countries. Healers should be officially encouraged, so that as much professionalism as possible is injected into their work. We must acknowledge the empirical value of the traditional healer."

Mrs. Alfred Solem, Rt. 2,
City, 681-3897

A Monday coffee guest at the Lloyd Larson home a week ago was Erwin Muzzy of Thief River Falls.

Enjoying a meeting of the West Steiner Homemaker club at the home of Nina Halvorson Tuesday afternoon November 10, were Florence Moyer and Dianne Kleinwachter, Kent and Hope, all of Strandquist, Katherine Higgen of Thief River Falls, Evonne Moe, Harryet Larson, Shirley Yonke, Olive Rondorf, Lisa Halvorson, Clara Jaennette, Rebecca Solem, Violet Muzzy, Irene Rausch, Marzella Jorde, and Darlene Muzzy. Nina presented a lesson on "sprouts" and Marzella and Olive showed how to make decorative pillows. Plans were made for the Christmas party at the home of Darlene Muzzy Sunday afternoon, December 13. Later in the afternoon Mrs. Gerry Nelson of Holt was a caller at the Halvorson home and a visitor at the Lloyd Larson home in the evening.

Weekend overnight guests at the Alfred Solem home were Mr. and Mrs. Stuart Solem, Darryl and Graig of Grand Rapids who returned home Sunday evening, and Rev. Kermit Solem and sons An and Arlen of Rothsay, who returned home Saturday evening. Others in the deer hunting party for the two days were Mr. and Mrs. Roger Solem, Mike Solem, Peter Solem, Chris Steidl and Raymond Rausch. They shot three deer.

Sunday dinner guests at the Larry Gustafson home were Mr. and Mrs. Dennis Pederson, Steven, Shawna, and Shelli of Thief River Falls and Mrs. Margaret Pederson. In the afternoon Mrs. Walter Pederson of Oklee and Mr. and Mrs. Kent Hudson were visitors at Gustafsons and in the evening Mr. and Mrs. Wallace Hanson of Viking were guests.

Mr. and Mrs. Alvin Halvorson, accompanied by their daughter, Mrs. Mike Hart of Manvel, drove to Langdon Friday evening and were house guests until Monday morning at the home of ElRoy and Gloria Enervold. Saturday Mr. and Mrs. Halvorson, Mrs. Hart and Mrs. Enervold spent at Souris, North Dakota visiting at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Forrest Nordmark.

Noon luncheon guests Tuesday at the home of Mrs. Amanda Russell in Thief River Falls were Mrs. Grace Meyer, who is moving from Crescent City, California, to Buffalo, New York, Mrs. Clara Jaennette, Mrs. Alfred Solem, and Mrs. Anne Muzzy.

Mr. and Mrs. Chester Yonke, Jason, Scott, and Steven helped their mother and grandmother, Mrs. Leonard Yonke celebrate her birthday at her home Tuesday evening.

Mrs. Lloyd Larson accompanied by Mrs. Clifford Johnson, made a trip to Oklee Thursday. They were also brief callers at the Orlando Solberg home at Plummer. Later Mrs. Larson was a visitor at the Johnson home.

Mr. and Mrs. Dale Grondahl, Kim, Kathy, and Loren of Buffalo brought Mrs. Helen Russell home Friday night after she had spent a month with them. While there, the Grondahls and Mrs. Russell made a trip to Sioux City, Iowa to visit Debbie Grondahl. Saturday evening the Russells had a get-together at the Mrs. Helen Russell home in honor of Grace Meyer, who is a house guest there until Wednesday. Present besides the honor guest and the hostess, were Mrs. Amanda Russell, Mr. and Mrs. Jack Chrzanowski and Kristin all of Thief River Falls, Mr. and Mrs. Henry Panek and Susan of Mavie, and Mr. and Mrs. Bruce Russell, Cindi and Brenda.

Mr. and Mrs. Leonard Yonke and David were Sunday evening visitors at the home of her mother, Mrs. Naomi Althoff, in the Riverside Terrace.

Mr. and Mrs. Alfred Solem were Monday coffee guests at the Stanley Wick home in Grand Forks last week. Later in the afternoon they were luncheon guests at the Egbert Malberg home at Viking.

Mr. and Mrs. Alvin Halvorson and Mrs. Lloyd Larson were among those who enjoyed the Holt Keenagers' Thanksgiving dinner at the Village Hall Friday.

Harold Halvorson and Lester Halvorson enjoyed the lutefisk and meatball dinner Saturday evening, November 14, at the Grygla Community Center.

Mrs. Angie Larson and Mrs. Clifford Jorde were Wednesday afternoon coffee guests at the Edwin Olson home in Thief River Falls. Thursday Mrs. Larson, Mrs. Jorde, and Mrs. Harold Halvorson spent in Grand Forks. Thy were callers at the home of Donn and Sharon St. Germain.

Every Wage Earner
Can
SAVE TAX DOLLARS
Anyone now covered by an employer sponsored pension plan can save thousands of tax dollars while saving for your retirement years!

IMPORTANT NEW TAX LAWS AFFECT EVERY WAGE EARNER
As of January 1, 1982, every wage earner, even though they are active participants in an employer sponsored pension plan, can make tax-sheltered contributions to an Individual Retirement Account (I.R.A.). Your I.R.A. contributions will accumulate tax-deferred with compounded interest until retirement.
The following are some of the important points concerning the new pension regulations.

WHAT IS AN INDIVIDUAL RETIREMENT ACCOUNT (I.R.A.)?
An I.R.A. is a personal tax sheltered retirement savings plan. Millions of American workers are using I.R.A.'s to both reduce their taxes and build a more secure future for themselves and their families.

WHO NEEDS AN I.R.A.?
Just about everyone who wants to retire comfortably. To maintain your current life style it is estimated that you will need between 70% - 80% of your pre-retirement income when you retire. Since Social Security will contribute only about 30% and a pension plan approximately 30% more — an I.R.A. can make the difference for a comfortable, independent retirement.

ARE THERE DIFFERENT TYPES OF I.R.A.'s?
Yes. Contributory I.R.A.'s are for wage earning individuals. Spousal I.R.A.'s are for married couples where only one spouse is employed.

WHAT ARE THE MAXIMUM CONTRIBUTIONS?
Maximum contribution for Contributory I.R.A. is $2,000
Maximum contribution for Spousal I.R.A. is $2,250
(or 100% of compensation, whichever is less)

WHAT IS THE DEADLINE FOR OPENING OR CONTRIBUTING TO AN I.R.A.?
Contributions to an Individual Retirement Account (I.R.A.) may be made no later than the due date (April 15th, including extensions) of the taxpayer's return for the tax year.

CAN BOTH MEMBERS OF A MARRIED COUPLE HAVE SEPARATE I.R.A.'s?
Yes. Each one may contribute up to $2,000.

HOW DOES I.R.A. SAVE ME TAX DOLLARS?
For Federal income tax purposes, contributions to your I.R.A. are fully deductible from gross income, up to the maximum allowed by law. You may make this deduction even though you do not itemize other deductions.
During the years the plan is in force, earned interest is also added to your I.R.A. These earnings are also tax-deferred. Compounding of the interest over the years generates more dollars to build a retirement fund significantly larger than would be possible with taxed dollars. In addition, you realize further benefit because your I.R.A. contribution puts you in a lower tax bracket.

WHEN ARE TAXES PAID?
No Federal income tax is paid on either savings or interest until distribution begins. At that time most individuals are in a lower tax bracket, with perhaps more exemptions available so that the tax savings can be considerable.

WHEN ARE THE BENEFITS PAID?
Anytime after 59½, but payments must start before 70½... or upon permanent disability or upon death (to named beneficiaries).
You may elect to receive your retirement benefits in a lump sum or if you wish on a regular scheduled basis.

HOW ARE BENEFITS TAXED?
Benefits are taxed as ordinary income as they are received in a taxable year. If you choose to receive your benefits in a lump sum, you may be able to use the five-year income averaging provisions available to all taxpayers.

HOW IS AN I.R.A. STARTED?
Opening an I.R.A. is as easy as opening a Savings Account.

NCC Basketball Success

Defending champion Fergus Falls can be expected to carry the role of the favorite in the 1981-82 Minnesota junior college athletic association (MJCAA) Northwest Division basketball race. The Spartans have won or shared the division title for five straight years, winning it outright in 1980-81 after first place ties with Northland the two pervious years.

However, Northland has a history of Northwest Division success, too. The Northmen don't dominate the Northwest Division like they did in the mid-1970's, but they've been in the thick of every divisional race since the 1973-74 season.

Northland has been especially tough at home, owning a remarkable 32-2 home court record vs. Northwest Division-counting opponents over the past eight year. The Northmen own winning records over Northwest Division rivals Brainerd and the University of Minnesota-Crookston (UMC), and have an edge on Northeast Division foes Mesabi, Hibbing, Itasca and Rainy River. Those games count in Northland's divisional records. Only Vermilion (10-12) of the Northeast and Fergus Falls (11-12) of the Northeast and Fergus Falls (11-22) have an advantage over Northland in the won-lost department.

Since fielding its first basketball team for the 1965-66 season, Northland has won 192 games and lost 166, including a 97-86 Northwest Division mark. But during the past nine years the Northmen have won 144 and lost 49 for a .746 winning percentage under Chet Engelman, who is beginning his 12th year with the Northmen.

Northland opens its 1981-82 season Saturday, December 5, with its annual alumni game. The schedule, which does not include a holiday tournament here for the first time since 1974-75, will not feature a divisional game for the Northmen until a weekend set Friday, January 15, vs. Hibbing and Saturday, January 16, vs. Itasca. First Northwest Division opponent for Northland will be a Wednesday, January 27, trip to Fergus Falls. Six of the final eight regular season Northland games will be played against Northwest Division rivals Fergus Falls, Brainerd and the University of Minnesota-Crookston.

Miscellaneous

+ Bemidji State University hockey team opened its 1981-82 NCHA season with a 5-2, 4-2 weekend sweep of Wisconsin-River Falls and a pair of Lincoln high school graduates figured in the Beavers' scoring. Freshman defenseman Dave Geatz scored late in the third period of Friday's game and sophomore forward Bob Fitzgerald scored a pair of power play goals in Saturday's victory.

+ A change has been announced for the Minnesota state high school hockey tournament format starting in 1983, it was announced by the 16-member executive board of the Minnesota State High School League (MSHSL). In 1983, one consolation game and one semifinal game will be played during the Friday afternoon session, while one consolation and the other semifinal game will be played that evening. In the past, consolation games have both been played in the afternoon and the championship round semifinal games have been played at night. The rationale for the change was to alleviate some of the ticket pressure for the Friday night semifinal games, especially among the schools involved. The board also considered some changes in the boys basketball tournament where interest has lessened following the introduction of a two-class system a decade ago. Rex Haugen of Pelican Rapids, president of the Minnesota high school basketball association, told the MSHSL executive board he felt "it was a great mistake to go to a two-class tournament in 1971."

+ Chuck Rusch of Goodhue and Steve Gregersen of Starbuck have been elected co-captains of the 1981-82 Fergus Falls community college basketball team. The Spartans, who edged Northland for the Northwest Division title a year ago, will open its season Dec. 4, when it hosts Inver Hills.

+ Betsie Hallstrom, a freshman from Thief River Falls, is a member of the St. Cloud State University women's swimming team. Competing for the Huskies in last weekend's four-team Wisconsin-LaCrosse invitational, Hallstrom was one of the top SCSU performers, according to coach Carol Anklan, with a third place 26.55 in the 50 freestyle. She also placed eighth in the 50 breaststroke, eighth in the 100 freestyle and 11th in the 50 backstroke. Next action for St. Cloud is an enviable trip to Honolulu, Hawaii for meets against the University of Hawaii-Wahine Nov. 28 and Dec. 2.

+ When Argyle hosts Starbuck Saturday at 1 p.m. in the championship game of the Minnesota State High School League (MSHSL) nine-man state football playoffs, it'll mean the Eagles, along with the rest of the state finalists, will have doubled the length of the strike-shortened Lincoln high school football season. The Prowlers completed their six-game 1981 season way back on Oct. 9. Successful playoff teams like Argyle are getting in six more weeks of football and playing either a 12 or 13-game schedule.

Youth Hockey To Benefit From Section 8 Jamboree

Some 250 youngsters involved in the Thief River Falls youth hockey program will be the beneficiaries as the Thief River Falls amateur hockey association (TRFAHA) stages the expanded preseason Section 8 high school hockey jamboree for the second straight year Saturday, November 28.

For the first time, all 17 Section 8 hockey teams will be involved in the jamboree, playing two 11-minute periods of hockey in the day-long format in the Thief River Falls sports arena that will draw all 17 Section 8 teams together for the only time during the 1981-82 season.

Last year 14 of the 17 Section 8 teams participated in the jamboree here, with Brainerd, Little Falls and Crosby-Ironton declining invitations. This year, however, the Warriors, who finished atop the regular season Section 8 point standings last winter, the Flyers and the Rangers will join the others — Detroit Lakes, Thief River Falls, Hallock, Fergus Falls, East Grand Forks, Lake of the Woods, Bemidji, Red Lake Falls, Moorhead, Alexandria, Crookston, Indus, Roseau and Warroad. The Thief River Falls junior varsity will be matched aginst Little Falls, the newest Section 8 member, to complete an even 18-team field.

Jamboree matches will start at 12 noon with Detroit Lakes meeting Hallock, followed by Fergus Falls, vs. Lake of the Woods, Little Falls vs. Thief River Falls junior varsity, Red Lake Falls vs. Crosby-Ironton, Alexandria vs. Indus, Crookston vs. Moorhead, Roseau vs. Brainerd, Warroad vs. Bemidji and East Grand Forks vs. Thief River Falls.

The pairings were drawn by the coaches.

Proceeds from the Section 8 jamboree will go to the Thief River Falls amateur hockey association to be used either to cover part of the cost of the remodeling and installation of an artificial ice plant in the old arena or to fund the youth hockey program itself.

Volunteer workers will handle all jamboree functions — from ticket sellers to game officials.

Admission prices will be $2 for adults and $1 for students.

A special $25 TRFAHA donation ticket is also currently available to the public. The ticket, which will admit an entire family to the jamboree, is designed especially for businesses and individuals who would like to contribute to the TRFAHA program. It's an opportunity for persons who have had an interest in the program — perhaps with a player on one of the various teams ranging from the 5-6-year-old Tiny Mites to high-school age Bantams — to assist Thief River Falls hockey if they have been unable to do so in another area like coaching or volunteer help.

The TRFAHA donation tickets are available at Dwight's Hartz Market, Larson Music Co., TG Sporting Goods and Dallmann Athletic.

Regular season Section 8 play will start the week after the jamboree.

KICKING OFF the 1981-82 hockey season, John Seaverson (left) and Dwight Tangquist of the Thief River Falls amateur hockey association (TRFAHA) display the special $25 TRFAHA donation ticket that will serve as a family pass to the preseason Section 8 high school hockey tournament scheduled to be held Saturday, November 28, in the Thief River Falls sports arena. The event will bring all 17 Section 8 teams together for the only time all year, offering fans a unique opportunity to preview the upcoming Section 8 hockey race. Proceeds from the event will go to the Thief River Falls youth hockey program.

Sports Boosters Club To Handle Lincoln Hockey Season Tickets

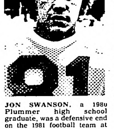
Thief River Falls Sports Boosters club will once again handle Lincoln high school hockey season ticket sales this year, beginning Thursday it was announced today by club officials.

Club members will contact last year's season ticket holders by telephone Thursday beginning at 8 p.m. and ask them if they want to renew their tickets.

Prospective new season ticket buyers should contact Al Christofferson of the Sports Boosters club, telephone 681-3373.

The ten-team season tickets will be priced at $20 for a single pass and $35 for two tickets.

The 1981-82 Lincoln home schedule in the sports arena will include games Sat., Dec. 5 — Crookston; Fri., Dec. 18 — Fargo South; Tues., Dec. 22 — Moorhead; Tues., Jan 5 — East Grand Forks; Tues., Jan. 12 — Grand Forks Central; Tues., Jan. 19 — Warroad; Sat., Jan. 23 — Bemidji; Sat., Feb. 6 — Roseau; Tues., Feb. 9 — Hallock; and Fri., Feb. 19 — Fergus Falls.



JON SWANSON, a 1980 Plummer high school graduate, was a defensive end on the 1981 football team at Northwestern college in Roseville. The Eagles were conference champions for the sixth time in eight years this fall.

Weather Stops Curling Club Season Opener

Warm weather experienced through most of the fall has delayed the start of the 1981-82 curling season in Thief River Falls, officials reported this week.

A "learn to curl week" scheduled this week at the Thief River Curling Club has been postponed until weather conditions make it feasible to lay ice. A notice will appear in The Times when the ice is ready and the season opens.

NCC Players Are All-State

Three Northland community college football players were named to the 1981 Minnesota junior college athletic association (MJCAA) Northern Division all-state team, it was announced by Northland head coach John Helley Tuesday, and three Northmen received MJCAA Northern Division all-state honoarable mention status.

Northland all-staters include Ken Demarais, a 6-0, 240-pound freshman offensive guard from Fisher; Mark Stock, a 5-9, 180-pound sophomore defensive nose guard from Mahnomen; and Mike Busse, a 5-11, 192-pound sophomore defensive end from Mahnomen.

Honorable mention honors went to Dave Kays, a 6-3, 205-pound freshman center from Thief River Falls; Jeff Westberg, a 5-11, 165-pound sophomore punter from Warren; and Busse, who complemented his all-state status on defense with an honorable mention listing as an offensive back.

In addition to earning a spot on the MJCAA Northern Division all-state team, Stock was also named to the five-state area Region 13 all-region team covering Minnesota, North Dakota, South Dakota, Wisconsin and northern Michigan. He is a candidate for national junior college athletic association (NJCAA) All-American honors.

MSHSL Names Sites For State Tournaments

Board of directors of the Minnesota State High School League, at their Nov. 5 meeting, approved site contracts for five high school state tournaments for a three-year period beginning in the 1982-83 school year with the St. Paul Civic Center and Met Center in Bloomington.

State tournaments in wrestling, hockey and boys basketball will be held in 1983, 1984 and 1985 at the St. Paul Civic Center arena and state tournaments in volleyball and girls basketball will be conducted at the Met Center in Bloomington effective next school year for a three-year duration.

"We are extremely pleased that these two fine facilities will continue to be the sites for these state tournaments," said Murrae Freng, executive director of the Minnesota State High School Leaue. "The people of St. Paul and Bloomington have been very supportive of the events in the past. We have appreciated the contributions people of these two cities have made in helping make the state tournaments a memorable experience for the young people of our state."

St. Paul Civic Center has hosted the state wrestling tournament since 1975 and will host this school year's event March 4-6. Civic Center has been the site of the state boys basketball tournament since 1974 and will be host to the 1982 event March 25-27. State hockey tournament has been at the Civic Center since 1976. Dates for the state hockey tournament to be held in the Civic Center in 1982 are March 11-13.

Met Center, meanwhile, has been the site of the state volleyball tournament and the state girls basketball tournament since 1976. This year's state volleyball tournament is scheduled for the Met Center November 20-21 and the Met Center will be host to the 1982 state girls basketball tournament March 18-20.

Northmen Must Rebuild During 1981-82 Season

An eternal optimist, Northland community college basketball coach Chet Engelman isn't letting a small matter of height — or rather lack of it — get in the way of predicting another successful season for the Northmen in 1981-82.

The ten-man Northland roster has three players at 6-3, but that's it for height for the Northmen, who will have a decided disadvantage in that area against Northwest Division foes Fergus Falls and Brainerd.

"We will be as small as we've ever been," admitted Engelman. "We'll be the smallest team in the division."

However, the Northmen will have speed and quickness to combat the height problem, and Engelman says he's looking forward to a good season.

"We're going to win a lot more than we lose, and I don't plan to lose many at all," he said. "We hope to represent Northland in the fashion it has become accustomed to. We don't plan to let tradition slow down."

The Northmen were 19-7 a year ago and a runner-up to Fergus Falls in the Northwest Division. They placed fourth in the 1981 Minnesota junior college athletic association (MJCAA) state tournament.

But only one player returns from that squad — sophomore guard Kyle Hams of Thief River Falls. Hams, a former all-stater with the Prowlers, will serve as co-captain this winter, along with 6-3 freshman Matt Fontz of Canton, Ohio.

Engelman said he was pleased with the players' vote for captains. "They are our two best players — our two leaders," he said.

As the lone veteran, Hams, who averaged 6.3 points and led the team in assists last year, will be called upon to direct things. "Kyle's going to do a great job for us," predicted Engelman, "and we're going to have some other kids who will play well for us, too."

Rest of the squad members include Ken Crouch, a sophomore from Inkster, Mich., who has played football for the Northmen the past two years but is out for basketball for the first time, along with freshmen Derek Stokes, Canton, Ohio; Kevin Schoenborn, Mahnomen; Lee Tradewell, Erskine; Duncan Gregory, East Chicago, Ind.; Mark Simon, Post Falls, Idaho; Hal Swanson, Thief River Falls; and Thaddous Forman, Oak Park, Mich.

"We're small and we're little," confessed Engelman, "but we have good speed and pretty fair quickness. I'm an eternal optimist. We have good kids, and we can do anything we want to do. We'll get some rebounds; we have some people who can jump well. If we don't get hurt we can get some things done this year."

Biggest gap to fill is the absence of Terry Harris, who was the nation's No. 1 scorer last year with a 28.6 scoring average. He finished his two years of basketball at Northland as the school leader with 1,440 points in 51 games, a 28.2 two-year scoring average. He was an all-state and all-region selection for the Northmen, who are also missing last year's sophomores Tony Smith (14 points per game), Lyndell Knight, Dave Spilde, Marc Erby and Joe Kraska, along with last year's freshmen Jeff Nolan (16.4 points per game) and Bob Dostal. That group led the nation is serving in 1980-81, averaging 95.5 points per game.

Despite his optimism, Engelman acknowledged that defending Northwest Division champion Fergus Falls is the preseason division favorite.

DNR NEWS

Fred Hammer, director of the DNR's enforcement division, reminded trappers and hunters that each lynx, bobcat, fisher and otter must be taken to a conservation officer (CO) for registration before the pelt is sold — but in no event more than 48 hours after the season closes.

The animal must be presented to the CO by the person who took it.

"One new regulation this year requires that each pelt shall be removed from the carcass and the carcass shall be surrendered to the conservation officer," said Hammer. "Each fisher shall be skinned so that one front foot remains intact and attached to the pelt.

"We will no longer use the cardboard registration tags on pelts but will attach only one tag — a metal locking seal which will serve as both a state tag and a federal export tag where applicable.

"This will help DNR biologists obtain the carcasses they need for research as well as make enforcement efforts easier," he noted.

It also will be easier for hunters and trappers to get their pelts registered this year.

Furbearers may be registered with any conservation officer.

Minnesota's firearms safety training program has been given an "Award of Merit" for its excellence by the Natural Rifle Association and the International association of fish and wildlife agencies.

The program is administed by the enforcement division of the Department of Natural Resources. State conservation officers supervise the teaching of the program by citizen volunteer instructors.

DNR enforcement director Fred Hammer said 25,000 youth were given firearms safety instruction during 1981. He said the Minnesota program is considered a leader in the field and has been used as a model by other states when establishing their own programs.

NORTHLAND COMMUNITY COLLEGE basketball coach Chet Engelman is flanked by players who were selected Tuesday to serve as Northmen co-captains during the 1981-82 season: Kyle Hams (left), a sophomore from Thief River Falls, and Matt Fontz, a freshman from Canton, Ohio. The Northmen open their basketball season Saturday, December 5, vs. an alumni team.

1981-82 Winter Sports Season Starts Dec. 1st

Tuesday, December 1, will mark the official beginning of a busy 1981-82 winter sports season for varsity athletic teams at Lincoln high school and Northland community college.

Between December 1, 1981, and March 1, 1982, the Prowlers, Northmen and Northwomen will compete in 138 games, meets, matches, tournaments or invitations during the course of regular season competition.

That doesn't include post-season tournament play, which will feature both the Section 8 high school hockey tournament and the MJCAA community college state hockey tournament in the Thief River Falls sports arena.

A master schedule for all 1981-82 regular season Lincoln (LHS) and Northland (NCC) varsity teams is published here for your convenience. It's suggested you clip and save the schedule for reference throughout the upcoming 1981-82 season.

FWS Prepares New Regional Resource Plan

North Central Region of the U.S. Fish and Wildlife Service (FWS) of the Department of the Interior is initiating efforts to develop a regional resource plan for fish and wildlife management by the service. North Central Region encompasses the states of Minnesota, Wisconsin, Michigan, Iowa, Missouri, Illinois, Indiana and Ohio. The service will encourage and provide opportunities for public participation and interagency coordination during the planning process.

Regional resource plans are being prepared by each of the seven Fish and Wildlife Service regions throughout the nation. The plans will serve as a critical link between broad national fish and wildlife objectives and field operations, such as national wildlife refuges, national fish hatcheries and various federal wildlife assistance programs. The final plan is scheduled to be complete by March 31, 1983.

During the planning process, fish and wildlife species of management concern will be identified. These will be species of particular interest or concern to the Fish and Wildlife Service because of special legal, political, public or biological factors. They will be the "primary," but certainly not the only, species on which the Fish and Wildlife Service will focus management attention and effort. Verifiable objectives will then be set for those species, problems which may impede accomplishing the objectives will be identified, alternative strategies will be developed to resolve these problems, and a list of specific operational activities will be developed to implement the strategies. The result will provide an analytical base for making decisions regarding fish and wildlife management by the service and will be a means to communicate decisions once they are made. The regional resource plan will also facilitate the exchange of information within the service and with other agencies and interested publics.

Regional resource plan will be developed bsed upon anticipated circumstances and events for at least five years ahead. The objectives in the plan will be reviewed annually and revised, as needed. Operational plans will be updated to reflect changes in circumstances and events.

Minnesota Outdoors

by Stu and Dee Mann

Bass Contest

Every year at this time, prizes are awarded in the Minnesota Outdoors bass fishing contest. This was generally conducted by Stu Mann, who wrote mainly of Minnesota fishing success and various fishing contests. Many communities have assisted our columns.

St. Paul Pioneer Press and Dispatch newspapers have contributed their contest winner's names annually, resulting from their world's largest fishing contest. Grand Rapids Herald, Willmar Central Tribune, Elmer's Sportsmen's Center of Baudette, Fuller's Tackle of Park Rapids and Paul's Landing of Minnetonka also reported their communities fishing reports. Others reporting fishing news were Del Pope, Waterville; Tim's Sport Shop, Forest Lake; Don Wendt, Rapid's Tackle, Grand Rapids; Roy's Bait, Excelsior; Bob Ward, Tower; Wolden's, Blackduck; Marv Koep, Nisswa; Kelly Cirks, Nevis; and Dick Bach, Wabasha. Reports also came weekly from numerous Minnesota newspapers who provided names including photos. We also reported these successes to the television and radio stations.

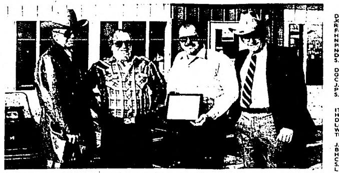
Stu maintained that when a ball game was played, the papers and stations always mentioned who got the hit, who batted and who won the game and why. He said, it was only fair to the fish, to know who and what it was, that killed him. To Stu Mann, the tackle was the name of the game as well as the fish who died by it. Every golfer remembers the hole and the stroke that won him his game. So does the fisherman who proudly displays his fish along with the tackle which he boasts made his catch possible.

It will take a while to compile the winners and send them their prizes for the Minnesota Outdoors bass contest and the Minnesota Outdoors liars contest.

Zion Members' Volleyball Fri.

Members of Zion Lutheran church in Thief River Falls will be playing volleyball this Friday from 7 to 8:30 p.m. at Franklin middle school. Players will return to the church for refreshments following the game.

Parish fellowship will provide coffee and soft drinks, and members are to bring their favorite bars or cookies.



FIRST DOLLAR of clear profit was presented to Vern and Randy Adamson, new owners of RV Sports, Inc. (formerly The Getaway), by Chamber Ambassadors Dennis Bondy and Bill Duckworth. The business will continue to sell and service recreational vehicles and accessories including boats and snowmobiles.

Oldest known living thing on earth, according to the National Wildlife Federation, is a bristlecone pine tree in the White Mountains of east-central California. Scientists have determined that this tree is 4,800 years old.

DNR Official Being Honored

Merlyn Wesloh, administrator of the 21 county Northwest Region for the Department of Natural Resources, has been given the Bemidji Jaycees "Outstanding Boss Award." Wesloh was cited for the skill and dedication he has shown in administering the 26,000 square mile area, his ability to deal with controversial issues, his involvement in community affairs and the respect he has engendered in the 250 DNR employees that he supervises.

Voyageur Trails Recognition Banquet Set

Annual Voyageur Trails district, Boy Scouts of America (BSA) adult leaders recognition banquet will be conducted Saturday (November 21) from 7 to 9:30 p.m. at the University of Minnesota in Crookston (UMC). A social gathering will be conducted at 7 p.m. followed by the evening meal and program.

Stan Sahlstrom, provost at UMC, will give the main address. Various awards and certificates will be presented to volunteer scout leaders for their contribution to local and district Cub scout, Boy scout and Explorer programs. All volunteer leaders, friends and the general public are invited to attend this event.

General chairman for the event is Henry Gredvig, Crookston. Tickets may be obtained at the door of the food service building at UMC. Price for the dinner and program is $7.

Voyageur Trails district, part of the Northern Lights council, BSA, is comprised of communities in Roseau, Kittson, Marshall, Pennington, Red Lake, Polk, Norman and Mahnomen counties.

Northern Lights council is able to provide the scouting program to local communities through the efforts of United Ways and sustaining membership enrollment campaigns.

Small Business Assistance Is Area Project

Governor's council on rural development recently announced the selection of Region I as one of three pilot areas around the state to host a small business assistance project. Thr project will be conducted by the Northwest regional development commission and is intended to provide technical services and information to small businesses in northwestern Minnesota.

Goal of the project is to enhance the profitability and survivability of small business ventures, in order to preserve and expand the jobs that are critical to area communities.

The project's services are available to existing small businesses and to individuals considering entry into business. Services to small businesses will include both direct forms of assistance from commission staff and indirect forms of assistance through referrals to individuals and organizations providing specialized counseling or training.

Areas in which the project can assist small businesses include advertising, marketing, merchandising, development planning, equity procurement, government purchasing, bookkeeping and basic accounting, financial reporting, cash flow management, purchasing, general management, personnel management and training, and accounts receivable and collections.

The project is geared to using existing resources and volunteers from the area business community to the maximum possible in providing training, counseling and other services. It is expected that the project will be operating by December 1. Anyone interested in further information should contact Wayne Faust at the commission's office (281-1396).

Merickel New Fieldman For District I-R

Tommy Merickel of Wadena has been named the new 7th District field director for the Independent-Republicans of Minnesota, according to chairman Dennis Schurman of Detroit Lakes and chairwoman Mary Ellen Quincer of Wadena.

A 1978 graduate of St. John's university, Merickel worked for the Pillsbury company prior to serving as the campaign manager for the Don Anderson state senate committee in 1980. Merickel is replacing George Halvorson of Menagha, who resigned after four years to devote full time to his teaching position.

Contract Let For Culverts Near Warroad

Midwest Contracting, Inc., Marshall, has been awarded a $173,720 contract for precast concrete box culverts to be installed on county state-aid highway (CSAH) 12 at the Warroad river, seven miles southwest of Warroad.

To begin within eight calendar days after date of notice of contract approval, work is to be completed within 60 working days.

4-H News

Sanders

Sanders 4-H club met November 13 at the Sanders Town Hall. The meeting was called to order by vice president Doretta Mosloff. Jenny Lane and Ronnie Koop led the pledges. Roll call was taken by Tracy Lord. There were 15 members, 7 adults and 2 visitors present. Secretary's report and treasurer's report were read and approved.

Old business: Doretta and Dawn Mosloff talked about Jr. Leaders Retreat at Crookston. Jean Helle gave a project talk on foods. Next meeting will be December 11 at the Sanders Town Hall.

New Business: Plans were made for Christmas Parents Appreciation supper — committees were formed and the date was set for December 11. Plans were also made for Christmas caroling. Michelle Lord made motion to adjourn, Kerry Helle seconded the motion and meeting adjourned.

Doretta Mosloff had a birthday — We had two films, one on wild heritage and one on earth bread. Lunch followed.

Silverton

Silverton 4-H club met November 12 at the City Auditorium — club exchange with Happy Acres. Jerry Bjerke and Collette Thune were president. Secretary's were Cindy R. and Gretchen M.

Old Business: Craft fair was discussed.

New Business: Christmas party, decided to have gift exchange — price around $1.00.

Gretchen M. and Collette T. gave demonstrations on how to make egg rolls.

Troy Carlson gave a demonstration on how to make a terrarium.

Program was given by Happy Acres 4-H club.

Lunch was served by D. Rupprecht, Sparby and Sorters.

Wheat Growers State Meet Today, Thurs.

Minnesota association of wheat growers is conducting its sixth annual meeting and state convention today and tomorrow at the International Hawaiian Inn in Moorhead, according to Fred Kreps, president of the wheat growers organization.

First day will be the business session, where wheat growers will discuss topics of importance to the organization and the wheat economy, ranging from association matters to national agricultural and trade policies.

Speakers for the first day's program will include Dr. Richard Sauer, director of the Minnesota experiment stations; William Archer, director of Field Underwriting services for the federal crop insurance corporation; Dr. Rollin Dennistoun, deputy commissioner for the Minnesota department of agriculture and Carl Schwensen, executive vice president of the national association of Wheat Growers.

According to Kreps, the first day's program will also include discussion and adoption of resolutions to guide wheat growers' activities for the 1982 year, review of proposed by-law changes to expand regional representation on the grower board, and the election of officers.

Second day of the convention will be the general information session, Kreps stated. Program will open with an address by Gov. Al Quie.

Speaker the second day include Dennis Steadman, director of agricultural economics for Chase econometrics; Don Loeslie, Warren, secretary-treasurer of the national association of wheat growers; Pat Kluempke, regional manager for Louis Dreyfus grain company; and Jimmy D. Murphy, deputy assistant administrator for International Statistics for the USDA's foreign agricultural service.

Program will conclude with presentations from Jimmy D. Minyard, assistant administrator for foreign market development for the USDA; Alan Johnson, director of International Marketing for the Port of Duluth; and William Sun, director, coordination council for North American affairs for the Republic of China. A noon luncheon is also planned with speaker Bill Hulse, acting president and chairman of the board of U.S. wheat associates.

After the second day's session, a banquet will close the convention. Guest speaker for the banquet will be Bob Lurtsema, former lineman for the Minnesota Vikings and presently the publisher of the Viking Report from Minneapolis. Larry Ristvedt, farm director of KFGO radio in Fargo will be the master of ceremonies for the banquet. Banquet will be followed by a dance.

Kreps noted that throughout the convention there will be several exhibits sponsored by different organizations involved in Minnesota agriculture. Convention is open to all wheat growers in Minnesota — members and non-members alike.

Aging Program Takes Grant Proposals

Northwest regional development commission's aging program is currently accepting grant proposals for the establishment of social services for elderly persons. Grant proposals will be accepted from units of government or non-profit corporations.

The categories are: Access (transportation and information and referral); In-Home Services (chore-home maintenance and home-health aide); and Senior Citizens Centers.

Grants are for continuation and new or expanded services. Applications will be accepted until Dec. 1, 1981; the initial review will be Dec. 9, 1981; and the final review will be conducted by the commission Jan. 26, 1982. Funding will begin April 1, 1982. Contact Michael Moore, 281-1396 for further information.

Kjellberg Is 'Soldier Of The Quarter'

A Northern Minnesota soldier has been honored as "Soldier of the Quarter," runner-up of the 37th transportation group in Germany.

Spec. 4 David Kjellberg was named the elite soldier of the 2,500-man army group after being named "top soldier" of his company and battalion. Army places emphasis on neat appearance and military bearing, job knowledge, knowledge of current events and general military information.

Kjellberg joined the army July 23, 1979, for a three-year tour. He received his basic combat training and advanced transportation school at Fort Leonard Wood, Mo. Before going to Germany, he had a tour of duty at Fort Ord, CA, and served as a recruiter aide for SSG Charles Stroup at Thief River Falls.

A 1979 graduate of Gonvick high school, Kjellberg is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Gerald Kjellberg, Gonvick. He also attended school for one year in Newfolden.

IT'S A FACT — Failure to analyze cash flow is a big reason why credit lines sometimes go sour. Figuring out accurate cash flow is a big job . . . but Production Credit Association people can help. Cash flow can mean having funds in-hand when the money does the most good . . . like taking advantage of discounts. Good cash flow planning can help establish the best credit repayment schedule, too. Wild Rice Story Has Much History

by Jeanne Hanson
U of M News Service

This is a story about wild rice. The components are Indian battles, gourmet glamour, marketing prospects and the kind of scientific ingenuity that turned a wild grass into a domestic crop.

Ojibway, Fox, Winnebago and Dakota Indian tribes fought bloody battles for the best lake and river stands of wild rice hundreds of years ago. Rice and the waterfowl it attracted helped woodland Indians through northern winters for thousands of years. They ate it with game, in soup, with blueberries and with maple sugar.

Later, when settlers began crossing the plains states, Indians started selling their crop. In 1805 explorer Zebulon Pike was quoted the price of $1.50 per bushel of the wild grain.

But now the once-essential staple of Indian survival is a high-priced delicacy selling for $10 to $15 per pound on the east and west coasts and $5 a pound in Minnesota, the world's top producer of wild rice, according to Ervin Oelke, professor of agronomy and plant genetics at the University of Minnesota (U.M.).

High prices and the food's popularity send some aficionados to public waters in northern and northeastern Minnesota to gather their own choice grain. A ricing license from the state Department of Natural Resources permits individuals to use the Indian method — canoe and flail — for a fee.

Wild rice business in Minnesota has become a sort of tug-of-war between Indians — who still flail the grain in canoes in lake and river fields — and commercial growers whose man-made paddies are harvested by combines.

Reservation Indians harvest much of the state's wildest wild rice from lakes and rivers on or near the reservations. Their crops yield 300,000 to 1 million pounds of processed rice a year.

Seventy commercial growers in Minnesota — each with 100 to 1,300 acres — produce slightly more than 2 million pounds of the grain a year. They apply agricultural technology to rid their diked paddies of wild rice worms, leaf and heat smut, cattails and blackbirds.

Bulk product is sold by commercial growers to large food companies such as Uncle Ben's, Pillsbury and General Foods and to specialty stores. Some wild rice is even sold by mail through advertisements in Wall Street Journal and other publications, according to John Burch, director of United Wild Rice, a growers' cooperative in Grand Rapids.

Most Indian harvesters, however, depend mainly on tourists passing near their reservations and a few large buyers to market their crops.

Commercial growers' harvests keep 20 processing plants working, supply large food companies reliably and have helped dissuade the few speculators who occasionally kept prices artifically high in the past, Oelke said.

Price and the label "organic" have kept Indians and commercial growers at odds, Oelke said. Growers want U.M. technology in breeding and agriculture — along with their own improvements in growing — to boost production, lower prices and widen market for wild rice. Indians, however, want their natural food market niche protected. And, since they harvest by hand, they don't place a high priority on expanded market.

Latest skirmish was found in Minnesota Legislature which has required that, beginning next year, wild rice be labeled as "lake- and river-grown" or "paddy-grown," Oelke said.

Wild rice has changed drastically from its days as an Indian staple to its commercial birth as the world's first domesticated grain in hundreds of years. The key is breeding, most of which has taken place at U.M. College of Agriculture since 1973, Oelke said.

As a wild crop, the rice seeds itself by dropping its ripening kernels into the water gradually. This process, called shattering, is not suitable for a domestic crop. To be harvested conveniently, crop rice must be able to hold its grain for a combine to pass through the stand, dropping only enough seed to reproduce itself the next year.

Transition from wild grass to domestic crop was accomplished for wheat about 3,000 years ago through selective breeding, but was managed just nine years ago for wild rice by Robert Stucker, professor of agronomy and plant genetics at U.M.

Work began when a few naturally non-shattering plants were found in a field. In the university breeding program, researchers collected and tested seed from more than 120 natural stands. The result was Netum, a non-shattering variety of wild rice developed by Stucker.

Though its yields could be higher, it has an advantage. Netum, which means "first" in Ojibway, can be harvested several days earlier than other types of wild rice, reducing chances of crop destruction from frost or storms, Stucker said.

Much remains to be done in wild rice research. Oelke is looking for the best planting and harvest times, plant populations per acre, weed control, water management, seed storage and is studying the nature of the grain itself. He is finding that wild rice is a truly northern plant, its yield higher when it grows in the long sunlit days and cooler temperatures of northern summers.

Another type of less technical, but more appetizing research is also under way. Wild Rice Research and Promotion Council is developing recipes for uses of the nutlike wild grain. They include wild rice bread, instant wild rice and breakfast cereals. They've even came up with slogans to promote the grain: "It's not mushy like oatmeal" and "Do it on a bed of wild rice."

HANDCRAFTS and quilted items were examined by this group of visitors to the fifth annual Holiday Fair conducted in the Thief River Falls city auditorium Saturday. Display was one of over 40 exhibits present at the Fair throughout the day.
